C. O. Dudley & Sons of Warkworth vs. Walter Reycraft, Brighton Township, a claim for $1,020 said to be the balance of an account at the Dudley store, was dismissed when a motion by the defence based on the Statute of Limitations was granted. A section affecting transactions between merchant and merchant was invoked.

The action brought by Harriett Palmer of Lakeport versus the estate of James Staunton was adjourned. Wilson vs. Commercial Travelers, a claim by Mary Wilson of Toronto for payment of her husband's policy, was settled. Albert Gould of Seymour Township vs George Ellis, a dispute over a land title, was settled.

Hastings Parents Inspect Children's School Work

HASTINGS, Dec. 2.—(ENS).— Hastings public school held an "open house" recently when parents and friends of the pupils inspected the children's work and met the teaching staff. The rooms were attractively decorated with the children's art and project work.

Later the parents held the monthly meeting of the H. and S.A. in the senior room. The meeting opened with the song, "O Canada," and Mrs. C. Baker read the minutes of the last meeting, and on motion of Frank Krauel and Mrs. G. Thompson, the treasurer's report was adopted.

It was decided that the insurance on the projector would be paid by December 1st.

Mrs. J. Radcliffe tendered her resignation as membership convener and on motion of Mrs. G. Thompson and Mrs. E. Hess Mrs. Ken Lloyd was eletcted to that office.

Mrs. W. Thomas was elected to replace Jim Ryder as a director on the committee.

On a motion of Mrs. J. Jones and Mrs. K. Lloyd, it was decided to hold paper drives on the north side of the river on Dec. 4 under the direction of Mr. E. McKeever and in the south on Dec. 11, under the direction of Mr. F. Crate.

Mr. McKeever reported having purchased books for the school library with the money donated from the H. and S.

The executive reported that the rink committee had been approached on the subject of a room for manual training in the memorial centre. This could not be considered at present. On the motion of C. Scriver and L. Switzer it was decided to hold the money until the school basement could be fixed for manual training.

Mrs. C. Baker reported on the H. and S. conference held in Peterborough in October.

On the motion of Mr. E. McKeever and Mrs. B. Smth it was decided that the H. and S. would sponsor the 'teen agers' club. Mrs C. Baker was elected convener for it on a motion by Mrs. B. Smith and Mrs. A. Thompson.

On behalf of Grade 8 pupils, Andre Crate accepted a book from Canon C. R. Spencer for the highest attendance of parents at the H. and S. meetings last year.

Lunch was served by members of the committee.

The December executive meeting was held on Tuesday and the general meeting will be next Tuesday.

85 Reactors Found In Herds

COBOURG, Dec. 2 —(ENS)— Northumberland County continues to be lucky in regard to the test of cattle for tuberculosis, it is revealed by Ralph Banbury, agricultural representative for the county. Of nearly 30,000 cattle tested there were only 85 reactors up to November 17. This is less than one animal in 300. In Oxford County where a test was made before, on approximately the same number of cattle there were 6,326 re-actors. This is nearly 20 per cent, Mr. Banbury said, and means quite a loss to farmers who have producing-cows. The wisdom of the policy in Northumberland of having had previous tests, is evident at htis time, Mr. Banbury pointed out.

Carleton Smith of the National Arts Foundation went back to the United States with the message. The cigars arrived by plane at Helsinki and were sent to the home of the composer at Jarvenpaa.

Weed Inspector Gives Address

COBOURG, Dec. 2.—(ENS).— The agricultural short course which started Monday at Grafton did not draw a very large attendance on the first day. Speaker Monday was the county weed inspector, Percy Gooding of Brighton township, who gave a talk and demonstration on the identification of weeds, seeds and the control methods related to each plant. Kenneth Fallis of the Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch was the speaker on Tuesday, with Stuart Bowman of Peterborough, talking on the growing and grading of seeds yesterday. The last two days of the week will feature fertility with J. Ketcheson of the O.A.C. and Charles McGuire of a chemical firm as speakers. The week of December 6 will feature livestock with R. H. Graham of the Livestock Branch and Dr. K. Mitchell of the Quinte Cattle Breeders' Association on veterinary work.

COBOURG, Dec. 2 —(ENS)— Daily feeder cut-offs have been discontinued by the Utilities Commission as aresult of the restoration of part of the quota by the HEPC. Cobourg's new quota is now 31,870. However on the days that the present quota is exceeded there will be a general cut-off from 5.30 to 6.00 in the evening.

Pat and Atkins Get Main Go On Odd Ruling By Referee

On a peculiar ruling by Referee Bert Maxwell, the team of Fred Atkins and Pat Flannagan won the main match fall at the Brock Arena last night over Ben Morgan and Dan O'Connor. Most of the big crowd favored the winners, but it looked like a "gyp" as Atkins left his corner illegally to yank Ben out of the ring and Ben was counted out. There was a big argument afterward.

What happened was that Pat Flanagan, weighing 223, was taking a bad beating by Ben, at 322, and O'Connor (scaling 240) in relays via a hammerlock. Ben had him set up for the fall with a "Boston crab" hold but O'Connor, outside the ring, was aiding Ben a bit, though still holding his loop. Atkins let go his loop and ran around outside the ring and slugged O'Connor, then yanked Ben out of the ring. The befuddled referee ignored Atkins' running around but counted out Morgan and gave the deciding fall to Pat.

The fall before that came in nine minutes and was given to O'Connor over Atkins when Flanagan illegally left his corner to join the fray. The whole four were warned part-way through the bout — after the four flew around simultaneously in a furious go, once knocking the referee flat as the crowd roared. The Australian was peeved at Pat for interfering as he was doing pretty good, despite taking a beating from both Dan and Ben in the latter's corner. Pat had showed some fast, smart grappling this time and O'Connor was plenty rough, but Ben and Atkins were the two strong men of the match. It was full of action, too fast for Maxwell, and the crowd yelled almost continuously.

Atkins, at 250 pounds, won the first fall in 22 minutes with his "kangaroo klamp," somewhat similar to the Boston crab grip, plus a stepover. The win was popular as Atkins showed plenty of stuff and Pat depended mainly on speed and fists. The others were rough, with Ben pretty tough to throw around and taking the brunt of it as O'Connor coasted. Each side in turn pushed opponents into their corner where two could work on one, and the referee had a busy time of it all the way. He missed a lot but no one was seriously hurt, Morgan and Atkins being the strong guys and the other pair not staying in too long at a stretch. The fans liked the team bout action.

Goes To Draw

Jack Moore, 239, and Jack Wentworth, a 217-pound weightlifter, went to a 30-minute time limit draw in the semi-final. While the bigger Moore looked to have an edge, the scrappy and shorter Wentworth finished strongly to gain a popular draw. They grappled hard throughout and Moore had a trick "roll-away" from the referee to pounce back on his opponent and punish him. They were flipping each other at the end, with Moore using hair for a grip and Wentworth countering with a knee to the head to turn his opponent.

Tall Bill Stack, 227-pound Bowmanville product, won the prelim bout over 230-pound Tony Lamaro, Australian Italian. He took it in 18½ minutes with a series of monkey flips and a slam after a lively tussle. Lamaro played it rough from the first bell and had an edge for quite a time. Bill battled back but had a rough, experienced opponent facing him. There wasn't too much scientific wrestling but plenty of action in a scrambly sort of way with both plugging in there right along. Lamaro appeared to have Stack in trouble at different times but big Bill — just back from Western Canada—caught up with him finally and flipped Tony for a popular fall.

Cellar Dwelling Caps Edge Providence 3-2

By The Canadian Press

A seveng-ame winning streak for Providence Reds, leaders in the eastern section of the American Hockey League, was broken Wednesday night. It took a last-place team to do it.

Eddie Bruneteau blasted home a 40-footer with less than six minutes to play to give Indianapolis Capitals, cellar dwellers in the western division, a 3-2 edge over the Reds.

Fred Glover and Calum MacKay counted for the other Caps goals while Harvey Fraser and Carl Liscombe, the league's leading goal-getter, found the mark for the losers.

Hershey Bears handed Philadelphia Rockets a 5-1 trouncing with Phil Maloney banging in two counters.

Steve Wochy scored the Rockets' only tally. Gordie Bruce, Dave Creighton and Zellio Toppazzini shared the balance of the scoring.

Washington Lions came from behind with a pair of markers in the last 8½ minutes of play to gain a 5-5 draw with Springfield Indians.

Vern Kaiser gave the Indians a first-period lead. Bill Summerhill and Doug McCurdy scored for Springfield in the middle session and Harry Frost and Bud Foley tallied for the Lions.

In the final frame McMurdy came through with two more goals to put his teammates ahead 5-3. Norm McAtee and Harry Dick tied it up for the Lions.

Buffalo Bisons and New Haven Ramblers battled to a 1-1 stalemate. Ken Mackenzie racked up the Bison counter in the initial stanza and George Johnston tallied for the Ramblers in the third period.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor

Girls' basketball resumes tomorrow evening in the YWCA gym with a double-header. Neill's play Collis at eight, followed by Nurses against Lock Co. The Normals, originally scheduled to go in the first fray against Neill's, couldn't make it this week. The first section of the lasses' schedule winds up on Dec. 17 till after the first of the year. Tomorrow's twin bill should be worth viewing as the colleens show a lot of cage action every contest. Men don't play this week-end, but Marines "A" basketeers will have Queen's here Dec. 11 for an exhibition, as Toronto Harvard Hoopsters take on the Marines "B" bunch the same eve. And the U. of T. team comes down on Dec. 18.

With curling in full swing here now, it might be interesting to recall that it is a geal old sport in Peterborough. The club was founded away back in 1876, according to the records, which is 72 years ago. It would be something to have a flashback to that time and see how the bonny knights of the besom and stane dressed and performed. They curled on various sites down through the years. At one time the roarin' game was played on a creek in the field on George St. where the lacrosse bowl now stands. Later, 'twas on property presently occupied by the Quaker Oats Co. Then a move to Charlotte St. But fire there on New Year's Day of 1908 destroyed the place. However, they rebuilt it and it's the present rink, complete now with artificial ice.

Some Hockey Sites

Our OHA hockey was played in the early part of this century in the old Charlotte St. curling rink. Then the Brock arena was built and used for hockey until during the last war when they converted it into a dance hall. As a kid we recall seeing Eddie Wright's good senior squad of 1925-26 getting in their early training licks on canal ice before they went on to win the Ontario championship. It won't be long till today's kids are over at the canal before taking to the city outdoor rinks and then our new Civic Arena. And maybe a few years hence, we'll have the big Memorial Centre built and ready for OHA competition. Yeah, like curling, hockey has been played on various sites here.

* * * * * *

Meantime, re-organization meetings are being held locally as officials prepare for another big hockey season. Three OHA teams are set, and the PMHA-ers are getting lined up. Civic Loop will be a new puck starter this winter. Church Hockey League takes entries this Friday p.m. at seven in the "Y". The Industrial League also is calling for entries at a "Y" meeting Monday night at eight. School leagues later will get going, as will shop loops, etc. A large hockey season is well into the organization stage here now.

School Champs Dine

Last evening, the Confederation School senior soccer champs were honored at a banquet given by the Home and School Association. They received crests and much praise, a fitting gesture and one the boys won't forget for a long time. Guest speaker was Bun Kingdon and he stressed clean living and sportsmanship both in athletics and every-day business. It was most appropriate coming from Bun, who always took good care of himself and proved a real sportsman in his lengthy hockey career around these parts. Looks like he has decided to retire from the game as a player this season, though still remaining closely identified with the Petes.

Hy Smith again is manager of the Towne Togs' cage crew, which affiliates with the LOBA. They have open workouts each Tuesday eve from seven to nine at the Collegiate gym, with any girl player in the city welcome. Juniors on up, as Hy hopes to put a strong squad into provincial competition and he promises every prospect plenty of chance to show her stuff. The Togs last year eliminated Belleville's belles to go into Ontario semi-finals but lost out in a keen contest to Toronto. Exhibitions will be arranged against both girls' and boys' teams to get the squad in tip-top shape for the latter part of the hoop season. Don't forget, these Tuesday drills are wide open.

Bert Got Balled Up

Referee Bert Maxwell, a house dick at the Royal York, must still be punchy after helping handle the Calgary stampede last week-end. Anyway, he got balled up in the main mat match at the Brock last p.m. and gave the Atkins-Flanagan team the deciding fall, though Atkins had left his corner to pull Ben Morgan out of the ring and save Pat further punishment. It's true that no wings sprouted on O'Connor or Morgan, but Maxwell had given them the previous fall —after warning all four—when Pat joined the scrapping illegally. Lots of illegal stuff, as what team match isn't? Oodles of action but it was a bad decision anyway you look at it—even if a popular one. Moore and Wentworth went to a semi-final draw, and Bill Stack beat Tony Lamaro in the prelim of a redhot card before a big crowd.

Curling Notes

By HERB MARTIN

S. Lowe and his rink will return to Lindsay Friday to play in the final rounds of the Silverwood Trophy, having earned that right on Wednesday.

Unless there is a little more pep shown on the part of the curlers, we are afraid that this all-day bonspiel, scheduled for Saturday, is not going to be a big affair. Just a tip, if no one asks you to play, get up a rink of your own.

There is nothing like being prepared. The ladies are holding their annual open bonspiel for the Warne Trophy on Feb. 17-18, 1949. As this date is just two months and a half away, the ladies can hardly say they didn't have advance notice.

We are sorry to hear of the passing of S. Curry. He was a member of the club until he was overtaken by illness. He was popular with the boys and showed great promise as a curler. He was also a member of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club. We extend the sympathy of the Peterborough Curling Club and of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club to his family.

4 Spills, Fight Liven Bike Race At Washington

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Washington's first international six-day bike race was still going strong early to-day after four spills, a fight, and a threatened walkout by the riders.

The Saucer Derby, getting rougher all the time, entered its 45th hour at 3 a.m. EST.

A financial nightmare, the race nearly passed into oblivion on Wednesday night when 20 of the 22 riders told Promoter Jimmy Proscio of the Empire State Cycling Association: "No pay, no race."

After a conference between (a) the backers and Proscia and (b) Proscia and the pedal pushers, an agreement was signed to assure Washington's disinterested fans that the six-day race would last six days.

Shortly after midnight, the biggest spill of the race occurred when Primo Bergomi of Italy, Emile Bruneau of Belgium, and two Montrealers—Claude Gregore and Larry Tessier—staged a mass collision, bikes flying in all directions. The bikes were the only casualties.

Meanwhile, between spills, the race went on. Chris Van Gent and Ben Remkes of the Netherlands took over the lead from their two countrymen, Vooren and Gerard Van Beek, shortly before 1 a.m.

Knights Trip Millers 3-2 For Third Time

By The Associated Press

If Omaha Knights could play all their United States Hockey League games against Minneapolis Millers the Knights wouldn't be where they are today—in the northern division cellar.

Five times this year the Knights and Millers have met and Omaha has yet to lose to the Millers. Twice the teams have tied, and Wednesday night at Minneapolis Omaha won 3-2 for their third win over the Millers this season.

Lyle Wiseman scored the winning goal. His shot found the net in the final two minutes, shortly after Jimmy Fairburn brought the Millers back into a 2-2 tie.

Dallas Texans rallied Wednesday night for a 4-4 tie at Kansas City.

Ray Powell and Larry Silvestri scored two Kansas City goals in the second period to bring the Pla-Mors alongside the Texans 3-3 and Harry Groves put the Pla-Mors ahead in the final period. Joe Bell scored the final goal to give Dallas the tie.

Hockey's Big Seven

Gaye Stewart, Chicago captain grabbed an assist to move into a tie for sixth place with Eddie Sandford and Pete Babando, Boston forwards.

VISCOUNT ALEXANDER OF TUNIS, Governor-General of Canada, talks over track strategy and training methods with 17-year-old George Lynch of Toronto, 1948 winner of the Viscount Alexander award, given each year to the outstanding junior athlete in Canada. The Governor-General, once champion miler of Ireland, expressed hope for the future of Canada in coming Olympic games if such outstanding athletes as Lynch stuck at their guns. Confederation Team Honored At Banquet

The winners of the Public School League senior soccer championship were entertained on Wednesday evening at Confederation School by members of the Home and School Association at an enjoyable banquet.

Mr. Iley, president of the Kinsmen Club, presented the trophy to J. Daniels, captain of the team, in an appropriate address. He was introduced by Principal John Nicholls.

The main speaker of the evening was R. H. (Bun) Kingdon, well known hockey player, who gave interesting advice on sportsmanship with the many virtues that can be accomplished if you play the game as a gentleman at all times, never losing confidence, at any time, either in sport or business.

Vice-Principal Arnold Olmstead presented souvenir crests to the following members of the team: J. Daniels, captain; Jerry Crouter, Ken Outwater, Gerry Strickland, George Holden, Edward Dunstan, Ray Holland, Dick Miller, Carl Simmons and George Simmons. Also present were Ben Jones, 1946 captain of the hockey team; Maurice Parry, captain of the junior soccer eleven; and G. Crouter, junior captain of the 1946 team.

On behalf of the team, Captain J. Daniels presented their coach with a handsome sweater. A vote of thanks was extended to all the speakers by Principal John Nicholls. The remainder of the evening was spent in viewing soundpictures.

Bruins Whip Hawks 5-1 Do Scoring In Last 15 Mins.

By The Canadian Press

Boston Bruins, heaviest team in the National Hockey League and currently the front-runners, threw their weight around Wednesday night in a scoring splurge that shot them ahead in the scoring statistics. It also polished up their two-game lead in the loop race.

The Bruins did all their scoring in the last 15 minutes to beat Chicago Black Hawks 5-1.

It gave them a total of 57 goals this season, three more than the Hawks who, up to game time, had turned on more red lights than anybody.

With Ted Lindsay back in the lineup, Detroit Red Wings beat Toronto Maple Leafs 5-3 and stayed four points behind Boston.

Their losses left Chicago and Toronto tied in fourth place. They'll fight it out Saturday in Toronto, while Detroit and the Bruins are battling in Boston. The tail-end New York Rangers are at Montreal Canadiens in the other Saturday game.

Break Loose

Boston broke loose after Jimmy Conacher's goal ended 44 minutes of scoreless hockey. Conacher sent Chicago into a 1-0 lead but the Bruins promptly whipped in three counters in less than 2½ minutes and added two more before the period was over.

Kenny Smith's pass to Paul Ronty was deflected into the goal off a skate and Johnny Peirson and Eddie Harrison followed it up within two minutes. Pat Egan got his first goal of the season on a solo rush and Harrison—filling in at centre for Milt Schmidt—scored from Ferny Flaman and Jim Peters later in the period.

Lindsay, back in harness after missing five games with an injured foot, scored twice to lead the Red Wings. Sid Abel added a goal and an assist with Gerry Couture and Fernand Gauthier scoring the others. For the Leafs it was Vic Lynn, with two, and Bill Ezinicki.

Every goal was counted with at least one man in the penalty box. Two of the 18 penalties came on a first-period fight between Leafs Howie Meeker and Red Wings Pete Horeck. On three of the goals two men were in the box.

All the Leafs' goals came in the first period.

IF YOU HAVE young children in your home, you'll know now how they're all getting excited about Santa's visit and wondering what they will get from him. Just remember that toys are something all youngsters enjoy. Little girls are conservative and traditional in their toy tastes. Leaving such things as space ships and guns to boys, they are content with dolls, the bigger the better. This little girl at left has her heart's desire in a doll that is as large as herself . . . and it can even wear her own clothes. Outdoor games are always fun and the tot at right is having the time of her life, all snowed up after romping with her skiis and poles.

Generals Blast Rockets 7-0 As Dutchmen Down Marlies

By The Canadian Press

The Giesebrecht brothers waged their own little battle in the Junior Ontario Hockey Association Wednesday night, and Bert emerged atop the individual scoring race, with a total of 36 points Bruce slipped into second place, one point behind his brother.

Bert forged ahead on a colorful three-goal display as Windsor Spitfires downed St. Catharines Teepees 7-4. Windsor rejoined St. Catharines in first place in the junior loop.

In other junior games, Oshawa Generals blasted Galt Rockets 7-0 and Barrie Flyers downed Guelph Biltmores 3-2.

Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen remained in first place in the senior circuit with a 2-0 win over Toronto Marlboros. Hamilton Tigers crept closer to Kitchener as they downed Stratford Indians 3-2 in Hamilton. Bengals trail Dutchmen by one point.

Windsor's victory followed a 5-4 setback in St. Catharines Tuesday that temporarily gave Teepees undisputed leadership. Spitfires drove through a 2-2 first-period to garner a 4-2 lead at the end of the second. Windsor tallied three times in the third against Teepees' two.

Gerry Lavergne came up with two counters for the winners while Jim Hay and Bruce Giesebrech notched singletons.

In Third Spot

Barrie moved into sole possession of third spot with their victory over Guelph. Guelph took a two goal lead in the first period and then fell back as Barrie garnered one in the second and two in the third.

Sid McNabney with two goals and Paul Meger with one were marksmen for Barrie. Don Bellringer and Lorne Ferguson scored for Guelph.

Oshawa strengthened their hold on the fourth-place spot as they garnered one counter in the first period, four in the second and two in the final frame. The Biltmores' loss left them in seventh place. Red Stephen and Dusty Blair each counted twice and Sonny Hopper, Marty Burton and Ted O'Connor bagged one apiece.

Kitchener started off midway through the first period when Bobby Bauer, former star of the Boston Bruin Kraut line, scored on a three-way play with Hurst and Dinning. Leo Curik tallied for the Dutchmen in the final frame. Both teams battled through a scoreless second period.

After a scoreless first period, Tigers went in front before the second frame was a minute old. Tommy Smelle tallied with assists going to Johnny Conick and Clare Shillington. Woodward got the equalizer minutes later. Polly Miocinovich and Red Leader scored in the final frame.

Six teams go into action tomorrow night after a quiet spell today. In the junior loop, Galt meets Barrie. In the senior division Hamilton clash with Toronto and Kitchener plays Stratford.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

There's at least one person who likes President Clarence Campbell's recent National Hockey League directive against fraternization of players — President Conn Smythe of Toronto Maple Leafs.

In fact, Smythe thinks the directive, which bans fraternization between players of rival teams, should be included in the rule book.

"What hockey players do in the off-season is their own business," said Smythe Wednesday. "But it's definitely stated in a player's contract what constitutes a hockey season and when they are working for us during that time, we want everything they can give.

"It must look fine to see them laughing and loving together just before one of the teams goes out and gets thoroughly skunked," he added.

A common council resolution inviting the Olympic Games to Detroit and committing the city to provide whatever facilities are necessary will be vetoed by Mayor Van Antwerp. The resolution was passed on Wednesday night by a 9-to-0 vote at the request of the Olympic Committee. The group goes to New York December 5 to discuss 1956 Olympic plans.

The Mayor said he would veto the resolution for two reasons: 1, it commits the city to unspecified and unlimited expenditures of tax money for Olympic facilities; 2, it is not consistent with the Council's earlier action in which it referred the problems of financing site, transportation and others back to the Mayor and the Olympic Committee for further deliberation.

A veteran and up-and-coming youngster Wednesday stole the show at Tanforan race track.

Johnny Longden, who is rolling along toward his third United States riding championship and a modern American record for total victories in one season, and 18-year-old apprentice Gordon Gilson of Winboro, N.C., both scored triples in the eight-race program.

It was the second day in succession that Longden has booted home three winners — the three boosted his 1948 total to 307, only nine victories shy of his 1947 record of 316.

The biggest boxing promoters of Europe and the United States have renewed and broadened their agreement providing for an exchange of fighters.

Jack Solomons, czar of European boxing, announced in London Wednesday he had signed a contract with Mike Jacobs' Twentieth Century Sporting Club of New York.

The only important new clause in the agreement, which has been working since 1946, is that European champions will be given more world title fights, Solomons reported.

Shannon II, the great Australian champion race horse, was retired to stud at Los Angeles Wednesday, dooming the hope that he might run against Citation in the Tanforan handicap.

The Australian horse was sold by Neil S. McCarthy, Los Angeles lawyer, to a syndicate headed by Leslie Coombs II of Lexington, Ky., for $300,000.

The Lexington sportsman said Shannon II definitely will not run against Citation in the Dec. 11 stake race.

"Shannon II was weighted out of the race," said Coombs. "We do not intend to run him under conditions."

The Australian horse was allotted 127 pounds for the 1¼-mile Tanforan event, while Citation, the horse of the year, got 123 pounds.

Charles (Red) Ruffing, once the pride of the New York Yankees pitching staff, will make his debut as a baseball manager next season at the helm of Muskegon, Mich., in the Class A Central League.

Ruffing's appointment to succeed Bennie Huffman as Muskegon plot was announced Wednesday at Chicago by Johnny Rigney director of the Chicago White Sox farm system.

St. Louis Slugger Musial Most Valuable Player

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—(AP).—Stan Musial, the lean St. Louis Cardinal slugger who just missed a clean sweep of every National League batting honor, today was named the circuit's most valuable player by a wide margin.

Batting champ at .376, leader with 135 runs, 230 hits, 131 runs-batted-in, 46 doubles and 18 triples, Musial fell short of a perfect score by one home run in a most remarkable season. He hit 39 out of the park, but Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh and Johnny Mize of New York each smashed 40.

As was the case in the American League where Cleveland's Lou Boudreau was an easy winner, there was little question about Musial's election in the vote conducted by the Baseball Writers' Association. The first place vote of a 24-man committee was 18 for Musial, five for Boston's Johnny Sain and one for Boston's fine rookie, Al Dark.

On a point basis, Musial had 303 for an 80-point margin over Sain who had 223. Dark scored 174. They were the only three with 100 or more points.

Sain drew strong support for his 24-game winning season that boosted the Braves into their first World Series since the miracle men of 1914, the voting, as usual, was recorded during the final week of the regular season and did not take into account World Series performances.

Dark, enjoying a brilliant freshman year as shortstop for a pennant winner, hit .322.

Fourth place went to New York's Sid Gordon who played a fine third base all season and drove in 109 runs with his .299 average. Next came St. Louis' prize southpaw pitcher, Harry Brecheen, a 20-game winner.

Pee Wee Reese, shortstop sparkplug of Brooklyn Dodgers, who hit .274, was sixth, followed by Kiner, who hit 40 homers and Enos Slaughter, a .321 hitter for St. Louis, tied for seventh.

Two players from the surprising Pittsburgh team placed ninth and 10th. They were Danny Murtaugh, making a great comeback at second base and hitting .290 and Stan Rojek, who batted .289 after he was purchased from Brooklyn. In all, 32 players drew at least one point.

THE PROBLEM OF CHRISTMAS GIFTS arises again and a good suggestion to save money this year is to make your own. If you have children and you're short on shopping time and money, or if you enjoy using your hands and like the idea of giving something you have created yourself, there are innumerable gifts you can make, such as dolls, toys, animals, socks, scarves and accessories. You can allow children to make their own gifts, such as the schoolgirl at left is making woven potholders. She will help take a lot of the troubles of Santa Claus off his shoulders. Gift-making need not interfere with regular classroom work for it can be done after school hours. Remember that Christmas packages should look alluring—mysterious—individual. This can be achieved by getting a big selection of gay papers, ribbons, labels, wrapping paper, string and a non-leaking pen. Go about it in a big way but don't do wrapping on your bed, for the surface is too soft and you may cut the spread. Tinkling bells add a festive note to the parcel, and you'll probably get a few ideas of your own.

WHEREVER there is a white Christmas, which is certain to be across most of Canada, a snow man lends a highly seasonal touch.

Canada's Fight Against V.D. Continuing; Officials Report Some Progress Being Made

OTTAWA, Dec. 2 — (CP) — Figures released by the Health Department indicate that some progress is being made in the fight against venereal diseases in Canada.

In its report for the 1947-48 fiscal year, the department said that the number of veneral disease cases reported by provincial health departments to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics dropped from 41,556 in 1946 to 34,476 last year.

However, the department warned that in considering the figures it should be borne in mind that there are strong reasons to suspect the reporting of venereal diseases, particularly gonorrhoea, to be inadequate.

"Consequently," it said, "the figures, as they are presented, should be assessed on a basis of their comparison with related figures to related trends, rather than as representing the true picture of one of several aspects of the venereal disease problem in Canada."

Following is a breakdown of the syphilis and gonorrhoea cases reported by the provincial health departments to the Statistics Bureau, with 1946 figures in brackets

The report showed that during the year, the department distributed $146,760 among the provinces to assist them in their fight against the diseases. Another $50,000 was distributed on a per capita basis to the provinces for recognized and approved medication for the treatment of venereal diseases. More than $26,200 was spent by the department on education material and other information activities.

The review of syphilis treatment records of army personnel was undertaken by the department when discharges of service personnel had become virtually complete.

20 Streets Get Sewers During the Year Mostly In Southwest Area

The extent of the completed program of the city's public works department to the middle of November is indicated in a report from City Engineer Chalmers to the board of works Monday night.

Sewers were laid by contract on ten streets in the following footage: Brookdale subdivision 1520 ft.; Beverley 578; Carlisle 250; Wilson 368; Sherbrooke 1097; Kenneth 469; Grandview 477; Weller 634 Hillcrest 404 Manorhill 404. Total 6201.

Board of works men laid 9,162 feet of sewer pipe, as follows: Edison Ave. 1952 Monaghan Road 1070; Frank St. 1016; Chamberlain 1014; Lundy's Lane 1030; Brown St. 1016; High 1008; Montgomery (east of Lock St.) 607; Morphet 287; Lundy's Lane 162. Total 9162.

Of that second group of streets, all but two are in the southwest section of the city. Those two are over on the southeast side, beyond Lock St. and south of Lansdowne St.

The streets in the first group are distributed all over the city, north, east and west.

The total length of sewers laid this year by the city in two categories, the one by contract with Blyth Construction Co. and the other by the board of works employees to Nov. 15 this year was 15,363 ft.

In addition, the department laid 7942 feet of concrete sidewalks, and a long stretch of that total was done in the south end.

These figures confirm the contention of members of the Council that no section of the city is overlooked or neglected in the present system of general representation, that there is no distinction between the wards, and that work is done where it is most needed.

In Annexed Area

If there is any reflection on the members of the Council in comments that the new south end of the city has no resident alderman, the comment is that the bulk of the Council's expenditure through its board of works this year has been largely in the south end, and additionally on the fringe streets to the north, west and east.

Some citizens may wonder how there could have been need for the mile and one-quarter of sidewalk built this season. Again, this work was required in new areas; Bolivar St., west of Monaghan Road; north end of Reid St.; Bethune north of O'Carroll Ave.; Cambridge, west side; George St., north of Argyle, end on the west side, where new houses have been built along that frontage down from the old Nicholls Hospital; Donegal between London and Dublin.

Dalhousie from Park to Reid; and in the new south end, Hamilton St., McKellar, more than 2,000 ft.; Monaghan Road, north and south from McKellar, and St. Catharine St.

The report was simply received by the board with Ald. Hurrell Dodds presiding.

Two Services Honor Memory Of The Late Rev. M. Hunt

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 2—(ENS)—Two impressive services were held on Sunday in memory of the Rev. Mounsell Hunt, former Chaplain and Master of "The Grove School, and rector of the St. John the Baptist Anglican Church in the village, who died during the summer, a victim of poliomylitis.

The service at The Grove chapel in the afternoon was the dedication of a plaque from the Staff and Boys of Lakefield Preparatory School, in his memory.

Dedicated by Archdeacon C. W. Balfour of Peterborough, the plaque was unveiled by G. Winder Smith, Headmaster of Grove.

The Rev. Leslie Hunt, brother of the late Rev. Mounsell Hunt, gave a most inspirational address to the boys, staff and congregation.

"A memorial," said the Rev. Hunt, "does not always have to be of brass, bronze or stones."

In Amsterdam there is the most remarkable cemetery in the world. It is the graveyard of Canadian soldiers who sacrificed their lives in the last war. Every Canadian grave has been adopted by a Dutch family as a memoriam —the devotion of loving hearts.

"Our lives," said Mr. Hunt, "are much like a river. A river is a thing of beauty, so is a life that seeks decency and righteousness. A river is a thing of power, so is a life—an influence for good. A river is creative, so is a life that is democratic and a Christian life. If a river is out of control, it brings desolation and destruction, so does a life out of control.

In closing, Mr. Hunt said he liked to think that as well as a plaque as a memoriam to his brother for his work in presenting the ideal of life, that the boys would make their lives beautiful in spirit, powerful—strong and noble, and creative with fine contributions to life.

The lesson was read by Grant Burrows who was head boy last year when the late Rev. M. Hunt was at the school.

Prayers were given by the Rev. E. C. Moore and the Rev Delaney.

The evening service was held at the village church, which was filled to overflowing, with members of other congregations and ministers of the other village churches attending.

The Rev. Delaney introduced Canon R. A. Armstrong, former rector of the church of The Redeemer, Toronto, who had had the Rev. Mounsel Hunt as his assistant there.

Canon Armstrong spoke of his sterling character, his sense of humor, and his musical ability, and stressed the idea that Mr. Hunt was called to a higher life.

The lesson was read by the Rev. Leslie Hunt.

A brass pulpit lamp was given in memory of their rector by the congregation of St. John the Baptist Anglican Church.

Favorite hymns of the late rector were sung at the services.

Stanley Tells Of Dealings With Officials

LONDON, Dec. 2—(Reuters)—Sidney Stanley, key figure in the inquiry into alleged irregularities in government departments, Wednesday told the tribunal of his relations with various government officials.

He claimed to have offered members of parliament "all the money they wanted" for an organization to fight communism and to have introduced officials to "some of the biggest business men in the country" in order to boost Britain's export trade.

Small and chubby, with heavily-lidded eyes, Stanley gave his age as 47 and said he had been brought to Britain from Poland by his parents when he was 14. He was a machine mechanic during the first world war, a commercial traveller until 1939, and commission agent assisting in completing contracts between business men and the government during the 1939-45 period.

Stanley said he had given a gold cigaret case to John W. Belcher, parliamentary secretary to the board of trade, and had sometimes paid for Belcher's admission to greyhound tracks and bought him meals.

Asked about his relations with Glenvill Hall, financial secretary to the treasury, Stanley said George Gibson, a director of the Bank of England, had written suggesting Stanley should see Hall because at that time there was a question of floating a loan for the government "in case they did not get Marshall aid."

Quebec Society Works Hard To Keep French Language Pure

QUEBEC, Dec. 2.—(CP).—For nearly 40 years La Societe Du Bon Parler Francais, watchdog of Quebec's French speech, has blasted at English words that crept into French usage. The society offered alternatives for peculiarly provincial expressions and for such English terms as "zipper."

This week the society got a boost when Premier Duplessis joined its ranks and delivered a strong plea for conservation of the mother tongue, of Quebec.

After a lot of research and thought, many authorities have concluded that there was no such thing as a Quebec "Patois (Jargon)" and not always justification for some of the language purges that were launched by well-intentioned groups.

Jean Marie Laurence, an expert in the matter, talking about purists and their battle against an invasion of English words, says "they saw English everywhere." Even good old French expressions were thought to be of English deprivation.

Mr. Laurence says that some of the alternative expressions put forward by purists as substitutes for adapted English words were enough to give anybody "gooseflesh."

Even Frenchmen have been amazed at the living quality of some Quebec expressions. This year when the rector of Toulouse University, during a visit, heard for the first time the word "irradier" (to broadcast) he exclaimed:

"I am at last reconciled to radio."

He explained that in France "radio-diffuser" is used. He marvelled at the quick direct word "irradier" Quebecers apated from "radio."

Meanwhile at Laval University, where researchers have been probing into the origins of all types of Quebec expressions, it is found that such Quebec standbys as "moi itou (me too)" and "qu'ri (to fetch)" are just ancient French preserved through the centuries.

Laval researchers formed the impression that the "habitant" speaks a good virile type of French.

All admit there are sore spots in the province. Many border points are known for language of mixed French and English expressions, and in the cities there are still many housewives who ask the grocer for "une canne de bines (can of beans)."

Parisian dressmakers who have reached the age of 25 without marrying observe the feastday and the wearer of the most attractive bonnet is crowned as "St. Catherine of 1948." Canadian Girl Contralto In Church In New York City

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (CP)—The tall young singer, with tawny hair piled on top of her head, finished one number, apologized for not being able to sing an encore, and dashed away to a broadcast.

That's the way it usually is with Jean Watson, Scottish-born Canadian singer, who flits from church choir to concert hall to studio.

Besides being the regular contralto soloist at Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, where Canadian-born Dr. John Sutherland Bonnell is minister, Miss Watson has given concerts through the United States.

In December she is to sing with the New York Philharmonic orchestra for the 13th time—"And that's a record of some sort, isn't it?" Next February she sails for England to appear at Covent Garden in opehratic roles, among them Carmen, one of her favorites, and the Magic Flute.

It will be the first time she has sung in England.

Covent Garden Offer

"I gave a recital there last January and the contract to sing in Covent Garden was offered me immediately afterwards," she says.

After London, Miss Watson hopes to go on to the Continent. Between New York and Covent Garden she plans to tour Canadian cities, including Winnipeg, Toronto and Montreal. She says she is looking forward to this tour because "I'm still a Canadian, you know, although I've been here seven years."

She is proud of her association with Fifth Aveinue Presbyterian Church and thinks Dr. Bonnell is "inspiring and wonderful."

As for vocal training in Canada, she thinks it is one of the best places to study. "I took most of my studies at the Toronto Conseravtory of Music and don't mind saying it has just as high standards as any other conservatory in America," she says.

Miss Watson's parents and brother live in St. Thomas.

WINS ACCLAIM—Jean Watson, Scottish-born Canadian singer, is now winning acclaim in New York as a contralto soloist. She is featured singer with the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church choir, radio star and concert entertainer. She will make her 13th appearance with the New York Philharmonic orchestra this month. Graduate of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, she formerly lived in St. Thomas and Whitby.

Aquitania Brings 500 Mail Bags Back

LONDON, Dec. 2 — (CP). — The liner Aquitania which left Southampton on Wednesday en route to Halifax, carries back to Canada 500 mail bags not unloaded while she was in port due to longshoremen's refusal to work overtime.

A Cunard-White Star Line spokesman said that nearly 10,000 bags of mail brought from Canada by the Aquitania which is on an immigrant run from Southampton to Halifax — were unloaded.

Presumably the mail is still in the holds and will be brought back on the next trip. But it means that hundreds of parcels of Christmas letters will be delivered late.

Langshoremen are refusing to work overtime at Southampton, pending settlement of their claims for higher piece rates.

NO RANDOM HARVEST was gathered here. Pictured are the results of two efforts that have helped boost Britain's agricultural production by nearly one-third above pre-war and have also aided that country towards a target of a half more than 1938 by 1951. Top: Harvesting barley on what was once the grass verge of the Barnet Highway, Hertfordshire, near London. Right: Linseed is reaped at Chapter Farm, Rochester, Eng., on land that was feared had been rendered unproductive by early spring floods. For undried areas of Britain's Midlands and East Anglia linseed was the only hope, but sufficient seed was not available. 500 tons were rushed from the US and Canada. The result was a $3,600,000 crop from land that otherwise would have remained idle and unyielding.

Judy Garland's Daughter Makes Debut

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 2.—(AP).—Liza Minelli, who trips before the camera in her film debut today, has a better chance for success than most movie newcomers. Her Ma is named Judy Garland.

Liza is all of 2½ years old now, but don't expect her to become a film favorite quite yet.

"I'd like her to be an actress if she wants to," explains her doting mother. "If she's still interested when she gets to be about 14, she can go on her own and handle her career. I always did. Mother never hovered — and I won't either."

Judy told how her daughter's camera debut came about:

"I didn't want Liza to feel left out. After all, her father (Director Vincente Minelli) and mother both work. They rush off every day to a place called 'the studio.'"

First Opportunity

The first opportunity for Liza came when MGM asked Judy if Liza could play a small part in "Annie Get Your Gun." Judy remembered that the daughters of Ethel Merman and Mary Martin had both played in the stage version, so she answered "Why not?"

The "Good Old Summertime" was switched forward on the Garland schedule and Liza was assigned a walk-through role as the daughter of Judy and Van Johnson.

Liza's appearances will be limited to the pictures of her father or mother. She can dance and already knows the tunes from "Annie," which will come next on the schedule.

Proud Judy predicts she'll be playing bit parts in Liza's pictures and will become known as "Liza's mother."

"I can just see it now," she smiled. "I'll walk in to see her and she'll say, 'Mother, would you mind leaving the nursery—I've had a hard day at the studio.'"

Abandoned in a Toronto department store nursery Friday, they were placed in the care of the Infants' Home. Hamilton Children's Aid Society was willing to obtain temporary lodging for the winsome pair, but Mrs. Provo said her home certainly wasn't too crowded to shelter her grandchildren. Two-year-old Barbara, a bit flustered by events of the past week, is happy to find a welcome in her grandmother's lap.

CSU To Demand Master Contract

TORONTO, Dec. 2 — (CP)— The Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) will demand a master contract covering all lake shipping companies for the 1949 navigation season as well as a $30-monthly wage increase for seamen, a 48-hour week and other concessions, Michael Jackson, Great Lakes director of the union, annunced Wednesday.

He said the CSU now represents about 6,000 men on the Great Lakes. All companies on the lakes have been under contract to the union during the last year except Canada Steamship Lines, Sarnia Steamship Lines and Colonial Steamship Lines. These companies have contracts with the Seafarers International Uion (AFL), which took over agreements signed earlier by the companies and the Canadian Lake Seamen's Union.

The three companies refused to sign with the CSU on the grounds that it is led by communists are the largest on the lakes. Their fleets total approximately 80 ships and employ upwards of 2,000 seamen.

The proposals for next year's contract, Mr. Jackson said, also include provisions for $1-an-hour increase in overtime rates, $150 marine disaster pay, linesmen on all canals so that crews will be spared "the hazardous job of going over the side to guide ships through the canals," eight hours pay for Sunday work at sea and transportation pay from home vessel at fitting-out time and from vessel to home at lay-up time.

THERE IS MUSIC, good reading, games, and a workshop designed to improve leisure time at the Working Boys' Home on Gould St., Toronto. It is far from being the barren, uncomfortable hostel pictured in a newspaper report after it was learned that six boys charged with 50 instances of breaking, entering and theft had come from there. The Home is a "home" in the full sense of the word to most of its 48 boys. A record-player with latest waxings is a popular piece of equipment. Here Don Cunningham and Bill Warren select records.

Threatened With Split

JOHANNESBURG, Dec. 2 — (AP)— The South African Coalition Government headed by Prime Minister Daniel Malan was threatened Wednesday night with a split over the native issue. N. C. Havenga, Minister of Finance and Leader of the Afrikander Party, told a party congress at Brakpan he will stand by clauses of the South Africa Act and by the constitution. The clauses safeguard the right of the natives to be represented in Parliament.

Teachers Present Claims For Increased Salaries

Details of salary increases requested by teachers of Peterborough's Collegiate and public schools were presented to the Board of Education Wednesday night. The board received four delegations—representing male and female Collegiate and public school teachers—outline their requirements for more payment in 1949.

Heaviest increase asked was from the male teachers of PCVS. They have asked for an overall increase of $500 and an increase in the present maximum salaries.

Female teachers of the high school made no specific requests but argued that pay schedules should be on the basis of "equal pay for equal work" with salaries of the male teachers.

The public school men teachers are asking the board for a straight increase of $200 a year for each member.

The figure—$200 a year—was asked by the group representing the female public school teachers.

Following the presentation of the briefs, the board went into meeting of the Committee on Appointments to discuss the position. Mrs. F. W. K. Harris was chairman of the board meeting.

Spokesmen for the PCVS men were B. W. Switzer, J. H. Moebus and R. H. David. Their brief included a survey of four major industries in the city. From this, they said, it is shown that salaried employees in those plants had received average increases of 66 per cent. since 1939. Over the same period, they said, secondary school assistants have received increases of 25.9 per cent. and department heads have been raised 16 per cent. They quoted the government statistics on the cost-of-living, now 159.9 over the basic 1935-39 period.

"From this, it is obvious that teachers maintaining a home in Peterborough have found their standard of living lowered below that of comparative groups."

Increased Maximums

In addition to the $500 increase, the delegation asked that the present maximum for male assistants be increased from $3,500 to $4,300 and male heads of departments from $3,700 to $4,500, to be reached by annual increments.

PCVS female teachers were represented by Miss F. Rahmel, Miss J. M. Lancaster and Miss H. McGregor. They did not present a written brief. In a letter, the teachers said that they felt that a differential in salaries based on sex was "unjustified." It pointed out that educational requirements, standards of work and conditions of work are the same for male and female teachers.

Miss McGregor said that the female teachers recognized the additional responsibilities of "heads of families." She said that it was felt that female teachers qualifying for 'householder status' should be given the same consideration as married male teachers.

Ask $200 a Year

R. J. Bolton was spokesman for the male public school teachers. In making the request for the $200 a year increase, he said: "Even that won't put us in line with the cost-of-living." He said that his group would be "quite satisfied" with a salary schedule based on the official cost-of-living figure and compared to the revised salary schedule of last year. This, he said, would raise the new salaries much higher than the requested jump.

Miss B. G. Hart spoke for the group representing the public school female teachers, also asking for $200 a year increase. Their request, also, she said, was based on "the increasing cost-of-living, which is far ahead of present teachers' earnings."

Thieves Enter 2 Lunchrooms

Two break-ins within the city during the night are being checked by city police. One involved an officer giving chase to the surprised prowler and firing a shot in the air in an effort to stop him. There have been no arrests in either case.

PC Sherman Keliele spotted an unauthorized visitor in Glen's Lunch and taxi stand on King St., west of George St., about one o'clock this morning. The man darted out of the building south across King St., where he ran between buildings there and was lost by the officer, who followed him to Sherbrooke St.

Only item missed in the establishment was a gabardine jacket.

Second break-in of the night was discovered about eight o'clock this morning by Jack Nicholls, an employee of Tal's Lunch on Park St. He found that a door window had been broken and the place entered.

Missing was a full box of cigars which was open on the counter. The empty box was left. Four cigarette lighters and two boxes of chocolates had also been taken. The break-in was made after midnight, as the proprietor had left at that time.

Building Permits Show Increase

Building permits made a slight gain in number and value last month over the total for November 1947.

There were 61 permits issued through the office of City Engineer Chalmers amounting to $105,434 last month as compared with 57 permtis for $63,845 a year ago.

Details were, last month: 18 garages, $5,710; nine dwellings, $50,000; 34 miscellaneous permits, $49,724; total, 61 permits, $105,434.

And in November last year: 13 garages, $2,485; six dwellings, $25,500; 28 miscellaneous, $38,860; total, 47 permits for $63,845.

Permits issued for 11 months this year amounted to $2,312,102, and the corresponding period last year, $3,501,446.

NEW BROOM SWEEPS the city's gutters clean of rain-soaked leaves and trash and replaces many man hours and hand brooms. The unit, installed on a Board of Works tractor, has been in operation more than a month and has done most of the city streets except those in the South-End. It was purchased primarily to remove excess dirt and dust from streets in spring; it may be tried out on snow removal when winter comes.

Bishop Berry Voices Hope Hospital Bylaw Will Pass

Hope for the success of the Civic Hospital by-law at the polls next Monday is expressed in a letter written by Most Rev. Bishop Gerald Berry, head of the Catholic diocese of Peterborough, to Mr. John R. Marshall, chairman of the board of governors of Civic Hospital.

Warrant for his letter on the eve of the municipal elections, Bishop Berry observed, was obtained from the fact "that the care of the sick is so deeply involved" should permit him to break an habitual silence in all such matters.

The text of the letter follows:

John R. Marshall, Esquire,
Chairman, Board of Governors,
Civic Hospital,
PETERBOROUGH

Dear Mr. Marshall:

The proposed bylaw through which our City Council seeks to provide the moneys necessary to complete our Civic Hospital requires the earnest consideration of the citizens of Peterborough. A larger number of beds is greatly needed to allow unhurried treatment of our hospitalized sick people and to banish from the mind of the physcian and nurse the thought that the next patient is already designated and waiting for the bed.

Two facts stand out in regard to need: The Federal and Provincial authorities recognize the situation to the extent of contributing $430,000, or 12 p.c. of the total cost; the second is that the new hospital will enable the medical and nursing professions to do their work in an environment that will stimulate and inspire their best efforts.

It would appear that when the care of the sick is so deeply involved in the completion of your edifice, we might be allowed to break the silence that is habitual to Bishops in matters submitted to the vote of the people.

We wish, therefore, to state that we consider it a duty of good citizenship to deal with this matter in the light of a larger and better Peterborough now in the making, and we further trust that you and your colleagues on the Hospital Board may receive the approval of the electors next Monday. We pray that such views will find favor with the great majority of our fellow-citzens.

With kind personal greetings,
Sincerely yours,
(Signed) GERALD BERRY,
Bishop of Peterborough

DECK THE HALLS

Approaching Christmas has brought the trees of the season into prominence, as it always does. Trucks loaded with Christmas trees have been heading through the city from the north for the past few days. They are destined for Hamilton and Toronto.

GETS 12-POINT BUCK

Eels Creek Hunt Club bagged six deer this year. Members of the club are Karl Sisson, Mac McLennan, Ivan Fletcher, Bud Tully, Cam Rowatt, Dave Simpson, Fred Green, Wes Morgan, Joe Caddigan and Everitt LaBelle. Mr. LaBelle shot the largest deer, a 12-point buck.

TRUCK, CAR COLLIDE

Heavy damage to a car and slight damage to a truck was caused when they were in collision on the Stony Lake road near Bethel Wednesday morning. There were no injuries. The car was driven by Rev. J. J. McCarthy of Douro and truck driver was Marvin Dunford of Lakefield. The truck was overturned in the south ditch and the car went into the north ditch. Provincial Constable Joseph Hanson investigated.

SCOTTISH VISITORS CURL

First Scottish curlers to visit Canada since before the war will be in Peterborough on Jan. 31. The Dominion Curling Association has made arrangements for a series of games to be played by the 51 Scotsmen, who will split into two teams. They will visit a number of centres, mostly in western Canada, and will also visit the States. The teams arrive at Halifax in the Empress of France on Dec. 28 to spend a month in Canada and the States.

REPORT CHIMNEY FIRE

Firemen received no alarms on Tuesday, but shortly before 10 p.m. on Wednesday they went to the home of Mrs. Q. M. Grey, 654 Bethune St. where a chimney fire was reported.

CAR, TRUCK COLLIDE

Hunter and Chambers Sts. was the scene of a collision on Wednesday. Involved was a truck driven by Walter Gillespie, 176 Simcoe St., and the car of J. A. McLaren, 200 Antrim St. The door of the car was damaged. PC Ernest Beatty investigated.

TODAY'S HIT-AND-RUN REPORT

The stream of reports on hit-and-run accidents is continuing. The car of James Marshall of 604 Walkerfield Ave., was parked on George St. Wednesday afternoon when it was struck on the fender by some unknown driver. The fender was dented and the bumper broken.

REVIVING HOBBY SHOWS

Don Duncan asks that any members of the Boys' Dept. of the YMCA who are interested in forming a Boys' Photography Club meet at the YMCA on Friday after school. The taking of photos, the printing and developing of films, will be taught. This is a start to revive the old hobby shows. Earlier this week Mr. Duncan attended a Boys' Work Secretarys' meeting at the Broadview YMCA. They discussed their work with the National Boys' Work Committee who set the policies for the boys' work in the associations.

THEY DON'T KNOW

Barber shop conversation today revealed the customers didn't know much about the city elections next Monday. One wanted to know who was running for mayor, apparently not aware of the fact that Alderman Swanston had been elected by acclamation. Another wanted to know how many were running for council, although the pictures of the 12 candidates were in the Examiner. Most sympathy went to Harry Yudin, Centre Theatre manager whose name will be last on the ballot, where the names appear alphabetically. One wag remarked: "Mr. Yudin will be in good company, Dr. Herb Young's name is next to his".

2 City Workers Promoted Council Reports

Street Commissioner James Burgess is being appointed assistant to City Engineer Chalmers, a change in the board of works department which has been considered for some time, and is now becoming necessary with the retirement of David L. Seymour, assistant city engineer, who recently left for Ottawa.

William J. McKibbin, chief foreman under the street commissioner, is being promoted to his position in full charge of the outdoor work of the department.

Mr. Chalmers was authorized by the committee of the whole last night to engage a young engineer, preferably, as he wished, a graduate of the 1949 class.

"That's the best possible way we could figure out what should be done for the best interests of the department and the public when Mr. Seymour decided to take a job in Ottawa," Ald. H. Dodds, chairman, said. "I consulted with the Mayor and Ald. Swanston and some of the other members to get their ideas, and that is what we suggest.

Mr. Burgess will come into the office and take a lot of its routine off the hands of Mr. Chalmers. He is not an engineer, but he is to be assistant to the engineer. That will give Mr. Chalmers more time for his special engineering duties, and the responsibility for the enquiries from the public and progress of department's work will be with Mr. Burgess.

He will have to deal with a lot of matters that take up the engineer's time."

This appointment was recommended in a motion by Ald. Dodds, seconded by Ald. H. Waddell. And the advancement of Mr. McKibbin, succeeding Mr. Burgess, was proposed by Aldermen Swanston and Anglesey.

Engagement of an assistant city engineer was recommended in a motion by Ald. Sands, seconded by Ald. Armstrong.

Ald. Dodds said he hopes to supply the members before the end of the year with an inventory of board of works equipment, trucks, tools and so on.

It may be observed as information and not as comment that this will be the first inventory that any department has submitted to the council in so many years that it is entitled to the word unique, if it comes.

Exact information from every branch of the council has been a wish of its members for a long time, preferably in what they expected in a guiding form of regular reports.

City Clerk Outram initiated a report from his office, and Chief Smith is continuing the monthly report of the fire department which his predecessor, George Gimblett, began.

Executives in industry obtain corresponding reports as necessary to their management. City Treasurer Couper furnishes a monthly report from the treasury, but it has appeared that there are gaps and blanks which never seem to be filled.

Dr. Jas. Blanchard Clergyman Dies

A well-known and highly respected minister in the United Church Bay of Quinte Conference, Dr. James T. E. Blanchard of Mallorytown, died on Wednesday in Brockville hospital. He formerly held pastorates in Bloomfield and Almonte. Funeral service will be held at Mallorytown United Church on Friday at 1:30 p.m. The Rev. Dr. James Semple of George Street United Church will officiate. He will be assisted by the Rev. H. H. Hillis of Belleville, the Rev. C. J. Mathewson of Lynn and the Rev. C. G. Macmullin of Mallorytown. Burial will be at Mallorytown Cemetery.

BANK CLEARINGS UP

Highest figure for bank clearings during the past four weeks, for period ending Dec. 2, was $2,562,416.

STUART E. CURRY, 32, of 601 Bolivar St., died of a haemorrhage. He worked for many years at Pratten Hardware and latterly at Hobbs Glass Company.

Stuart Curry Dies At Age 32

After a very short illness Stuart E. Curry, 601 Bolivar St., died in hospital in Toronto on Wednesday. Born in Peterborough 32 years ago he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Curry, 298 Frederick Ave. Mr. Curry was born and educated in Peterborough and for the past 14 years was associated with the Pratten Hardware. Recently Mr. Curry joined the Hobbs Glass Co. and he was away taking a course when stricken.

He was rushed to hospital from Hamilton. The nature of his ailment required blood transfusions. This heavily depleted the blood bank at the hospital and calls went out to his friends in Peterborough to refurnish the hospital's supply. They rallied to the call, for Stuart Curry was held in the highest esteem by all who knew him. However, nothing could be done to stop the haemorrhage and death came on Wednesday.

A little over a year ago Mr. Curry suffered a serious illness and it was a year ago today he returned from hospital. He steadily regained his strength and in the past few months appeared to have completely recovered.

A member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Stuart Curry was a fine type of Christian manhood. A month ago he was appointed superintendent of the Sunday School by the session and had intended to take over his duties on Sunday. He had made great plans for the Sunday School and the young people for the fall and winter season. He was also a member of the Men's Association where he served on the executive as secretary last year. In sports he was a member of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club and the Peterborough Curling Club.

There are left his wife, the former Elsie Jean Barringer, his parents and one sister, Miss Mary Curry, 298 Frederick Ave.

Funeral will be from the Comstock Funeral Home at 2.30 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 3, the Rev. C. G. Boyd, St. Paul's Presbyterian Church and the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan, Murray Street Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

Boy 14, Suffers Fractured Skull

HASTINGS, Dec. 2.—(ENS)—Billie Sparks, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sparks, Hastings, suffered a fractured skull when thrown from the car his father was driving about one mile south of here Wednesday night on the Hastings-Warkworth road.

About 1 Hunter In Three Shot Deer, Checkoff Shows

Those hunters who did not get their quota of deer this year should not feel too badly about it: they were in good company. According to statistics just released by A. B. Wheatley, district forester, not more than a third of the hunters got their deer.

In two week-end checkoffs, Mr. Wheatley reports that on Highway 35 above Norland, 1,050 hunters were counted with a total of 364 deer, and on Highway 28, 1,346 hunters with 456 deer.

According to this survey on Highway 28, the first week of the season proved more successful. Bag for the first three-day checkoff showed that 939 hunters shot 128 bucks, 139 does, 59 fawns and one bear. Second week-end: 407 hunters, 57 bucks, 48 does, 25 fawns and one bear.

A variety of reasons have been offered for the drop in the number of animals shot. Many huntsmen say that the wolves are responsible for the reduced number of deer seen, but others argue just as strongly that the game is there but just could not be found.

In the weekly Trent District memorandum, Mr. Wheatley, in guarded language, puts forward his own view. "The deer season just closed has provided mixed success to the several thousand hunters who invaded the woods. Perhaps the most notable factor affecting the success of the hunters was the warm weather prevailing, in so far as it mitigated against the normal movements of the deer."

"Hunters reported that it was difficult to get the deer to move," he said, "and so undoubtedly many deer escaped which otherwise might have been bagged."

Another contributing factor was that there were more hunters than ever this year who were trudging through the woods searching for game. According to the checkoff by the local gamewardens there were three searchers for every deer. About 75 per cent. of the deer shot are estimated to have been bagged in Peterborough county.

$12,000 Required In TB Drive

Residents of Peterborough City and County contributed $1,518 last week in the drive to raise $12,000 through the sale of Christmas seals to aid the fighting of tuberculosis. The drive is being conducted by the Peterborough and City County Tuberculosis Association. With the funds, the association plans a mass survey of the city and county. Doctors claim that nine out of every ten cases could be cured if the disease is discovered soon enough. With the mass survey it is hoped that all sufferers of the disease will be discovered and through this control the boys and girls of the city and county will be given added protection.

Thousands of envelopes have been mailed to residents of the city and county asking them to support the drive during the present month.

Council Wants 3-Foot Setback

A three-foot setback of new construction on both sides of George St. south of King St., is authorized in a bylaw passed by the council at a special meeting Wednesday night. It requires the approval of the Ontario Municipal Board.

Two new buildings on the west side of George St., in the block south of King St., have already complied with the wish of the council to effect widening of the street.

City Clerk Outram said the Municipal Board would come to Peterborough to hear any objections to the new bylaw.

His opinion and that of the council was that the Board would endorse the bylaw.

Mayor Ovens referred to the special session as a "clean-up" meeting. His Worship wishes to leave as little as possible of unfinished business for the council of 1949.

Appointment of an assessment commissioner was discussed in the spirit of being "on the spot." Opinion of the council in committee of the whole, following the council's sitting, was dubious about the experience of the two assessors, Cyril Agnew and Ralph Rowland. Appreciation was expressed of the work they have done, but the council's opinion is that the responsibility of the position of Commissioner in that department requires some one of broader experience than is possessed by the two assessors. That was the general attitude of the committee, although no definite decision was reached. It was suggested that a request might be made to the council of London or of Hamilton to "lend" a qualified man to Peterborough for six months, or that possibly some help in that direction might be obtained from the Ontario Department of Municipal Affairs.

Max R. Sloan of the Department, former assessment commissioner here, is coming to Peterborough to meet the county council, it was said, and while he is here members of the city council expect to discuss with him Peterborough's assessment department problem.

DEFIES WILDERNESS—George Rault, 37, of Bonnyville, Alta., lay injured and alone for four days without food or a sleeping bag in bitterly-cold weather. George Ouimet, a passenger, walked 38 hours to take the news to Cold Lake, Alta. Here is Rault, still able to smile, on a stretcher after a ground party rescued him.

McCullagh Plans Blow At Star

TORONTO, Dec. 2 — (CP) — George McCullagh Wednesday took over the Toronto Evening Telegram and told its employees he had entered the evening paper field to "knock off" the Toronto Daily Star.

Mr. McCullagh, publisher of the Globe and Mail, a morning paper, purchased the Telegram last week for $3,610,000.

The paper's 700 employees crowded the newsroom Wednesday night and Mr. McCullagh outlined the policies the Telegram which has a circulation of 198,000, would follow under his ownership.

He told them he had entered the evening paper field to "knock off" the Star, a paper with a circulation of nearly 370,000, which has "done enough to the profession of journalism that we ought to go in and teach it a lesson."

"As to the Globe, I don't want you pulling punches," he said. "Go in and kick the dust out of them."

He said the paper must be free from sacred cows, vigorous and fearless in espousing what it believed to be right.

Canadian Bull Brings $4,800 At Chicago Sale

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—(CP).— A championship Canadian breeding shorthorn bull brought the second higest price — $4,800—yesterday as the traditional livestock auctions opened at the 49th International Livestock Exposition.

The 1,200-pound yearling bull was Scottsdale Bombardier, owned by S. G. Bennett, of Georgetown, Ont., which captured the championship of its class in judging earlier this week. He was sold to Frank Harding, noted American breeder from Waukesha, Wis. By a freak of the auction, the top price of $5,000 went to an American-bred shorthorn, Sunset Bounce, which had placed second to Scotsdale Bombardier in the competition as reserve champion. It was owned by Otis A. Carter and Son, Eldorado, Ill.

Judging of livestock entries, leading to the declaration of champions and grand champions, continued in the main arena of the international amphitheatre. But the competition covered classes in which Canadians had few entries.

However, Canadian sheep continued to outshine United States flocks and Dominion entrants captured two grand championships as the judging moved into the early evening. T. H. Peacock of Crystal Beach, won the title of grand champion Oxford ram with a 2-year-old animal, while Elmcroft Farms of Oshawa, produced another grand champion with a yearling Suffolk ewe

In a showing of three 2-year-old Suffolk rams, Elmcroft Farms placed second while Allan Porteous of Owen Sound, came in sixth in a showing of 15 Suffolk lambs.

Porteous ran third in Suffolk three ram lambs, while Elmcroft placed third in Suffolk pens of three lambs and seventh in a showing of 29 yearling Suffolk ewe lambs.

Scotsdale Bombardier was one of eight Canadian bulls which sold for an average of $2,015. A. C. McDermott's Sandoon Captivator brought the Goodwood, Ont., farmer $3,800. Sandoon was the grand champion of Toronto's Canadian National Exhibition in Seeptember.

Of 85 Shorthorns sold, 17 were Canadian. Total sales were $95,210, averaging $1,120 a head.

24 Ont. Youngsters At Chicago Exposition

CHICAGO, Dec. 2 — (CP) — Twenty-four happy-go-lucky Ontario youngsters helped to give the 49th Livestock Exposition a true international flavor Wednesday night as the big show paused in its multisided competition to pay honor to the future farmers of the continent.

Guests of the 4-H clubs of America, the young Ontario farmers joined with their United States cousins in a grand march in the International Ampitheatre and carried the Canadian red ensign through the Tanbark arena to the cheers of thousands.

The Canadians, led by Joe E. Wilson of Welland, Ont., came from all parts of Ontario and are members of the boys and girls farm club of Canada, the 4-H equivalent in the Dominion.

Road Shortage In 5 Years Kennedy Warns

TORONTO, Dec. 2 — Governments, both provincial and municipal, will have to speed construction of permanent highways to handle the increasing number of motor vehicles, Premier Kennedy warned yesterday.

Otherwise, he told the Canadian Automobile Association, there is going to be a shortage of roads in the next five years. With a scarcity of steel and cement at present, the Premier was unable to say how new roads would be built.

He told of his belief in the Trans-Canada highway and said Ontario would do everything possible to promote it. One sure way of getting to know Canada was to travel across it and this should be possible without having to detour through the United States.

The great increase in car population was pointed out by R. A. Stapells, Toronto, re-elected as president, in his address to the annual meeting of the association. At the close of the war there were approximately 1½ million motor vehicles in Canada and now the total is approaching the two million mark.

"More than three million drivers are licensed to operate these vehicles," Mr. Stapells said. "That is approximately one-quarter of Canada's entire population."

This increase, coupled with the record-breaking numbers of United States cars coming into Canada during the tourist season, has accentuated the traffic problem with its direct bearing on accidents.

"No more useful work lies before our automobile clubs than co-operation in bringing down the accident rate, through inculcating in drivers and pedestrians alike the importance of observing the rules of safety on streets and highways," Mr. Stapells declared.

Lively Election Promised For Havelock Reeveship

HAVELOCK, Dec. 2 — (ENS) —The prospects are that Havelock will experience a lively municipal election on Monday, December 6. Two candidates are in the field for the reeveship. They are Reeve E. J. Leeson and Fred Pollock. In the election for 1948, Mr. Leeson polled 302 votes for reeve, defeating Mr. Pollock by 106 votes. Richard Sanderson was also nominated for reeve but did not qualify.

Nine candidates were nominated for the four seats on the council and all have signed up. They are: William Longmuir, John Davidson, Bruce Curtis, John Menzies, Fred Rogers, George Kennedy, Douglas McColl, Oliver Pomeroy, Percy Hill. The first four listed are members of the 1948 council.

Board Acclaimed

The school trustees and Hydro commissioner were elected by acclamation. The nominations for the six seats on the Board of Education are as follows: Harold Smith, Fred McKenzie, Robert Sayers, David Chevalier, James Calnan and Bert Martin.

E. W. Seeney was elected Hydro commissioner.

W. J. Nobes, William Cartwright and Douglas McLean were also nominated for the Board of Education but declined.

Reeve Leeson mentioned the increase of 13 mills in the 1948 tax rate aid reminded the audience that last election night he had told them not to look for lower taxes as everything else was going up and taxes were no exception.

Mr. Leeson drew attention to balance on hand December 31, 1947 of $217.56 in comparison to the balance shown November 24, 1948 of $1,862.92. The school's requisition has been paid until the end of the year and the council still have $5,000 in bonds Mr. Leeson said it was wise to hold these bonds until some major project was undertaken, and he recommended to the 1949 council that it might be well invested in more fire fighting equipment. The tax collections for the current year he said represented 93 per cent of the total.

Taxes Up

He explained there was an increase of $1,037.41 in the county tax rate and the schools had an increase of $3,688.50 over 1947. The park board is now allowed to requisition 2 mills which increased that expenditure by $404. In regard to the street upkeep, Mr. Leeson said 812 yards of material had been used this year and it was a long time since that amount had been put on in one year. In regard to industries for the town, which was one of the main planks on Mr. Pollock's platform, Mr. Leeson said: "I am just as much interested as any other man in this matter. I am in business and it is in my interests to make things better if possible for the village. He asked the question "when a company is locating in a place to start a plant of any kind do they usually contact the council or a private individual?" The 1948 council, he said, did not turn down any industries for the village. They did not have any chance to do so and would not have done so had there been an opportunity. He told of a visit to Havelock from a representative of the employment ofice in Peterborough looking for a site for a knitting company to locate. Mr. Leeson said he took hi mon a tour of the villages to every place he thought might be suitable. No name had been given of the company, but the request had come through the Toronto employment office. Being in Toronto the following day Mr. Leeson made inquiries there but nothing transpired.

Mr. Leeson has served four years as Reeve and seven years as councillor.

Wants Industries

Fred Pollock was the next speaker. On his platform as in former years, he has industries for the village, fire equipment, housing, waterworks, and rink. In regard to the waterworks he claimed a survey to ascertain the cost should be made in the near future. That would not necessarily mean to start work at once, he said. However, he thought waterworks were vital in order to have adequate fire protection. He spoke on the matter from a health standpoint and the danger of an epidemic from well water during a dry season. He spoke on the matter of citizens working outside the village who are forced to take that early morning bus to thir work in Peterborough. Something should be done to get industries in the village to supply employment here. If elected he promised to try and lower the taxes.

Mr. Pollock served as councillor in 1941 and was Reeve in 1946 and 1947.

Richard Sanderson said he had always stood for a square deal for the taxpayers. He did not mind paying for anything if you got value for the money. He said the town should have better fire protection. In speaking about a pump purchased by the Council about two years ago, he asked if anyone had seen that pump at a fire. He said the wells in the village were mostly drilled and the hose on the pump was 3 in. across, and therefore was not of much use. He criticized the area school saying a vote should have been taken in the municipalities before entering into it. He said if there was a change of government at Queen's Park and the large grants were discontinued, it might leave the taxpayers in a rather difficult situation.

Councillor W. Longmuir, who headed the poll last year, was unable to be present owing to the death of his father.

Councillors B. Curtis, J. Davidson, and J. Menzies in a few words asked for support at the polls on election date.

George Kennedy said he had served two years on Council and dropped out a year ago on account of his work. He replied to Mr. Sanderson's criticism of the pump purchased two years ago, and said it was the most sensible piece of fire equipment that ever came into Havelock if used properly. It would operate in any dug well, sewer or swamp. It had not been in service at a fire because, he was glad to say, there had been no serious fire in Havelock since its purchase. It had four outlets that will throw water higher than any house or tree in the village.

Fred A. Rogers, a member of the Council for 1946 and 1947, made a jovial speech, asking for support in his election if he decided to qualify.

The three new nominees for council, Douglas McColl, Oliver Fomeroy and Percy Hill all made short addresses asking for support on Monday next.

Fred McKenzie, chairman of the Board of Education, reported on the work in the schools. He said the public school was running splendidly, they had a grand staff and were really getting results. The same could be said of the high school. In speaking on the area school he said: "Contrary to belief your board held three separate meetings before voting to dissolve your high school area, and after we voted your council followed suit." The Belmont council had voted first on the mater. He said it would be impossible to finance Havelock school for about 25 pupils when the area school was completed. He said the area school would give every boy and girl in Havelock an education equal to what they would receive in a collegiate. The Board of Education as well as the Council thought it wise to join in the project. If the Department of Education did not think it was the best thing they would not have sponsored the project.

Reeve Leeson also spoke in detail of the area school. The other nominees for Board of Education, Harold Smith, Robert Sayers, D. Chevalier, James Calnan and Bert Martin all gave short addresses.

A GENERAL VIEW of the opening night audience of the Metropolitan Opera Company's 1948-49 season, a spectacle that for sheer opulence and brilliance is unrivalled on the New York scene. This year's opening was in the typical Met tradition of Jewels, high style and glamor. (Right). A study in wholesomeness and typical American simplicity, Margaret Truman occupies a box with friends at opening of the Metropolitan opera season, and seems to be having a lovely time in the process.

Engineer From Keene Village Takes Huge Transformer West

A former Cobourg boy, now resident of Keene, Ontario, and a graduate of the Canadian General Electric electrical engineering course, was sent by the above named company in charge of one of the huge transformers for the Bridge River power development at Shalalth, British Columbia, which will supply Vancouver and district with electrical power.

To quote in part from the Vancouver Sun:

"The sleek oval-shaped Goliath was shepherded from Toronto to Vancouver by Mr. F. Henry Skill, a special representative of Canadian General Electric. Mr. Skill, who was one of the youngest men in CGE to be selected for the task, was accompanied by his wife, the former Iva Jean Shortt of Keene.

"Mr. and Mrs. Skill travelled most of the route just ahead of the transformer. Mr. Skill saw to it that the transformer was carefully handled at each stop. . . On some parts of the route where the risk was greatest, Mr. Skill rode on the freight with his valuable charge.

"The transformer cost $140,000 and will be used to step up voltage from the generator from 13,800 volts to 230,000 volts. This high voltage is necessary to prevent heavy line losses in the transmission lines to Vancouver.

"While en route, a railway crew went ahead to examine and repair any possible weak trestles which might crumble under the eighty-two and one - half - ton transformer. The transformer had to be carried over the CN system because the tunnels on the CPR were not high enough to admit the 24 ft. height of the transformer. When the insulating and bushing was completed, the transformer stood 40 ft. high.

"Special oil for insulating and cooling was shipped in two tank cars. The transformer requires 15,000 gallons of oil."

After the transformer had been installed, Mr. Skill had the responsibility of testing it to see if it was in readiness for operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Skill returned to Keene a few weeks ago, and Mr. Skill now expects to leave for the coast in the near future to again shepherd, install and test another huge transformer for the Bridge River power development.

Hearty Centurion

TEDDINGTON, Middlesex, England—(CP)—Mrs. G. Turner, 100, has one ambition in life—to keep going another 12 months so she can beat her mother's achievement. Her recipe for a long life—plenty of cigarets and a good game of whist now and again.

CHARGED WITH SHOOTING to death Arthur King, 64-year-old wood-chopper, because he refused to aid their scheme for playing hookey from school, these three boys are held by State Police of Vanderbilt, Mich. They are (l. to r.): Harry Damer, 10, alleged to have fired the fatal shot; Robert Black, 12, and Richard Damer, 11. According to the officials, the boys ordered King to chop a tree so that it would fall across a power line which provided current for the school. When he refused, police say, the lads shot him with a gun they had stolen.

Lord Hankey Blames Churchill Control In 20's For Disaster

By STUART UNDERHILL

LONDON, Dec. 2 — (CP) — Two men with a behind-the-scenes knowledge of Government affairs have been carrying on a polite debate on whether Winston Churchill was partly responsible for the poor state of Britain's defences when war broke out.

Lord Hankey, 71, cabinet secretary from 1916 to 1938 and a minister in the early years of the Second World War, suggests that when Churchill was chancellor of the exchequer in the '20s, his policy hampered the proper development of British defences.

Gen. Lord Ismay, 61, also a cabinet secretary and wartime chief of staff to Churchill, contends the latter cannot be counted among those "responsible in greater or lesser degree for the misfortunes which overtook us in the early days of the last war."

The argument centres around the "10 years rule." In 1919 the war cabinet decided that for reasons of economy service departments should frame their estimates on the assumption the British Commonwealth would not be involved in a great war for the next 10 years.

In his recent book, "The Gathering Storm," Churchill describes how in 1927 when he was chancellor he advised that this policy be continued for another 10 years, although it should be reviewed every year by the committee of imperial defence, and could be appealed against at any time by any service department or dominion government.

False Security

He admits he has been criticized on the grounds his policy gave service departments a sense of false security and retarded research, but says that up to the time he left office in 1929 peace prospects were still good. The 10 years rule continued until March, 1932, when it was dropped by the Macdonald Government, although rearmament did not begin for another 18 months.

Lord Hankey, writing to the Times, said Churchill "has unintentionally done injustice" to the governments of the '30s later in his book by criticizing them for weak foreign policy.

"If in the '30s our foreign policy was hampered by lack of armaments, for which there is evidence, and if, as many responsible people think, our slow rate of rearmament was due largely to the 10 years rule, its author cannot escape some responsibility for our misfortunes," he wrote.

Major Dispute

"Many of those working on imperial defence regarded the new rule as a major disaster, and so it proved. This was only fully realized when planning for rearmament began in November, 1933. Defects were so numerous, and the capacity of industry so reduced, that in the case of the navy and army efforts had to be concentrated for two years almost entirely on making good the worst deficiencies."

Lord Ismay promptly answered, stressing the following points:

1. There was no potential aggressor in sight when Churchill extended the 10 years rule on a basis of yearly review. He left office the following year and did not return to the Government until war broke out—10 years later. It could have been appealed at any time.

2. The 18-month lag between suspension of the rule in 1932 and rearmament in 1933 "is difficult to understand."

3. When rearmament did begin in 1933 "there was little enough in our own cupboard, but in Herr Hitler's cupboard there was nothing at all."

THE ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: It was very stupid of me not to have enclosed the cake recipe, as I might have known it would have been quite a chore for you to look it up, as I think it must be over 5 years since I cut it out of the paper. Of course, now we can get most of the ingredients, I use sugar instead of honey or syrup; there isn't any candied pineapple in the stores, so I just use the flavouring.

The grape juice was my own idea and it worked out alright, although, I'll admit I was a little leary about it at first. I am enclosing the recipe, you will notice that one of my friends has put down 3½ cups cups flour, but I used more than that; maybe that is why my cake crumbles when I cut it, even though it is quite moist.

Thank you for advice on chilling fruit and I hope I'm not too much bother. E. F. R.

P. S. Would you please return recipe?

ANSWER: I have printed both of your letters, E. F. R., because I thought some readers would be interested in the Eggless Christmas cake and herewith print it:

Eggless Christmas Cake (originally contributed by Mrs. D. E. Wilton)

One-half pound citron peel, ½ lb. lemon peel, ½ lb. orange peel, ½ lb. blanched almonds, ½ lb. walnuts, ½ lb. candied pineapple, ¼ lb. candied cherries, ½ lb. ground cocoanut, 2 lbs. currants, 2 lbs. sultana raisins, ½ lb. dates, 1 lb. Valencia raisins, 1 cup corn syrup or honey, 1 cup sweet milk, ½ teaspoon allspice, 1 teaspoon lemon extract, 2 teaspoon each mace, cinnamon, nutmeg, 2 tablespoon vanilla, 1 tablespoon nectar (optional), 1 lb. butter, 1½ lbs. brown sugar, 3½ cups flour, 2 teaspoon baking powder. Prepare fruit, add peel, pineapple, cherries and nuts and dredge with 2 cups of the flour.

Cream butter and sugar, add spices, then flavouring, then corn syrup or honey, and milk, and finally the fruit. Use heavy wooden spoon to mix well. If made in 3-storey pans the large cake will take 3½ hours at 275 deg. Fahr. the medium one 3 hours, the small one 1¼ hours.

Note: Mrs. E. F. R. who reminded me of this recipe and sent it back to me says she uses grape juice instead of milk and likes it better.

ANSWER: Thanks for all the trouble you have gone to—I think though that the 3½ cups flour is the correct quantity, and agree with you that the reason that your cake crumbles is because it contains too much flour.

Please write to me whenever I can be of help to you.

QUESTION: I would appreciate it very much if you could forward me a recipe for a raisin sauce to be served with baked ham. Mrs. I. L.

ANSWER:

Raisin Sauce

(to be served with baked ham, smoked tongue, etc.)

Simmer together 1 cup brown sugar and ½ cup water 5 minutes, then add, 1 cup seedless raisins, 2 tablespoon butter, 4 tablespoons lemon juice, 1½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon cloves, shake of mace, 1 cup currant jelly (apple jelly will do). Stir over low heat until jelly dissolves. Serve hot on hot smoked meat.

QUESTION We like a rich white Christmas cake and have used the following recipe for the last 3 years, but find it does not keep well—it gets mouldy. Also it never seems quite baked through, though it is baked for 4 to 5 hours.

Can you tell me what change to make in the recipe?

I notice there is not milk in Dundee Fruit Cake recipe in the paper of November 18. Should this be eliminated or cut down?

Recipe follows:

Light Fruit Cake

(sent in by reader to be corrected)

One-half lb. butter, 1½ cups white sugar, 5 eggs, 2¾ cups unsifted flour, ¾ cup milk, 2 teaspoons baking powder, rind and juice of 1 orange, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 cups each dates, white raisins, cocoanut, ¼ cup each red cherries, green cherries, ½ cup each citron peel, almonds.

If possible will your please reply soon. I have always used maraschino cherries in this recipe; perhaps they should be glazed. Thank you very much. V.C.

ANSWER:

Omit the milk entirely; keep on using the marschino cherries and substitute their juice (if it not over ½ cup) for the milk for your liquid content. Milk will always make cakes mould if kept too long at too warm a temperature, and there is no other ingredient in the cake that would mould. But do keep your cakes very cool. The elimination of milk will correct sogginess too.

ANOTHER INGENIOUS FABRIC—The news in fabrics never flags, with chemists popping up with test tube dream lengths every few weeks. The newest one to arrive at this desk is called norzon, and its rayon backers claim that's a word which will become as familiar as nylon, eventually. In character, the stuff looks like suede with considerable body, although thin and pliant enough for fashion uses; it is almost impervious to weather wetting, cleaning dry with a stiff brush. Both the beret and shoes shown here are made of scarlet norzon. Handbags, interior upholstery for automobiles, card table covers, will be other uses for this electroplated rayon cloth.

Mrs. Pepys' Fruit Mincemeat Rated Highly for Christmas

By MARY MOORE

The sequence in which I am giving you recipes for your Christmas preparations may not be the order in which you planned to make things.

But—this is how I am doing it, using what evenings and Saturday afternoons I have, and spacing the different cakes, puddings and cookies according to their keeping qualities.

Today we are making mincemeat at home, because I bought a bushel of second grade Spy apples and both of my youngsters are going to be home at one time, and will help me with the peeling, chopping, grinding and mixing.

This is a most elegant mincemeat, and based on one inspired by Mrs. Pepys—wife of the famous Diary-man.

It is not a large recipe, but for those who strive for perfection rather than profusion I recommend it highly. It makes lovely tarts and pen face pies—especially if topped with a little unsweetened whipped cream or served with white cream cheese.

Mrs. Pepy's Fruit Mincemeat

Peel and seed 1 pound Tokay grapes, add ½ cup blanched shredded almonds (I refuse to apologize for the cost of this), 4 cups chopped and cored and peeled apples, (do not grind them), 1 lb. seeded raisins, ½ lb. moist mixed peel with plenty of citron peel in it, ¼ lb. chopped figs, ½ lb. cleaned and dried currants, 1 or 2 cups brown sugar, strained juice and grated rind 1 lemon, 1 teaspoon each cinnamon and freshly ground nutmeg. Stir for 10 minutes, store without cooking, in stone crock, cover, and let stand for 2 weeks in cold place before using. Let me know how you like it.

Beth's Mincemeat Cookies

(These keep well if kept cool and stored in tin box, between sheets of waxed paper.)

One cup butter, 1½ cups sugar, 3 eggs, 1 teaspoon soda, 1½ tablespoons hot water, 3¼ cups flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup chopped walnuts, 1 cup mincemeat (any mincemeat will do, but Mrs. Pepys' (above) is super); cream the butter very well, add sugar gradually while creaming, then beaten eggs, soda dissolved in hot water and half of the flour mixed with the salt Then add the broken nuts and mincemeat, and the remainder of the flour. Drop by spoonfuls on greased sheet pan and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. until light golden. Do not let these burn.

Medium-Rich Fruit Cake

(I like this cake because one does not have to be quite so miserly with it with the family; for instance I can give Pete permission to eat not more than 2 slices per day and he really thinks he's very favoured;—poor starving orphan—he's 14 now and stands 5 ft. 10 in. and weighs 146 lbs.—but I'm still the boss.)

One-half pound butter, ½ lb. brown sugar, 1⅛ lbs. pastry flour (4½ cups), 5 large eggs, 1 lb. washed and dried currants, ½ lb. raisins (preferably seeded), ½ lb. mixed peel, ¼ lb. shredded almonds, 1½ teaspoons ground ginger, ¾ teaspoon cinnamon, ¾ teaspoon mace, ¼ cup molasses. Cream the butter and sugar together until thoroughly blended Drop the eggs in one at a time and beat well after each addition Add the flour and spices sifted together, then mix in the fruits, nuts and molasses and continue mixing until the whole is well mixed. Pour into tins lined with buttered paper and bake at 300 deg. Fahr., or if you are not too sure of your oven bake it at 275 deg. Fahr., about 2½ to 2¾ hours.

FIVE O'CLOCK FASHION—To look at this wonderful frock dedicated to a pretty woman's after-lark leisure and social appearances, anyone would suspect a custom made model. But the dress is just one more of the wonderful manufactured dresses, which will find its way into good stores all over the country. Notice the way the sleeves stay on the shoulders despite the wide, deep neckline; notice the folds which soften the side of the neckline, disappearing into the bodice softness. The side swept draperies, too, are a notable manufactured achievement. The fabric, including that on the buttons which fasten the model, is copper toned brocade. Incidentally, then length is just right currently . . . we are past those ankle-swathing, longer skirts.

Christmas Bazaar And Tea At King Edward

A variety of gift articles were for sale, as well as delicious home cooking and candy, at the King Edward School on Wednesday afternoon. Members of the Home and School Association were holding a Christmas bazaar and serving tea and dainty refreshments. Guests were received by the president, Mrs. L. Gibson, in the kindergarten room, attractively decorated as usual with the children's work.

Holly grown in a Peterborough garden centred the tea table, effectively flanked by red and green candles in silver holders. At each end of the lace-covered table there were siver tea things attended by Mrs. D. T. Crawford and Mrs. A. W. Nelson, president of Home and School Council, for the first hour, and then taken over by charter members of the organization, Mrs. J. O. Fife and Mrs. H. A. Cooke.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Payne and the groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Reid, all of Peterborough. Carnations and fern decorated the church for the wedding.

The bride was given in marriage by her father in a gown of white brocaded satin styled with a sweetheart neckline, leg-o-mutton sleeves coming to points over her hands and full skirt. Her veil was caught back with a halo of forget-me-nots and she carried a bouquet of red roses and carnations.

Mrs. Helen Newson of Toronto, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing coral with hat and gloves of gold and carried a nosegay of roses and carnations. The bridesmaid was Miss Babe Reid, sister of the groom, who was frocked in mauve with matching halo and gloves and carried a nosegay.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, December 2

The probability that a wise and judicious use of the personal equation may compensate for very stubborn obstacles, born of unsound or chaotic judgment, instille or precipitated by a tricky or craft undercurrent, in which betrayal and false promises lend confusion or becloud the issue. Fumbling, errors due to working in the dark, against subtlety, intrigue or treachery, might best be circumvented by wise resort to personality, charm, or the social, cultural, domestic implements, the "end justifying the means."

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year in which peculiar difficulties or unfathomable undercurrents may nullify practical judgment and impel resort to quite as subtle or intringuing talents or tactics. A deep-seated or curious set of circumstance may seem too inexplicable for logic and may impel a course of action where personal charm or other subtle implements seem justifiable, as the element of duplicity may have domestic, romantic or emotional factors to consider. Defer important decisions for clearer vision and sound action.

A child born on this day may possess rather obscure vision or be swayed by emotions rather than reason. Its personal charm or efficiency may avert complications, personal and business.

Ladies' Aid Tea and Bazaar Highly Successful Event

A capacity crowd was out for the Ladies' Aid tea and bazaar in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church parlors Wednesday afternoon. For the first December day of 1948 the weatherman tried a few flakes of snow, but just at the tea hour he decided on rain. However, the dampness didn't seem to keep anyone at home. Mrs. J. McLeod, president, offered a warming greeting to each guest and further welcome was given by Mrs. C. G. Boyd.

First booth to catch the eye was bright and gay with red and green crepe paper and a border of evergreen branches. Cubs Alex Eastwood and Bobby Findley were behind the table to assist Mrs. P. Hawthorne and Mrs. H. Fredericks sell home-made candy, wrapped in colored cellophane and tied with ribbon, or in small decorated baskets. The boys were also offering some novelties, one a pretty sailing vessel, built in a small bottle.

The Cheerful Workers' group had been given the home-cooking concession and they branched out to include delicious salads, potted meats and cooked ham, and were offering fresh eggs, too. Shivering jelly molds in red and green reminded one of a verse in the children's story, "The Night Before Christmas," and they were giving the saleladies a good deal of fun dispensing them. Very nicely iced Christmas cakes in various sizes were a centre of attraction. They also offered small potted plants and sprigs of holly sent from Vancouver, a quilt and several aprons and children's knitted wear, as well as the full range of pastries.

On the gift tables were shown embroidered pilow cases, towels, aprons, several jars of honey, plants and novelties. There was also the touch and take barrel, full of small notions concealed in Christmas wrapping paper. Sales were handled by members of the west end group.

Each member had brought a good used book and these were being offered at the book stall at very reasonable prices by Mrs. L. Howson and Mrs. J. Rosenburg. More holly from the west coast and a variety of decorations for Christmas were sold at a small table attended by Mrs. W. Young and Mrs. A. Spencley.

Attendants at the home cooking tables were Mrs. W. G. Hall, Mrs. E. Fraser, Mrs. Wesley Brown, Mrs. W. C. Mann, Mrs. G. Lockington, Mrs. Pearl Weatherstone, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. W. C. Morrow, Mrs. D. P. Dickson, Mrs. R. N. Pearse, Mrs. E. A. Taylor, Mrs. R. Reid, Mrs. G. W. Lee, Mrs. A. Phillips, Mrs. A. Barrie, Mrs. A. M. Pidgeon and Mrs. G. Hendry. Those in charge at gift tables were Mrs. D. W. Clark, Mrs. J. H. Jamieson, Mrs. T. McArthur, Mrs. C. H. Sherwood, Mrs. B. McLean, Mrs. H. Middleton, Mrs. J. R. Allan and Mrs. W. Gray.

A picturesque arrangement on the tea table depicted a small village on Christmas eve with Santa Claus and his sleigh gliding over the snow banks and roof tops. Light was from red candles in low silver holders. The lovely cloth used was of Chinese linen. Pouring the tea during the afternoon were Mrs. L. Ross, Mrs. W. Howe, Mrs. W. A. Burrell, Mrs. W. Parker, Mrs. E. Fraser and Mrs. J. Stevenson.

Guests were served at small tables, each decorated with tiny Christmas trees, figures of reindeer, Santa and scenes of the festive season. The hostesses were Mrs. H. McKenzie, Mrs. H. A. Cranfield, Mrs. J. Anderson, Mrs. H. Dunword, Mrs. F. Rowan, Mrs. W. Beveridge, Mrs. Perry, Mrs. G. Sproule, Mrs. A. Shearer, Mrs. O. Williamson, Mrs. G. Jack, Mrs. H. Welford, Mrs. Stinson, Miss B. Ross, Mrs. W. Williams, Mrs. M. Faux, Mrs. N. S. Courtney, Miss S. Rutherford, Mrs. T. Barry, Mrs. McQuade and Mrs. Leach.

All tea assistants were members of the Sunshine and South End Group with Mrs. Walter Jackson and Mrs. J. Stevenson as conveners. Joint treasurers were Mrs. J. Anderson and Miss F. Rosenburg.

Children had a nice time in the Sunday School room where they were entertained at a party by the Young Women's Auxiliary.

Mrs. D. B. Gordon led a group in singing Christmas numbers.

Mrs. Carver, founder of the local organization, spoke to the ladies on Christmas customs. She told how the balsam with its tiny crosses at the end of each branch was chosen as the standard Christmas tree in early days when the people were looking for a tree 'high in hope, broad in love, with the cross of faith."

Each member responded to roll call with the first line of their favorite hymn.

After the business session Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon spoke, as has been the custom, at the Christmas meeting. His talk offered a challenge to each young mother present. Referring to the shepherds of long ago, he spoke of the need for shepherds today to lead the people and bring more followers to His fold.

Mrs. Charles Huffman then entertained the group with a Christmas reading.

Mrs. Gordon's group of choristers closed the meeting by singing "O Little Town in Bethlehem," "Deck the Hall" and "Good King Wencelas."

Trinity Baby Band Holds Christmas Meeting

The board room of Trinity church was tastefully decorated to lend a festive atmosphere for the meeting of the Baby Band mothers Wednesday evening. There were 68 members in attendance and Mrs. Eric Edmonson, vice-president, was in the chair.

Worship service opened with a carol, "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear" Scripture reading was given by Mrs. Turnbull, after which Mrs. Norman Elliott led in prayer.

No Drastic Change In Fashions Shown for Spring

TORONTO, Dec. 2— (CP) — Streamlined examples of women's spring styles were shown when more than 75 Toronto manufacturers made a bid for Canada's fashion trade.

At the opening of the Toronto fashion industries two-day showings, about 800 buyers from across the Dominion applauded as a cross section of graceful, lady-like coats, dresses and suits were shown. Arresting detail on cuff, pocket, draping and collar caught the eye when presented on gowns which were cut slimmer than anything seen this year.

Suits took the lead in the fitted silhouette. The long, well-tailored lines and slim, over-hip jackets were shown in navy, green, grey, black and a new shade of copper rose. The double-breasted effect with the vest underneath was a sporty version of one of the newer modes.

Skirts on the whole observed a pencil-slimness, with kick pleats and small side or back slits allowing for walking comfort. Back interest was often subtly supplied by inverted pleats or soft fulness.

The cape is definitely assured of a place in the spring fashions. Capelet shoulders on suits are definitely reminiscent of the Victorian age.

Capes were also seen on princess-lined coats or the jaunty yoked affairs. The empire high waisted coat with a back half-belt catching a burst of unpressed folds will share spring coat news with the fitted, belted greatcoat. High "chin-chin" collars and wide cuffs, often double or triple folds, were seen on fur as well as fabric coats.

Quaint Victorian touches on spring dresses will make them even more feminine and graceful than those shown this fall. Heightened collars, stoles, bustle backs, tiers and capelets are all being shown in rustling taffetas, jacquards and moires.

HANDBAG WITH A NAMEPLATE — A handsome newcomer into handbag collections current is the model photographed above, which is provided with a brass plate which covers almost the whole of one side. A simply manipulated lock which is strong and sure is also brass. In faille, kidskin or suede of excellent quality, the wrist bands are hung the broad or lengthwise way of the bag, and the lacquered brass plate is monogrammed to order with one, two or three initials, cut out from the solid plate.

Projects Outlined By Girls' Council

YWCA Senior Girls' Council met Wednesday evening for supper in the club room with 30 present. Mrs. M. Banks was supper convener and Miss Kay Hales presided.

Mrs. Ed Killingbeck outlined the progress on the Christmas issue of the news sheet called "Peterborough YWCA Cryer." It is expected it will be available to members very shortly.

National convention committee gave a resume of their plans for raising money. A musical program featuring Miss Myrtle Sargent's talk on the British Isles is to be presented Tuesday evening, December 7 in the recreation rom. Second is a telephoning euchre and bridge in conjunction with a euchre and bridge party in the Y on January 21 and third a Festival of Nations in March.

"Hanging of the greens" on Friday evening, December 10, promises a night of fun for all Y members. Mrs. Roma Brindle is convener.

Nominations for new Council officers were made and elections will take place at the next meeting.

A service project suggested by National YWCA Council was brought to the attention of members. Information on Canada is to be collected and sent to Germany to give Displaced Persons an idea of this country as they have to choose a place for their future home. Also, each group representative is to find out how many are planning to take the European tour in the summer of 1950.

There will be a pot-luck supper for the January meeting with Miss Hilda Northey convener.

Break Off Engagement If Fiance is Indifferent

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have been engaged for three years to a medical student. He will not be in a position to marry for two years. I love this man dearly, but I fear he has grown tired of the engagement. He neglects me—rarely comes to see me. He always has some excuse — which I find is false — for not being able to come. He is absolutely indifferent as to what I do and he appears bored when I try to discuss our future. future.

Dorothy Dix

What should I do. I am terribly worried over the situation.

A FAN

ANSWER: Break the engagement at once. Beat him to it and so save your face among your friends. That is what your fiance is trying to force you to do. He is too much of a gentleman to want to jilt you himself, so he is putting it up to you to take the initiative in the matter.

Don't try to hang on to a man who is tired of you and who wants to get rid of you. It will only bring you humiliation. No girl with any pride wants a lukewarm lover who has to be hounded into coming to see her, who shows that he is bored with her society, and who only sticks to his engagement through a sense of duty.

Believe me, my dear, you should consider yourself lucky that the young man found out that he was mistaken in his sentiments toward you before marriage, instead of afterward. For a broken engagement is not the tragedy that a broken marriage is; and an unfaithful sweetheart can't break your heart as an unfaithful husband can. You can end the matter now with no divorce, no scandal, no children to consider.

Give Man his Freedom

Give the young man his freedom. Don't force him into an unloving marriage, because no wife is so forlorn and so to be pitied as the woman a man marries because his mistaken sense of honor forces him to carry out the terms of a long engagement.

You have wasted three years on this man. Don't waste any more, and console yourself with the reflection that there are just as good fish in the sea as have been caught.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have a daughter 19 years old. She has a good job and makes a splendid salary which she spends upon herself, although we are very poor. She never helps me with the housework. In fact, she makes me wait on her as if I were a servant and she never gives me even a pleasant word.

A MOTHER

ANSWER: Because you reared her to be that way. When your daughter shows you no consideration or appreciation, and when she is impudent and insulting to you, you are just reaping exactly what you sowed. How can you cultivate selfishness in a girl for 19 years and then not expect her to be a monster of egotism and think that she has a right to the best of everything? How can you let a girl talk back to you from the time she was a baby and then expect her to be polite and deferential to you?

It is too late now for you to correct the mistake you made 19 years ago, but you can help matters by staging a rebellion. Just refuse to be a slave any longer to your unappreciative daughter. Have a little backbone and an ounce of courage and refuse to be sacrificed any further. Perhaps when your daughter has to do her own washing and ironing and mending, she will wake up to the fact that Mother is a pretty useful beast of burden around the house and she might show a little more appreciation and affection for you, as well as give you some part of her pay envelope for the work you do for her.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have been married 20 years to a man whom I love devotedly and who loves me, but he is attracted to every good-looking woman he meets and when he gets the opportunity he plays around with them a bit. Naturally this worries me as I am afraid some clever woman might steal him away from me.

How would you advise me to handle this situation?

WORRIED WIFE

ANSWER: The only way you can manage the philandering husband is to drive him with a light rein. As long as you do not try to check him, he probably will do no more than zigzag a little off the straight and narrow road; but if you use force with him he is sure to bolt, jump the fence and wander off into forbidden pastures.

The thing to do is to call to your aid a sense of humor. Don't take your husband and his admiration of other women seriously. Just laugh off his little affairs and he will regard them as mere flirtations instead of the grand passion. Men of your husband's type like to have a little fling with other women, and it flatters their vanity to think that they can attract them. But in the end they always come back to home and Mother if she has the wit to play a waiting game.

BABY'S COLDS

Help Nature To Fight Them Off

Medical Science denies there is any such thing as a cure for colds—only Nature herself can do it. So when baby's sniffles, or stuffy breathing warn you of a cold's presence—cooperate at once with Nature.

See that baby is kept warm, gets plenty of sleep and take extra care that the bowels are thoroughly cleared of harmful wastes. To do this without upsetting baby's whole system and further weakening it, try Baby's Own Tablets. Mild, yet act promptly in getting rid of the irritating materials that make baby restless and feverish. Mrs. George McBride of Scarboro says: "My baby of 26 months caught a nasty cold so I tried Baby's Own Tablets and she threw this cold off quicker than ever before. I certainly am for Baby's Own Tablets from now on." Effective also in teething troubles, constipation and other simple baby ailments. 25¢.

Pay Rental Fine

J. T. O'Connell, Otonabee, was fined $25 and $1.75 costs on his guilty plea to a rentals charge in court today. He was charged with renting property on RR 8, Peterborough, at $57 a month and without having had the rental rate fixed by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Talkative Prisoner Protests Innocence Stole Blanket, Wrench—'Twas An Accident

Outraged innocence was in the prisoner's box in police court today as Edward Lynch, 404 Wellington St., was found guilty on two charges of minor theft and sentenced to 15 days in jail. Pleading not guilty to both charges, Lynch gave a detailed account of how he had come into possession of both the stolen objects—one a car blanket and the other a wrench.

PC Grant Gillespie had arrested Lynch Tuesday afternoon. The officer—a rookie on the city force—had been off duty at the time and had noticed the accused get out of a car parked in a hotel yard. He said that he saw a blanket, partly concealed under Lynch's overcoat. He took him to the police station, where a search also uncovered the wrench.

Dr. Mark Crough identified the blanket as having been taken from his car.

The accused, in his own defence, made no denial of the facts of the case. It was all simply a mistake, he said. He had worked in the north district some time ago and had asked his employer-farmer to bring in his clothes for him, he explained. Among these was a blanket.

"Now, I'm not saying this is it—and if this gentleman (Dr. Crough) say it's his, I guess it is. But it looked like mine anyway...".

Lynch said that he got the blanket from the car when he "heard" that his former employer was in town. He said the doctor's car was the first one in the yard and that he spotted the blanket there. He was quite effusive in his agreement with PC Gillespie's evidence:

"There's a man who's telling the truth," he gratuitously told his worship, pointing to the officer.

He had used his own blanket in lumber camps and other rough jobs, he told the court.

"You certainly keep your blanket nice and clean, Mr. Lynch," commented Magistrate Philp.

Another Mistake

On the other charge, theft of the wrench, it was all another mistake. John Gallaway, 221 Hunter St., West, identified the article as his property. The accused "hung around" his shop a lot, he said, and did occasional jobs for him. He had been there earlier the day of his arrest, he testified.

In his questioning of the witness, Lynch became involved in some rather confusing exchange over the amount of wages Gallaway had paid him for past services. He added that he had advise the officers himself that the wrench was the blacksmith's property and asked to have it returned.

Found guilty of the second theft, he was sentenced to three days to run concurrent with the first sentence.

But the accused still had the last word. Being led from the courtroom, he turned to the magistrate and said:

"Well, I ain't guilty about the wrench, anyway..."

Co Operatives Hold Convention

TORONTO, Dec. 2.—(CP).—Aggressive membership programs, continuous education and informative advertising to develop strong co-operatives were urged today by D. E. Stauffer, vice-president of the newly-organized United Co-operatives of Ontario.

"The Co-Op should be the most attractive and best operated business in town," he told the first annual convention members.

After 35 years in operation the United Farmers' Co-operative Company Ltd. turned over business to United Co-operatives of Ontario — a federated structure owned and operated by 120 affiliated locals.

Mr. Stauffer said the UCO could become the largest regional co-operative in Canada, but he warned against too rapid expansion.

"We must face the fact that most of our locals are not more than five years old and even if their operations have been highly successful, they have had little time to gain experience."

Record Year

A record financial year for United Farmers' Co-operative Company Ltd. in Ontario was announced Wednesday by Ralph Staples of Toronto, when he presented the directors' report at the company's annual meeting.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

MOST IMPORTANT ITEM

WHAT IS the most important factor in good play of the cards? You might think, since the question is asked, that it would be hard to answer. It is not. Indeed, it is probably the easiest of all questions about bridge to answer correctly. The answer is merely this—count the number of tricks you have surely in sight, then reckon how many more you must get; or, in the case of a suit contract, count the number of losing tricks in sight and reckon how many of them you must avoid. A player who will not do that can not become a star, no matter what his brilliancy otherwise.

South won the spade J lead with the A, then decided to see if the hearts would set up with the loss of one trick. They did. After the K and A, he gave the 9 to the Q. He let the spade 4 return go to the Q and won the next spade with the K. Now he could take two more heart tricks, which he did, giving him six. But after two diamond tops, leaving him one short of game, he gave up a diamond, which West won because East had pluckily and soundly unblocked by discarding the Q on the K. Spades then set the contract.

"Why didn't you set up the diamonds instead of hearts?" That's what North asked of his partner, incidentally explaining that either suit, to establish with the loss of just one trick, depended on finding an even break of the defenders' cards in it.

South's reason was that he had only a singleton of diamonds in dummy, really no reason at all. Against that hollow thinking was the fact that, if the longer diamonds broke well, they would produce one more trick than the hearts. Simple counting—five in diamonds, two in hearts and two in spades—would make nine tricks. Reckoning the same way, South could have counted only four in hearts, against five in diamonds. That should have piloted him to correct play of the hand.

TWO CANADIAN "good-will ambassadors," age 14, found their efforts to improve US-Canadian relations short-lived as they wound up in Cleveland's Juvenile Detention Home after making the trip from Hamilton, Ont., with $1.65 in their pockets. The youths were on their way to Kentucky to visit relatives when the law interrupted their journey. "What kind of hospitality is this?" they asked. "We arrived here at 1.30 and got arrested at 3!"

Memorial Service Honors Congressman

HARWOOD, Dec. 2 — (ENS) The flowers on the altar of white and bronze chrysanthemums on Sunday at St. John's chirch were in memory of ex-Congressman George Rogers, when a large congregation filled the church for his memorial service, conducted by Mr. Stanley Armstrong, Wycliffe College, Toronto. Mr. Rogers' immediate family reside in Rochester, and the next of kin present for the memorial service were Mrs. A. Smart, his cousin, and her daughter, Mrs. Louis Harris, of Gore's Landing.

All of the late Mr. Rogers' boyhood friends were on hand for the service, and from Cobourg were Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Cunningham and son Ray; from Toronto were all the people who have summer homes, many of whom returned for this special service of remembrance.

Won't Halt Deliveries

LONDON, Dec. 2—(Reuters)—Christopher Mayhew, undersecretary for foreign affairs, today rejected a suggestion to halt deliveries of war materials to Russia until the Berlin "blockade" was lifted. "It's Years Since I've Felt This Good Before," She Says

Nerves Were Bad: Stomach Rebelled. Back Ached and Couldn't Sleep. Tells of Decided Change in Health After Taking Syntona.

MRS. ELIZA JARDINE

Hundreds of men and women in this city and vicinity have told of the good results they got by taking Syntona Herbal Compound. Many have given public statements stying it gave prompt, lasting relief from common disorders of stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels, nervousness, rheumatic pains, and a host of other associated symptoms.

Here, for example, is the recent statement of Mrs. Eliza Jardine, 26 Orchard Steet, London, Ontario, who said:

"For years I was troubled with stomach disorders. No matter what I ate I suffered with gas, cramps and heartburn. I would belch up hot, sour liquids, feel short of breath and was subject to sick-headaches and dizzy spells. My back ached. I had pains in my limbs, joints and muscles, and my nerves were so on edge I couldn't get to sleep at night.

"Several friends told me about Syntona and urged me to give it a trial. I wasn't taking this medicine long before I could see it was helping me. The gassy cramps, sour acidity and heartburn cleared up and as I continued using it all the aches and pains went away. Now I am free from headache and dizzy spells and for the first time in years I am able to get sound, refreshing sleep at night.

"I have far more energy and it is years since I've felt this good before."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. Find out how it will help you, too.—(Advt.)

Chiang Plans Retreat To S. China

Likely Try Nanching If Capital Falls; Leave Suchow Ablaze

NANKING, Dec. 3 — (AP) — Chinese Communist capture of Suchow was confirmed today by Government sources.

They said evacuation of the big Nationalist base 211 miles northwest of Nanking was completed at noon Wednesday. The Communist radio announced capture of the city at 10 p.m., local time, Thursday night.

Three Government army groups totalling 250,000 men pulled out of Suchow in an effort to relieve the trapped 12th Army Group to the south, in the Suhsien sector.

Foreign military observers, however, estimated the effective combat strength of the Suchow garrison at 110,000 men—in th 16th, 2nd and 13th Army Groups. The forward elements were stalled by Communist columns 25 miles south of Suchow. The 13th Army Group was holding rear-guard positions.

Destroy Supply Depots

Military sources reported the Communists entered Suchow only to find huge supply depots destroyed. Ammunition and gasoline dumps were blown up. Air observers said smoke pillars reached 8,000 feet above Suchow.

Meanwhile, seven Communist columns totalling about 100,000 men eased their assault on the Hwai River line. They were reported to have moved north, evidently to help stop the Suchow garrison, and to have left only a small holding force opposite the Hwai River armies.

Earlier today, the Government indicated it would make a fighting retreat to mountainous south China if the Communists overrun the Nanking area.

A government official hinted as much even as the foreign office was assuring the diplomatic corps that the government "has no intention to remove the capital

Two Freights Meet Head-On

SCHREIBER, Dec. 3.—(CP).—Two Canadian Pacific Railway freight trains collided head on near here Thursday, killing one man and injuring two others.

Fireman J. W. McMullen, 23, of Schreiber was reported killed in the wreck which derailed the engines and tenders of both trains and piled 13 cars into a ditch.

The two injured are engineer L. Downey and fireman W. Kelley, both of Schreiber. Downey suffered back injuries and Kelley facial lacerations.

C.P.R. officials said the cause of the crash, which occurred six miles from this Lake Superior pulp and paper mill town, is under investigation.

The wrecked freight cars blocked the main C.P.R. line and officials said the track might be cleared by noon today. Passenger trains were rerouted along the Canadian National Railways line from Oba to Red Rock.

Mother, 6 Children Escape Asphyxiation

Lie In Gas-Filled Home For 10 Hours, One Girl Fighting For Life

CHATHAM, Dec. .—(CP).—A mother and six children flirted with death for more than 10 hours during the night in a gas-filled farm house in Raleigh township. At noon it was reported that all but one of the girls is out of danger, but she is fighting for her life in an oxygen tent. She is Bernice Mailhiot, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mailhiot, of the Indian Creek Rd. Others overcome by the gas leak from a stove were: Mrs. Mailhiot, Ambrose, 17; Bernadette, 11; Edward, 10; Ernest, 8; and Joseph, 4.

Mrs. Mailhiot was the first to fall sick, shortly before her husband left for his job in Tilbury at 10 p.m. Thursday. Dr. W. F. Glen answered the call, but could not determine the illness.

By midnight, the other children were complaining of headaches and upset stomachs. As the night advanced, the children grew worse and struggled, and Ambrose, although feeling unwell, was afraid to leave them to go to a neighbors for help.

When Mr. Mailhiot returned this morning after 8 o'clock he found two children unconscious and the rest violently ill. He immediately ran to a neighbor for help.

Union Gas Company officials explained the fumes were released because of a peculiar arrangement for heating the house.

A pail had been turned upside down over the burner in an effort to increase the heat. They said the pail cut off oxygen, and improper combustion released a steady flow of fumes.

Reds Launch Election Scare

BERLIN, Dec. 3—(AP).—Communists launched a last-minute scare campaign today to try to keep Berliners from voting Sunday. Their newspapers asserted, without foundation, that the United States might withdraw from Berlin by spring and that Washington might recall Gen. Lucius D. Clay, the United States military governor. The Russians recognized a Communist rump government "the only legal" regime for Berlin and pledged it support. The regime was formed this week at a Red mass meeting. The Communists, assured a trouncing in the western sector city elections Sunday, are trying to get Germans to boycott the voting.

The United States removed without trouble its equipment from the closed liaison office at the City Hall in the Russian sector. Communist police insisted only on checking items taken away. British officials had to argue four hours Thursday night before the Communists let them move.

Russian recognition of the Communist regime they abetted surprised no one.

The announcements had been expected since hand-picked delegates approved a Communist slate of city officers unanimously at a convention in the Soviet sector Tuesday and proclaimed it the successor of the legally-elected (1946) city administration now seated in Soviet-blockaded western Berlin.

Fear Explosion

The compaigning has been marked by fights between anti-Communists and Communist hecklers. Fifteen hecklers were tossed out of one meeting Thursday night. A Socialist rally to be held in the British sector early tonight had explosive possibilities.

The Socialists will meet in a building only 200 yards from the broadcasting station of the Russian-controlled radio Berlin which the Russians have maintained as an island inside British territory since the joint occupation began in 1945.

From it the Russians broadcast a stream of propaganda against the Western Powers and anti-Communist Germans. Russian tommy-gunners stand guard in the lobby.

Hans Jakubowski, a union leader in western Berlin, publicly proposed: "Give the trade unions five hours to demonstrate and the Communist radio hubbub will be swept away." British authorities are understood to have turned him down.

Clamp Martial Law On Syria To Quell Riots

Army Bans Public Meetings As Crisis Holds

DAMASCUS, Dec. 3 (AP)—The army took over control of riot-torn Syria today and imposed a curfew to guard against new violence.

With a government crisis continuing, the army issued orders banning public assemblies and forbidding the public to carry arms. Heavy penalties were threatened for violations.

Troops patrolled the streets of this capital.

The army said the measures were taken to guard the security of Syrian forces facing Israeli troops on Syria's frontier with Palestine.

This dispatch, which passed through Syrian censorship, indicated the country is under martial law.

Rioting broke out in Damascus early this week during a public protest demonstration against the government's prosecution of the war with Israel.

The cabinet of Premier Jamil Mardam Bey resigned Wednesday and the crisis deepened with the lack of a public figure who could take the premiership and weld together the dissident elements.

Canada Doesn't Want UN Reconvening In New York

PARIS, Dec. 3 — (CP). — Dana Wilgress today told the steering committee that Canada opposes the idea of reconvening the present United Nations session in New York. As the 14 - power committee wrangled for two hours without coming to any decision as to when the Assembly should adjourn, the Canadian delegate, who also is Canada's Ambassador to Switzerland, told the committee that the United Nations should try to wind up its business during the present session.

The committee decided to meet again tomorrow to vote on a United States proposal to end this session Dec. 11. The meeting began Sept. 21.

Wilgress joined China and Britain in suggesting Dec. 15 for adjournment. Rather than reconvene in 1949, Wilgress said, Canada favors dropping what remaining items can be dropped from the agenda.

It is understood the Canadian delegation considers moving the Assembly to be unnecessarily expensive and would constitute an undesirable precedent.

The majority feeling Thursday was thought to be in favor of adjourning Dec. 11 and reconvening in New York in February or March. However, the United States was reported gathering support today for its insistence that the delegates should stay here until the remaining items for discussion are disposed of. Some believe this can be accomplished by mid-December at the latest—perhaps by the target date of Dec. 11.

Hollington Tong Resigns Post

NANKING, Dec. 3 (AP) — Hollington Tong, spokesman for the hard-pressed Chinese government, said today he had resigned.

Tong has been the government's director of information since April, 1947. He is one of the closest associates of President and Madame Chiang Kai-shek.

He was a member of Chiang's cabinet, with ministerial rank. He said his resignation becomes effective as soon as China's new Premier, Sun Fo, assumes office.

Meanwhile, the official Chinese news agency reported that members of the control Yuan would protest to Chiang against repeated instances of rich Chinese fleeing Nanking.

The newspaper Meijih Wan Pao reported that shipping companies in Shanghai had been ordered to hold 50 vessels in readiness there and in Nanking for emergency use by the Chinese government.

The newspaper added that China's Shipping Guild had replied that the ships would be held down the Yangtze about 150 miles east of here.

If Seaway Deal Fails, Will Try Plan

Say Cost Of Project Will Be $85,000,000 Demand Quick Action

TORONTO, Dec. 3 — (CP)—Chairman Robert H. Saunders of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission said today that unless he is assured an early start on the joint Canada-United States Hydro development of the St. Lawrence river, the commission will undertake to generate the equivalent of its share of power by new steam plants.

He said he would meet Prime Minister St. Laurent later today to explain the necessity for quick action on the St. Lawrence project.

"If we can't get such assurance," the commission at least hopes to get the green light soon for its proposal to develop a further 380,000 horsepower from the Niagara river so the steam program can be reduced to about 700,000 horsepower," he said.

If neither the St. Lawrence nor Niagara developments were feasible the commission planned an immediate start to a steam plant construction program designed to provide 1,100,000 H.P. This construction would be in addition to two projected plants at Windsor and in the Hamilton-Toronto area and three Ottawa river developments. It would be given priority over a proposed addition to the commission's Queenston plant.

Cost $85,000,000

Ontario's share of harnessing St. Lawrence river power is estimated at $214,000,000. Cost of developing an equal amount of power by steam would be about $85,000,000, he said. The extra initial cost of the St. Lawrence project, however, would be made up within five years by savings in operating costs.

The 1,100,000 H.P. would have to be available within 10 years and the bulk of it "long before that." Demand for power increased at the rate of about 133,000 H.P. annually.

The steam plant construction program would involve the building of a series of additional plants spaced throughout southern Ontario to be accessible to centres of heavy demand. Coal, which would have to be purchased in the United States, would cost about $45,000,000 a year.

Counterfeit Bills Flooding New York

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—A flood of counterfeit $10 and $20 bills has been loosed in the United States, the total running into possibly "millions of dollars", according to government officials.

Secret service agents and Federal Reserve Bank officials reported Thursday that the main dumping ground for the counterfeit money, up to the present, has been New York city.

They said the biggest influx of bogus bills in history has hit the metropolitan area.

The bogus bills, which first aroused the suspicions of a woman clerk about a week ago, were described by bank officials as masterful imitations.

Brush Up Defences

HALIFAX, Dec. 3—(CP).—A Halifax paper reported today that wartime coastal defences are being rehabilitated. The newspaper said "New equipment installed in the forts includes guns capable of throwing 380-pound shells 15 miles, searchlight batteries, radar towers, underground arsenals, observation posts and a push-button control system that marshals a concentration of fire-power on any given point."

RCAF Officer Found Shot In Hunting Cabin

HAMILTON, Dec. 3—(CP)—Shot through the forehead, Flying Officer James Cruikshank was found dead in his hunting cabin at Utterson, tiny farming village 10 miles south of Huntsville, Ont. An officer navigator in the regular air force, FO Cruickshank was found by another RCAF officer Wednesday and first reports indicate that he had been shot at very close range with a .32 calibre revolver. There were powder burns around the wound.

Today, the shooting is being investigated by Provincial Constable Douglas Beach and Provincial Police declined to disclose how FO Cruickshank met his death.

The officer was on six weeks' furlough from the RCAF and went north to Utterson to go hunting, taking all his clothes with him from his home.

Seek Second Man

Provincial police are seeking another man who was reported to have been seen with FO Cruickshank before the shooting but no details are available as to who this other man might be.

Born in Dumbarton, Scotland, FO Cruickshank came to Canada as a baby four years old with his parents. He joined the RCAF in 1943 and was commisioned as a navigator in 1944. He served overseas and returned to Canada for his discharge. He spent a year at McMaster University and then rejoined the air force in 1947.

Recently, he has been taking part in the large-scale photographic survey being made by the RCAF of parts of northern Canada, including Baffin Land, and flew as navigator in one of the Lancaster heavy bombers used dufing the operation.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Cruikshank, 232 Mcanulty Boulevard David, his brother and Agnes, his sister.

Armed Men Abduct Copper Cliff Cabbie

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Dec. 3 (CP)—Provincial police today alerted city police to be on the lookout for two armed men who abducted a Sudbury taxi driver, Onelso Serafini, at Copper Cliff Thursday and forced him to drive them here at the point of a pistol and a sawed off shot gun.

The two men, whom the taxi driver referred to as "Maxie" and "Reg," left the cab late Thursday at a local street intersection. The driver was not robbed.

He immediately reported the abduction to city and provincial police who broadcast an alarm and set up a dragnet at the border and the highway 17 exit.

OSHKOSH, Wis., Dec. 3 (AP) —Six small children died in a fire which destroyed their home Thursday night.

The fire struck the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Carpenter shortly before midnight. Police said Carpenter told them an oil heater ignited the kitchen and he was prevented by flames from reaching the bedroom where the children were sleeping.

Mrs. Carpenter was away at the time on her night job at a mail-order firm.

Carpenter was treated by a physician for burns on hands and face.

Toronto Police Convinced Truck Driver Murdered; Scour Side Roads For Body

Report Signs Of Struggle Around Truck Receipts, Papers Tossed Around; Believe Stranger In Hotel May Be Killer

TORONTO, Dec. 3—(CP).—Detective-Sgt. George Elliott, in charge of the investigation into the disappearance of Robert Taylor Thompson, 38, Toronto truck driver, said today he was convinced Thompson was murdered. The truck in which Thompson made his collection rounds for a cash register firm was found abandoned Thursday in Oshawa's Alexandra Park. An empty wallet was found on the seat and police said they believed a a thief or thieves had murdered Thompson to get the $200 he was carrying.

Sgt Elliott said a man dressed in brown whom Thompson met in an east-end hotel was thought to be the killer.

Provincial Police were scouring side roads and a general alarm was broadcast to all parts of the province. Sgt. Elliott said Thompson's body would likely be found on some side road northeast of Toronto.

Police are using receipts found about the truck to check on all customers that Thompson visited Wednesday in the Toronto and Oshawa districts.

Police had reports that Thompson was seen Wednesday afternoon in an east-end Toronto hotel. Other citizens phoned that they had seen a truck belonging to the company travelling between Toronto and Oshawa that afternoon.

First word that Thompson was missing came from his wife, who said he did not keep an appointment with her Wednesday night.

Seen With Stranger

Tracing the missing man's movements, police learned he had been seen in the Benlamond Hotel on Kingston Rd., Toronto, on the afternoon that he disappeared, sitting with a stranger. A waiter said the driver drank one bottle of beer and left. Waiters described his companion as about 35, short and thin, with light hair, wearing a brown suit and no overcoat. Police are looking for the man in an effort to learn more about Thompson's disappearance.

Mrs. Allan Muir, of Rossmore Rd., Toronto, reported to police she had seen Thompson's truck going east on the Lansing Cutoff, between 4 and 5 p.m., Wednesday.

For months, Thompson had met his wife, Betty, in a Danforth

New RCAF Squadron

OTTAWA, Dec. 3—(CP).—Formation of a new photo survey squadron to operate next summer with the two squadrons already in existence was announced today by Air Force headquarters. The new squadron will fly eight Canadian-built Lancasters and will be designated 408 Squadron, perpetuating the famous Goose Squadron which was a heavy bomber unit with the RCAF's No. 6 Bomber Group in England during the war.

Canadians Serve At 30 Bases In Britain, U.S.

OTTAWA, Dec. 3.— (CP).—Defence sources said today Canadian army and air force officers are serving at from 20 to 30 military headquarters and bases in the United States and Britain and that this exchange plan will probably be extended under the Atlantic security pact. The numbers involved are not large.

Similarly, British and American officers are stationed at defence headquarters in Ottawa, at other headquarters and bases across Canada. At the Rivers, Man., joint air training centre, for instance, two U.S. army officers hold down important positions on the staff.

The sources were commenting on a London dispatch calling attention to the three-way exchange system among the USAF, the RAF and the RCAF. In addition to an exchange of men, there is an exchange of ideas and plans.

The Canadian navy has some British naval officers on loan to help in the early stages of its fleet air arm. Young graduates of the Canadian Naval College also sometimes go first to the RN for practical training.

At defence headquarters, exchange is handled by a body of high officers known as the personnel members committee.

There is no indication yet how many Canadians are liable to go to the Atlantic pact countries, or in what way. There will, however, be some. The countries include Britain, the U.S., France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

Buys Willow Run Plant For 15 Million

DETROIT, Dec. 3 — (AP). — Kaiser-Frazer Corporation announced today it is buying for $15,100,000 the famous, Government-owned Willow Run bomber plant.

It cost the Government $100,000,000 to build the factory, according to unofficial figures.

As lease-holder, Kaiser-Frazer has been manufacturing automobiles in the plant since taking occupancy after the war's end.

K-F said it is buying the plant from the Government on a 20-year instalment plan.

Hall Asks Seven Unions If Harboring Communists

MONTREAL, Dec. 3—(CP). — Seven locals of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks (TLC) at the head of the Great Lakes are being asked by the union's Montreal headquarters whether they are "harboring known Communists," it was announced here today.

The announcement was made by Frank H. Hall, vice-president of the Brotherhood, who Thursday announced formation of an anti-Communist bloc of 32 unions in the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Mr. Hall, an outspoken anti-Communist, was commenting on a statement made in Toronto on Thursday night by William Jenoves, a TLC vice-president. Mr. Jenoves said "Hall has as many Reds in his organization at the Head of the Lakes as in any other union group."

"That might very well be so," the Brotherhood chief said.

"The laws of the Brotherhood provide that any member found advocating, promoting or holding membership in the Communist Party shall be subject to expulsion. However, we cannot act on suspicion.

"If Mr. Jenoves is privy to membership records of the Communist Party and will advise us who these members are we shall proceed against them.

"In the meantime, the Brotherhood's seven locals at the Lakehead are being advised of Mr. Jenoves' allegations and requested to notify us as to whether they are harboring known Communists."

Plan Hospital At Port Perry

PORT PERRY, Dec. 3 (CP)—A meeting of Port Perry and district ratepayers Thursday night unanimously supported a move to build a $20,000-public hospital in this area. About $16,000 will be furnished by the provincial and federal governments.

The Port Perry community hospital has been closed since Oct. 31, when an operating deficit of $4,000 forced the hospital board to refuse admittance to patients. The deficit coupled with the acute nursing shortage has left 4,500 residents in this area with no hospital facilities within a 20-mile radius. There are facilities at nearby Lindsay and Oshawa.

The Civic Hospital Bylaw

21,000 Away From School Lose Family Allowances

OTTAWA, Dec. 3 (CP) — Family Allowances of more than 21,000 children were suspended last year because of improper absence from school.

The Federal Health Department in its 1947-48 annual report says that during the year 51,181 cases of improper absence from school were reported to family allowance regional offices. The allowances were suspended in respect of 21,769 children. Subsequently, on resumption of school attendance by the children some 8,104 allowances were reinstated.

The allowance payments are conditional on the child's attendance at school as required by the province in which he resides. Children under 16 but above the compulsory school attendance age are not entitled to allowances if they are employed for wages.

The report said that 10,636 complaints arising out of the allowance payments were investigated during the year. It added:

"A review of the action taken indicates that, in approximately one-third of the cases, no change was found necessary; In other words the payee was considered a suitable recipient of the allowances. In other cases, changes of payee were made, or a third-party administrator was used in a minority of cases.

"It is of interest to note that, in the matter of complaints of misuse of allowances, of 1,580 such cases reported, 1,046 were discovered on investigation to be unfounded, so that payment was undisturbed."

Surveys to date indicate that family allowances continue to be used in the main for better clothing, more nutritious food, dental care and educational and recreational advancement. Some are using the money to build up savings accounts or to buy insurance for their children.

Accept New U.S. Proposal For Conciliation Commission In Palestine

Will Discuss Arab-Jewish Boundaries Ignoring Bernadotte Plan; Amendment Passes In UN By Vote Of 42-2

PARIS, Dec. 3—(AP).—The United Nations today approved a new American proposal for broad conciliation on Arab and Jewish boundaries in Palestine without reference to the Bernadotte plan or last year's partition. The political committee accepted by a large majority an amendment proposed by Dean Rusk of the United States to a British resolution. The change passed by a vote of 42 to two, with the 12 Arab and Slav bloc states not voting.

The amendment instructs the conciliation commission to be set up under that portion of the British resolution passed Thursday to take steps to assist the Jews and Arabs to settle all outstanding problems.

The committee Thursday deleted that part of the British proposal which would have instructed the Commission to give equal weight to the Bernadotte plan, proposed by the slain mediator, Count Folke Bernadotte, and the partition plan passed by the U. N. General Assembly in 1947.

Rusk pointed out today that the adverse vote Thursday was given both by delegates who objected to the Bernadotte plan and those who objected to the 1947 partition scheme.

Reject Australian Plan

The committee at the beginning of the meeting rejected by a vote of 39 to seven, with four abstentions, an Australian proposal to establish a sub-committee to give the conciliators instruction acceptable to the majority of the political committee.

American, Australian, Russian and New Zealand informants said they believe that less emphasis on the slain mediator's proposals is inevitable in any final settlements now.

The informants, all intimately connected with the Palestine problem, based their prediction on several factors.

The most important of these, they said, was the political committee's vote Thursday which dumped the core of the twice-revised British resolution for a Palestine settlement. The British resolution originally was based on the Bernadotte plan.

Ask Internationalization

Top American and British delegates met for several hours Thursday night to figure out whether they could patch up the battered proposal.

Delegates hope to achieve some some kind of final action from their three-week discussion by this week-end.

The British resolution called for internationalization of the port of Haifa and the airfield at Lydda, as recommended by Count Bernadotte.

The committee has approved the preamble and two substantive clauses of the British proposal.

These note the existence of the mediator's report and the 1947 plan; set up a three-man conciliation commission to take over the mediator's functions; and call on the parties to seek agreement either directly or through the Commission.

Badly Beaten Woman Dead

MONTREAL, Dec. 3 (CP)—Police today are seeking clues which will lead them to the assailant of Mrs. Victor Bessette, 48-year-old cripple, who died in hospital here Thursday night less than 24 hours after she had been left beaten and unconscious on Jacques Cartier bridge.

It was the Montreal district's second murder this week. Police are still searching for the murderer in the 68-wound-slaying of Thomas Kacvinsky, 66-year-old chef who met death last Sunday.

Dr. M. Roussell, of the provincial medico-legal laboratory determined Thursday that the woman had died of a skull fracture. Her shoulders and her jaw were also fractured. He gave the opinion that the woman had been beaten with fists and kicked. She died without recovering consciousness.

Mrs. Bessette was identified by a son, Fernand Bessette.

She was found early Thursday morning huddled against the bridge railing by a constable from St. Helen's Island. He was attracted by her cries.

Police believe robbery was the motive. The victim was known to carry large sums of money with her because she did not have faith in banks.

Western Oils Slump On 3rd Successive Day

TORONTO, Dec. 3 — (CP) — Western oils dipped for the third successive day as trading slowed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Industrials also weakened on narrow losses and golds showed a slightly easier tone in dull action. Base metals advanced on some good gains.

The western oils list moved quietly downward. Anglo-Canadian, Calgary and Edmonton, Home Oil and Atlantic Oil dipped 5 to 15 cents. Pacific Petroleum, selling ex-rights, lost 30 cents.

Utilities brightened in early industrial activity but dipped as the session progressed. Winnipeg Electric sold at a new high at one time but CPR, Brazilian Traction and Bell Telephone were easier. Papers dipped down and losses were generally held to fractions.

Eureka sold at a new low in the base metals list and New Calumet climbed to a new high. Steep Rock was strong and Silanco down.

Power Quotas Up 3 Per Cent

TORONTO, Dec. 3 (CP)—Hydro quotas are up another three per cent in Ontario today and the new allotments will remain in effect until the end of the year.

But Hydro Commission spokesman couple with the glad news a word of warning that voluntary power-saving still is vitally needed.

The latest boost, the fourth in a week, was made possible by continuing mild weather and clear days, Hydro Chairman Robert Saunders said Thursday night. Moreover, streamflow of the Ottawa river and other streams has risen, enabling power plants to increase their output.

Mr. Saunders said the flow of the Ottawa river alone has risen from 17,500 to 24,100 cubic feet a second in the space of a few weeks. The total increase in power quotas in the last seven days has been 13 per cent.

Army Has Plan To Handle Arctic Wounded

By DOUGGLAS HOWE

OTTAWA, Dec. 3. — (CP).— The army thinks it has found workable answers to a big problem—how to care for the wounded if war is even fought in the staggering cold of the Canadian Arctic.

Its medical officers have devised a system that envisaged use of casualty bags for quick protection, of nylon-lined tents, gliders and the wannegans or cabooses of tractor trains as potential aid posts near the front and of air evacuations by transport planes as the link with base hospitals.

Work of the winter experimental base at Churchill, Man., and elsewhere has brought conclusions that enabled one spokesman to say, "if the soldiers learn to fight up there as well as we can take care of them, they'll be all right." They will give Arctic training to all members of RCAMC and their current thinking trends are along these lines:

Stretcher bearers with fighting troops would be probably at least twice as numerous as in the recent war, and they would be highly skilled. When a man fell wounded, his comrades would shelter him crudely with a wall of snow or in a trench, then mark the spot with, say, his rifle.

Like Sleeping Bag

The stretcher-bearer gets him into a casualty evacuation bag, a wind and weather-proof affair something like a sleeping bag that opens down the middle, and works on him. The bag is vital. It stems the cold that increases shock and it shields the bearer who otherwise couldn't remove his mitts.

First move is to a regimental aid post, and a doctor. This might be a heated, wind-proof, nylon-lined tent capable of sheltering four to six men, and easy to handle.

Within a few hours, the man should be taken the few miles back to an air strip where transport planes land with reinforcements. This movement could be done with tractor trains or special vehicles.

Here there should be an outpost capable of emergency surgery. The doctors feel they can heat the surgical and other vital sections of the shelter. The wards would be kept at about freezing temperature and the wounded would stay in their bags until they got back to hospitals.

Name R. E. Drope Vice-President Of Dairy Council

TORONTO, Dec. 3 (CP)—Canada's milk shortage will be worse than ever next year, J. H. Duplan, president of the National Dairy Council of Canada, predicted Thursday.

He told the annual convention of the Ontario Creamery Association that the shortage would be made acute by the continuing sale of milk cows to United States buyers, by continuation of controls on the price of butter and by the export of cheese to Europe.

Consumers must be educated to the dairy industry's "plight" by giving them facts, Mr. Duplan said.

"They (consumers) do not realize that about 80 per cent of the price they pay for butter is returned to primary producers," he said.

"The net profit per unit of our product is measured in fractions of a cent."

Earlier the convention was told that sale of oleomargarine in Canada would lead to a slump in the dairy industry.

Mr. McLean was re-elected association president. Vice-presidents chosen are: Lorne Reddick, Kemptville; H. H. Leslie, Staffa; R. E. Drope, Harwood; and J. Winter, North Bay.

Denies Farmers Favored In Income Tax

TORONTO, Dec. 3. — R. A. Stewart, of Almonte, president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, Thursday picked holes in charges of Eric Hardy, director of the Citizens' Research Institute of Canada, farmers get favored treatment in the matter of income tax.

The charges were amusing to farmers, said Mr. Stewart, then proceeded to answer Mr. Hardy's argument, point by point.

In a letter on the subject, Mr. Hardy had said that farmers made up 29 per cent of the country's population, but paid only 15 per cent of the income tax collected. Mr. Stewart answered that one by saying farmers would be "very happy if net taxable incomes were evenly divided among the various occupation groups."

Farmers, he said, receive a substantially smaller share of the national income, and might not be on very strong ground if they argued that they should receive 25 per cent of the national income. He also pointed out that "there is no logical basis whatever for arguing that 29 per cent of the personal income tax revenue, or any other percentage in relation to population."

The institute, felt Mr. Stewart, might make itself a lot more useful by looking into "the tragic lack" of net income on Ontario farms.

Abuse Figures

The Ontario farm organization leader also accused Mr. Hardy of abusing figures provided by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Such figures, said Mr. Stewart, were not intended to provide a true measure of net farm income for income tax or comparable purposes, but to provide a year-to-year comparison of farm conditions.

Mr. Hardy had written that 1,719,000 business employees had paid $370.3 million, with an average income of $1,880, while 829,000 farmers with an average net income of $1,665 paid $9.8 million.

"The bureau," said Mr. Stewart, "estimates farm income from payments made by business to farmers for their produce, adds income in kind by estimate, estimates increases in inventory and adds any supplementary government payments to farmers. As operating expenses and depreciation it deducts only arbitrary estimates, to a considerable extent based on pre-war costs. The bureau has never represented its figures as true farm costs."

Union Seeking Permission To Sue Company

UE-CIO has applied to the Ontario Labor Relations Board for permission to prosecute the Outboard Marine Company for allegedly interfering with the formation of a UE local at the Outboard plant.

(The UE had previously applied to the OLRB for certification as the accredited bargaining unit. At present that bargaining unit is an independent union.)

Section of the Act which is said to have been violated states in part: "No employer shall dominate or interfere with the formation or administration of a trade union or employees organization or contribute financial or other support of it."

C. L. Dubin, counsel for the Union has been instructed to commence proceedings.

C. R. Sullivan, UE district representative, said today: "The action of the Union in asking for leave to prosecute this company is because of the slanderous, untrue statements made by Mr. Clarence Neal in letters to his employees."

"These acts," Mr. Sullivan alleges, "are a direct interference with the formation of a UE union, in violation of the Ontario Labor Relations Act."

We went into a hardware store the other day to see if our Tall Friend had gathered any news fit to print. Aside from the usual unmistakable smells that go with the hardware business, paint, new rope, oils and turpentines, there was a smell of cooking. Our friend invited us back of the office to have a whiff or two where a pressure cooker and coffee percolator were bubbling away on a hot plate. "If you can wait 20 minutes, you can have a feed," he invited. "Of what?" we asked. "Venison," said he, "and if this sort of thing keeps up too long, we'll have to take out a restaurant license."—(N.N.)

It was reported to the board that he laid down certain conditions he felt were essential to the continued operation. He announced that the plant would be sold, but until the sale employees would be kept on under these conditions.

A request was renewed by the union that an agreement be negotiated, but Craddock "again refused to negotiate, this time because of the proposed sale."

It Is Your Duty To Vote

On Monday five aldermen and four members of the Board of Education are to be elected; it is the duty of every citizen who has a vote to use it. Every year at this time we write an editorial of this sort; service clubs have given their best efforts to the job of persuading the electors to go to the polls; we have yet to meet the man who would say honestly that he did not care whether he had a vote or not. And yet every year the number of votes cast represents a disappointing percentage of the voters' list. This state of affairs is not peculiar to Peterborough; all Canadian communities have the same story to tell. And yet there is no form of government in our country so near to home, so vital to our everyday concerns, and so easy to follow in all its works, than municipal government; nor is there any form of government which does so much work for so little, and bears so much criticism and blame, as municipal government.

The elections this year provide plenty of competition, and an unusually varied and able group of men are offering themselves to the electors. We are sorry that there will be no contest for the mayoralty, for, while we are sure that Mayor-Elect Swanston will fill that position admirably we think that it would be healthier if the position were competed for more often. It is plain that a comparatively small group of men have the administrative experience for the job; nevertheless, we feel that it is wrong that the mayoralty should appear to be handed around by agreement; this situation alone does much to spread the impression that municipal government is a cut-and-dried affair. A mayoral contest every two years would do more than anything else to break down the apathy which exists toward the city's management.

Although we have no mayoral contest we have a very important money by-law—the hospital by-law, granting permission to issue debentures for $1,500,000—this year, and we expect that it will call out every property-owner. Yesterday we expressed our opinion at length on this issue; heavy though the cost is, we feel that the hospital should be completed now, both because we need every bed that the new hospital will hold, and because the cost of operating both the new hospital and the old might in the end exceed the sum which is needed to finish the job we have begun. Hospitals will always be expensive, but they are a necessity for a progressive community. And as anyone knows who has tried it, there is no economy in doing a big job by halves.

We know of no way of persuading people to vote who are too idle, too indifferent or too stupid to realize the necessity of voting. By refusing to use their voice in public affairs they relegate themselves to a form of second-class citizenship (although, unfortunately, they continue to complain about anything they dislike with all the vigour of first-class citizens). The only reward of the conscientious voter is that he has done his duty, and that his is the voice which rules, in the long run.

A Canadian Opera

The first fully Canadian grand opera was presented in Kingston on Wednesday night; it was Evangeline, written by Graham George, who is head of the musical department at Queen's University; these facts are significant in the musical history of our country. The production was on a large scale, for a large chorus and an orchestra of thirty-five pieces were used in the production, in addition to ten or more principal characters; there were several elaborate stage settings designed by Martha Jamieson, and the theatrical side of the production was under the care of Arnold Edinburgh, of Queen's. The libretto, which was based upon Longfellow's well-known poem, was the work of Paul Roddick and Donald Warren, both of whom are undergraduates at the university.

Opera has been written in Canada before. Kingston itself has brought forth a charming light opera, Leo, The Royal Cadet, the work of the late Leo Telgmann. Dr. Healey Willan wrote Dierdre of the Sorrows for the C.B.C.—the first grand opera to be commissioned especially for radio broadcasting. But Evangeline is the first opera on a large scale to be written and produced on the stage in this country.

What makes grand opera "grand"? The word in this sense, of course, means "great", as opposed to smaller works designed for simple production with small casts, and perhaps without a chorus. Grand opera uses all the means that the theatre and the art of music can muster to make its effects. It is the most costly of all forms of art, and it is rarely possible to maintain an operatic repertory company without large subsidies from the state or from private patrons.

Nevertheless, expensive though it is, we hope that Professor George's opera will not be allowed to fade into nothingness. We are moved to suggest that means might be found of transporting the production to a number of cities, such as Peterborough, which would support it to the best of their ability, in order that this new venture in our national art might reach a wider audience.

Geneticists At War

A Cambridge scientist has accused a Moscow scientist of seeking "power for himself, power to threaten, power to torture, power to kill". The Cambridge man who has spoken so harshly is Professor Fisher, a geneticist. He was not referring to Hitler but to a professional brother, Dr. Lysenko, new president of the Soviet Academy of Agricultural Sciences. Dr. Lysenko is also a geneticist, but has unorthodox theories about genetics, which is the science of breeding. He believes that living organisms can be changed by controlling the environment in which they live.

It is more than a question of "Which is more important, environment or heredity?"—that old chestnut of school debates. If Dr. Lysenko is right, scientists will be able at will, or under the compulsion of somebody else's will (like that of the Politburo or industrial moguls), to change wine into water, bread to stone, men to monkeys. Dr. Cyril Darlington, a British plant breeder and geneticist, may be right in accusing Dr. Lysenko of defrauding 200 million people of the Soviet Union of their bread and butter, even if Lysenko is right, not wrong. If he is right, geneticists will have virtually supernatural power.

Dr. Darlington calls Dr. Lysenko's theories "a fairy tale". That should give us comfort, however. Professor J. B. S. Haldane is not so sure that Lysenko is wrong: "I disagree with a lot of Lysenko's theories but I agree with him on fundamental points". Professor Haldane is a celebrated scientist and a celebrated exponent of communism. Speaking as a scientist he noted that the heredity of single-celled plants and animals has already been altered by non-living chemical and physical agents. "It would be odd if it couldn't be done with more complicated ones".

When this and the next century's tales have been told, the war between the geneticists may be written larger than any Berlin blockades.

And blew him to

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column, particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

QUESTION: Is it true that once upon a time Peterborough citizens had to build a doctor a house in order to keep him in Peterborough?

ANSWER: Times have changed. Now there are 45 doctors practising within the city limits and all of them seem to have found places to live. In the 1830's the young community had at times one, at times two, and at times no doctor. The first was Dr. Reade, surgeon to the Irish immigrants of 1825. After they were located on homesteads, he left. The next was a Dr. Dowsley and then a Dr. Roddy. They departed. About 1830 Dr. John Hutchison, a Dublin University graduate who had set up practice in Cavan, was induced to locate in Peterborough. He lived first in a cottage built by Adam Scott on the west side of what is now Water Street, near Charlotte. He had a good but unprofitable practice, for his patients had no money — they paid in produce. Dr. Reade decided to move to York (Toronto).

The citizens were dismayed and a deputation entreated him to stay. (The story from now on is according to Mr. F. H. Dobbin's book "Our Old Home Town". I can find no reference to it in Poole's history.) He consented to stay if the community would build him a good house, on a good site. The site was secured and the house built.

It is the stone house on the north side of Brock Street west of the C.N.R. tracks (Number 270, where the hill rises). The stone, like the stone for the Court House and St. John's Church, was quarried in Jackson's Park. Only one stonemason was hired; the rest of the labour was voluntary and unpaid. Glass, paint and hardware had to be bought. The total cash outlay has been estimated at $224. It was at the time one of the more imposing houses in a community of log and frame buildings.

SIR: What is the most important discovery that mankind has made? Some say the wheel, some the ability to make fire, some the discovery of America, some atomic energy.

ANSWER: That is a question for my learned friend Omega, but he is out of touch with me at the moment, having been summoned to Buckingham Palace as a genealogist and name-specialist after the birth of Princess Elizabeth's Prince. Perhaps the three most important discoveries in human history have been Adam's discovery of Eve, the theists' discovery of Hell, and the invention of language. As to the latter — without it you would not have been able to ask your important question, or even to think it up. (We cannot think without words of some kind or another, for we think in words. That is why babies, dogs, canaries and fish do not think.)

WHY is the standard weight of cotton bales always 478 pounds?

ANSWER: Questions on such tricks of trade are not easy for a person outside the trade to answer. I believe that you are wrong in assuming that the standard bale weight is always 478 pounds. Does not Indian cotton come in 400-pound bales, Egyptian in 730-pound bales, American in 490 pound bales? The 478-pound bale has been adopted as the unit for statistics for non-American cotton because a bale of that weight has been looked upon as the standard bale of American cotton, although the American bale now averages heavier than that. I guess the reason for the 478-pound bale is that 500 pounds or a fraction under is a convenient shipping weight. Since the jute bag and ties in which the bale of lint is wrapped weigh about 21 pounds, 478 pounds of actual cotton bring the total weight up to 499 pounds.

DEAR ALPHA: How many languages are there in the world?

ANSWER: I don't know. I do know that the British and Foreign Bible Society publishes the Bible in 778 languages and dialects. That includes the nine into which it has been translated this year.

FELLOWS who served in Normandy have been teasing some of us First Division chaps, saying that the Italian campaign was just a side-show and of little military significance. What shall I say to silence their jeers?

ANSWER: Our present Governor-General is the best qualified man in the country to give you the 'gen'. As you know, Viscount Alexander was the Commander-in-Chief, Mediterranean theatre. The long Italian campaign, long in comparison with the eleven-month north-west European campaign from D-Day, had four obvious values: (1) Control of Italy assured firm control of the Mediterranean, (2) the air fields around Foggia were secured, and from them Allied planes were able to bomb the Balkans, Austria and Germany, (3) Rome, the centre of the Roman Catholic world, was finally taken into the Allied fold, (4) The comparatively few Allied divisions in Italy kept 27 German divisions occupied there, even as late as the spring of 1945. Had those 27 divisions been free to join the 60-odd German divisions in north-west Europe, the campaign in France, Holland, and western Germany might have been more difficult for the Allies and of longer duration than it was. This military factor should also be considered—the soldier was instructed that the chief aim was to kill Germans and not to occupy territory. A lot of Germans were killed in Italy. Canadians were killed, too: 5,799 of them.

FOR THE RECORD: Peterborough is weathering the Hydro shortage commendably. It has not had one power cut-off, while Toronto and like communities are almost condemned to outer darkness (where they have always been, according to some Peterborough-proud Toronto-disdaining people!) Toronto has been having as many as three power cut-offs a day, totalling 2-3 hours. There is some dislocation of industry in Peterborough. Factories like the De Laval, Westclox and Lock Works are operating all day Saturday, and have Monday as the day off. Thus power is available for wash-day. The Quaker Oats and the C.G.E., having their own sources of power, including power-houses on the Otonabee, are operating normally. Needless to say, everyone at home or work is actutely conscious of the need to conserve hydro-electric power.

REACHING OUT

Cheese Before Rigor Mortis

A LETTER IN THE OTTAWA FARM JOURNAL

SIR: I was very much interested and would have been amused (had it not been so tragic) to read of the doings of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association wherein they held a post-mortem on the great cheese industry.

The thing that amazes me is the fact that this highly endowed and expensive body should not have realized how sick was the patient during the past six or eight years, when some remedy might have been applied to restore the patient before rigor mortis set in. I am one of the unfortunate owners of a cheese factory who has not only lost a market but who has also lost my business, with no compensation from either of the sources directly responsible for the condition which killed the cheese business, viz., the Provincial and Federal Governments.

In 1904, the year in which we exported 233 million pounds of cheese to Britain, we had one instructor, G. G. Publow, who drove a black mare and made one visit to some 1,000 factories situated in Eastern Ontario.

At this time pressure was brought to bear on both governments to establish grade standards and also give old and worn out cheesemakers something to do besides working over vats, and thus came into being two apparently worthy projects, grading of cheese and instruction in the making of cheese. But, strange to relate, the decline in cheese making started at the same time until today we have the sorry spectacle of a director of dairying, a chief instructor for both Eastern and Western Ontario and, to cap it all, an instructor sent out to instruct the instructors.

Also, our exports are down from 233 million to 30 million pounds and the army of government graders, instructors and instructors' instructors goes merrily along. No wonder the Cheese Producers' Association should decide to march on Ottawa and Toronto. But, as I pointed out, the patient has expired, and it is much later than we know as far as the poor old cheese business is concerned.

Canada needs cheese for domestic consumption. The export type does not suit the taste of the average Canadian for the simple reason that it has to be made dry and hard to stand exporting. As evidence of this, I refer you to the increase in the sale of processed cheese in Canada. The package is right and the product is soft and chewy, so it is evident this type suits the average family.

So, I say away with all the d— fool regulations (except sanitary regulations) and let the owners of the cheese factories buy their milk on a competitive market, make the domestic type of cheese which they can market on whatever market cares to buy it, and let the toughest hide win.

For my own part, I know I can start my factory next Spring, pay more money for the milk than any dry milk company will pay and make and market my own cheese, save my investment and make a living for myself if the government inspector and instructors will just keep out of my way. I say, when a privately owned plant passes sanitary regulations let that be an end to regulations and the cheese business will take care of itself.

The only reason that a business could have carried on under existing regulations has been due to the inbred fear the average farmer had for the strangle hold and slow blood letting that the large corporations inflict on the victim, but even this few have become minimized in the face of existing conditions.

In closing, I can visualize what would happen if this cheese business was a privately owned shareholder company and the president called a shareholders' meeting and asked the manager for an accounting of his stewardship. The business dropped off from 233 millions to less than 100 millions, the staff increased from one to possibly 150 and so-called executive salaries increased by 1,000 per cent. I leave it to your imagination what would happen to the business.

H. A. MacINTOSH.
Owner of Lone Star Factory, Reg. 560, Port Elmsley. Strangled by condensery from Brockville, Spring of 1948.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Rejoice in the Lord, O ye righteous: for praise is comely for the upright....

For the word of the Lord is right; and all his works are done in truth. He loveth righteousness and judgment: the earth is full of the goodness of the Lord. (Ps. 33: 1, 4, 5.)

Let thy work appear unto thy servants, and thy glory unto their children. And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us. (Ps. 90: 16, 17.)

Let Israel rejoice in him that made him: let the children of Zion be joyful in their King....For the Lord taketh pleasure in his people: he will beautify the meek with salvation. (Ps. 149: 2, 4.)

One thing have I desired of the Lord, that will I seek after; that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the Lord, and to enquire in his temple....

I had fainted, unless I had believed to see the goodness of the Lord in the land of the living. (Ps. 27: 4, 13.)

Remember the former things of old: for I am god, and there is none else; I am God, and there is none like me, declaring the end from the beginning, and from ancient times the things that are not yet done, saying, My counsel shall stand, and I will do all my pleasure. (Isa. 46:: 9, 10.)

Ownerless Ship

A report from Arendal, Norway describes the sale of the mysterious M. T. "Erambla". A rebuilt British mine sweeper, the "Erambla" was deserted by captain and crew and later investigation revealed that the ship did not even have an owner. Sold at auction, the vessel and cargo brought $50,000.—Royal Norwegian Information Service.

High School Pupils Protest

An original play by Norwegian author Victor Borg has brought upon his head the concerted wrath of Oslo's young folk. Now playing in one of the capital's theatres, the highly moralistic rendition depicting the alleged degeneration of the nation's youth is attended night by delegations of high school and college folk. They disagree with the author's conclusions and say so publically—to such an extent, in fact, that author Borg recently had to stop the show and defend his position from the stage in a heated public debate.

GET READY, YOU SKIING TYPES! The first snowflakes are falling, and the season's nearly here. There's a big winter ahead for Canadian skiers. New places are opening up, new tows are being installed, and more races than ever are scheduled for all parts of the country. Six feet of snow is the minimum requirement for good ski conditions in the mountain and up to 20 feet of snow is needed in skiing havens like the Laurentians and the Rockies to make the sport enjoyable and safe. Ontario enthusiasts could wait all winter for that amount of snow, so they're content to ski on inches of the white stuff. The western trails in the U.S. already are in use. This scene was taken at Idaho's basin course near Boise. The course is blanketed with six to eight feet of snow at its 6,200-foot level from now until Easter.

Triplett Wins Batting Crown In International

By RALPH RODEN,
NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP). — Coaker Triplett, veteran outfielder of Buffalo Bisons, won the International League's 1948 batting championship by a comfortable 13-point margin, final official statistics released to-day revealed.

Triplett, purchased by Philadelphia Athletics at the close of the season, clouted .353 in 126 games to beat out his younger teammate, Johnny Groth, for top honors. Groth, expected to man centrefield for Detroit Tigers next year, batted .340 in 150 games.

Triplett failed to lead in any other offensive department. He collected 141 hits in 399 times at bat, including 32 doubles, 19 homers, and three triples. He drove in 83 runs and scored 87 and accumulated 236 total bases.

Hal Rice of Rochester Red Wings, who finished the season with St. Louis Cardinals, finished third at 321. Johnny Weuaj, veteran Toronto outfielder, came in fourth at .315. Third sacker Ed Kazak of Rochester and outfielder Anse Moore of Buffalo tied for fifth at .309.

Round Out Top 10

Rounding out the top 10 are Chuck Conners, Montreal, and Barney Lutz, Toronto, .307; Glen Nelson, Rochester, .303, and Howie Moss, Baltimore, and Sal Yvars, Jersey City, .301.

Groth, only 22 years old, hogged most of the other departments. The youthful star led in runs 124, hits 199, triples 16, doubles 37, and total bases 358.

Moss, Baltimore's outfielder-third baseman, won the home-run championship with 33, one more than runner-up Clyde Vollmer of Syracuse slammed.

Outfielder Ed Sanicki, who batted only .236 for Toronto, drove in the most runs, 107. Sam Jethroe, negro flychaser of the champion Montreal Royals, and Welaj stole the most bases, 18.

Over in Lindsay on Wednesday, Dr. C. McKee's rink sat high in their saddles for the first two games. If they had won their third game they would have been in the final games for the Walker trophy.

About tomorrow's bonspiel. When we left the rink last evening there were only six entries placed on the blackboard. And that's as far as we can go.

Tonight Groups 4 and 5 play. We expect, in a day or two, to be able to publish the leading rinks in each of the five groups.

Just received word—T. Doughty lost out at High Park, but G. Braund plays today in the final games in the Percy Atkinson Trophy. In yesterday afternoon's game, G. Braund met and defeated an old Peterborough boy, Charlie Sedgewick.

MONTREAL, — (CP) — The four-member debating team of McGill University, on an invitation trip to the United States, won every one of the eight debates in which they were entered. They were the only Canadian entrants.

Sports' spotlight locally tonight is on the YWCA gym floor where the girl basketballers stage a double-header. Both league tilts as they jockey for leadership during this first section of the schedule. Neill's play the Collis crew at eight, followed by Nurses against Lockeys. Two more weeks of play and then the Christmas holiday layoff. Meantime, Towne Togs hold an open drill at seven p.m. next Tuesday in the large Collegiate gym to line up their LOBA squad for this season. No men's activity this week-end here, Queen's coming the following Saturday and then University of Toronto. Tonight's feminine twin bill should be worth viewing.

Come on, you truck drivers, if you want to race for fun and cash prizes. Canada's second annual "truck roadeo" takes place next Monday in Toronto in the Automotive Building of the CNE. Prize money totals $2,500 as well as trophies put up by the Automotive Transport Association of this province and the Ontario Safety League. A tricky course has been put up comprising difficult manoeuvres for each driver, and then there's a written exam on safe driving rules and fire fighting. Eliminations through the day with finals listed for eight p.m. No charge to the public. Anyone around here interested in entering may get further info by phoning us.

Time For Weeding

Coach Archie Weir and Manager Andy Price of the junior "B" Oddfellows have a lot of weeding yet to do on their puck prospects. A big list still in the hunt but only 18 will be carried when the season opens. Some good newcomers and plenty of promising local talent. Right now, it looks like a heavy defence and a speedy set of forwards, which makes pretty much of an ideal setup. Two Wassons and Birch of Lakefield are among those showing well in the scrap for spots. Anyway, we'll list most of those in the hunt yet, but don't know all their first names.

* * * * * *

Jack Byers and Don Wasson are out for goal, while the defence chaps include: Dean Wasson, Miller, Ritchie, Bart Grainger, Jim Shearer, Craig, Kevin O'Reilly (of Renfrew), Beatty (of Newmarket), Jack Berwick, Killingbeck, Crawford and Ken Anderson. And the forwards are: Don Pagett, Don Floyd, Ted Collins, Chum Fryia (from the Soo), John Truss (also the Soo), Tom Birch, Aitkens, Skeeter O'Heron, Bob Wyatt, Armstrong, Douglas, Jack Dorris, Simpson, Whitnell, Mike Crowley, McPhail, Vyse, Haley Windsor (last year with Nelson, B.C.) and maybe one or two others. Looks like the Triple Link team will shape up okay ere long, eh?

Dugan Doing Okay

An Akron clipping to hand, sent in by Red Creighton, showing a fine action picture of Arn Dugan on the ice. With these lines: "Arnold Dugan, Akron Americans' youthful wing, has been doing some fancy skating of late. Dugan, on loan from the Washington Lions of the American League, set a new International League individual scoring record recently when he poured four goals through the nets against the Muncie Flyers, a mark equalled later by Ed Faulkner, Dugan's running mate, against Milwaukee Clarks. Dugan will be out to add to his point output tonight at Iceland when the Americans oppose Detroit Goodyear icers of the International League's northern division." Good going, Arn.

A number of local hockey officials will be in Toronto tomorrow morning for the annual OHA meeting. Frank Buckland goes as an OHA executive member once more. The Petes will probably be represented by Coach Red Creighton, Bun Kingdon and Ray Harding. Legionnaire delegates will be Prexy Cy Withers, Coach Ned Vitarelli and Glen Carson. While the Oddfellows' representatives are Manager Andy Price and Glen Edwards. Usually within a week after the annual session is held, the various OHA groupings are announced, and then each group meets under its convener to draw up the schedule. We should land in a pretty fair junior "B" setup, but the senior "B" grouping up this way is still well up in the air.

Champs Get Spread

Collegiate Home and School Association is throwing a banquet next Thursday at 6.30 p.m. in the gym for the PCVS senior and junior COSSA grid champions. By the way, Coach Freeman of the Burlington footballers, who lost to the senior PCI-ers in the final, asked Fred Maybee at the time to send him a copy of The Examiner's write-up of the game. This was done, and the coach wrote back the other day: "Dear Fred—Received your copy of Nov. 22 Examiner and enjoyed your very complete and fair account of the game. We hope that another year we may meet Peterborough again—with more success on our part."

Plan Lend-Lease Sport Program

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—(AP).—The United States and Europe are planning a sort of "lend-lease" program calling for the exchange of athletic visits.

Under the set-up, leading American amateur stars make a tour of continental centres and Europe's best do their stunts in the United States.

Encouragement of the exchange was discussed by the Amateur Athletic Union's foreign relations committee Thursday night. The A.A.U. is holding its 60th annual convention here.

It was announced that Mrs. Fanny Blankers-Koen, the Dutch housewive who was the feminine star of the 1948 Olympics in London, would compete in a number of indoor events in the United States in January.

Mrs. Blankers-Koen won the women's 100 and 200-metre runs, the 80-metres hurdles and ran anchor on the winning 400-metre relay team in the games.

Meanwhile, Norway, on behalf of the Scandinavian countries, has invited the United States track team to compete in a dual meet July 27.

Ask Amendment On OHA Draft Provision

TORONTO, Dec. 3 — (CP)— George Panter, retiring president of the Ontario Hockey Association, said Thursday that an amendment will be brought be the OHA annual meeting Saturday which will enable a junior or senior club to draft a player from a club of lower classification by paying $150 to the association executive.

The meeting also will hear an amendment to the amendment reading that a player on form C, or any other form, to a professional club, may only be drafted by an OHA club sponsored by the pro club which has the player on form C.

Form C is a contract renewable annually and signed by a junior with a pro club which permits the pro club to name the amateur team for which the youngster must play.

Panter said he hopes the legislation will stop clubs holding up a player who wants to move up into higher company. He said the CAHA in time would put in similar legislation.

If the legislation for the $150 draft fee is passed, it will mark the first time money has been mentioned in the OHA books.

Walk Out On Race Barred For Future

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Twelve European riders Thursday night sealed the fate of six-day bike races in the capital by walking out on the current crowdless venture. The Europeans quit because of financial difficulties with Jimmy Proscia, who is staging the affair. In doing so, they cut themselves out of all American six-day bike racing for good.

The National Cycling Association, which controls the professional sport in the United States and which sanctioned the local meet, will bar all these men who quit, officials said.

Fur Will Fly When Bruins, Detroit Meet

By The Canadian Press

The fur will fly this week-end when Boston Bruins and Detroit Red Wings, the two top teams in the National Hockey League standings, tangle in what may well be a sneak preview of the Stanley Cup finals.

Boston has been flying high since the start of the season with their sophomore line of Grant Warwick, Eddie Sandford and Pete Babando leading the way. The torrid trio have been well up in the race for scoring honors since the first 1948-49 face-off. Warwick has led the league in scoring for the last two weeks.

The return of Ted Lindsay, shifty Detroit left-winger who was sidelined for several weeks, seems likely to put Red Wings back in the win columns. Lindsay scored two goals Wednesday night in his first game since he was injured, to spark Detroit to a 5-3 win over the staggering Toronto Maple Leafs.

In other games Saturday, the cellar-dwelling New York Rangers meet Canadiens at Montreal and Leafs meet the bouncing Chicago Black Hawks in Toronto.

News from Montreal is that Captain Emile (Butch) Bouchard will be back in action by the end of next week—but he may go to Dallas, Texas in the United States Hockey League until he works back into condition. Bouchard has been out for more than two weeks with a torn cartilage in his knee.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Toronto Maple Leafs have sent defenceman Frank Mathers and left-winger Les Costello to Pittsburgh Hornets, their American League farm club, General Manager Conn Smythe announced Thursday night at Toronto.

Ray Ceresino, brought up from Pittsburgh to make his National League debut last Wednesday against Detroit Red Wings, will remain at left wing when Leafs meet Chicago here Saturday.

Smythe said it was felt that Costello and Mathers, both rookies, need more seasoning.

Retiring President Arthur Chipman told the annual meeting of the Winnipeg Football Club Thursday night that Blue Bombers should put emphasis next season on obtaining "professionals" as their American imports.

Chipman said that the Canadian champion Calgary Stampeders, in lining up four imports, had obtained men who were all former professional football players. He said that while he did not hold with the idea of importing "professionals," it was a case of doing so to meet the other clubs on equal grounds.

A 17-YEAR-OLD BOY from Beaumont, Texas, who has been riding race horses since he was 12 is the newest sensation of the U.S. racing tracks. He is Clarence Picou, shown at LEFT in his street clothes, and at RIGHT in his riding silks. Turf experts believe he is on his way to become the greatest all-time jockey of his country. At recent meet at Bowie, Md., on three successive days he rode three winners and on the fourth he varied it a bit by riding four. ABOVE he is shown bringing home another winner. A few days later he improved the act by riding home five winners.

Delhi, Ont., will have four hockey teams in provincial competition this year, intermediate "B," juvenile, midget and bantam aggregations, it was announced Thursday night at Delhi. But what their groupings will be and when their schedules will be released is not definitely decided. Delhi entered Ontario Hockey Association play last year with an intermediate team for the first time in 10 years.

Johnny Greco, Canadian welterweight champion scheduled to meet Beau Jack in Detroit, Dec. 17 injured his right foot in training in Montreal a few days ago and will not be able to keep his date. Greco is reported to have tripped and torn a muscle in his foot. In three previous engagements with Beau Jack, the Canadian champion drew once and lost twice.

Cyrus Martin, a black mare owned by J. W. Brown of New Liskeard, captured the classified pace and a $300 purse at the harness horse meet at Toronto's Dufferin Park Thursday by winning both heats. Handy Fashion, owned by C. Smith of Delhi, finished second and Dan Axworthy II, a brown gelding owned by K. MacKinnon of Owen Sound, finished third in both events.

At Dunedin, Fla., Joe Novak of Los Angeles beat out golf star Horton Smith Thursday for the leadership of the United States Professional Golfers' Association. The heavy-set, affable Novak succeeds Ed Dudley of Augusta, Ga., who retired after seven years as P.G.A. president. Novak has served as P.G.A. secretary for three years.

Chicago White Sox Thursday announced the trade of pitcher Frank Papish for two Cleveland Indian pitchers, Ernest Groth and Bob Kuzava. The 32-year-old Papish, a left-hander, has been regarder as a potential White Sox mound star the last two seasons. Last season, however, he only won two and lost eight because of ailments. Last season, both Groth and Kuzava hurled for Baltimore in the International League. Groth finished with a 12-12 record and Kuzava had 9-16. Groth, 26, is a right-hander and Kuzava, 25, is a southpaw.

ONE OF THE FIXED STARS in the universe of basketball is Ralph Beard, 21-year-old senior at the University of Kentucky, which happens to have the best basketball team in the U.S. This is Beard's third season in stellar brackets. Bend Does It Again Gets 3 Of 6 Goals

By The Associated Press

Thursday night is "Linn Bend" night in St. Paul.

At least, the St. Paul sharpshooter seems to be converting fans in the United States Hockey League to that idea.

Thursday night he fired three goals as St. Paul Saints won from the league-leading Kansas City Pla-Mors 6-2.

A week ago the Saint forward also go three, that time as he led the Saints to an identical 6-2 victory over Omaha.

Bend scored his first goal last night in the opening period to give the Saints a 2-0 lead, fired in his second at the end of the second period to make the margin 4-2 and wound up the scoring at the three-quarter mark in the last period.

Omaha Knights turned on a scoring blast for 4,720 home fans and won from Dallas, 7-1. Five Knights scored, with George Homenuke getting three.

At Fort Worth the Rangers took a 2-1 first-period lead over Houston, but faded to lose 4-2. Jack Geisbrecht and Len Haldorson accounted for two Houston goals in the final period for the Huskies' victory.

India Favored To Beat Canada

TORONTO, Dec. 3.—(CP). — Canadians will get their first taste of international badminton competition tonight when their team squares off against a sextent of smooth-playing Indian racket-wielders in the first round of American zone competition for the Thomas Cup —international badminton crown.

A sell-out crowd of some 1,400 enthusiasts—the largest audience badminton has yet had in Canada —will pack Toronto's swank Carlton Club for the first of the two-night contests.

The matches will see a battle between India's small, fast, placement experts and Canada's husky, hard-smashing players.

Experts of the bird game predict that the honors will go to the Indians, whose strict training schedule has them in top physical condition.

Top-seeded players on each team meet in the opening mach They are Canada's 35-year-old Captain Dick Birch of Toronto, Canadian singles champion, and India's number one player, Devinder Mohan.

ROTARY CLUB GETS FIRST NIGHT'S PROCEEDS FROM PARAMOUNT

LATE ROLAND DENNE

Held Every Municipal Office Within Period of 25 Years

Remembrance of Roland Denne on this occasion coinciding with Peterborough's annual municipal elections assumes a special timeliness in the recollection of his ardent and prudent leadership on the top levels of community service.

Within a span of 25 years he held every elective position in the gift and trust of the people of this city, and meanwhile found time to devote to other enterprises and associations in the public welfare.

Rollie Denne's contribution to the progress of Peterborough in many directions was literally outstanding. His work was not equalled in its extent and activity by any other citizen in the first 50 years of this century.

Mr. Denne was mayor, alderman, member of the Board of Education and member of the Utilities Commission, comprising all the elective municipal positions to which a Peterborough citizen may aspire.

A native son, he entered the civic field in 1915 with his election to the Board of Education of which he was chairman in 1919 and 1920. Probably the largest undertaking during his seven years with the Board was the building of the Prince of Wales School, involving the question of its site on the west side of Monaghan Road at Sherbrooke St. He was only one of the trustees, but he shared in their vision and conviction advising the purchase of that township site in the face of general doubts of the Board's wisdom in crossing the western boundary of the city. Time confirmed their choice of location and ambitious size of the school, now fully occupied in the centre of a populous new area as Peterborough's main expansion moves on to the west.

Mr. Denne's seven years on the Board of Education were followed by 11 years with the city council to which he was elected as alderman in 1925. Three years later he became mayor. In the course of ordinary events he would probably have honored the local custom at that time of the two-year mayoralty term.

But, the decade of depression had set in. The people were content to struggle through that period of adversity with only minor changes in the municipal administration. The council, led by Mayor Denne, adopted the policy of pay-as-you-go in financing various local works that were undertaken to give emergency employment. New borrowing was consistently restrained, and when industry began to recover Peterborough had reduced its corporate debt, and its credit held a premier place in the bond market of Ontario.

The initiative and persistence of Mr. Denne in pursuit of an objective were reflected in the decision of Johnson Motor Company to establish in Peterborough an industry whose development has surpassed the roslest expectations. A. Wander Limited chose Peterborough at that time for their splendid Canadian branch plant.

Peterborough has grown into the habit of cleanness in its streets and a general appearance of tidiness. Mr. Denne improved on that ideal and practice of neatness. The expansion of Riverside Park was his own idea. He visualized a driveway along the east bank of the river from Engleburn to Park Hill Road, but obstacles forced him to abandon it.

In his desire to be planning and doing civic things, Mr. Denne followed the correct policy of consulting his council. He invited suggestions as readily as he gave them. He told farmer friends they ought to buy the vacant cereal mill at George and Dalhousie streets. Today their co-operative is big business.

Between times he was engaged in other community affairs. He was chairman of the Red Cross during the First World War; he was president of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition 15 years; he was a member of the Nicholls Park Trust and a director of the Little Lake Cemetery Company.

And when all that is written down, it is only an outline of his activities in the advancement of Peterborough. He once confidently predicted: "Peterborough will be quite a city some day." It was a safe bit of prophecy, but if he were to see it today, only eight years after his death, he would hardly recognize the broad changes along its borders, its industrial growth and the transformation in its retail and commercial areas.

Mr. Denne succeeded the late John Crane on the Utilities Commission, and was completing his fifth year in that branch of the municipal service when he died. He was possessed with an urgency for the advancement of Peterborough. Its development seemed to be always in his thoughts, and was usually first in his conversations. He sought and obtained the assistance of the leaders of industry in attracting others, and it is no secret that he frequently consulted Mr. Vincent Eastwood and others outside the council for the guidance of himself and its members in matters relating to its financial position and affairs.

Roland Denne well deserved the memorial tribute with which Famous Players are opening their new theatre in Peterborough. They probably understand that their investment would have been fresh and encouraging evidence to him of the importance of Peterborough among the cities of Canada.

Honor Memory Of Two Peterboro Men

"Some day I'd like to get into the candy business, and when I make my first hundred thousand I'm going to quit."

Years after that expression of a youth-time wish or of authentic ambition, Frank P. O'Connor was popularly known as the candy king of Canada, with a fairly broad realm of sweet sovereignty in the United States. And his first hundred thousand had multiplied into several millions.

In the meantime he had been appointed to the Canadian Senate, the Hon. Francis P. O'Connor, who had once sat on a bench in Confederation Square—it was then called Central Park—conjuring from the magic lamp of boyhood's airy hopes a golden dream which fate was to fashion into abundant reality. The incident was recently recalled by his teenage friend, Arthur W. Graham, who remembered clearly the circumstance that on the park bench they were eating candy which they had bought down town.

Possibly it may have been only an idle notion and remark inspired by the sugary pleasure of the moment, but it was associated in the O'Connor wishful thinking with the acquiring of wealth definitely imagined and estimated at one hundred thousand. At any rate, the fact is that when opportunity came to Frank O'Connor to get into the candy business, he grasped it and made himself a fortune.

More than that, he went out to look for and meet opportunity by quitting the job in which he had served apprenticed time in the brass department of the Canadian General Electric Company. In that later decision and action was definite purpose that gradually found its way and end in the establishment of the string of Laura Secord candy shops in Canada and the Fanny Farmer chain in northern cities of the United States.

As a tribute to the memory of the late Senator F. P. O'Connor and Roland Denne and their ideals of community service, Famous Players Canadian Corporation is donating the proceeds of the opening of their new Paramount Theatre to Peterborough Rotary Club. Both men were close friends of J. J. Fitzgibbons, CBE, president of Famous Players Canadian Corporation.

LATE SENATOR F. P. O'CONNOR

At the time of his death in Toronto, August 21, 1939, the teenage dream of Frank O'Connor had come true, even in the particular of his quitting, for he had sold his business in both the United States and Canada, retiring to his rural estate, Maryvale Farm, near Scarboro Junction.

Frank O'Connor was 12 years old when he came to Peterborough from Desoronto. He attended the old Separate School on Murray St., its spacious grounds now occupied by the armouries and the Collegiate Institute and Vocational School. He worked for a time delivering groceries for the late T. P. Collins, whose store was on the south side of Hunter St., opposite Chambers St. From school he went to the CGE, where he spent four years in the brass department of which George Tovey was foreman.

For several years he played on the wing line of the Peterborough football team, and was a powerful plunger and defense man.

The lure of private enterprise terminated his employment at the CGE, and he joined his brother, Fred O'Connor, and Joseph Beyette in a chewing gum business, first in a building on the west side of Park St. south of Elm St. and later on George St., opposite the new Famous Players theatre. That business was finally sold to George Lundy, and was continued in the factory on George St. south, north of Romaine St., now occupied by Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Limited.

Some experience in candy-making here remained with Mr. O'Connor, and after a period in Cobalt he returned south. With modest funds available, he chose Toronto as the dreamland he had envisioned years before. He opened his first Laura Secord shop in September 1913, duplicated it here and there throughout the city, broadened his field to Montreal, Ottawa and other cities across the country, and in 1921 repeated his venturing by establishing the Fanny Farmer Shops in the United States from the city of Rochester.

Senator O'Connor's rise in the candy industry was rapid and sound, but it is too long a story for present recalling. His original plans, even to the detail of his stores, required slight if any revision, and his ideas have been retained in practice by the syndicate which purchased his interests. They have stood the test of 35 years of competition with what is called modern methods, changes which have developed in general retailing, but the O'Connor system is virtually the same today as when it first appeared, prior to the first war, as a new business institution which spread with amazing public acceptance across Canada.

Senator O'Connor and Roland Denne were close friends for many years with a common and warm attachment to Peterborough and its progress. Mr. Denne and his prolific ideas drew substantial support from the Senator in various projects and philanthropies, and those who shared their friendship felt that their deaths within several years represented a real loss to this city. Mr. Denne himself used to say that he had only to ask the Senator for help in matters affecting Peterborough and it was gladly given. In the ordinary expectancy of living, it seemed that they had many fruitful years ahead of them. Death came too soon to both.

Their remembrance by Famous Players Canadian Corporation is significant of the enduring imprint of their personalities on their wide circle of friends here and elsewhere, and is greatly appreciated by all those who hold their memories in the same fresh and warm esteem.

OLD OPERA HOUSE, FIRST THEATRE WAS ON PARAMOUNT SITE

Era of Great Stage Shows Passed With Opera House Demolished 6 Years Ago

By PETE McGILLEN

As fine a modern theatre as money and human ingenuity can produce, the Paramount opens today on the site formerly occupied by the Grand Opera House, the first playhouse built in Peterborough. The Old Grand was considered tops in its day, but even with the most generous recollections, it seems shabby and uncomfortable alongside this 20th century building. The cost of the seats alone in this new theatre is more than was paid for the Opera House by one of its buyers.

It's a far call from the days of the great stage shows, which started to slip into the discard in Canada with the coming of talkies in the early twenties, to the motion picture playhouses of today. Of course the world has advanced in comfort, luxury and convenience and even the jokes that clicked in that distant day, have become outworn and garbled with usage to the point where they wouldn't even be recognized by the old-timers. Certainly they would scarcely raise a smile on this generation of blase theatre-goers.

There isn't a theatre patron who, when he snuggles into the thick-padded sliding seats of the Paramount, with the warm, air-conditioned atmosphere would trade them for the hard seats in the drafty old Opera House. But to many of those, whose age is near or over the 50 mark, there must come a wave of nostalgia as their nimble memories flit back to those long-gone days of garish, but delightful stage show days.

The Opera House was located just north and adjoining the J. J. Turner building on the east side of George St., near King. It was built early in this century by the late Rupert Bradburn at a cost of $24,500. Some years later the building was purchased by J. J. Turner and Sons at a cost of $37,500.

They operated this show place until March 1, 1919, when they sold out to the late Ambrose J. Small. In December of that same year, Mr. Small disappeared, and his disappearance has been a mystery of recurring interest since that time. Mr. Small sold the building for $100,000, having acquired it for $55,000, and the new owners were Trans-Canada Theatres. In recent years the building was sold again, this time to R. M. Glover and the Gus Hay Estate of Peterborough for about one-fifth of the sum paid by Trans-Canada. They in turn sold out to Hanson Theatres, who had planned to renovate the building into a modern motion picture playhouse, but they turned it over to Famous Players Corporation, who ordered it demolished.

Eight years ago the seats were removed from the theatre and two years later the curtain fell for the last time when workmen unhooked the robes high in the rigging loft, to send the old curtain tumbling in a cloud of dust to the stage floor, blanketing the footlights that had glimmered on the silk-clad legs of a thousand choruses.

The Opera House seated 1,500 people, had a main floor, a gallery and a top gallery known locally as "the gods" and "nigger heaven." There were two canopied boxes on each side of the main auditorium and two semi-boxes directly back of these. In its heyday the Opera House was considered one of the finest in Canada, not even excepting those in metropolitan centres, and its scenery and stage was such that it could accommodate the largest cast on the road. One of the largest to play here was "George White's Scandals," which had a cast of 90 people and a crew of seven. Usually 45 local stage hands found steady employment at the Opera House.

The first show booked to play in the new show-house was "The Little Duchess," starring Elsie Janis, but a few days before the opening night, the rigging loft sagged and the show had to be transferred to Lindsay.

The first show to play this city was "The Yankee Consul," and it played to a packed house, patrons paying $10 for ground floor seats, $5 in the gallery and one dollar in nigger heaven. This musical comedy was rated with the best in those times. From then on, the theatre averaged three performances a week, getting the cream of the stage shows on the continent. The shows would play Toronto and Hamilton, then hop to Peterborough and Kingston, stopping sometimes at Belleville en route to Montreal.

Too Much Snow

The stage equipment was top-notch and they had 45 sets of lines on head blocks for hanging scenery. They also boasted a bridge for painting scenery, which was used regularly particularly during a 26 weeks' run by Rex Snelgrove Stock Company.

There was never a fire nor a panic in this playhouse, but one time stage hands tilted the bottle a bit too much and almost muffed the act when they were faking a snow-storm scene. One [illegible] high in the loft making the tiny bits of paper flutter like snowflakes to the stage floor, when he gave the rope a vigorous jerk and upset the cradle.

A few seconds later, the director let loose a bellow backstage, "My —— I asked for a snow storm, not an avalanche," and the audience roared.

Lillian Russel, who made a real hit in "Wildfire," enjoyed a top-ranking popularity, particularly with the stage hands. One night she was late in arriving and had kept the prop men waiting without supper. When she learned they were hungry she ordered her maid to go to the train and have the Negro chef make coffee and sandwiches which she served herself to the men on the stage a few hours before the show started.

It was a glorious era of greasepaint, cold cream, burnt cork, buvom ladies and gay leg shows, and the people loved it. Fine acting was done when various companies staged Shakespearean plays, and many yearn for their return. Many middle-aged men in the district today would give a lot for a chance to see some of the old-time musical comedies, but this desire is not shared by the younger generations, for few of the young people have any conception of what a musical comedy is.

Among the notables who were seen locally were Maude Adams in "Peter Pan"; Lawrence Irving, who with his wife, Mabel Mackney, was drowned in the sinking of the Empress of Ireland; De Wolfe Hopper, Lulu Glaser in "Mademoiselle Mischief"; Charles Grapewin in the "Awakening of Mr. Pip," and this actor is still prominent in the movie world today; May Robson, still a star in Hollywood, who played in "A Night Out"; George Arliss in "Disraeli"; Dan Ryan in "The Merchant of Venice." Other great Shakespearean actors who appeared were Sir Martin Harvey, Walter Hampden and Robert Mansfield.

Shows which clicked with local audiences were "Peggy From Paris," "Burgomaster," "I.O.U." which ranked with the best in musical comedies. Others were "Every Woman," "The "Chocolate Soldier," "Robin Hood," and "Chu Chin Chow," an extravaganza that enjoyed great popularity. "The Wanderer" a Biblical drama in which 40 sheep was carried and used in the play went over well, along with "Maid of the Mountains" and Eddie Foy and Lawrence D'Orsay in "The Earl of Pawtucket."

Oscar O'Shea, a Peterborough boy, starred in "The Little Mother" and as Father Kelly in "The Rosary." The late Dan Simons, another Peterborough boy, was seen here in "Bringing Up Father."

There were so many good things seen at the Opera House that waves of memories flood in on local citizens who used to gather there. Memories of the lilting music and sparkling comedy of "The Royal Chef," the "Gingerbread Man" with Ross Snow and other favorites. G. P. Huntley, English comedian, in "Kitty Grey," and lanky Richard Carle in "The Tenderfoot"; the whimsical Charlotte Greenwood in "So Long Letty"; "The Chocolate Soldier," "The Quaker Girl," "The Pink Lady," "No, No, Nanette" with its favorite "Tea For Two" and "I Want To Be Happy"; "The Student Prince," "Blossomtime" with the best of Schubert's music, "The Merry Widow" with its immortal waltz; Victor Herbert's classic, "Babes in Toyland"; Rudolf Friml's "Katinka"; Blanche Ring with her inimitable singing of "Rings on My Fingers"; "Floradora," and Leonard and Halliday in "Painting the Town."

Memories too of a different type of music come floating back with the building of a new theatre. The wonderful contralto of Madame Clara Butt, great English singer, the remarkably fine tenor voice of Edward Johnson, the Guelph boy who climbed to fame as an opera singer and is now the eminently successful director of the Metropolitan Opera Company, the resonant baritone of David Bispham; the piano technique of Mark Hamburg; the wonderful singing of the world-famed Sheffield Choir; the great music of Sousa's Band with its trumpets and trombones standing in front of the stage as the band played "The Stars and Stripes Forever," and of Creatore's accomplished Italian Band all seem fresh in the memory of the theatre-goers once more.

And there will be thoughts too of the humanness of the Scottish songs of Harry Lauder and the drollery of those black-faced comedians, McIntyre and Heath in "The Ham Tree," and of Eugene Lockhart, who wrote the words with Ernest Seitz, another Toronto boy, composing the music, singing "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise" long before it became known to fame. Then there was a nameless singer in "The Pierrots," an English concert company singing "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," a year before the First Great War made it the marching song of the British Empire.

Remembered too will be the great plays of yesteryear. Canada's greatest actress, Margaret Anglin, in "Green Stockings," "The White Sister" with one of the greatest casts ever assembled for a road performance, including Viola Allen and William and Dustin Farnum; Clyde Fitch's "The Walls of Jericho"; Ethel Barrymore, the only one of the Bing Crosby and his dog "Buttons", are shown rehearsing a scene for "The Emperor Waltz" within sight of the Athabaska Glacier and the Columbia Icefield in Jasper National Park.

Bing Crosby may be only a strolling peddler of phonographs who gets mixed up with the Court of the Hapsburgs in Paramount's new technicolour extravaganza, "The Emperor Waltz", but in Jasper National Park, Canadian Rockies, where the Alpine scenes of this picture were made, he achieved genuine popularity.

Although the population of Jasper is only slightly more than 1000, it isn't a "one-horse-town" by any means. It is the meeting place of transcontinental trains that carry many Very Important People hither and yon through Canada, and it is also the location of the noted summer resort, Jasper Park Lodge, which has been host to kings and queens, princes of the realm, justices of the United States Supreme Court and all types of people right through the gamut of the human scale.

But Jasper never met anyone like Bing before, and probably never will again. In his three weeks in Jasper he not only won the admiration of everyone in the village and at the Lodge, but he won their hearts as well. If there ever was a disciple of democracy as the Signers of the Declaration of Independence intended it to be practiced, that disciple was Bing . . .

He hobnobbed with the cowboys who were running the chuck-waggons and doing the rough work for the Paramount Company on location.

He borrowed a patched-up fly-rod from a park warden and proved himself so adept at catching speckled trout in the Maligne Lake and River that he was elected Honorary President of the Maligne River Anglers Association, an honor never conferred before on anyone outside of Canada.

He passed up a "swash" banquet in Jasper Park Lodge to sing for and dance with the Lodge staff in their recreation hall.

When Paramount, after three weeks, had shot all the mountain exteriors for "The Emperor Waltz" and had returned to Hollywood, Bing came back again. He came back to win the Jasper Park Lodge Totem Pole Tournament.

Joan Fontaine, leading lady, also won hearts in Jasper!

PARAMOUNT THEATRE OPENS FRIDAY; FIREPROOF AND LUXURIOUS

Gordon C. Miller New Manager

Mr. Gordon C. Miller, the manager of the new Paramount Theatre, is a son of the late Col. J. W. Miller and Mrs. Miller. He was born in Peterborough, and has lived here since boyhood, with the exception of seven years in Victoria, B.C.

He entered the theatre business in 1921 through his interests in the Regent Theatre on Hunter St., of which he has also been manager. Mr. Miller was one of the original members of the Hanson Theatre Corporation, a director from its inception, and has been chairman of its board.

Mr. Miller has taken an active interest in sports for many years, and has manifested his desire to promote community affairs by his connection with various organizations.

He has been chairman of the Citizens' Co-Ordinating Committee, chairman of the Rehabilitation Committee, chairman of the district RCAF Benevolent Fund, past president of the Kiwanis Club, member and treasurer last year of the Chamber of Commerce, director of the Children's Aid Society.

Gordon Miller has also been a member of George St. United Church through the years, one of its board of trustees and also of its committee of stewards of which he was chairman three years. He is widely known throughout the city, and has a host of friends who are wishing him further success as manager of the Paramount.

GORDON C. MILLER

Powder Room Is Luxurious

No expense has been spared to provide comfort in the ladies' rest room at the new Paramount theatre.

Decorated in soft shades of pale rose and turquoise, with soft rose concealed neon lighting, the room is furnished with upholstered chairs and a fitted turquoise carpet blending tastefully with the suite. There is a full length mirror and a built-in powder table of light oak in the rest room, which lies apart from the toilet room.

Wash basins and toilets are in a tiled room which is approached from the rest room. Here the color scheme is in grey and black.

Visual Window Gives Fine View

Connoisseurs of masonry will have ample opportunity to indulge their favorite whim when they enter the lobby of the Paramount Theatre which opens on Friday.

The walls are constructed of travertine, an Italian marble, that has been constructed to suit the peculiar shape of that room. This color is offset by the black and gold marble trim around the doors.

Huge visual or picture windows have been set on the front of the theatre facing the sidewalk on George St. This gives the people outside a clear view into the foyer where a group of theatre patrons may be idling away a few minutes as they wait for friends or for the beginning of the next film.

There are all-glass doors between the lobby and the foyer which effectively keep out the draft but do not obstruct vision.

Because the building is considered fireproof, having been constructed of brick, concrete and steel, smoking is allowed upstairs in the loges.

New Paramount Theatre Completely Fireproof; Accommodates 950 People

The Paramount, Famous Players Canadian Corporation Ltd., 18th new theatre will open in Peterborough on Friday. By the end of January, 1949, the company will have completed most of the 17 additional movie houses, a total of 35 in all from Newfoundland to Victoria. Excavation for the project was started 18 months ago on a parking lot on which the old Grand Opera House stood for many years. Fourteen concrete piers were first built to withhold the structure which is 160 feet long, 60 feet wide and 47 feet high. Two-thirds of the building which comprises auditorium and stage have walls of brick and tile construction and the front part of the building, which includes the balcony, is of reinforced concrete. The roof is steel decked and topped with tar and gravel. The solid concrete front wall was designed for utility and decoration and the upper half comprises a design of 15 indented squares; the lower half, also concrete, is faced with black granite as well as one exposed supporting column at the front of the foyer.

The stage at the east end of the auditorium is 39 feet long and 12 feet at its widest parts. Heating and refrigeration systems are housed under it.

The floor of the auditorium is of solid concrete of coral color which was applied in the cement mixes and not coated on at completion. The theatre seats 950 people.

The marquee is a steel-fabricated extension 24 feet long by 10 feet deep which will help support a superstructure to carry a display sign that will rise about 40 feet above the roof level.

Eastwood Construction Company of this city have been the general contractors, with a maximum of 20 men, at peak periods, on their construction staff. Officials say that there have been few materials shortages to hold up their program except for structural steel, at one period, that was on the waiting list for three months.

Armour-Plate Doors

Along the right side of the lobby from the street entrance is the ticket booth, the meter room and a small room to store marquee display letters. Several swinging armour plate glass doors lead into the foyer and still on the right side is a staircase leading to the balcony and projection departments, the manager's office and men's lounge and rest room. Ladies' lounge and restroom and private telephone cubicle are built around another staircase on the left side of the foyer.

Behind the loges and balcony seats upstairs is a room where mothers may take young children who might cause a disturbance and still enjoy the picture. The projection department is divided into the projection room, the auxiliary generator room that powers the projectors in case of power emergency, a private viewing room and a film rewind room.

The theatre is 100 per cent fire proof and the precaution is carried into the projection room where, in case of fire, film magazines are sealed and fuseable links close the projection shutters. This department is also shut off from the rest of the building by automatic fire doors controlled by a master switch at the hands of the projectionist.

Air-Conditioned

The heating unit under the stage is of coal-burning boiler construction with an automatic stoker that cuts in every half-hour for three minutes, day and night, by thermostatic control from a unit in the lobby. The air conditioning plant is in the same room and assures comfort at all times of the year.

Under the general supervision of the Eastwood Construction Company, the following sub-contractors took part in the building program; Steel construction, Central Bridge Company, Trenton; marble, tile and terrazzo, Ontario Marble Co., Peterborough; plumbing, heating and air conditioning, J. Wiggins and Son, Lansing, Ont.; refrigeration, Canadian Comstock Co., Toronto; electrical, Industrial Electric Co., Toronto; [illegible] Toronto, candy booth fixture, Lindcraft Co., Lindsay; carpeting, R. Simpson Co. Ltd., Toronto; upholstering, Nightingale Upholstering Co., Toronto; neon lighting, E. L. Ruddy Co., Ltd., Toronto; seating, Canadian Theatre Chair Co., Toronto; plastering and lathing, Gerard and Gerard, Montreal; roofing, Heather and Little Ltd., Toronto, and the art wire and iron work, Art Ware and Iron Co., Toronto.

Fancy millwork was done by the Peterborugh Lumber Co. and the lounge chairs in the foyer were supplied by the Kroehler Manufacturing Co., of Stratford. George Sorenson and Son of this city will supply planting for both interior and exterior of the theatre.

JOHN JOSEPH FITZGIBBON, CBE, president of Famous Players Canadian Corp., Ltd., whose new Paramount theatre on George St. opens on Friday, was a great friend of the late Roland Denne, a former mayor of Peterborough. He was the first theatre man in Canada to receive a decoration from the King. During the war he was chairman of the Canadian Motion Picture War Services Committee, the motion picture section of the National War Finance Committee and the Motion Picture Advisory Council of the Canadian Wartime Prices and Trades Board.

Neon Rainbow In Theatre; Emphasis Put On Comfort

A quick glance at the interior of the new Paramount Theatre on George St. reveals that the building is designed scientifically for the comfort of its patrons. And after even a brief discussion with H. G. Duerr, architect, and Jules Wolfe, in charge of engineering and construction, that original impression is amply confirmed.

AN ENERGETIC TALENT SPOTTER, Jack Arthur, MBE, one of the original executives of the Famous Players Canadian Corporation, Ltd., which is opening the new Paramount Theatre on George St. Friday, became well known in Toronto as the producer of stage productions and orchestra conductor at the Regent Theatre. He also produced stage and orchestral presentations for the Uptown, Imperial and other theatres in Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg and Vancouver. All productions on Famous Players' stages from coast to coast were under his direction.

The latest air conditioning equipment has been installed. It heats, cools and ventilates as the temperature of the particular day requires. Despite the fact the system is designed to give a complete change of air every four or five minutes there is no noticeable draft to bother patrons as they watch the screen.

For those who like statistics it might be interesting to state that the cooling system can replace the cooling effect of 60 tons of ice, and 25,000 cubic feet of air pass through it every minute.

Smoking is only permitted in the loges and special ventilation equipment has been provided to eliminate the smoke without inconvenience or discomfort to the patrons.

A master control which can be pre-set determines how much outside air will be injected into the system to maintain the proper temperature and rate of humidity. All air which is brought into the building is carefully screened to elliminate dirt, germs and other impurities.

950 Seats

Altogether there are nearly 950 seats, 215 of which are in the balcony. To provide special comfort and relaxation for its patrons the theatre has provided attractive-looking seats of birch wood and metal which have a 20-inch slide back.

Even the tallest man can stretch out in comfort once he is seated and enjoy the unusual sense of relaxation as he watches the film. And if someone else wants either in or out of his row the tall person can still remain seated while the others file in and out.

Lighting is one of the most unusual features of the Paramount Theatre. All the neon lighting is indirect and the remainder is flush or concealed below eye-level.

Neon Rainbow

Across the ceiling which is broken into uneven steps to aid acoustics there are four horizontal bands of concealed neon lighting. In the theatre itself there are flush flood lights, only used when a film is not showing, an amber colored operating lights which are on all the time.

Honeycomb Ceiling

One of the most novel lighting designs is to be found in the lobby. White neon light is diffused evenly by means of a silver translucent sheeting between it and egg-crate reflectors which honeycomb the ceilnig. As the patron steps into the foyer he meets an even illumination of flush pin and amber lights.

Perhaps the most attractive aspect of the carefully-studied lighting system is the proscenium arch which is outlined by blending, multi-colored neon tubes. When the theatre is darkened the colors give the effect of a constantly-changing rainbow.

The best and most modern sound equpiment is used. Amplifiers and projectors are of standard reliable design.

If the outside power should falter there is an auxiliary supply Storage batteries have been hooked up to take care of the emergency.

Eventually it is hoped to have a diesel-powered auxiliary electric plant. These are difficult to obtain at the moment and the problem of where the plant would be put in the building has not yet been solved.

Era Of Great Shows

great stage family to appear here; Edward Terry in "Sweet Lavender."

"The Dover Road," Robert Mantell in "King Lear," and other Shakespearean plays, "Experience," "The Man From Mars," Sir John Martin-Harvey in "The Only Way" and "The Breed of the Treshams," "Paid in Full," and scores of others.

Had Street Parades

And the comedies of that era: "Twin Beds," "Nothing But the Truth," "Fair and Warmer," Etienne Giradot in "Charley's Aunt," Cyril Maude in "Grumpy," May Robson in "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary," "Bill's Tombstones"—there must be some laughs still echoing in the corners of the old Opera House over those two funny sailors.

Then there were the minstrel shows with their parade down the main street as ballyhoo. Primrose and Dockstader, Guy Bros, Hall's Minstrels, Georgia Minstrels and many others.

Forbes Robinson made a hit in a show called "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," George M. Cohen's show, "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway," was well received, and after 1919 many English plays were shown. Chief of these perhaps was "Hello Canada," featuring Harry Tate. Fine actors of this particular period were Bramsby Williams and Percy Hutchinson.

Roselle Knott was a popular dramatic star and the stock companies which were most popular were the Marks Bros. Following the war the "Dumbells" played here several times, but the handwriting was on the wall, for five theatres showing motion pictures had come into existence. For a while movies were shown at the Opera House with success, but when sound equipment came along back in 1927-28, the Opera House became a white elephant.

Among the last road shows to play here was the Georgia Minstrels and Eugene O'Neill's "The Strange Interlude." There are a few of the original stage hands living here who were on the job when the Opera House opened its doors back almost forty years ago, and these are Teddy Crowe, Price Adamson, Curly Noyes, Benny Clute, Jimmie Holmes and George McAndrews are in Toronto.

On the wall outside the front door, above the spot where the sidewalk canopy used to be, was a sign, "Grand Opera House — Comedy, Tragedy" . . . and the most tragic part of it all is that the day of the spoken drama in this city is gone.

Crying Room Feature Of New Theatre

The interior of the new Paramount Theatre on George St. has been designed on ultra modern lines with decorations and furnishings in pastel shades of rose and turquoise. The theatre seats are in a soft shade of rose which blends well with a dark tone of the same color on the lower part of the walls. The carpets on the aisles have a chevron design in brown and beige which picks up the lights, even though it is subdued.

One of the most up-to-date features of the theatre is a crying room situated above the balcony, next to the projection room. This has seating accommodation for 18 mothers and their babies and can also be used for large parties of visitors to the theatre. It is a separate room from the balcony and has long observation windows through which the screen can easily be seen and the sound arrangements are as satisfactory as those in the main body of the theatre. On the other side of the projection room is a private reviewing room.

The stage set consists of curtains and valencing in a rust, silver and turquoise color scheme which is in perfect harmony with the rest of the theatre. The plastic screen and the entire stage set functions by remote control from he projection room.

Furniture Harmonizes

The foyer of the theatre is adequately partitioned from the lobby by visual glass doors. It has a fitted Wilton carpet pattern specially designed for this theatre. It has a buff and turquoise pattern on a maroon background. The stair carpeting is of the same design and has been fitted with rubber nosing to eliminate the risk of falling when descending in sudued lighting. The foyer will serve as a comfortable lounge, with a leatherette upholstered settee built into the wall and a number of easy chairs covered with soft fabrics. On the wall opposite the approach to the foyer there is an attractive oriental mural. The telephone booth has a modernfold cream coloured door to match the settee.

There is a brightly illuminated refreshment counter for candies, cold drinks and ice, which has a wall of fluted translucent glass and sides of rose colored leatherette designed to give a log cabin effect. Over the counter there is an imposing turquoise canopy.

GREEK DERIVATION

The word "electricity" comes from the Greek word for amber.

Paramount Theatre Has Hearing Aids

Famous Players Canadian Corporation have left nothing unturned to provide comfort for patrons in their new Paramount Theatre. Even the hard-of-hearing have been considered and will enjoy talking pictures.

The last row of seats in the main auditorium, 29 in all, are equipped with plugs where earphones, obtainable from the ushers, may be plugged into the sound system. The sound volume is regulated by individual dial control to suit each person who uses them without causing any disturbance to patrons even in the row ahead.

Girls Told Mother Is Best Friend

MARMORA, Dec. 3 — (ENS) —The November meeting of the Sodality of the Children of Mary in Sacred Heart school on Tuesday took the form of a mother and daughter night. It was well attended by members and guests who were welcomed by the president, Miss Verna Black.

Correspondence was read and the treasurer's report was presented by Miss Patricia Lynch. The Rev. Father Farrell thanked the girls for their efforts in aid of the bazaar. He spoke on the Blessed Mother Mary and paid a tribute to all mothers, advising the girls always to go to their mothers for counsel and advice. Miss Verna Black read a poem, entitled "To Mother."

Patricia Brady, Barbara and Marjorie Hughes sang "That Wonderful Mother of Mine" and "Mother," with Mrs. J. Black at the piano. Miss Jean Cook read an appropriate poem, "If For Mothers"; Miss Patricia Clairmont played a piano solo and Miss Audrey Black gave a comic reading, "Maggie Mahoney Has An Idea."

Father Farrell sang "Mother Machree," "Sunshine of Your Smile" and "Rose of Tarlie," and Miss Agnes Forestell read a poem, entitled "Passport."

Games were played and lunch was served by the young leaders in charge. A vote of thanks to the Sodality by Mrs. Charles Cook.

Army Building New Radio Station In Far North

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, Dec. 3 — (CP) — The army is adding a 30th radio station to its northern communications system and a tractor train will transport the 200 tons of material that go into its construction.

The train, currently the answer to large-scale transport problems in the Arctic for both military and commercial purposes, will move the equipment from the sub-Arcttic experimental base at Churchill, Man., to the site about 300 miles northwest.

The station, to be established on Ennadai lake, will be part of the Northwest Territories and Yukon radio system which in 1923 began to supply land communications service to remote settlements, and some put on programs similar to those heard in more civilized areas.

The army says it takes three weeks to handle one 600-mile round trip, with a stopoff en route to drop off supplies for an Indian settlement. The trains take 40 to 50 tons a trip.

They consist of a commercial-type tractor, four or five sleds and a caboose or home-on-runners known as a wannegan, an Indian term which the soldiers say is used to describe anything they find it hard to find a name for. The wannegan is used for sleeping and eating on a trip that must not stop because of the trouble in getting started again.

LET'S MAKE THEM WANT TO COME BACK!

And the Rains Came . . .

Recent heavy rainfalls have temporarily improved water levels in some areas where hydro-electric generating plants are located. As a result, during the past ten days, more power was made available to the Commission, which was immediately passed along to municipalities in the form of increased quotas now totalling 10 per cent.

However, despite the fact that many municipalities have been able to reduce or eliminate cutoffs, WATER LEVELS ARE STILL BELOW NORMAL AND THE POWER SITUATION REMAINS CRITICAL.

Every consumer — domestic, commercial, industrial and rural — should continue to restrict the use of electricity to the most essential needs at all hours of the day and night to guard against the return of the dark days of power cutoffs.

Here are a few suggestions that will help you to save MORE electricity:

- Switch off all lights not needed. Use lower wattage lamps. Do not leave lights burning in empty rooms, halls, basement, attic, porch and garage.
- Electric ranges are heavy users of electricity. Turn elements off as soon as possible. Do not use your electric iron one minute longer than necessary.
- Turn off all electric motor-driven equipment when not required.

Cut down in every way possible on your use of electricity.

Says Directors Most Important Men In Films

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 3 (AP)—"How do they make movies?" asks a gentleman in the audience.

A good question. And here, in general, is the answer.

They start with a story. The studio may pay a fabulous price for a hit play or a best selling novel. Or it may buy more cheaply an original story idea over which a film writer has sweated many an unemployed week.

The script is done and redone and redone, often to the point of insensibility. Meanwhile the producer selected by the studio boss is lining up a cast and budget.

He then consults with the production staffs and plans the shooting. The art director whips up sketches of the tests and estimates their cost. The producer picks a director, cameraman and other key posts. He tends to the 1,001 details that go into the making if a picture.

The sets are built, the cast set and enough of the script written to get started. Now the director takes over.

Most Important Factor

Most movie minds (especially directors) agree that the director is the most important factor in the success of a picture. He instructs the actors, tells the cameraman what to shoot, interprets the script and rewrites it if necessary.

Even the greatest director can't make a hit from a bad script. But a good director can mean life or death to a mediocre script, which class of writing predominates in Hollywood.

Finally the film is finished; it is handed over to the film editor, who fashions the tangle of celluloid into a feature picture. With the aid of the producer and director, the film is hacked and sliced until it gets down to 90 minutes of story telling.

A composer whips up a musical background and a symphony orchestra records it. With the picture finally intact, it is sent out for a "sneak preview" in a Southern California town. The picture then goes back for more cutting and is "sneaked" again.

With the release date set, the publicity and exploitation barrage bursts forth.

Say Rainmaking Can Bring Legal Problems

PALO ALTO, Calif., Dec. 3 — (AP). — Doing more than just talking about the weather can get you in trouble with the law, says the Stanford Law Review.

The Review discusses the legal pitfalls that may await the cloud-seeders and rainmakers. The article goes clear back to Justinian for hints of "Who Owns a Cloud?"

The rub is that nobody in particular owns a cloud, and everybody in general, because of a cloud's "vague and elusive nature."

It appears that you cannot lasso a cloud, like a horse, nor can you paint it green, like a house. You cannot "occupy" it, legally speaking, because it might move on and you would just be sitting there.

Therefore you cannot own a cloud as an individual any more than you can own the air, the ocean, or wild life.

However, if you are a farmer dependent upon rainfall for the use of your land, and if someone seeds a cloud over your land and it blows over somebody's land and it rains, then there may be a case for damages.

Not So Simple

But this is not simple, says the Review as it warms up to the technicalities of the subject.

You, as the outraged farmer, would have to prove:

1—That rainmaking is possible in the first place.

2—That the accused actually made it rain in this case.

3—That his rainmaking robbed you of rain and gave it to somebody else.

The article, written after recent United States Weather Bureau tests with rainmaking, says that it is a "natural" for government regulation, as "it is vitally important to the nation as a whole and action by one individual may affect many others.

"Legislation regulating most phases of rainmaking will be essential when it becomes economically useful," the article predicts.

18 Factories May Resume Monday Work

Local industries may resume working on Mondays, instead of Saturday, as a result of the substantial improvement in the production and delivery figures of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

R. L. Dobbin, manager of the Utilities Commission, has written to the eighteen factories that switched their week-end holiday from Saturday to Monday as a means of transferring a considerable part of the power load.

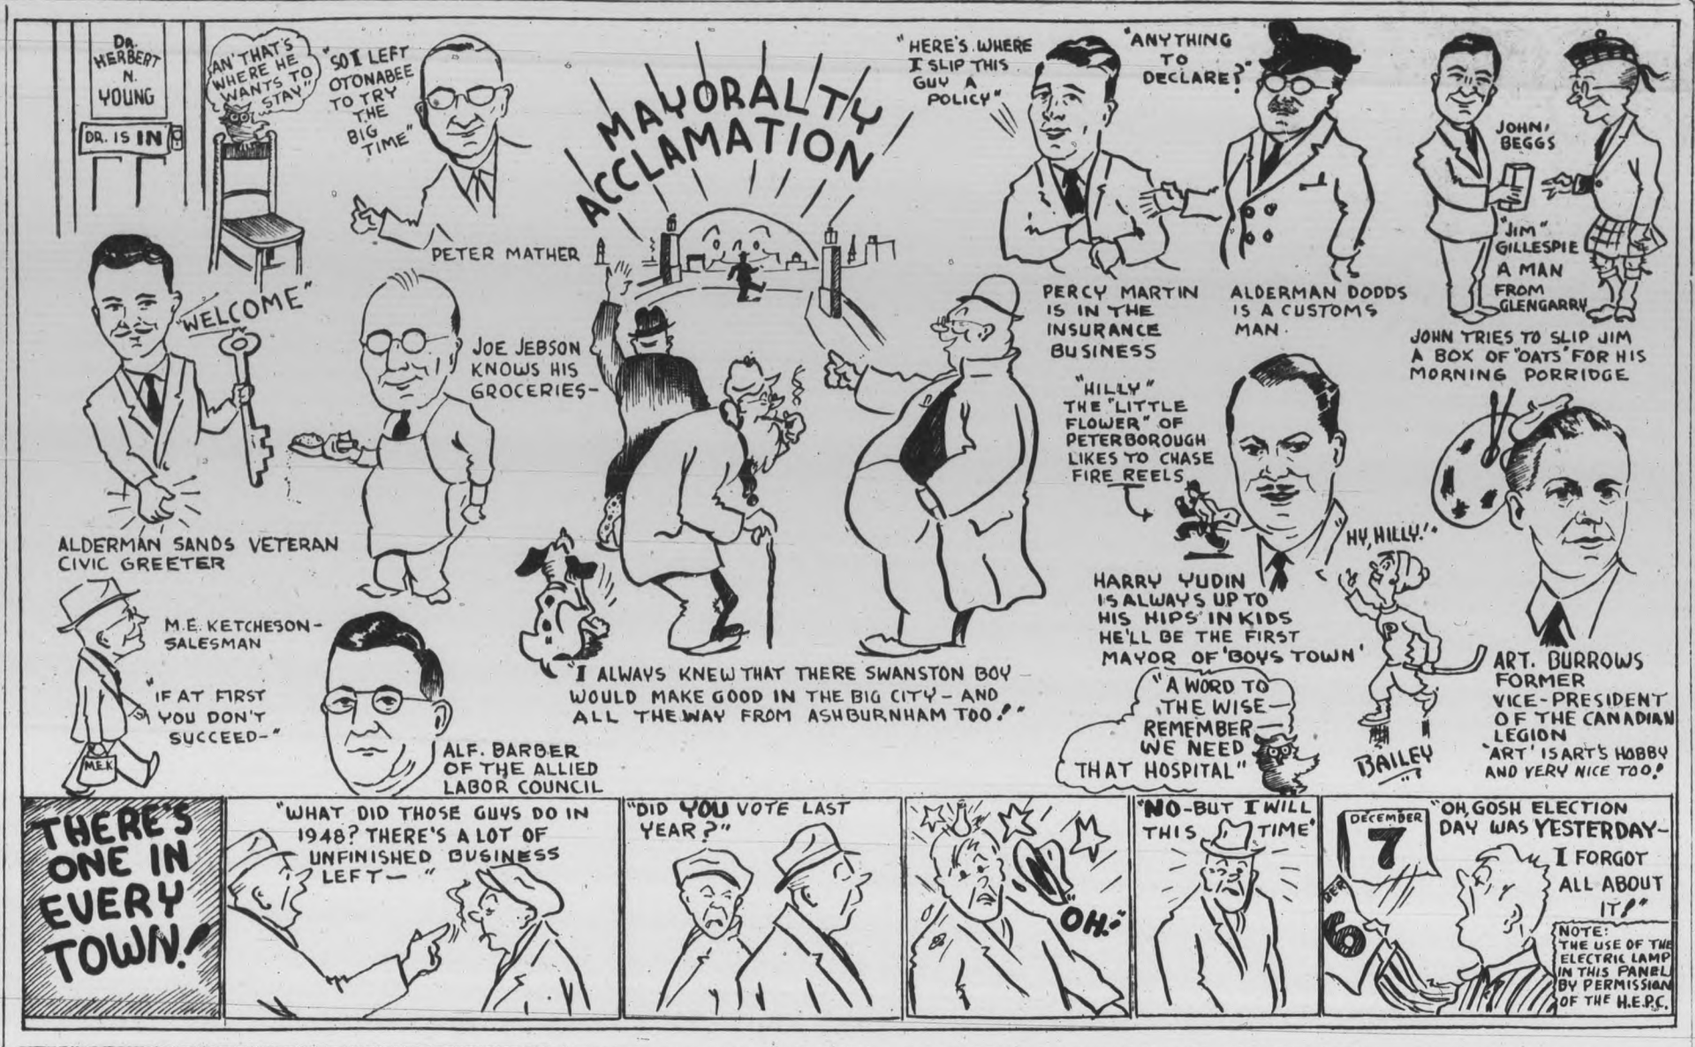
In addition to that, Mr. G. S. Matthews, chairman of the Commission, said his morning "at the end of December we hope to be able to announce that there will be no change in the schedule."

That is a prospect of the continuation of the regular work week in the new year.

"The factories that have been working Saturday can now go back to Mondays as soon as they wish," Mr. Matthews said. "I believe some of them would like to carry on as at present for a week or more, but that is entirely up to them. Probably the employees would rather have the Saturday off instead of Monday.

Any way, the Commission appreciates the fine spirit of co-operation that we received from our industrial consumers, and we would like to remind them that they should still be on the watch against any waste of power. We have to keep on economizing. We have to make the same appeal to the domestic users, the people in the homes, and especially the housewives, and finally to the stores and offices and other commercial consumers."

Mr. Matthews said he wished to speak for the Utilities Commission in expressing appreciation for the fine spirit shown during the most acute period of the power shortage since September.



Birds Plentiful; Price Shows Gain Of 11 Cents

Butchers are a bit hesitant to say what housewives will have to pay a pound for the Christmas turkey, but all indications are that it will be 70 cents or more. That is the forecast price for hens, with the gobblers and larger birds being scaled from three to five cents downward. In other words turkeys have joined the cavalcade of commodities which are more expensive this year. During the 1947 Yuletide season, choice birds sold at 59 for Grade A, and the prices ranged down to 55 or less on the open market.

Cliff Hartman, Bridgenorth, who bought 800 choice birds this week said the small turkey farmer is fast going out of business. Losses to skunks, foxes and weasels are making it impossible for him to show a profit. On the other hand, several farmers are starting turkey ranches, specializing in the business of raising turkeys and their flocks range up to 5,000 birds.

Locally there are not as many turkeys as last year, but there is enough for the local demand with some to spare. Last spring delivery of poults was poor, and this tended to reduce the size of the district flocks.

A few downtown butchers report they are bringing in western turkeys which will likely sell at a lower price than the domestic birds.

The big family, with a stove oven large enough to accommodate a big gobbler is certain to get a bargain, because there will be some whopping big birds on the market, and lack of demand will push the price down several cents.

Some women and their husbands too, watching the steady increase of edibles required to round out a perfect Christmas dinner, are giving serious thought to taking the entire family out for the meal. Certainly the mothers wouldn't mind a bit, except they claim it gets away from the old family gathering on Christmas day, which is something the older people look forward to.

If the trend to restaurant and hotel and resorts is marked, then these institutions will probably take care of any surplus turkeys in the market.

500 Skiers Meet

Nearly 500 skiing enthusiasts attended the Ski Club's annual get-together at the Collegiate on Thursday night. Two movies, Rhythm on Snow and First Winter Ascent of Mt. Bulyea were shown. The skiers got a glimpse of this winter's ski styles. It was reported that there is a new ski town at Bethany. Tow fees are tow at Bethany. Tow fees are $1.

Andrew Butter acted as master of ceremonies for the evening. Doug Plunkett won the Tyro ski boots.

South Library To Open Soon

K. S. Wightman, Library committee chairman, in his report to the Peterborough Public Library Board Thursday night said he hoped the new branch library in the south end of the city would be opened at the beginning of the new year. He also said that chairs, desk and shelves would be required and authority had not been given to anyone to spend money for them. Immediately F. Hickey, chairman of the property committee, and Mr. Wightman were given permission to spend up to $1,000 to establish the new library. Books would be bought with the greater part of this money. A well-qualified librarian is being sought to supervise this Branch.

Circulation of books in November 1948 showed a decided increase over the same period last year. There were 13,047 more book distributed up to November 30 than in the same time in 1947. The number of books circulated to the end of November was 143,723. The circulation in the Boys' and Girls' Department was nearly the same as last year.

In the Boys' and Girls' department to projects are completed and a Christmas display is started. The Saturday morning art classes have been well attended. Book-talks have been given to 40 classes. The children dramatized one of the better known fairy tales and it was presented over the local radio station. This was their contribution to the Education Week.

W. A. Richardson, chairman of the Finance committee, reported there was an estimated surplus of $1,133.43. The money required for the Branch library will come from this surplus.

F. Hickey announced in his report for the Property committee that E. Harrison had been employed as janitor. He was highly recommended.

Rev. E. C. Moore expressed his deepest appreciation to Mayor Ovens for his splendid co-operation on behalf of the members of the Public Library Board.

J. C. Rutherford, chairman of the Library board, and A. Borland were present at the meeting also. J. Marshall and W. C. Ackerman were absent.

Business Men Arrange Christmas Shopping Hours

A schedule of night-opening hours for local stores during Christmas week has been drawn up by the Peterborough Business Men's Association. Stores will be closed for three consecutive days over the Christmas week-end. Christmas falls on a Saturday; the next day is Sunday, and Boxing Day comes on Monday. Housewives will have to stock up with edibles for the long holiday.

On the Saturday preceding Christmas, Dec. 18, stores will stay open till 9 p.m. And similar hours will be observed on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of Christmas week.

On Christmas Eve shops will lock up at 6 p.m., so shoppers would be well advised not to wait until the last minute to purchase their gifts or they may be disappointed.

Stores will be open on two Wednesday afternoons—December 22 and 29. Wednesday afternoon of Christmas week has always been available but the 29th has been permitted because the previous Monday, Boxing Day, is a holiday and the following Saturday is New Year's Day.

The association passed a resolution supporting the hospital money by-law, and said it would like to have its members support it as well.

SHORE UP CREEK BANK

Erosion has cut away a section of the bank of Jackson Park creek southeast of Brock and Aylmer Sts., and shoring up of the bank has begun. It is on the property of Grant and Loucks Co. The bank is being reinforced with logs and it is believed that this will prevent further erosion which at the moment threatens the adjacent dirt laneway used by cartage trucks.

Girl Awarded $1,118 Damages

Marguerite L. Buck, 18, of 134 Morrow St., was Thursday afternoon awarded $1,118.23 damages against Earl G. Mitchell, Smith Township, as a result of a car accident on Sept. 7, 1947. Mr. Justice Genest, presiding at the present non-jury sitting of the Supreme Court, gave the decision.

Andrew E. Buck, father of the plaintiff, who entered the plea on her behalf was awarded $500.

Justice Genest found her 25 per cent responsible and the defendant 75 per cent responsible.

Miss Buck said she was walking along a dirt path on the north side of No. 7 Highway after coming from a dance at the Club Aragon when she was struck by Mitchell's car. As a result of this accident she said she received a fractured nose, and back and head injuries. She claimed she still suffers from backaches, headaches and nasal trouble.

She also sued for loss of wages and damaged clothing.

W. J. Arthur Fair, represented the plaintiff while A. J. Sneath, KC, acted for the defendant.

Kiwanis Awards Track Prizes

Three boys received awards for their prowess in the track and field events of the Kiwanis "Little Olympics" at the club's meeting on Thursday. The competition was held in October.

Harold Rehill, chairman of the sports committee, introduced the winners.

Albert Buott was presented the trophy for top-scorer for boys 14 and over by Robert Lawes. Al Clark presented Grant Reader with the award for boys 12 and 13 years old, and Dennis Hale, winner in the under 12 years class, was presented with his award by Gordon Maniece. All three received engraved shields.

President Ted Pridham was chairman for the meeting, which was a closed business discussion.

FURNITURE NEEDED

With their Boys' Town Trafalgar House habitable after many months of volunteer labor, Peterborough Optimist Club members are campaigning for furnishings. They will accept furniture in any condition and repair it in their club shop and would be very happy, officials state, to borrow or receive outright, a piano from anyone who has one in storage or not in use.

War Veteran Fined, Failed To Get Permit To Locate Building In North Monaghan

Bruce Stewart of North Monaghan was fined $5 and $5.50 costs in court today when he was found guilty of violating the township's building bylaw. The accused had brought a small building to a lot in the township, had made improvements to it by boarding and filling earth around the bottom and by building a toilet.

Township clerk and building inspector Bruce Johnston laid the charge. He testified that Stewart had not applied for a permit for this work, as required by the bylaw.

Stewart, who served in the Provost Corps and with the Army Service Corps during the war, including four years overseas, said that he had moved to the township because "I could not afford to pay $50 and $60 a month for rent in the city."

Mrs. Stewart, wife of the accused, and Mrs. Helen Lowe, from whom the lot had been purchased, testified that they had heard Clerk Johnston tell Stewart that "it was all right to go ahead and finish the toilet," but had warned him to do no other building without a permit. The accused testified that he had not made any further changes after that.

The clerk refused to answer a question of the accused: "Did you refuse, three weeks ago, to give me a permit to build a house." The witness said "that's got nothing to do with this case."

In his judgment, Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, ruled that the work which Stewart had done on the small building would constitute "commencing a building" as covered by the bylaw.

His Worship said that he felt the purpose of the building inspector in laying the charge was "not to exact a heavy fine, but to see that permits were issued for any work done."

Britons Told Cracked Dishes Will Continue

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, Dec. 3 — (CP) — Britons who would starve if they refused to eat or drink from cracked dishes now have official assurances the risks they take are small.

Commons' members often fire questions at the ministry on outbreaks of disease, food-poisoning cases and the cleanliness of restaurants.

Recently these questioners have been assisted by A. Edward Davies, Labor member of Parliament for Burslem, who spoke for workers in the Staffordshire potteries. He demanded an end to the era of cracked pottery and re-equipment of the catering industry with new cups, plates and other dishes. He said experiments had shown the danger of infection is "infinitely less" when undamaged pottery is used.

Not Cracks or Chips

But Dr. Edith Summerskill, food ministry parliamentary secretary and a practising physician for several years, said the Medical Research Council, after detailed experiments, had decided the bacterial count on the "mouth area" of a cup was determined by the lack of cleanliness and not by cracks or chips.

The health ministry had no record of any outbreak of serious illness which had been traced to cracked crockery.

"Apart from sore throat, which can be attributed to streptococci, I am told there has been no trace of any other outbreak," she said.

Effective Dish-Washing

Dr. Summerskill gave the trade —and housewives—these instructions on effective dish-washing:

"Give a preliminary wash in water containing a detergent at a temperature of 100 to 115 degrees fahrenheit, followed by a rinse at a temperature of round about 175 degrees fahrenheit for at least 30 seconds. Dishes then should be left to drain dry without wiping.

"Crockery treated in this way, though not sterile, will have a low bacterial count and that is what we are trying to achieve."

Autograph Hobby Brings Minister Imposing Returns

By JEAN MEEGAN

NEW YORK, Dec. 3—(AP)—Daily the postman deposits some of the most impressive mail in the world at a rose-covered door in Brooklyn.

Rev. Cornelius Greenway receives letters from kings, generals, Nobel prize winners, cabinet members, industrialists, literary lions and all manner of great folk.

The universalist clergyman has portraits signed by the last three popes, the last five presidents, every dictator (except Stalin) since 1919, Chief Two Gun White Calf, whose face is on the buffalo nickel, and a wedding picture of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor signed by everybody present. He values his autograph collection at $85,000.

Mr. Greenway stalks his prospects with 23-cent registered letters from the moment they are important enough to be in his collection. It took 11 years before he brought Henry Ford and Albert Einstein to bay.

Just this summer, Einstein wrote him the following in longhand:

"The most beautiful thing we can witness is the mysterious. He to whom this emotion is a stranger, who can no longer pause to wonder and stand rapt in awe, is as good as dead: his eyes are closed."

Such an item in the hand of the relativity theorist makes an autograph hunter drool. Greenway also has a Herbert Hoover longhand rarity. The ex-president wrote out a 1,200-word speech he made in Fort Wayne, Ind., in 1932 for the minister's collection. That was to reciprocate for a hobby favor Greenway did for him.

Great Variety

Greenway has such divergent items as the original manuscript of Edwin Markham's "The Man With the Hoe" and the picture of General MacArthur returning to the Philippines bearing in MacArthur's own hand the famous "I have returned" statement.

It took a year and a half for him to get the picture of the Japanese surrender aboard the battleship Missouri with the signatures of MacArthur, Sir Arthur E. Percival and Gen. Johathan Wainwright.

The Duchess of Windsor was unresponsive until Greenway sent her some laudatory stories from United States papers about her marriage to Edward VIII There are very few signed portraits of Edward VIII during his short reign, but Greenway has one. His collection of signed portraits of the English Royal Family, going back to Victoria, is one of the finest in existence.

Although Hitler was one of the world's most frequently photographed men in the 1930's, Greenway had a hard time getting the Fuehrer's signature in a portrait.

"I wrote many times for it," the minister said. "One day in 1933 Gustav Benzenberg, chancellor of the German consulate in New York, came to see me. He said he was sent by Hitler to check on my claim that I had autographed pictures of all Europe's other rulers. Then he showed me a signed picture postcard of Hitler which he said he had been directed to give me if what I said was true."

A sporty looking eight-by-10 picture of Mussolini as a mountain fighter disturbed the German's feeling of fitness. Benzenberg got Hitler to send his favorite portrait.

There are 42 volumes in his collection of 2,500 pictures and 3,000 manuscripts, but not one actor or athlete. Only microfilms of Greenway's treasures are kept at home. The originals are in bank vaults.

ERIC W. MORSE of Ottawa who has been appointed executive director of the Association of Canadian Clubs. There are 92 men's and women's Canadian Clubs across Canada.

Appoint Morse Club Director

OTTAWA, Dec. 3—(CP).—Eric W. Morse of Ottawa has been appointed executive director of the Association of Canadian Clubs, Dr. H L. Keenleyside, association president, announced today.

The announcement was made following an executive meeting of the association which ties together the 92 men's and women's clubs across the Dominion.

Dr. Keenleyside said the association plans immediate expansion both of membership and through new clubs, with an increasing emphasis on the association's objective of developing "a broad but healthy Canadianism in these critical days."

"Among the objectives of the association are the strengthening of Canadian unity, the welcoming of new Canadians, the awakening of Canadians in regard to national and international issues, and the circulation among its members of more information about all parts of Canada."

Mr. Morse is well known as a writer and commentator on international and Canadian affairs, and was formerly national secretary of the United Nations Association in Canada.

Born in India, he came to Canada at an early age and received his education at Trinity College School, Port Hope, and Queen's University, Kingston. He later did post-graduate work at the School of International Studies in Geneva.

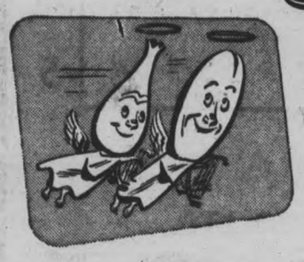
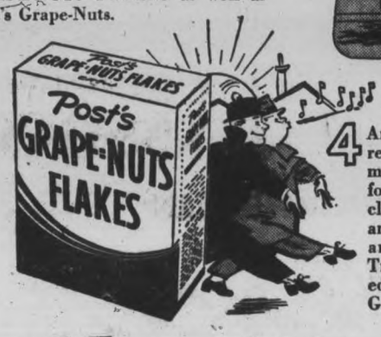
"The roads are terrible – but this flavor is gorgeous"

said Uncle Ned

1 A jaunt in Uncle Ned's gas buggy of the Nineties was quite an adventure. And another big thrill of that time was the appearance on breakfast tables of that new cereal treat Grape-Nuts.



2 Every time his horseless carriage stalled near a grocery store, Uncle Ned couldn't resist the temptation to get himself more of that malty-rich, nut-sweet flavor – just as folks today can't resist that same deliciously-different taste in POST'S GRAPE-NUTS FLAKES as well as Post's Grape-Nuts.



3 There's double reason for the double goodness of Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes. They're made of two golden grains—not just one. Wheat and malted barley are blended a secret way, baked and then toasted to bring out all that distinctly-different flavor of these honey-golden, delightfully crisp flakes.

4 And Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes really set you up for a good morning, with carbohydrates for energy; proteins for muscle; phosphorus for teeth and bones; iron for the blood; and other food essentials. Treat your folks to a big economy package of Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes soon.

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 3—(ENS).—Three passengers were slightly injured, one requiring hospital treatment, when a car driven by Gordon Galvin of Lakefield was in collision with another car driven by Beverley Blewett, RR 1, Lakefield, on Wednesday.

The accident occurred at the east end of the cement bridge shortly after 6 p.m. Galvin's car was making a left turn from Water St., and Blewett's car was travelling east on Bridge St.

Mary Jane Galvin, sister of Gordon Galvin, who received head and facial injuries, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment by Dr. L. O. Bailey. She was later released.

Mrs. Wm. Corby, a passenger in the Galvin car, had her knee injured.

Damage to Galvin's car was estimated at more than $200; to Blewett's $75.

A total of $50 damage resulted on Thursday night when cars driven by Frances Stevenson, of the Melody Inn and Rodger Dunford, RR 2, Lakefield, collided at the west end of Canal Bridge.

Both vehicles were going west on Bridge St. Chief Garnet Samis investigated.

Britain's Envoy Sir Oliver Franks One Of Most Popular Men In U.S.

By GEORGE RONALD.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (CP)—Few "outsiders" in this diplomat-loaded Capital are as popular as Britain's Ambassador, Sir Oliver Franks.

In his quiet, unassuming, and friendly way, the 43-year-old scholar does a top-notch job of "selling" the United Kingdom to blase Washingtonians. His knack is all the more noteworthy because, unlike former British Ambassadors, he is not a career diplomat.

He is a teacher of moral philosophy who was summoned from the calm of university life to lend a hand to the British Government during the war.

Good Press

Nowhere is he better liked than among members of the National Press Club. Raymond P. Brandt of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch wrote recently of Sir Oliver:

"His American audiences may think they are seeing and hearing a 'typical Britisher' He is far more than that. He is, rather, a highly-developed specimen of the finest in British education and culture."

Since taking over Britain's important Washington post last June Sir Oliver has made a point of seeing for himself the life and industry and agriculture of the United States.

Scholar Statesman

His scholastic ability had won him the Chair of Moral Philosophy at Glasgow University when war thrust him into public service. He was assigned the job of studying how red tape and confusion could be cut to a minimum in Britain's vital Ministry of Supply.

So thorough and valuable were sis recommendations that he was appointed principal Assistant Secretary to Herbert Morrison, who then was Minister of Supply. At the end of the war, Sir Oliver had risen to the post of Permanent Secretary of the combined Ministries of Supply and Aircraft Production.

He derided to return to Oxford; he accepted the Provostship of Queen's College.

New crisis ended his quiet, chosen college life within a year. Britain's Labor Government pot in a new bid for his services when George Marshall, United States Secretary of State, promised American aid if European countries would band together to help themselves.

Marshall Plan Authority

He became one of the draftsmen of the Marshall Plan. As head of the British delegation, he did much to help the 16 free nations of Western Europe, in conference at Paris last year, work out details of the tremendous recovery program.

Some observers credit him with being, next to Marshall, the chief builder of the European recovery program.

WHEN THE CITIZENS of Oakville decided to get themselves a hospital, more than official committees went to work on the project of raising funds and getting a favorable vote on grants by the town and surrounding township. For instance, Billy Jenney fixed up his St. Bernard pal, Brandy, with a key under his chin and went hunting. He came home with more than $6 to go into the coffers. And don't let that look fool you; Brandy enjoyed the job immensely.

Boys Take Over Town Hall At Havelock

HAVELOCK, Dec. 3—(ENS)—Boys' Town, an organization inaugurated recently by Havelock Rotary Club, is now firmly established and meets in the Town Hall every T esday.

Members of the court and council have been elected as follows: Judge of the court, Philip Chevalier; Boys' Town attorney, James Thompson; defence counsel, Michael McCabe; court recorder, Harvey McNeely; chief of police, William Laing; sergeant of police, Gordon Bales; constables, Leo Turpin, Bobby Bruce Pollock and Reginald Pollock; mayor of Boys' Town, James Thompson; councillors, Richard Vanderburgh, Fred Hearns and Larry Sayers; town clerk, Harvey McNeely.

The following by-laws have been passed:

A boy should look after public and private property; should obey his superiors; attend all meetings if possible; help all those who need help; attend church or Sunday school regularly; play games fairly.

A boy should not speak or make a noise when a leader is speaking; he should not smoke, swear, steal, tell lies, be cruel to animals, fight in school or in the streets because all quarrels are to be settled in Boys' Town, bully other boys, nor be a public nuisance.

At the close of meetings, which are conducted by the mayor, the boys gather in age groups for sports. They are being trained in gymnastics, boxing and games of all kinds under competent leadership. There are no fees and every boy in the community is invited to attend.

TRADE MARK REG'D

In countless Canadian households the wearing of Stanfield's Underwear has come to be something of a tradition, dating back forty, fifty or sixty years.

It's not surprising when you consider that Stanfield's has been known for more than sixty years as the underwear that always fits smoothly and comfortably . . . is always soft, warm and durable . . . and never shrinks. Ask for Stanfield's in your favourite type—combinations or shirts and shorts, in a wide range of styles and weights.

STANFIELD'S Unshrinkable UNDERWEAR

Evidence Given In Civil Case Is Contradictory

Thursday the defence took the stand in the action for damages being heard in Supreme Court between Marguerite L. Buck, Morrow St., plaintiff and Earl G. Mitchell, Smith township, defendant. The Hon. Mr. Justice Genest is presiding at the present non-jury sitting.

Mr. Mitchell said he was driving home from the Club Aragon shortly after midnight on Sept. 7, 1947 on his way into Peterborough. He started down an incline and when nearly at the bottom, he said, he ran into a dense fog which almost completely obscured his vision.

He told the Court that he did not see where the fog came from and before he could do more than take his foot off the accelerator he felt the impact of a collision with some object which he could not identify.

According to his evidence, he and three passengers in his car went back after he stopped the car to investigate.

Bruce Tetu, Ottawa, one of the passengers—all of whom were fellow-bandsmen with Mitchell at the Club Aragon—said that when he went back to see what happened he saw Alton Clark, Miss Buck's escort, dragging her from the roadway.

Donald Freeman, Ottawa, stated that he saw Miss Buck lying on the road when he first went back to investigate, and after he had collected a few objects from Miss Buck's purse which had been scattered on the road, she had been moved to the nearby dirt footpath.

All three witnesses testified that there was a fog, that Mitchell was not going more than 25 miles an hour and that he did not run off the paved surface of the road.

Mr. Clark was once more called by the plaintiff's solicitor, W. J. Arthur Fair, and he said that he did not move Miss Buck from the place she was lying when the police and ambulance arrived.

Two Stories

In his evidence on Wednesday afternoon Mr. Clark said that he was walking on the road a few feet behind Miss Buck who was walking on the dirt path several feet to the right of the highway.

PC Harold Mesley said that when he arrived 15-20 minutes after the accident he saw no fog and Miss Buck was lying clear of the highway. He also testified that Mr. Clark had told him they were both walking on the travelled portion of the highway—he on the outside.

Dr. H. M. Yelland, who examined Miss Buck in April, on behalf of the defence, said, "I didn't find any evidence of the usual disabilities as a result of a motor accident."

Mr. Fair, in cross examination, elicited the admission that a doctor could not determine whether there was a pain in a patient's back by a physical examination. Mr. Fair suggested that the same would be true of a knee injury, but Dr. Yelland would not agree.

Expert medical evidence on Miss Buck's behalf was given on Wednesday afternoon.

The case for the defence closed at noon. Final arguments were heard later Thursday.

A. J. Sneath, KC, represented the defendant.

Governor-General Sends Appreciation

"Grateful appreciation of the kind hospitality shown to Their Excellencies on their visit to Peterborough, Thursday, Nov. 25", was conveyed to the city council Wednesday night in a letter from the secretary to the Governor-General, Viscount Alexander.

The Governor-General was impressed with the timing of the program, which did not give Their Excellencies any impression that the various items were being crowded.

BOVINE GUEST—Daisy, a Waterloo County Holstein, was guest of honor at a town and country dinner in Kitchener this week. Government officials, service club members, and leading agriculturists attended the banquet marking the setting of a world's record for milk and butterfat production by Daisy. More formally known as Rag Apple Achilles Daisy, the guest of honor is shown with, LEFT to RIGHT: Orton Bowman, assistant herdsman; Douglas Frees, herdsman; and Albert Seiling of Elmira, the owner, who holds a cane presented to him during the dinner. Daisy's record was 30,328 pounds of milk and more than 1,100 pounds of butterfat in one year.

$1,397.85 for Parsonage Renovations at Millbrook

MILLBROOK, Dec. 3.—(ENS).—The parsonage of St. Andrew's United church which has been renovated at a cost of $1,000, was inspected by the women of the congregation of Cavan and Millbrook on Wednesday. The work was carried out under the auspices of the Women's Association.

Renovations already complete include the cleaning and re-decoration of the two vestibules; a hardwood floor laid on the east hall on the ground floor; papering and painting of the halls on two floors; enlargement and remodeling of the bathroom, new congoleum laid on the floor and painting and papering of the walls of the kitchen and new eavetroughing.

Mrs. P. I. Bentley, convener of the parsonage committee, conducted seventy guests on their tour of inspection. The Rev. G. C. R. and Mrs. McQuade and Mrs. A. R. Payne, W.A. president, received, and afternoon tea was served during a social hour. Mrs. Gordon Baker and Mrs. Lawrence Winslow contributed songs, accompanied by Miss Augusta Clarry, who also played a selection of piano solos.

The "open house" was preceded by the regular WA meeting, when last year's slate of officers was returned to office for another terms, two years being the length of service one member may hold office. Officers were: President, Mrs. A. R. Payne; vice-presidents, Mrs. G. Baker, Mrs. H. R. Edmunds, and Mrs. F. P. Stinson; secretary, Mrs. L. Winslow; treasurer, Mrs. J. McKnight; pianist, Mrs. J. H. Barringer.

The Christmas story, "Once the Babe, Always the Master," was the worship theme. Mrs. D. L. Lunn read the lesson from St. Matthew's gospel, Mrs. E. Ball gave a talk and led the prayers, and Christmas hymns were sung.

The treasurer reported a profit of $174.00 from the recent bazaar. Total receipts for the year were $690.95 and expenditures included $1,397.85 for the parsonage renovation. Since Cavan and Millbrook are now one circuit, the W.A. at the former church may pay 25 per cent of the parsonage accounts. This, however, lay within their own jurisdiction. Mrs. Bentley explained that there is still a hot water heater to be installed in the furnace, the roof had to be repaired and the outside of the building would probably be painted in the spring.

Miss J. Sutton, Mrs. Stinson and Mrs. Ball formed the committee to look after Christmas cheer baskets and cards for sick and shut-in members of the congregation. Mrs. Payne was thanked for the excellent service she has given during her term of office. Soon after she became chairman a number of outstanding bills had been paid.

Ordered To Deliver Car

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 3.—(AP).—Judge Luther Manship Thursday ordered a Jackson automobile dealer to deliver a new car to a butcher who has been waiting for it since 1945. The butcher, A. M. Berryhill, said he put up a $25 deposit to get his name on a waiting list. Records of the agency, subpoenaed by the court, showed that more than 600 cars had been sold since Berryhill deposited the $25 three years ago.

Wedding Presentation

DOWNEYVILLE, Dec. 3.—(ENS).—Friends and neighbors met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murtha to make a presentation to their son, Ray, who is to be married to Miss Patricia Fountain, of Orillia. An address was read and at midnight a lunch was served by Mrs. Murtha and helpers. The groom-to-be invited all to visit his birde and himself in their new home after their wedding.

Forrestal Says U.S. Must Give More Equipment

NEW YORK, Dec. 3—(AP)—Defence Secretary Forrestal on Wednesday night said the United States must supply western Europe with "a generous measure of equipment" to support the common defence plans of five countries.

Such aid is necessary to give meaning to the Brussels treaty—signed by Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—Forrestal said at the annual dinner of the English-speaking union.

Forrestal presumably meant military equipment, but he did not say so specifically.

Recalling that objectives of the Brussels treaty are being developed under direction of Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery into plans for concerted action for the common defence of the five countries, Forrestal declared:

"To make these plans meaningful, however, a generous measure of equipment will have to be given to western Europe, for these people cannot prosper while they live in fear of their lives."

United Front

Alluding to the possibility of a North Atlantic pact linking the Brussels signatories with the United States and Canada, Forrestal said:

"Here, across the Atlantic, conversations between the United States and Canada give promise of a united front in the new world. Should these conversations result in similar regional guarantees for the North Atlantic, we shall give good heart to the nations of western Europe and aid them in their recovery."

British Ambassador Sir Oliver Franks, guest of honor at the dinner, said the English-speaking countries must show the world that democracies can be "stable, prosperous, strong and offer a fuller and better life to their citizens than any totalitarian state could provide."

Great Lakes Ships Set Record For '48

By The Canadian Press

Great Lakes freighters which cleared from the lakehead this week on their final trips of this season may have set a world's record for grain shipping in a single day.

Tuesday was the day the great exodus from the twin ports of Fort William and Port Arthur reached its peak. And on that day, statistics of the Lake Shippers' Clearance Association show, 27 grain-carrying vessels moved 7,000,000 bushels.

The figures still are subject to check by the Board of Grain Commissioners but a variation of a few thousand bushels one way or the other would nevertheless leave the day's shipping volume well ahead of the previous mark set 20 years ago. On Nov. 29, 1928, freighters carried away 6,344,808 bushels from the lakehead's huge elevators.

Departures from the lakehead took on urgency as the deadline for summer insurance rates for inland navigation was reached. Effective Wednesday, insurance rates covering marine shipments will increase progressively until Dec. 12 when coverage for lake freighters will be cancelled.

Shoe Dealers Crying For Snow, Slush

Believe it or not, but there is one commodity which is cheaper than it was last year. Rubbers and galoshes have been reduced in price about 10 per cent. This is due to the decrease in demand for rubber products for war usage.

Everyone is happy about the bright sunny weather of late but the shoe store managers. They have large stocks of winter footwear but the weatherman isn't cooperating. One manager said the first snowfall would send the people flocking to them. But Mother Nature has yet to produce that requirement.

There is no scarcity of rubber footwear. New men's rubbers are on the market. These rubbers are lighter and fit tighter on the shoes. Also the dust which collects in the old type rubber can be eliminated as the new type can be reversed and washed. New on the market this year is an all-rubber ladies' flight boot.

Lakefield Rink Nearing Completion Canvass Peterborough Firms For Funds

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 3—(Staff)—Progress on the new Lakefield and District Memorial Arena — structurally and financially — is now in the final stage. A gang of workers is busy on the big new rink and completion date expected in a few weeks.

Of the needed $26,000, well over 80 per cent. is now assured the committee in charge. About $3,000 is yet to be collected in pledges, which are being brought in now. The new government grant of $5,000 has been definitely earmarked for the Lakefield project. The recent draw for a new car netted about $1,350 for the drive. Largest single contribution to date has been $2,000 from the Grove School at Lakefield.

Canvassing and mail solicitations are now going on aimed at firms in Peterborough and the committee reports that many are contributing.

"We do not expect as heavy donations to our rink as to their own," explained Lakefield Reeve William C. Grant, "but Lakefield residents have given generously to their Community Centre and Civic Arena and we feel we can expect a return of that expression of goodwill. The response has indicated that we will."

Canada Wasting Timber Resources Chamber Of Commerce Warned

A warning against the ultimate effects of government control was given on Thursday night by R. A. Bryce, Toronto, first vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce. He was addressing a large group of the Peterborough Chamber's members at the quarterly dinner meeting held in the Empress Hotel.

"We've got to do things ourselves, not let the government do them," he stated, "ultimately they'll be doing everything. We don't like a lot of things they're doing now and we'll like it even less in the future."

"Everybody is talking of security these days," he said. "They run to the government, but they can't give us anything. After all it's your money they're using."

"Taxes are such these days that the government has not the money to provide for all these amenities," he observed. "The corporations must be a little more generous, of course, but the government still hasn't the money."

At the beginning of his address he praised the progress of the Peterborough Chamber—particularly the reported increase of nearly 200 members this year. And he was of the opinion that Peterborough was fortunately located.

"You are situated in the middle of the farming country," he said. "You have dairying and diversified manufacturing industries to take you over the bad times, if and when they occur."

He outlined in brief the extent of Canada's natural resources, inserting throughout his address personal reminiscences. During his career as a consulting mining engineer and as an executive of several large mining companies he has travelled in every part of Canada including Newfoundland.

Worked in Labrador

In 1900 he first went to the West on a railway survey and later, he said, he worked in the coal mines of Cape Breton and still later in the iron mines of Newfoundland

"Canada is a wonderful country" was the theme of his address. Mr. Bryce said he was one of the original syndicate that started work in the iron fields of Labrador. "It has the earmark of having the largest iron deposits in America," the speaker observed. "And I mean America, because South America has some good deposits too."

Next he mentioned Canada's gold resources, particularly those in the Yellowknife country. And he said that the Canadian government should increase the price of gold.

"If we get the price of gold which we're looking for, it won't be the Canadian government giving it, but world conditions," he stated.

Rich In Oil

On the suoject of oil he remarked, "I think that the oil in Alberta is beyond our greatest dreams and expectations." The new fields where drilling is now taking place reveal all the symptoms of other great sources, he said. It is found in the Devonian rock structure a form of limestone, similar to the fields in Pennsylvania and Texas.

"It is possible that there is oil from the American boundary to the Arctic," he said "It is a tremendous thing for Canada and Alberta.

"We have great timber resources but we are using them badly," Mr. Bryce continued. "Some pulp and paper companies are stripping the country. I feel they should be made to replant."

"Resources such as timber were given to us by good fortune, he contended, and he felt that it was the duty of this generation to ensure that they were not wasted but would "continue more or less for ever, as in Norway and Sweden."

He cautioned his audience not to believe the observation that there are unlimted waterpower resources in Ontario and Quebec And if the wasting of timber continues the situation will become worse.

"I doubt if there is any more place for development in Ontario and few in Quebec," he said.

This country was developed by our ancestors through private enterprise, Mr. Bryce stated.

"They gave it to us," he continued. "We are trustees in this country of ours and we must pass it along as good or better than we found it . . It means more and harder work but we will get the satisfaction out of it as a job well done."

He listed these accomplishments for free enterprise in Canada and the United States: 7.6 per cent of the world's population; 46 per cent of the telegraph lines of the world; 35 per cent of the railroad mileage; 60 per cent of the oil; 34 per cent of the world's total production, and a telephone and auto for every four or five people.

"Free enterprise has given us the highest standard of living in the world," he said

The speaker was introduced by Blake Bell and thanked by Gordon Armstrong. Wilson Gemmell, president of the Peterborough Chamber was in the chair.

Gets 45-Year Term

WETUMPKA, Ala., Dec. 3—(AP)—An all-white Alabama jury sent a white man to prison for 45 years Thursday night for the rape of a young Negro woman. John C. Howard, Jr., 30, was found guilty of raping Melinda Jackson, 22, last April 25. The jury acted under the urging of Prosecutor Winston Huddleston that it decide the white man's fate "just like you would if a Negro was charged with raping a white woman."

Men Gasp ! !

The United States Department of Labor last week issued a report that caused American men to gasp unbelievingly. Its import: Men spend more on clothes than women.

They always have, the department maintained stoutly. In the 19th century they spent approximately $3 more a year than women. Owing to price increases and inflation, they now spend from $17 to $20 more.

That's what the department said.

British Designers Shorten Dresses Aimed for Export

LONDON, Eng. Dec. 3.—Forty-five of Britain's busiest fashion designers gambled against heavy odds last week to persuade the dressy woman to shorten her skirts.

In a swank Mayfair hotel they launched their spring and summer collections aimed at the export market. In almost everyone of the 125 ensembles displayed the skirts had risen two inches. The ballet skirt and the ballerina suit had vanished. The cumbersome fullness and the taffeta underskirts of the new look were replaced by pencil slimness and the customary silk underslip.

In the many coats and suits displayed in the show the classic-line was the best bet for smartness. Slender-waisted jackets with full but unexaggerated skirts; fullness at the knee level in many models; neat belted lines for country coats; slim high-waisted and empire lines for town; skirts plain in front, pleated at the sides or at the back; no hip padding, roll sleeves and modified dolman sleeves.

Emphasis on Coats

An outstanding coat was fashioned in gray showerproof cavalry drill. In thunder-gray and lined with gay scarlet tartan the tight waistbanded coat had matching hood which could be removed and hidden in the pocket on dry days.

Big loose-fitting swagger and travel coats fitted over tight-skirted suits.

Two lines of buttons formed a back interest on the jacket of one tweed suit. A tuxedo fronted jacket fitted over pencil slim skirt. In every ensemble the skirt length was about 14 inches from the ground.

Afternoon dresses featured slimmer silhouettes. Interest lay more to the back than the front or side. Accent was on three-quarter length sleeves with important cuffs—military, winged and buttoned back. Many dresses featured low filled-in necklines. One grosgrain dress reminiscent of the victorian portrait displayed a pleated net and lace fill-in

Empire Line For Evening

The Empire line highlighted the evening dresses. High-waisted gowns were shown in bronze colored taffeta, in an interesting use of south sea island cotton over taffeta.

Gabardine and whipcord are once more popular materials for spring and summer. Novelty diagonal tweeds and fine wool georgette for the cooler days; ahead; small shepherd plaid; grosgrain and petersham for afternoons; stiff satins and moires for evenings; new sophisticated cottons for days and evening.

Best bet for the spring: A red corduroy three-quarter length coat with high stand-up collar worn over a skin-tight black skirt, with button interest at the back hemline.

"BUTTONS AND BOWS" and frills and flowers—just like the hit-song pines for—naturally set the No. 1 theme for corsages and household floral decorations, too, for this winter holiday season. The "Buttons and Bows" corsage above, in carnations and sweetheart roses, is a big favorite.

DOROTHY DIX

Girls Should Rid Themselves Of Non-proposing Lotharios

DEAR MISS DIX: What do you think of a guy who doesn't want to get married, but who wants to monopolize a girl's time and who warns her not to be seen out with any other fellow? Do you think it is advisable for the girl to step out on him and go with other boys to places where he won't see her? Should she take his warning not to two-time him?

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: If you are not a simple Susan, you will not be foolish enough to waste any more of your time on a man who obviously is just making a convenience of you and who hasn't the faintest notion to marrying you. He is one of the Lotharios who belong to the deadbeat class of men who hang around pretty girls and make near-love to them, but who never pop the question.

All men like to have an attractive girl for a playmate. She is really a social necessity, for she opens many doors to them that would other wise be closed. Also, it gives them prestige among men, and they enjoy eating their girls' mothers' good cooking. And it flatters them to know that they can keep a girl on the anxious seat waiting for them to throw their handkerchiefs to her. But as for marriage, oh, la la, that's something else yet again.

No criminal in the world is crueler than the man whose attentions are without intentions; who wins a young girl's heart just to flatter his own vanity; who fills it so full of love for him that there is never any room in it for anyone else, and who keeps her waiting and waiting, while her youth and beauty fade, for the proposal that never comes.

Happens Often

And it happens so often. There are thousands upon thousands of lonely old maids who should have been happy wives and mothers, except that they waited in vain for the wedding ring that never materialized.

The moral of all of this is that girls should put a time limit on the dilatory lover, and that he should be made to either put up or shut up.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Is there anything worse in the world than a leech, or a nagger, or a perpetual talker? My wife and I have been married nine years and have been very happy until about five months ago when her sister came to live with us. She has a perpetual motion tongue and her one theme is her job. She has no other interest in life. When I come home tired and have to listen to her tell all about her work and about the lunch she ate—how many pies, carrots and what sized rolls she had and what butter she devoured—it makes me crazy. I have tried monologuing along about my job just to bore her as she does me, but in vain.

I am afraid I will have to tell her off some night, but I hate to hurt my wife.

DESPERATE

ANSWER: Science has perfected many marvelous inventions, but no one yet has discovered any way of gagging the perpetual talker. Probably there is no other pest in the world that is so afflicting as the man or woman who is enamoured of the sound of his or her own voice and who, like the brook, babbles on and on forever. And the terrible thing about the tongue-waggers is that they are so often our next of kin.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a boy 18 years old, very much in love with a girl but for some reason the bottom has dropped out of my dreams. My girl has suddenly asked me if she could go out with other boys for a few weeks. Of course, I didn't like the idea, but what could I say but yes?

It has been about a month now and she still doesn't want to go steady with me; but she says that she is very much in love with me and some day hopes to marry me. What should I do?

INA RUTT

ANSWER: I think the girl is showing her good sense and also giving you a break by calling off your youthful romance until you are old enough to know what it's all about. At 18 you are too young and immature to know what real love is, or what you would want in a life mate. Your taste and ideas change from day to and you should keep yourself free to make your decision until you have seen more of people and know more about life.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, December 4

It is probable that a very direct and vigorous attack upon static conditions or lagging interest may be speeded up to high degree and have rich and far-reaching results, although not without a modicum of danger. A too audacious effort, or pushing power beyond reasonable bounds could which could spell defeat. Exercise caution also in physical activities.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may feel an active and ardent urge to drive ahead on large objectives, in which long-range desires and plans may seem urgent. With push, concentrated effort, and calmly regulated enterprise and initiative, there may be stability, enduring returns or sound progress. But should such attempt be too strenuous, there is danger of defeat or some disagreeable denouement in which there might be misdirected plans, or even a phase of physical mishap. Remain calm and shun overbearing or too forceful deeds.

A child born on this day is likely to be quick and ardent in act and thinking, daring, self-reliant and aggressive, inciting lost energy and even physical harm.

Fashions

SOMETHING PRECIOUS

The newest style for your Angel Child. She'll just love the fashionable yoke effect at the waist, all gaily scalloped—and that adorable bow placed just so. Panties included in pattern.

Pattern 9156 sizes 2, 4, 6, 8, 10. Size 6 takes 2 yards 36-inch fabric.

This easy-to-use pattern gives perfect fit. Complete, illustrated Sew Chart shows you every step.

6—In Memoriams

DUNFORD—In olving memory of our dear Grandma, Mrs. Joseph Dunford, died December 9, 1944.
Many a lonely heartache
After a silent tear,
Always a beautiful memory
For the one we loved so dear
God gave us strength to fight it,
And courage to stand the blow,
But what it meant to lose you Grandma,
No one will ever know.
—Never to be forgotten by grandchildren Art, Garnet, Roxie Downer.

LAVERY—In loving memory of Mrs. Annie Lavery, who passed away 2 years ago today.
No one knows how much we miss her
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost you
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts, your memory lingers
Sweetly tender, fond and true.
There is not a day dear mother
That we do not think of you —Ever remembered by daughters, Pearl, Edith and Kay.

LAVERY—In loving memory of Mrs. Annie Lavery, who passed away 2 years ago today, December 3.
Gone dear Mother, gone forever
How we miss your smiling face
But you left us to remember
None on earth can take your place.
—Always remembered by daughter Alice and son-in-law, Earl Brown.

LAVERY—In loving memory of Mrs. Annie Lavery who passed away 2 years ago today, Dec. 3.
God called her home, it was His will
But in our hearts we love her still
Her memory is as dear today
As in the hour she passed away.
—Always remembered by her son and daughter-in-law, Harold and Bertha.

LAVERY—In loving memory of Mrs. Annie Lavery, who passed away 2 years ago today.
What would we give, her hand to clasp,
Her patient face to see;
To hear her voice, to see her smile,
As in the days that used to be.
But some sweet day we'll meet again
Beyond the toil and strife.
And clasp each other's hand once more
In Heaven that happy life.
—Ever remembered by her daughter Lilian and son-in-law Leo.

PARK—In loving memory of my dear daughter Muriel.
Four years have passed and gone,
Since one we loved so well,
Was taken from our home on earth,
With Jesus Christ to dwell.
The flowers we place upon her grave
May wither and decay,
But the love for her who sleeps beneath,
Shall never fade away.
—Sadly missed by Mother, son Georgie and family.

Richard Mercer Buried In Napanee Cemetery

A largely-attended funeral with many floral tributes was held on Wednesday at Trinity United Church, Napanee, for the victim of Sunday night's traffic fatality, Richard Mercer, 23, of 374 Grady Ave. The Rev. Noble Hatton, assisted by Mr. R. D. Ducett, officiated.

Pallbearers were Clarence and Verne Hughey, Emil Hawara, Laurie Fisher, Ray Snider and William Pringle, Honorary pallbearers and flower-bearers were Dougal Morrison, Arthur Jobe, Norman and Harry Hughey, Sandford Long, Chester Wannamaker, Fred Johnston and Stephen Spurrell. Burial was at Napanee Cemetery.

Besides relatives from Harrowsmith, Kingston, Roblin, Belleville, Toronto, Peterborough and many other places, there were more than 30 fellow employees from the CGE. Mr. Mercer had just completed his four - year apprenticeship as machine fitter with that company.

He was born in Botwood, Nfld., son of the late Edgar Mercer and Rebecca Sharp, and had lived in Napanee before coming to Peterborough in 1944. Enjoy Chicken Dinner

HASTINGS, Dec. 3—(ENS).—Over 200 people enjoyed a St. Andrew's Day chicken dinner with all the trimmings on Wednesday evening in the basement of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Albert Street.

Mr. J. Taylor played the piano, while Mrs. C. Dodd led in the singing of grace.

A unanimous vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Basil Johnson and her committee for their work in preparing and serving such a delicious dinner to so many people.

Drew Contrasts Two Principles

TORONTO, Dec. 3 — (CP)— George Drew, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, said Thursday night the line is being more and more sharply drawn between two diametrically opposed political principles.

Speaking over a national network, Mr. Drew said:

"On one side are those who believe that the highest purpose of government is the freedom of the individual and that this can best be assured by the unchallenged supremacy of the elected representatives of the people in parliament....

"On the other side are those who believe in an all-powerful state, planning and directing the affairs of all the people. The issue is between the true democracy and total state authority.

"The issue is clearly drawn in this country between the Progressive Conservative party and the National Socialist party, ordinarily referred to by the meaningless letters, C.C.F.....

"We are fighting for the freedom of the individual against the ever-increasing power of the state.

Club Members Say Boys' Town Active

Peterborough Optimist Club's Boys' Town at Trafalgar House, Nicholls Oval, has practically reached the completion stage. It is the result of many months of hard work by volunteer labor of club members. Although not the official opening, the club will hold its Dec. 13 meeting there at 6:30 p.m.

It is to be a social meeting and the banquet will consist of a turkey dinner with George Aboud acting as chef. The Opti-Mrs. will supply everything except the food items, and there will be card games, dancing and movies.

A governor's meeting was held on Thursday at Leo Edwards' house where executive business was discussed and many matters were settled. They found they were able to get a great deal more business done at these meetings than at regular club night banquets.

There has been a shuffling of membership during the past few weeks with some members dropping out of active affairs, and at the last regular meeting two new applications were started. Officials say the club is now in an active and sound position and that their future plans, mostly long-term projects built around their club slogan, "Friend of the Boy," will be carried out according to plan.

Collapses In Court In Perjury Hearing

TORONTO, Dec. 3 — (CP).— Mrs. Audrey Watt, 20, collapsed in court Thursday during hearing of perjury charges against James Craig, private detective, arising out of divorce actions.

Craig pleaded guilty to two charges and was remanded for sentence to December 9. He pleaded innocent to six other charges.

The pretty dress model fell headlong from the witness box during proceedings and struck her head on the floor. She lay sobbing until attendants helped her from the court.

She testified she had accepted money from Craig to fabricate evidnece of adultery with Craig's clients. The eight charges against Craig dealt with fabrication of evidence and inciting witnesses to collusive acts in connection with divorce cases.

11 Die In Blizzard

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Dec. 3—(AP)—Six survivors of the 17-man crew of the trawler Sargon from Grimsoy, England, said here Thursday 11 died in a blizzard Wednesday night off Patreksfjoerdur, on Iceland's northern coast. One was washed overboard and 10 perished from exhaustion and cold.

IT CAN'T BE OVERDONE

AMONG the few things that cannot be overdone is taking stock of your position, by counting winning and losing tricks. Still another is the giving of examples by someone trying to hammer the idea into your head. When you eventually get it clearly, you will find that it is more important than such things as willy-nilly favoring a longer suit, or the reverse, a more nearly solid suit, as a means of setting up trick-takers. The number surely in sight in the suits is the starting point of sound figuring.

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
3 NT

Winning the diamond J with the Q, South saw that "obviously the clubs are a better suit to set up than hearts, because I have the same number of each in my hand and there are two more clubs than hearts in the dummy."

So here's what happened. South finessed the club 10 to the J on the second trick, took the diamond 9 with his A, then led the club 5. Seeing West discard, he came in with the A and then changed plans since clubs could not establish. He came to his hand with the spade A and sent the heart J through. East let it win, then took the finesse of the heart Q with his K. The spade Q was returned to the K, but then South was through. When he lost the next trick, the spade 7 lead to the 9. East also scored the spade J and club K to beat him a trick.

Proper trick counting would have shown South three certain tricks in diamonds, two in spades and one in clubs. Only three more were required for his game. These three were absolutely certain in hearts, even with the finesse losing. Counting that way should have made it clear as crystal that hearts were his meat and clubs possible poison.

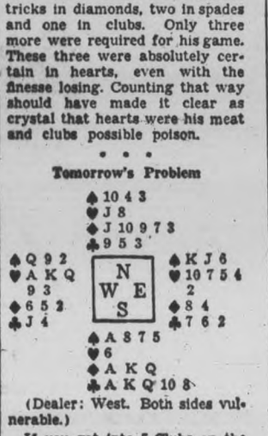
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

If you got into 5-Clubs on the South cards of this deal, how would you play after West leads the heart K and then the Q?

Witness Sees Policeman Taking Gas

Port Hope Sergeant Pleads Not Guilty; Remanded To Dec. 29

PORT HOPE, Dec. 4.—(ENS).—Albert Warren, former police sergeant of Port Hope, pleaded not guilty to theft of gasoline from the Diamond Taxi Company of Port Hope when he appeared in court Friday before Magistrate E. A. Gee, of Lindsay. Harry Deyman of Cobourg, acted for the Crown and Arthur Greer of Oshawa, for the defence. The case was laid over until December 29 after the Crown's evidence was in, and Warren's bail of $1,000 was renewed.

Warren was charged with theft of gasoline from the Diamond Taxi Co. on November 11, under the value of $25.

Evidence of the effect that they saw Warren take gas out of the taxi company's pump at the back of the establishment was given by Crown witnesses.

Charles Trenout, despatcher in the taxi office, said that around 8 p.m. on November 11, Warren came into the office and chatted awhile.

Saw Warren Take Key

"I was working on a crossword puzzle and the key to the gas pump was in the pigeon hole of the desk. When a driver wants to get gas he comes into the office, takes the key from the desk and gets the gas himself. The pump is outside at the back of the office. I saw Warren take the key and put it in his pocket.

He talked for a while then left with the key. Sergeant Warren returned some time later, I went around behind the desk for a coke and when I came back the gas pump key was in its place again. Mr. Greenaway (one of the firm's partners) came in and we went upstairs to the apartment over the office. I saw Warren come in from the lane and fill a can with gas from the pump. I could see the level in the glass top of the tank go down as the gas was taken out. Then he went out to the lane with the can." testified Trenouth. Witness explained that gas could be pumped in to the bowl even with the pump locked but that none could be taken out when it was locked. When he examined the pump later, it was locked but the gas level was low in the bowl.

William Greenaway, partner with William O'Neil in the taxi business, was not clear on the sequence of events that night but he recalled seeing Warren with the can taking gasoline from the pump Warren was there about ten minutes and he watched him from the apartment over the taxi office, he said. Witness added that Warren car was near the lane that ran back of the taxi office.

Watches From Window

"I watched Warren from my apartment window," testified Cecil McMahon. "He went into the woodshed and came out with a can and then went to the gas pump where he put gas into a can. I could see the gas level in the bowl go down and then he

'Quake Rocks Penal Colony, Many Lives Lost

MAZATLAN, Mexico, Dec. 4 — (AP) — An earthquake rocked Mexico's Maria Madre Island penal colony with destructive force late Friday. One man was reported killed and many injured.

Medical aid sped today to the island, the largest of the Islas Marias group. The group lies in the Pacific about 75 miles from the mainland and 130 miles south of Mazatlan.

A boat carrying doctors, nurses and medical supplies left this Pacific port at midnight. A squadron of seven army planes was ordered to fly there after dawn.

There was little possibility any of the 700 or so convicts escaped, but air crews were instructed to be on the lookout for boats leaving the island. The prisoners are lifers or long termsre.

Radio reports said the colony's electric power plant, a shoe shop, a furniture factory, a theatre and other buildings were demolished by a three-second shock at 6:34 p.m. The shock tumbled down many of the island's plaster and thatched-roofed homes.

Jose Antonio Baca, chief radio operator, was reported killed when the radio station caved in.

The radio transmission failed after a few details were given in emergency messages. Lack of lights prevented planes from landing on the island Friday night.

Santa Claus Racket

MONTREAL, Dec. 4—(CP)—Albert Miscoscia, said by police to have visited Montreal homes offering the service of a professional Santa Claus at Christmas and taking a cash deposit in advance, today faced charges of obtaining money by false pretences and attempting to bribe police officers.

British Plan On Palestine Narrowly Approved By UN

PARIS, Dec. 4—(AP).—The much-amended British proposal for conciliation of the Palestine problem was approved narrowly today in the United Nations Political Committee. The margin was far too narrow to assure its adoption by the General Assembly. The 58-member political committee approved the British resolution as a whole by a vote of 25 to 21, with nine abstentions and three members marked absent.

A two-thirds majority of those present and voting is necessary for approval in the General Assembly. Thus, if the non-voters remain the same, a switch of the six Soviet-bloc votes in the Assembly would give the American-supported British resolution a two-thirds majority of 31 to 15.

Strengthens Hand

Obviously, this places Russia in a strong bargaining position. Russia and her five satellites voted against the resolution in committee apparently because they opposed the way in which a three-nation conciliation commission for Palestine would be chosen.

The committee decided to place selection of the commission in the hands of the Big Five Powers—Britain, the United States, Russia, France and China. Russia wants the commission named by the Security Council where the big-power veto prevails.

The British resolution would set up the three-power commission to adjust outstanding differences between Jews and Arabs in the Holy Land.

Some delegates attributed the closeness of the political committee vote to a last-minute Canadian amendment which provided for a sub-committee of the Big Five Powers to select the conciliation commission. The Big Five committee would work under the Assembly rules without a veto, and could name the three Conciliation Commission countries by a simple majority vote

Canada Clashes With Australia

PARIS, Dec. 4—(CP)—Canada and Australia clashed sharply today in the political committee of the United Nations General Assembly over the appointment of a Palestine conciliation commission.

The verbal clash between L. B. Pearson, Canada's external affairs minister, and Australia's John D. L. Hood was believed by diplomatic observers to reflect a growing conflict of opinion between the two Commonwealth countries over U.N. policies. These differences never have been stated publicly but diplomats of both countries have privately acknowledged that there is such a conflict.

Basis of the disagreement today was Australia's long-standing contention that the big powers play too large a part in framing U.N. policies.

Specifically, Hood was objecting to a Pearson proposal that the three-member conciliation commission should be chosen by the big five—the United Kingdom, Russia, China, France and the United States—acting as a committee of the assembly.

Evatt Asks Balkans Accept Mediation Plan

PARIS, Dec. 4—(AP).—President H. V. Evatt of the United Nations General Assembly has asked Bulgaria and Albania to accept the UN Balkan mediation plan, it was learned today.

A high Greek official said the plan, intended to settle Greece's border difficulties with her Communist neighbors, is acceptable to Greece and Yugoslavia.

He said the plan contains a schedule of agreements by which future frontier incidents would be solved quickly. A four-power conciliation commission might be created.

Search Lake Michigan For Plane Wreckage

CHICAGO, Dec. 4 (AP).—Airplanes and boats searched Lake Michigan over a 50-mile area on Friday night after reports of plane crashes in the lake.

No wreckage was found and no planes in the Chicago area were reported missing.

The reports of planes crashing, some of them aflame, came from persons at suburban Waukegan and at three separate points along the lake in Chicago.

W. M. Percy, United States weather forecaster, said the reports may have been by observers who confused the flow of numerous meteors with the lights of airplanes. Officials at the Yerkes Observatory at Williams Bay, Wis., said a meteor was sighted in the southwest sky Friday night.

A coastguard boat from Kenosha, Wis., searched the area near Waukegan and boats from the Chicago station hunted along the lake shore in Chicago but found no indications of a plane crash.

War Refugees Fleeing Reds Aboard Boat

Worse Than Titanic As Steamer Sinks Just Outside Shanghai

SHANGHAI, Dec. 4 — (AP)—More than 3,000 Chinese fleeing war-torn Central China were believed today to have perished when an overloaded ship exploded and sank just outside of Shanghai. An estimated 4,000 refugees were aboard the small vessel, the China Merchant Kiangya, when it blew up amidship late last night and sank within a few minutes near the mouth of the Yangtze river

Rescue craft bringing survivors to Shanghai during the day were reported to have picked up less than 700. Some sources reported no more than 400 survived the disaster in the frenzied exodus from Shanghai and Nanking. Both cities are menaced by Chinese communist armies now engaged in critical battles less than 200 miles northwest of Nanking

(If the death toll is confirmed, it will be the worst marine disaster in modern history. The loss would be about twice the 1,517 who perished when the Titanic went down in 1912.)

The steamship had sailed from Shanghai en route to Ningpo, about 200 miles south of here. It was jammed with Shanghai and Nanking residents attempting to reach the relative safety of Chekiang province.

Thousands Crowd On

A company spokesman said the Kiangya's capacity was 1,186 passengers. However, thousands of refugees had swarmed aboard on each of the ship's trips in recent weeks despite efforts to hold a safety limit.

The spokesman said the vessel had carried at least 4,000 passengers on each of its previous trips, and that there were at least that many aboard this time.

Survivors, some of whom were injured, reported that the ship went down shortly after a tremendous explosion. One survivor said it might have been sabotage, because he noticed two junks passing the stern of the ship a few minutes earlier.

He said they might have loosed a mine. Shipping men were inclined to blame over-strained boilers for the blast.

The ship's wireless was unaccountably out of commission, and its plight was not learned until a passing coastal vessel sighted the smoking ship.

Still Seeking Driver's Body

TORONTO, Dec. 4 (CP)—The search continued today for a missing Toronto truck driver and for a man in a brown suit, the last person believed to have seen him.

Police said they were convinced 36-year-old Robert Thompson had been murdered and that his body probably would be found off a side-road between Toronto and Oshawa, 25 miles east of here.

From sketchy details, police put together this much:

Thompson made deliveries Thursday for the cash register firm he worked for and then apparently left to pick up his wife in Toronto's east-end.

He stopped at a hotel for pint of beer. The waiter, who knew Thompson, said he was accompanied by a man in a brown suit.

The Civic Hospital Bylaw

On Monday, December 6, the ratepayers of the city of Peterborough are being asked to vote $1,500,000 to complete the new Civic Hospital. The Examiner is publishing these questions and answers in support of the bylaw:

Ques.: What will this cost the average Peterborough property owner in taxes?

Ans.: Half the property taxes are paid by business and industry which means only about 50 per cent. of the additional cost will have to be paid by home owners. This should work out as follows: The cost of carrying additional hospital debentures for 1½ million and amortizing them over a 20-year period will add approximately 3 mills to the tax rate. As the average assessment for residential property is around $2,200, this means that the average cost to the average residential taxpayer will be about 12c a week or less than 2c per day.

Sentences Reduced

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 4 (AP).—Twelve Illinois convicts have won reduced prison sentences because they voluntarily became malaria fever victims in a wartime experiment. Their sentences were reduced as a reward for their participation in what medical investigators described as highly successful experiments with a new drug.

Red Pressure Has Eased On Nanking Line

NANKING, Dec. 4 — (AP)—Chinese communist pressure eased abruptly today on Nanking's new defence line 100 miles north of the capital.

Communist Gen. Chen Yi's East China armies were reported to have turned north to meet the threat of 250,000 government troops marching down from the abandoned bastion of Suchow.

Government military quarters predicted the ensuing battle south of Suchow would settle the fate of Eastern China. Unless sizeable segments of the Suchow troops fight free of the massive communist trap, the government will be hard pressed to hold the new line.

Where the Suchow force is now is not exactly known. It last was reported about 60 miles north of this line and running into stiff resistance.

But it at least had given the thin ranks of troops holding the defence line a breathing spell, and time to consolidate it.

Chen's veterans have been hammering at a 10-mile salient on the north bank of the Hwai River. The new line lies on the south bank of the river.

Only communist holding forces now appear opposite the government lines. They are there to keep the nationalists from trying to lunge north and close the gap between them and the Suchow forces.

The government, while it is bringing up more troops from its Central China base of Hankow, does not seem to have the manpower to drive north from the Hwai to the relief of the trapped forces.

General Arrested

SHANGHAI, Dec. 4 —(CP)—The Chinese press reported tonight the government arrest of Gen. Wei Li-Huang, nationalist commander-in-chief in Manchuria, the vast northern territory which fell to the Chinese communists.

Shanghai newspapers said Wei was arrested in Canton Wednesday following an order by president Chiang Kai-Shek for an investigation of Wei's alleged failure to carry out Nanking's orders.

Wei, a veteran of the wartime Burma campaign, once was known as "the ever victorious general." He is charged with delay in carrying out orders for withdrawal from Manchuria, with a crushing defeat resulting.

Hint No Cure Likely For King

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 — (CP)—The New York Times says today in a London dispatch that Buckingham Palace made no comment on a statement by Prime Minister Chifley of Australia that the King's doctors realize a complete cure of His Majesty's ailment is not likely.

The Australian department of information had announced that Chifley said the King's doctors were more hopeful now than when they announced the King was suffering from a condition described as "intermittent claudication," or lameness in his legs, the dispatch adds.

HUNTSVILLE, Dec. 4—(CP).—Police here said Friday a .32-calibre revolver was found near the body of FO. James Cruikshank, 23, of Hamilton, killed by a bullet through the head. His body was found Wednesday in a lonely hunting cabin eight miles south of here by a fellow RCAF officer. A coroner said Friday no inquest would be necessary.

Gardiner Will Announce Food Contracts At Conference Next Week

Farm Delegates Holding Annual Parley Will Hear Discussion On International Agriculture Situation

OTTAWA, Dec. 4—(CP).—Canadian farmers who earned about $400,000,000 by selling food to Britain this year may learn the fate of the Anglo-Canadian food contracts Monday. Agriculture Minister Gardiner says he will make an announcement on the contracts for wheat, bacon, cheese and eggs "next week" when the delegates to the seventh annual Dominion-Provincial agriculture conference gather in Ottawa.

The conference will open Monday with an address by Mr. Gardiner. He will lead off discussions on the international situation affecting Canadian agriculture.

His announcement will break the long-standing official silence on how the behind-the-curtain negotiations for the 1949 food contracts have been progressing.

In an interview Friday night Mr. Gardiner said prospects for Canada selling large supplies of food to the United Kingdom in 1949 appear "bright."

Previous reports were that because of her lack of dollars, the United Kingdom might slice her food contracts with Canada.

Britain, at the same time, asked the Dominion to unfreeze the $235,000,000 part of the Canadian loan to Britain which Canada withheld last spring when her own dollar status showed signs of deterioration.

There still is no word on what Canada plans to do about the loan, although at one time a cabinet source had said Canada will release the frozen part of the loan if Britain continues to provide Canada with a good portion of British markets.

Targets for Canada's production in 1949 will be discussed at the three-day agricultural conference which begins Monday.

Recommendations which the conference may make will be considered later by the cabinet.

French Program May Snag Ruhr Production

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP).—A new French program threatened today to snag carefully-laid British-American plans for boosting production in Germany's Ruhr industries.

The French proposal, presented at the State Department here Friday, calls for "lasting" international supervision over German coal, iron and steel output.

That seemed certain to clash with the American view that the Gemans will produce more if they have sole power to manage their own industries. The only safeguard proposed in the British-American plan would be western control over distribution of Ruhr products.

French Ambassador Henri Bonnet, who submitted the French program to State Undersecretary Lovett in what he called a "very serious" note, criticized the American position sharply when he spoke to reporters later.

The program Bonnet presented would set up an international Ruhr by merely controlling distribution of the Ruhr factories is "true window dressing," he said.

The program Bonnet presented would set up an international Ruhr authority—minus Russia — which would have the right to:

1. Decentralize German industry by breaking up the complicated German cartels and holding companies which fed Hitler's war machine.
2. Oust all "Nazis" from positions of importance in the Ruhr industries.
3. Control production and development of these industries and guide investment of profits.

Quadruplets Born To German Woman

HANOVER, Dec. 4 — (AP). — Girl quadruplets born to Frau Mathilde Haug last Tuesday night will celebrate future birthdays in different months. Two of them arrived late on Nov. 30. The other two early Dec. 1.

Doctors said all four are doing well today. They weighed a total of 12 pounds at birth. The Haugs have two other children, a daughter and son. The father is a tailor.

British Tourist Industry Asks Longer Drinking Hours

LONDON, Dec. 4.—(Reuters.)—The government is being pressed by the tourist industry to help the drive for dollars by extending the legal hours for alcoholic drinking.

This year's tourist season made record dollar earnings, but travel agencies report that overseas visitors were critical of the restricted drinking hours. These, in most cases, are from 11.30 a.m. to 3 p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 10.30 p.m.

The government may examine the proposal before Parliamen's second reading of the new licensing bill, due before Christmas.

Any extension of the drinking hours would invite a large-scale clash with temperance and religious interests.

Parliament itself has a group of about 50 temperance members who would head the resistance of any extension. They are already formulating demands for a system of local option in England and Wales which would permit local areas to decide, on plebiscite, whether they wish to remain "wet" or go completely "dry."

This system already operate in Scotland.

The government, encouraged by the 1948 tourist season in which the Olympic games and the Scottish musical festival swelled hard-currency earnings, is anxious to expand it to the utmost.

There is a large body of opinion in Britain which would welcome the longer "continental" drinking hours. Many people contend that longer hours, by promoting more leisurely drinking habits, actually reduce drunkenness.

Reserve Army Officers Ask Selective Training Plan

OTTAWA, Dec. 4 (CP)—An important group of reserve army officers is calling for immediate introduction of "selective training" in the reserve army as a step "vital to the security of Canada."

The Conference of Defence Associations approved unanimously yesterday a committee report which recognized "substantial deficiencies" in the facilities the army has to train conscripted manpower but recommended selective training within the facilities that are available.

A spokesman interpreted the resolution to mean that the delegates, some 50 of them ranging from major-general to lieutenant-colonel in rank, want reserve units filled up whether it is done by draft, ballot or other means.

The resolution said "the present system of production of manpower for the reserve force has proven singularly inadequate." (Present strength is 35,000 men.)

". . . any system of compulsory service or training necessarily involves that the army is capable of training, administering, equipping and accommodating the men and at this time substantial deficiencies exist in these categories. Your committee feels, however, that the problem is of such vital and insistent importance that an immediate start should be made to remedy the manpower deficiencies within the existing facilities."

The conference, a civilian body composed of former wartime army officers, represents 12 army associations, such as the Armored Corps Association and similar bodies.

Chairman of the organization is Brig. H. M. Elder of Montreal.

Cost Of Living Index Halted After 21 Months

OTTAWA, Dec. 4 (CP) —The consumer had his first good news on prices in 21 months today.

He learned the cost of living had stopped climbing after an uninterrupted ascension since January of 1947.

However, there was no assurance that inflation was at an end, and government officials advised against buyers throwing their hats in the air.

An October drop in food costs accounted wholly for the cost-of-living index having been stopped at Nov. 1. There was no assurance this drop was to continue. Other cost-of-living components were still on the way up.

The Nov. 1 index as announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics stood at 159.6——exactly the same as at Oct. 1. The base of 100 is the 1935-39 average.

While checked in its rise, the index is still far above last year. A year previous to Nov. 1, it had been 16 points lower. In the last pre-war month of August, 1939, it had been 58.3 points below the Nov. 1 figure.

October decreases in the prices of meats and vegetables brought the indicator down at Nov. 1, overbalancing an increase in egg prices to carry the general food price index down 205.4 at Oct. 1 to 204.7.

This drop exactly matched increases in the other living cost components of home furnishings and services, clothing, fuel and light and miscellaneous.

Find Secret Code In Pumpkin

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—(AP).—Midget films of secret State - Department papers, pulled from a pumpkin by an admitted former Communist agent, have suddenly set the Communist spy hunt going again in the United States Congress. The House of Representatives un-American activities committee took to the radio and telephone to round up members for more hearings.

From Whittaker Chambers, a magazine editor who says he used to be a Communist courier, the committee got more documents to add to those produced from microfilms he had in a hollow pumpkin on his Westminster, Md., farm.

Representative Karl Mundt (Rep., SA), a committee member, said the microfilms alone provide "definite proof" of the existence of "one of the most extensive espionage rings in the history of the United States.

The State and Justice Departments had no immediate comment.

Ordered to Get Films

Robert E. Stripling, chief committee investigator, related how a subpoena was served on Chambers Thursday ordering him to produce the microfilms and to turn up at the new hearing that are being planned.

He said Chambers led two committee investigators to his Maryland farm where the microfilms were cached in a hollowed-out pumpkin kept behind the house.

Friday, he said, more documents were obtained from Chambers. Stripling wouldn't discuss their significance. Nor would he say where the committee got its tip that Chambers had the 10-year-old microfilms. Apparently, he said, documents were slipped out of the State Department, copied on the film, and then returned.

By enlarging the films, the committee has built up a stack of hundreds of documents three or four feet high.

Stripling said the microfilms would have made it easy to break an American code.

Chambers testified at the committee's spy hearings last summer that he was in the underground for several years before breaking with the Reds in 1938.

Grease Ignites Kitchen Scorched

A pot of grease that ignited on a gas burner in the kitchen shed of Mrs. Roy Pilling resulted in about $100 damage to the walls and ceiling.

Mrs. Pilling had left the pot of grease on the burner to cook when she left the room which is a former verandah covered in to form a kitchen. During her absence the pot boiled over and the contents ignited.

Flames soon spread to the walls and ceiling and firemen were called. The blaze was soon extinguished but not until about $100 damage had been caused.

Junior Champions Are Entertained

King George Home and School Association entertained 43 boys and their fathers of both Junior and Senior Inter-School Softball teams on Friday evening at Mark Street United Church parish hall. They were welcomed at the banquet table by vice-principal of King George School, Earl Druery. H. O. Anderson proposed a toast to Junior team, who are champions this year.

Douglas Ash, captain of the Juniors, responded to the toast and Mrs. Blake Bell, president of the King George Home and School Association, presented them with crests. Douglas Ash again thanked the association for the banquet and for the crests.

Principal C. D. Munro of King George School introduced the speaker of the evening Wilmot B. Gordon who spoke on progress in recreation in the city over the past two years. In conclusion, he presented a trophy donated to the Junior champions, donated by his father, the Hon. G. N. Gordon, KC. He was thanked by Clayton Bullock and R. L. Hale, at the conclusion of the program, thanked the ladies of the association for their effort in staging the evening for the boys. The Rev. A. M. Partridge, pastor of Mark Street United Church, welcomed the gathering at the parish hall.

Stole Binoculars

Cecil Larabie, Ottawa, now working in Peterborough, was today given two years' suspended sentence for theft of binoculars from Hilliard Crowe.

Larabie pleaded guilty to the offence but said he had been drinking and his taking the binoculars was unintentional. As Crown Attorney McElderry was satisfied with a suspended sentence, Magistrate Philp put the accused on his good behaviour for two years.

HEAVY FOG AGAIN

Heavy fog again blanketed the Peterborough area on Friday night. It slowed traffic on the highways by reducing visibility in some places to less than 100 feet. By about 8.30 today it had begun to lift and the sun was shining through giving the appearance of a dull orange plate. Another fog wave then descended on the downtown section of city, once more reducing visibility to half a block and forcing cars to drive slowly with their lights on. A few minutes later the wave passed.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Dec. 4 — (CP)— Grain prices showed a steady tone in quiet trade on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, with oats prices ranging ¾ cent higher to unchanged at the close; barley prices unchanged to ¼ higher; and rye prices one to 1⅛ cents higher. The quiet trade reflected the official close of the lakehead navigation season. Shippers and American houses were fair buyers of both oats and barley Offerings appeared at the top levels, but prices of both grains generally showed a firm undertone at the close. Shippers and American interests also were active purchasers of rye.

took the can and disappeared around the corner."

Chief of Police C. W. Graham told the court that he received a call in connection with the gasoline and that Warren later walked to the police station. Warren's car was parked north of it. Chief Graham met him and the two walked over to where Warren's car was parked. A short time before he had checked the car from outside with his flashlight and noticed a can on the floor, back of the driver's seat.

"At my request he opened the car door and on the rear floor was a two gallon can full of gasoline. I called Constable Smith and told him to drive Warren to Warren's home and that I would follow in my own car," Chief Graham said. Questioned by Mr. Greer, the witness said that there was no street light near the gas pump, but that the area could be illuminated by lights from nearby windows.

Told To Drive Home

Constable Bill Smith testified that he was called by Chief Graham and instructed by him to drive Warren home while the chief followed.

"While we were driving, Warren said to me 'they caught me stealing gas' and you're going with me to my house to get some stuff'," was the evidence of Constable Smith.

He was subjected to a rigid cross-examination by Mr. Greer and during the course of the questioning, he was asked when he made any revelation as to Warren's statement. Constable Smith said that he was not talking to Chief Graham the next two days as he didn't see him but that he told him about it on Monday at which time he revealed it to Inspector Alex McLeod of the CIB Toronto.

A Precious

The name Jesus would be familiar to him. It would mean Saviour. Christ would mean "The Anointed One" whom God would send endowed with special gifts of wisdom and power to enable the Jews to overthrow their enemies But there was a greater word added "The Lord". In the Greek translation the word Jehovah was translated "The Lord".

The Greek gentleman is faced with the problem. How can a Jew add to the divine name of God the word "The Lord Jesus Christ?" St. Paul as a devout Jew persecuted this sect for this very reason. But Jesus Christ met him at Damascus and he became convinced that He is indeed the Son of God in a mysterious sense of the word. This cost him friends and bitter persecution.

There is more in this verse. He sends salutation to both Jew and Greek. It was well known what a gulf there was between Jew and Gentile. The Jew looked upon himself as superior to both Greek and Roman. The greetings are typical. "Grace be unto you." Grace meant all the beauty of thought, language and manner which the cultivated Greek and Roman valued.

Peace. Palestine was a land which rarely knew peace. It was the centre of warring nations, east, south and north. Peace was a precious word to the thoughtful Jew. He could offer his friends no better wish than "Peace be unto you."

There is still more. Who is this Jesus Christ to whom is given the title of "The Lord"? He is placed on an equality with God; He is given the value of God. He is to the Christian the Saviour of mankind; the King of Kings; the Lord of Lords. Only those who have experienced His power to save can say with deep feeling and adoration—MY LORD AND MY GOD.

This is the Christmas Message. May this thought grip your mind and heart as you think of the happiness you hope to give yours and others.

THOU ART THE CHRIST, THE SON OF THE LIVING GOD.

He said he had learned this from officers in the British Headquarters in Berlin, where he visited in October as a member of the Empre Parliamentary Conference.

Try To Ban Sale Of Cigarettes

TORONTO, Dec. 4. — (CP).— Toronto police are going to try again to ban Sunday sale of cigarettes under an 89-year-old by-law, they warned Friday.

The Board of Police Commissioners revealed it had applied for a summons against the proprietress of an east-end store for selling cigarettes on Sunday. Police said it violated a by-law, passed in 1859, which prohibits offering for sale "goods, chattels, or other personal property" on Sunday.

During other police campaigns against Sunday cigarette sales, the courts have sometimes ruled the bylaw does not apply to cigarettes. In 1942, one merchant was acquitted three times.

Police Inspector Charles Greenwood said last night a liberal interpretation of Sunday selling bylaws permitted merchants with refreshment licenses to sell only things consumed on the premises. The Board said it would cancel the licenses of merchants who sold cigarettes on Sunday.

: : : the leaders in Canada's confederation movement met in London and argued a knotty problem: what to name the new nation. "Colony" fell far short of suiting the temper of Canadian thinking. It is recorded that Sir Leonard Tilley of New Brunswick finally pointed out the aptness of the biblical quotation:

"He shall have dominion also from sea to sea."

There is a lesson for every Canadian in this story from the past. By the very origin of the name, "Dominion" can never mean "domination." "Domination" would never be accepted by Canadians. But the Dominion of Canada is the Dominion of a free people . . . men and women who are privileged to express their will through the ballot box.

When YOU cast your secret ballot at every election—municipal, provincial, federal—you exercise a duty and privilege planned, worked, and fought for by your forefathers. Your vote protects the future of your children. To fail in this duty is to be less than a good citizen.

Lakefield Council Fixes Citizens' Meeting Dec. 13 Full Agenda Prepared

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 4 — (ENS) —The Village Council has decided to hold the citizens' meeting on December 13 in Memorial Hall. The agenda will include discussion on the park question, the removal of snow from the main street, the disposal of proceeds from the sale of the old rink and consideration of the use of land bylaw.

At the Village Council meeting Clerk Harry Hill read the correspondence, which included a receipt for the $1,300 paid for having the fire truck repaired, and a letter from the Chamber of Commerce recommending that the park question be brought before the people at the citizens' meeting.

The Council decided to take no action regarding the suggestion to remove the pine tree in front of Whibbs' cottage in the park.

The appointment of a representative to the District High School Board for a two-year term was deferred to an adjournment of the meeting in order to give the Council an opportunity of discussing the matter with the Public School Board.

A letter from Edward Millage, plumber, requesting a refund for the removal of an outside toilet, was considered, and on a motion by Councillors Morris and Buchanan, a four months' refund was granted.

Minstrel Show

Councillor Morris, as president of the Lions Club, said this organization would be presenting a minstrel show on February 2, 3 and 4. He said he had been informed that the fire laws allowed admission of 220 people only, and he wanted to know if that was the position.

Councillor Brown asked who was responsible for this. Reeve Grant stated it was Fire Chief Allan Clark.

Clerk Harry Hill telephoned Mr. Clark, who said the fire marshal had not limited the capacity of the hall, but had stipulated that all aisles, exits and stairs had to be kept clear, and that it would be permissible to admit 300 people.

An offer of $5 was received from Eric Morin for the old stage curtain—a real antique — but on a motion by Councillors Brown and Buchanan, the sale was delayed.

Councillors Brown and Buchanan moved a motion of appreciation to the Catharine Parr Traill Chapter, IODE, for purchasing and installing the new curtains.

The clerk was instructed to write a letter of appreciation to the IODE, suggesting a formal presentation at the citizens' meeting.

Red Cross Help

Reeve W. C. Grant said the Red Cross had offered to prepare and serve coffee and sandwiches for the citizens' meeting, if food was purchased by Council. The offer was accepted.

The attention of the Council was drawn to the fact that nothing had been done about taking up the board-walk on Dean St., as had been requested by J. Knox on behalf of the residents of that area, because it was considered to be a danger.

Reeve Grant drew attention to the fact that nothing had yet been done about the drain in front of George Graham's house.

Chief Garnet Samis replied that orders had been given to have both these things done, but all the available village men were working on the new rink in an effort to have it finished as soon as possible.

The sum of $163 left over from the amount set aside for the old rink and the swimming pool was given to the Lakefield Memorial Arena.

The clerk was asked to write a letter of appreciation to J. H. Miles for auctioning the old rink free of charge.

Grace Gospel Hall was rented Memorial Hall for $4 for Sunday afternoon worship.

Councillor Ken Morris told the meeting that in looking over the old files he had discovered that the hall had been rented for $25 a night in 1919.

Is Socialism Marxism?

In a radio address on Thursday night Mr. George Drew continued his campaign to link C.C.F. socialism with Marxist communism, and he said that socialism and communism had the same objective. This comment is only true in its broadest sense; all governmental and economic systems have the same objective, which is to provide as well as possible for as many people as possible; this objective is common to Liberal and Conservative governments also. But when we narrow the field of discussion we do not think that Mr. Drew's assertion that the C.C.F. and the Communists have the same aim and the same methods will hold water for an instant. The C.C.F. is a comparatively mild socialist party, and the majority of its members are of the middle class—as are the majority of members of all Canadian parties. If the C.C.F. were to come to power we might expect a government like that which now rules Australia, and although that government has not a particularly good record its worst sin is that of muddling; it is by no means revolutionary either in its tactics or its intentions.

Nor is the present British Government revolutionary; it also does what it can to combine doctrinaire socialism with practical conduct of affairs—a difficult, not to say an impossible, task. In every socialist party there is a left wing which inclines toward communism, but in countries where British institutions have been the chief influence in government it is unlikely that extremists will ever carry a majority of the nation with them. We feel that Mr. Drew underestimates the intelligence of his hearers when he tries to frighten them with Hallowe'en cardboard bogies. A Canadian electorate can be more surely swayed with appeals to its reason.

In the Carleton by-election, where his only opponent is a C.C.F. candidate, Mr. Drew has chosen to belabour the C.C.F. as a means of getting votes. But just a few days ago the secretary of the Ontario Young Progressive Conservative Association, Miss Mary Skeans, made a speech in Toronto in which she advised her party to stop moaning about communists and socialists and to state clearly what Conservatism stood for. Mr. Drew might well heed Miss Skeans' advice. We are sure that the Conservative party is not ideologically bankrupt, and we should like to hear some of its positive ideas from Mr. Drew.

Modern Difficulties In Conducting Foreign Policy

Last Saturday we discussed some of the perennial difficulties of devising and carrying out a matter so complex as foreign policy. In addition to the problems at the very core of foreign policy—the meaning of "national interests", "democracy", "liberty" and the like—there are new difficulties which did not confront governments and diplomats in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries.

Particularly in democratic countries there has been a very important change in what is meant by a nation dealing with other nations. Foreign policy used to be conducted by a small group of specialists. If war resulted, that too was the business of a small group. Now the development of democratic institutions, the widened basis of economic life and the type of modern warfare, have played havoc with the old ways of diplomacy. No foreign policy can succeed, or even be adopted, unless the majority of the people approve it, for the reason that foreign policy is not effective unless the nation is prepared to fight for it. Modern wars are fought by people's armies, not by professional soldiers, and the citizens in uniform and out must be prepared to support its horrors. Therefore, public opinion on international questions is now of primary importance. That is one reason why Canada, like other nations, has an information branch of its External Affairs department.

This importance of public opinion has introduced new problems in the conduct of foreign policy. Before 1914 not even parliaments concerned themselves with the details of foreign policy. It was a job for experts. If the results were poor, the Government could be defeated at the next General Elections. Seldom did the Opposition criticize the Government for its diplomatic negotiations when they were in progress. Secret treaties have only recently been looked on as objectionable. Compare the negotiations conducted in the first decade of this century with those of this decade.

The Anglo-French Entente of 1904 was concluded only after months of secret negotiation. The attempts this year of Britain and France to come to terms about the Ruhr and the West European Union have been made under the eye of the press, movie cameras and microphones. Even the most delicate details have been under public discussion. The Anglo-Russian Entente of 1908 took more than a year of careful, secret negotiation. This year attempts were made to reach agreement with Moscow on major issues like Berlin and peace with Germany. Millions of people were daily parties to the negotiations, and expected results within a few weeks. Government representatives and diplomats spoke their pieces with ears cocked more to the folk at home than to the men at the council tables opposite them. Even when negotiations were conducted behind closed doors, public opinion filtered through them, insistent though muffled.

Today international politics has been popularized. One result is an oversimplification of exceedingly complex issues. We have slogans and catchphrases like "neutrality", "collective security", "hemisphere defence", "Berlin blockade" which may be dangerous simplifications and lacking in validity. They fog issues and are deterrents to success in diplomatic dealings. Yet they are becoming the stuff of electioneering, as in Mr. Drew's present campaign in Carleton County.

The issues of foreign policy are too plastic to be expressed in simple formulas like "Reds Menace Berlin", and strategic issues on which foreign policy depend often turn on facts which cannot be divulged to the public at large. If democratic countries are to succeed in their foreign policies, they must somehow find ways of negotiating without a million voices crying through an open door or a million eyes at the key-hole. A man cannot successfully haggle with an astute salesman if his wife and children are tugging at his sleeve and yelling to the rooftops: "Oh, John, No, John".

Berlin

It is almost useless to head any article on Berlin with other than the name Berlin, for that spells in brief the whole sorry story of the conflict of ideologies and practices in Europe, even throughout the world. There are some additional points to note this week. The Soviet sector has been completely severed from the British, American and French sectors, and has its own Communist council, theoretically elected by the populace; in practice appointed by the Soviet-controlled party leaders. Civic elections are being held tomorrow in the western sector. We shall be greatly surprised if the 1,700,000 voters elect any Communist to office. The German cordiality toward the British and Americans is dictated more by antipathy toward the Russians than affection for the westerners. The third matter which we note this week is that the western occupation powers have served notice to U.N. that no matter what agreement can be reached on currency through the efforts of Juan Bramuglia of Argentina, last month's chairman of the Security Council, they will not be softened up. So the story of Berlin continues drearily and ominously from week to week.

Conspiracy Of Silence On Margarine?

Margarine seems to have dropped out of the news. It certainly has not slipped from our minds. Butter is still high in price; a scarcity still threatens. The Government put the so-called constitutional issue to the Supreme Court several months ago, to test the validity of the ban on margarine. The Supreme Court has concluded its hearings. It seems to have arrived at a decision, yet that decision is being held up. Why? We want to know what the Court has decided and we think we have a right to know as soon as that decision has been made.

If the Supreme Court has decided that the ban is not valid, then by all means let us know the good news and set about the business of producing margarine. If the Supreme Court has decided that the ban is valid, then we can set about finding other ways of allowing a needed and wholesome food to reach our tables. For instance, Parliament which will be meeting within a month or two could repeal the ban.

Diary Of An Untattooed Man

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Engaged in a long conversation with a man who suffered horribly from aposeopesis. This distressing ailment was first diagnosed by the Greeks, and they gave it the name it now bears, which means "falling silent" in English. He talked, as nearly as I can recall, like this: "Aren't we having marvellous —? I mean for the time of—? Ordinarily, we'd have had—. But this year we don't seem to be going to—. Or anyway, not just—. But so far as I'm concerned—. Don't you think?" He pieced out his sudden silences with nods and smiles and winks and laughs, and seemed to be under the impression that he was making himself very agreeable, but before long I began to fidget, and make mental bets with myself as to whether he would complete any of the next five sentences. He was, of course, a relief from those people whose conversation is remorselessly explicit, but everything he said sounded as though it had some secret meaning which I was missing.

MONDAY: While dressing this morning I looked out of my window and saw my regular postman coming up the walk followed by another man who appeared to be a postman in embryo, who was learning the art. In the same way shepherds attach young dogs to the collars of experienced sheep-dogs, and after running with them for a while the puppy learns the rudiments of his business.... Later in the day I had just settled down to an after-lunch nap when the telephone rang. "Is Sticky Cheese there?" asked a female voice, when I lifted the receiver. (I don't suppose she really said Sticky Cheese, but that was how it sounded to me.) Instead of giving my usual harsh answer I said "Madam, I think that you have dialled the wrong number". "Awright", she replied, and hung up with a crash which nearly split my eardrum. She meant "All wrong". Politeness is wasted on wrong-number diallers. I went back to sleep, but my slumber was troubled by dreams in which this raw-voiced female held a long and incoherent conversation with Sticky Cheese, who was bow-legged and had a greenish face. A pox upon them both, wherever they are!

TUESDAY: Watched a Santa Claus parade today and was greatly struck by the fact that all the figures on the floats were made of plaster, and the giants and gnomes and princesses were fixed eternally in one position. The parade seemed to give great satisfaction to the children round about, but children are not searching critics and will take anything that is palmed off on them. It seems to me that in a parade which symbolizes goodwill toward men it is wrong to use plaster people instead of real people, simply because plaster people are cheaper. Also I like Santa to appear surrounded by movement, and particularly by lots of pretty girls. There were some clowns in the parade, but they seemed to be about eight years old on the average and of preternatural solemnity; it takes more than a funny suit to make a clown.... Mentioned all this to a man who immediately wanted to know what pretty girls had to do with Santa Claus? Decided to give him the Theological Treatment. "Sir", said I, "female beauty is an important Minor Sacrament which cannot be received too often; I am not at all sure that neglect of it does not constitute a sin of some kind". That fixed him.

WEDNESDAY: Opened a new tin of tobacco this morning and found the name and address of the girl in Glasgow who packed it written on the wax paper inside the seal; is this an invitation to write? If I send her a Christmas cake, will she send me a pound of my favourite mixture? Perhaps this is a crossroads in my life.... Was reading a recipe on a package of food which bade me "incorporate" a tablespoonful of sugar with its contents; this seems a noble word for a humble message. But kitchens have always had a jargon of their own, and years ago I tried to learn Cook's French—the lingo in which menus are written and which produces such gems as "Jello avec creme" and "Tripes de la Bonne Femme".... Saw Olivier's film of "Hamlet" this evening and found it even better than I had expected. It makes a remarkable difference to the play to experience it (or all of it that a film can contain, which is about half the total) all at one blow, and I left the movie-house exhausted and elevated and ate a large plate of ham and eggs. Tragedy always makes me very hungry; purgation through pity and terror works not only on the soul but on the digestion, I find.

THURSDAY: Had an opportunity to spend an hour looking at the collection of silver and goldsmith's work which has been presented to Hart House by Lord Lee of Fareham. In a world where so many things are made quickly and cheaply and in great quantities it is balm to the soul to see so many things which are unique, and which have obviously cost thousands of hours of the most patient and skillful workmanship. Was particularly struck by a seventeenth-century figure of Diana riding a stag, a golden toy with clockwork in its base which is designed to run about a dinner table on invisible wheels. Furthermore, it is so designed that as it approaches the table's edge it turns back again toward the centre—a trick which modern toymakers have only just begun to work into children's toys. Lingered also over three beautiful illuminated books. No doubt our modern system of printing books by the hundred thousand on thin sheets of squeezed tree is very good for popular education, but it is ugly to the eye and the fingers. These books were to be caressed and wondered at, as well as read.

FRIDAY: Saw an amateur production of "The Barrets of Wimpole Street" this evening; the audience had come to admire the actors (who were high school boys and girls) but were much taken by the goings-on of the spaniel who played the role of Flush. Dogs and babies are impossible creatures on the stage; they have only to gurgle or scratch a flea and the careful art of the human actors is set at naught. Somebody should write a play in which a dog has to do something difficult, and meet stern criticism. In Victorian England there was a popular version of Hamlet in which the Prince was accompanied at all times by a huge dog (a Great Dane, of course); in the Play Scene it was the dog's duty to leap at the throat of King Claudius. Often the dog-actor missed his cue, or wagged his tail at the gallery, or licked Claudius affectionately; such dog-hams were given short shrift by the critics of the day and many a dog-actor disgraced himself by snarling over the footlights at the critic's row, with bared teeth. This is only just; if a dog appears on the stage, it should be expected to do something difficult, and not loll about, stealing scenes from hard-working humans.

SATURDAY: I see that the art of tattooing is said to be in decline. When I lived in England I passed No. 72 Waterloo Road every day on my way to work, where a great artist in this field, G. Burchett, had his atelier. I never ventured inside, but I admired the rich display of designs in the window, and sometimes I would see a man going in or coming out, wearing a special defiant look. I am too timid to do anything so irrevocable as to have my hide ornamented but I understand and sympathize with those who do so. The ordinary designs—fouled anchors, flags, ships, naked women and the like—obviously would appeal to many men; but who, I wondered, took up G. Burchett's offer to tattoo the Apostle's Creed on his chest, or his thigh? Did divinity students creep through the door at night, for this service? Or did atheists cause themselves to be so tattooed that whenever they sat down they affronted, so to speak, the whole of Christendom? Perhaps I shall never know.

Letters To The Editor

PROTESTS INJUSTICE OF POLL TAX

Sir: Just a few lines on the city election. As I have been a resident of this city for five years and am paying $5.00 poll tax I would like to know why I do not have a vote for the city council. Last year when I went up to vote they told me I had no vote because I never owned any property. But they still take the $5.00 out for poll tax.

I have lived in Canada all my life and I feel that if any citizen who has and pays poll taxes should have a vote in the city council in which he or she here should reside.. There are people who have only come to Canada in the last 5 years and bought property and have a vote so I think it is only right. So I would like to hear some other people voice their opinion on this as well as me.

Thanking you for this space in your paper.

CLARENCE NEILL.

IS A WARD SYSTEM THE ANSWER?

Sir: Municipal elections are here again and the South-End appears to have drawn a blank again while all other parts of the city seem to be well represented. So well that some object to the ward system which seems the only fair way that all parts of the city can get representation.

Voters in the south part would be well advised to consider the candidates who would endorse this system, so that something could be done about it next year.

This section pays a large portion of the taxes and should get out and see that they get representation.

I am quite in favour of the by-law for the completion of the Civic Hospital and will vote for it.

I don't understand how the average residential property is $22.00 as stated in Nov. 30 paper while I, with thirty-nine feet frontage in a non-residential district am assessed considerably higher.

One more thing before I close, I would like to mention the proposed expenditure of buying the property across from Confederation Square. I think this should be carefully considered—taxes are getting about as high as the average working man can afford.

I thank you for the opportunity of expressing my opinion in your newspaper.

Yours very truly,

SOUTH-END RATEPAYER.

CRITICAL OF ALDERMEN

Sir: May I at this time voice my opinion as to the fairness of our City Council.

I read in Nov. 30's paper an item regarding auto-wreckers in the city; it goes on to say that this man must move his stuff by the end of the week, and to all places, a swamp.

Now, Mr. Editor, I ask you, is that fair? Did that alderman ever try a day's work, like moving all that in a week or less? Did he go to the other wreckers in the heart of the city and give them a week to get out? Why pick on one, at least he the wrecker would pay city taxes and get city trade which brings to my mind a wood firm on Highway 28, and the gall of it all to admit that there is a swamp on Erskine Ave.

And on the same page of your paper I note the picture of the new homes on Morrow St. Boy, that is really a fine piece of work, except for one little thing. If I wanted to build on Morrow St. it would have to be brick, at a figure set by the town council and up to all the rules and regulations that these fair play fellows can write. But along comes a construction firm and your $8,000 home is set in grand setting of overnight cabins.

Mr. Editor, I may seem to be angry but I'm really not. I am just one of those people who likes to see all people treated the same. And it seems funny that when the year is nearly over and aldermen are dropping out they get some bright ideas for the new members to get blamed for.

Respectfully yours,

J. C. SMITH

DISAPPOINTED

Sir: I write you to express my disappointment at Examiner omiting to publish picture of Parade including Guard of Honour led by Peterborough Pipe Band in the welcome accorded Governor General last Thursday.

There are many friends throughout Canada, U.S.A. and Old Country who would certainly have appreciated these pictures.

Yours very truly,

THOS. KAY.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now there arose up a new king over Egypt, which knew not Joseph. And he said unto his people, Behold, the people of the children of Israel are more and mightier than we: come on, let us deal wisely with them; lest they multiply, and it come to pass, that, when there falleth out any war, they join also unto our enemies, and fight against us, and so get them up out of the land....And Pharoah charged all his people, saying, Every son that is born ye shall cast into the river, and every daughter ye shall save alive. (Ex. 1: 8-10, 22.)

Hear ye the word which the Lord speaketh unto you, O house of Israel: thus saith the Lord, Learn not the way of the heathen, and be not dismayed at the signs of heaven; for the heathen are dismayed at them....

Thus shall ye say unto them, The gods that have not made the heavens and the earth, even they shall perish from the earth, and from under these heavens. He hath made the earth by his power, he hath established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heavens by his discretion. (Jer. 10: 1, 2, 11, 12.)

With PETE McGILLEN

THIS WORLD is filled with people who are always trying to marry someone to somebody else. Match-makers, they are called, but trouble-makers would be a better word. At long last, here is an opportunity for some of these meddlers to perform an act of charity. I know where there is a lonely, loveless swain, pining his life away, looking for a mate. All summer he flaunts his beauty before hundreds of spectators, most of whom are unaware that he is scanning the horizon daily for a sweetheart. This fellow is a male swan, of the Mute variety, at the Filtration Park zoo. His first love died, along with their two cygnets during the first winter in quarters indoors. The keepers didn't know that swans must have water the year round to swim in. If they haven't, they get an intestinal inflammation that kills them. Now the winter quarters are equipped with a pool. They brought in one swan, and it was a year before they discovered that he too was a male. Tsk. Tsk. I don't know whether this Mute would mate with a Whistler or a Trumpeter, but surely somewhere there must be an eligible, lonely female swan anxious for romance. Who can bring happiness to this poor bachelor?

JACK HAMBLETON'S new book "Forest Ranger" is one that every boy should read. I enjoyed it as much as I did "Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn", and I feel sure it will have just as great an appeal in the United States as it is certain to have in Canada. It is the story of a husky backwoods youngster who wants to become a forest ranger in the Ontario Forest Ranger Service. It's a gripping, colorful yarn, that smacks of reality, a tale that will intrigue every boy who loves adventure—and don't they all. It's clean and wholesome; no profanity, no unintelligible slang. I gave the book to my 13-year-old son to read, and he was enthusiastic about it. The book has a special appeal to those who know the Temagami region and Algonquin Park. A few of the characters in it, although called by other names, can be readily identified as living people. Hon. Harold R. Scott, dubbed Mr. Tartan, plays a part. This book published by Longman's Green and selling at $2.75, is a fine Christmas gift.

HOLD YOUR SEATS, gentlemen, that rumor of a mammoth bass isn't a rumor at all, it's an astonishing fact. I drove 26 miles to satisfy myself, and on the bedroom wall of a cabin on the shore of Stony lake, I found a fish, mounted on an oval board 40 inches long. The fish measured 28 inches from the tip of the lower jaw to the fork of the tail. From the tip of the jaw to the end of the gill cover was 9¼ inches; from the dorsal fin to the centre of the underside, 11 inches. I learned later that the girth was 22¼ inches when the fish was caught. Unfortunately the man who caught the fish, a farm hand, who cares not a whit for publicity, fish records or the spotlight, didn't weigh the monster. However, the world record small-mouth bass, has been 28" long and 21¼" in girth and weighed an even 14 lbs. That being so, this large-mouth should weigh at least 14¾ pounds. It is a new Canadian record and there is nothing phony about it, but Leonard Noonan, who made the catch doesn't give a hoot whether it's a record or not.

NOONAN CAUGHT this bass at 9.30 one night during the last week in July. He had been casting below Burleigh Falls, and started home through the Burleigh channel in Stony, trolling with a red and white jointed plug when the bass hit. When he saw how large the fish was, he dipped the gunwale of the canoe, and flipped the bass into the boat. The following day, he had a friend in Peterborough mount the fish, and now it hangs in his bedroom. I heard about the fish twice, but frankly I didn't believe it. I'm sorry now I didn't whip out to the lake in August and then I could have taken a 10 inch bass and photographed it alongside this fabulous catch. The bass has the dark coloring so characteristic of those caught in northern waters, although it has the size of a Florida bayou bass. It is well-formed and the head is huge. I would have liked to take one of the scales to have a biologist check the age, but that was impossible because the fish is mounted and varnished. Years ago a nine pound large-mouth was caught near Hiawatha in Rice lake, but this one is the grandaddy of them all.

VETERAN HUNTERS are expressing alarm at the scarcity of deer during the hunt. From Squaw river on the west to Twin lakes on the east, the story is the same, too few deer. George Wilde, Chemong Park, who hunted with a party of 12 north of Havelock, all veterans, claims it was the worst year since 1934. They got five deer. Most of the older hunters believe there are too many does being shot. This condition is verified by the road block checks conducted by the game overseers. On highway 28 above Burleigh, game overseers checked 1,346 hunters, who had 185 bucks, 187 does and 84 fawns. This was just two week-end checks, and the total does not represent the number of deer shot in the area by any means. However, one thing is clear, and that is on the average, only one hunter in four got his deer. Most of the marksmen agree that more direct action should be taken to reduce the wolf packs, while others are talking of a buck law again.

HARRISON F. LEWIS, chief of the Dominion Wildlife Service has written telling how the oil happened to be on the waters of the St. Lawrence river. He says, "the loss of ducks was very deplorable but it was not caused by pumping oil overboard. The tanker "Pinebranch" outward bound and loaded, struck a reef in the thick fog at night. A large hole that extended into one of the oil tanks was ripped in the ship's side. The oil poured out in great quantities and continued to do so until the oil within the tank was lowered to such an extent that stabilization was attained. The accident took place far from harbor facilities and the oil that came out of the ship entered the current and immediately slipped away into the fog and darkness and beyond the ken of man. Large numbers of migrating ducks were using the river at the time. Those that became fouled with oil did so within a short time". That was an act of God, and not carelessness. What puzzles me is why those so-called reporters could not have obtained those facts and moved them in the first news story, instead of saying the oil was pumped from the hold of a ship.

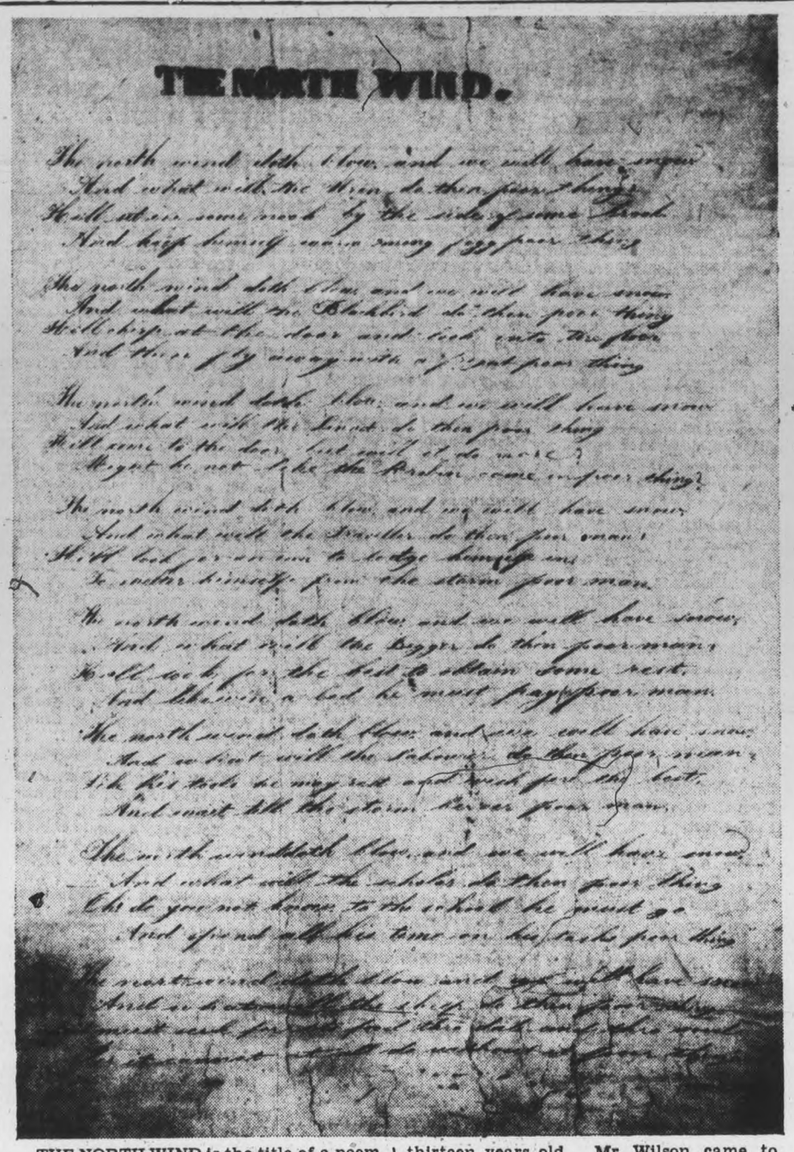
BOUNTY ON FOXES. Counties Council of Durham and Northumberland last week voted to pay a $2 bounty on all foxes killed in the two counties. To collect this bounty the pelt must be produced and the owner must take an affidavit swearing the fox was killed in the area mentioned. Mr. William Barr, counties clerk and treasurer said he intended to send forms to the township clerks so that hunters would not have to make the long trip to Cobourg. The pelts are worth between 80 cents and $1.25 and bounty is to reimburse the hunters for ammunition



THE NORTH WIND is the title of a poem of eight stanzas, the first one of which appeared in Ontario school readers. This poem was written in Scotland by Cornelius Wilson in November, 1849, when he was thirteen years old. Mr. Wilson came to Canada in 1853, settling in Hastings village where he taught school in both Percy and Asphodel townships. A photostatic copy of the original is shown above.

Author of Well Known Poem, Written When 13 Years Old, Settled In Hastings

By MRS. GERALD MARRYAT

The heading of a cartoon on the Cold War, appearing in the Editorial page of The Examiner on Tuesday, Nov. 23, read, "The North Wind Doth Blow." And, although most people can readily finish the first stanza of the poem, having studied it in one of their Ontario readers, it will come as a surprise to learn that their are eight stanzas in all, and that the author was a 13-year-old boy, Cornelius Wilson, who came to Canada in 1853. He arrived, via Rice Lake, at Hastings, in November of that year. He taught school in No. 12 Percy (Flemings) and in No. 5 Asphodel (formerly Fife's school but now closed). He died at Galt in 1909. A brief account of his life appeared in The Examiner of Saturday, Oct. 9, and since then, Mr. Wilson's son, Neil H. Wilson, 85 Deloraine Ave., Toronto, has forwarded the following interesting particulars. He wrote

"In November, 1849, my father composed the poem "The North Wind," the first verse of which is known to most people, here and around the world, but very few know the whole poem of which there are eight stanzas. I believe during the following years the poem appeared in some of the school book readers, and was translated into some 20 or more language. I have at home, the original, yellowed with age, but finely written in a regular Spencerian hand."

"In early November 1849, John (or George) Murray, the Duke of Athol and Murray, dropped into the small schoolhouse in Mauchline, Ayrshire, Scotland, on a blustery, cold day, and said to the dominie of the school, The north wind doth blow and we shall have snow, and told the teacher that it was a good title for a poem and offered a prize of a golden guinea to the pupil who composed the best poem on 'The North Wind'. He added that he would be back in a fortnight to award the prize to the winner. Father's poem was selected as the best. He was permitted to keep the original manuscript. The expression in the last line of the first verse, mong fogg' means in the moss.

Canadian readers will notice that in the original the bird mentioned by the young composer was the Wren, while here the Robin was substituted, possibly as being more familiar.

The North Wind

The North Wind doth blow and
we will have snow
And what will the Wren do then
poor thing
He'll sit in some nook by the side of the brook
And keep himself warm mong fogg, poor thing.

The North Wind doth blow and
we will have snow
And what will the Blackbird do
then poor thing.
He'll chirp at the door and look into the floor
And then fly away in a fright,
poor thing.

The North Wind doth blow and
we will have snow
And what will the Linnet do then
poor thing.
He'll come to the door, but will it do more?
Might he not like the Robin come in, poor thing?

The North Wind doth blow and
we will have snow
And what will the Traveller do
then poor man,
He'll look for an Inn to lodge himself in
To shelter himself from the storm, poor man.

The North Wind doth blow and
we will have snow
And what will the Beggar do then
poor man,
He'll look for the best to obtain some rest
And likewise the bed he must pay for, poor man.

The North Wind doth blow and
we will have snow
And what will the Labourer do
then poor man,
Like his tools he may rest and wish for the best
And wait till the storm be o'er
poor man.

The North Wind doth blow and
we will have snow
And what will the Scholar do
then poor thing
Oh, do you not know, to the school he must go
And spend all his time on his task
poor thing.

The North Wind doth blow and
we will have snow
And what will the Sheep do then
poor thing.
It must seek for its food through dale and through wood
For it cannot at all do without it, poor thing.

Neil H. Wilson adds further particulars concerning his father's experiences on the voyage from Scotland. "The sailing ship, a Barkentine, on which father and Andrew Carnegie came over from Scotland, was the California, and the last time father heard from Carnegie was when he (Carnegie) went to Scotland to buy Skibo Castle, another long and interesting story." Perhaps Mr. Wilson will take time to write the final instalment of that story.

Jitterbugging Is Closely Linked With Dances of The Primitive Ages

By BOB BUCHANAN

It will not come as a shock to disapproving elders to learn that the contortions of the modern dance-floor are closely linked with the dance methods of savages and uncivilized groups of the past. Critics of the current form of group-suicide known as jitterbugging are inclined to put the blame for the weird gymnastics at the door of the 20th century. But the art's fall from grace (literally, many feel) had its origin back in the primeval forests. Every age has contributed its part to the present custom.

One encyclopedia gives a description of dancing among primitive peoples which does not seem to go to far afield from the present-day styles:

"...the range of movements employed...is very wide. All parts of the body are used—head, back, hips, arms fingers, and even the facial muscles are brought into play as well as the feet..."

"Some performances demand great physical exertion," continues the scholarly work on allegedly outmoded dances, "with leaping and many bodily contortions." An example given is the war "haka" of the Maoris of New Zealand. The writer could have included most jitterbug enthusiasts, whose primary object seems to be (to confused onlookers) the desire to cause the maximum bodily harm in the minimum time.

Our hep-cats need not search far for an excuse to practice their gruelling routines. An expert in such things tells us that dancing "corresponds to a universal primitive instinct in man," whether he be the South Sea Islander, North American or Brazilian Indians, the Zulu of South Africa or the aborigines in the wilds of Australia.

"You see," glowed one native advocate of free-and-wild dancing, "we're just following our primitive instincts!" Hmm.

However, there is a limit to the extent the bygone days permitted the play of their "natural instincts." The encyclopedia, making a rather idealistic definition of dancing supposed to include all forms, calls it "the rythmical movement of any or all parts of the body in accordance with some scheme of individual or cencerted action which is expressive of emotions or ideas."

Did he ever attend any dances we've been to? We're still trying to figure out what "scheme of...concerted action" some of these modern routines involve.

According to the histories of dance forms, our own generation's jitterbugging may be regarded as mild. In the time of tribal warfare, for example, savages of this country and others were wont to work themselves into mad frenzies of hatred and patriotism by group cavarting. At least, they stopped while they were still able to fight and not at a stage of complete exhaustion.

These jive artists of antiquity were able to give themselves a form of mental intoxication by these forerunners of swing contests. From accounts given, the husky warriors could carry off first prize in any present-day competition.

Gradually, dancing left behind the ultra-practical reason of warfever and developed a religious and social sense. Providing both the opportunity to work as a group member and to exhibit the individual's skill, the dance has played an integral part in the social life of all mankind, civilized and otherwise. Natives in some lands still have their ceremonial dances designed to bring good hunting, win battles or ward off evil spirits. Rain doctors of central Africa dance mystic steps to bring rain and Gold Coast negresses have a jig they cavort through, which is supposed to give their absent warriors husbands courage in battle.

Modern "in-the-groove" artists would turn green with envy at the chaos at the festival of Rhea Silvia in Rome's heyday. The dances performed to accompany the ceremonial observances rivalled the wildest seen today.

Dances of early civilization were often rude imitations of animals and natural forces. On the Congo, hefty hunters warmed up before the hunt in a dance imitating the habits of the gorilla and its movements when attacked. This basic training should make these men acceptable on any 1948 ballroom. The Australian Bushmen dance in long irregular jumps (representing the leaping of a herd of calves, we are told). The Hottentots not only go down on all fours to impersonate the baboon but they also have a dance in which the buzzing of a swarm of bees is represented.

REMATCHED—To meet the demands of Ben Morgan and Dan O'Connor, Manager Jim Laidlaw of the Brock Arena has rematched this pair against Pat Flanagan and Fred Atkins. Morgan and O'Connor's terms of a new referee have also been granted by Laidlaw. Flanagan and Atkins were agreeable to any terms of a rematch, figuring they can take this pair of toughies any time. Morgan was particularly hostile in demanding a rematch. "We'll tear the place to pieces, and Flanagan and Atkins with it", he said. CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor

After suffering recent reverses in Boston and Detroit, the Toronto Leafs' stock is at a new low for this NHL season. And fiery Connie Smythe is making changes. He's a tough guy to work for, it has often been said, and nothing short of perfection suits him. Said perfection meaning the winning of the Stanley Cup every year. Leafs aren't quite as hungry as a year ago and have but five victories in 18 starts. On the other hand, Dit Clapper's steady-going Boston Bruins are rolling right along in front of the parade and look like they might stay there, or thereabouts. We also like Detroit's chances, but then it's a little early to write any NHL club in or out just yet.

* * * * * *

Scribe Ryan of the Ottawa Journal rises to remark: "A new power emerged on the U.S. sports scene today and it may be felt on the Canadian front in the space of a few years. Television, considered one of the biggest problems in professional sports in America, has taken steps to see it isn't pushed into the background by worried promoters. The Tournament of Champions' announcement of a new promotional organization formed of itself, the Columbia Broadcasting System, The Music Corporation of American and Allied Syndicates Incorporated, indicates television is here to stay as far as sporting events are concerned, unless leagues take immediate action."

* * * * * *

Crowding Right In

Their avowed intention is to enter all phases of important sports, depending on large companies which figure it's good advertising. And they don't give a hoot if the radio pictures keep many fans away from games or not. Naturally, sports promoters don't think much of this and threaten to bar television from hockey, boxing and so forth. While television hasn't arrived in a big way yet, it does cover many big cities in the States, and will spread in time — even into and throughout Canada. No fooling, it's really on its way and maybe not too far off, either.

* * * * * *

Actually, television shouldn't start strangling sports—by cutting off finances—until video is an accomplished fact in small communities. Then it could be murder. Let's look ahead not too many years and see the picture in Peterborough. The law of supply and demand has balanced up and athletic stadiums in the country no longer strain at the seams. Even Toronto Maple Leafs of the NHL no longer sell out every game. And crowds keep falling off as Connie Smythe rips at his remaining hair. A cold night or wet or icy one is a killer as more city and provincial fans stay home and take in the game by television. No dough in that.

* * * * * *

Socking Them Plenty

One way Connie cold get around that is to sell video rights to, say, Tuxedo Cigarettes—"87½ of every 100 auctioneers treat their throats with them" — at a big season's guarantee. But that wouldn't work in smaller centres. Some fly-by-night firm in the advertising business gets around from town to town. Does Belleville this week, then moves on to Peterborough. Calls around and, for a fee, sells its television advertising to a local store or factory. Reasonable, too. Then goes out and does a local hockey, ball or lacrosse game as its part of the bargain, frequently plugging the food, machinery or leatherware dispensed by its client.

* * * * * *

But where do the Petes, the Legionnaires, the Panthers, lacrossers—or what have you—get off? They get nothing for this. Worse, they get smaller crowds. Some folks will stay home and sit down comfortably in easy chair to take in the game via television. Or view it on a large set in some comfy cafe or hot spot. The question Ed Murphy, Doug Miller, and others running local sports would have to ask then is: "Can we keep them out of games if they don't pay our price?" Also: "Isn't it better to have fans present with money, than empty stands but money from television?" Ah, well, let's not start viewing too much with alarm at this distance. It's coming but not for a few more years—and no doubt such problems will solve themselves at the right time.

* * * * * *

Looking For Backing

A team of bantam puckists is being lined up to play in the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association. Known as the Northend Kids, taking in the area above McDonnel St. Coach is Don Grant, assisted by Lindsay Brown, with Al Revoy manager. Boys, under 14, interested might contact Don at 788 Water St. this aft around four in order to register for workouts in the near future. The big need in launching this young puck squad is some financial backing—maybe about $60 in all. If this is forthcoming, the club will go right ahead and look after that age-limit bunch in hockey in that part of the city. Just get in touch with Don Grant.

Neill's-Nurses Are Victors In Cage Loop

Two keenly-contested Girls' Basketball League games were staged last week in the YWCA gym. The Collis cagers lost a 16-9 decision to Neill's in the opener, as Nurses eked out a 12-9 victory over the Lockeys. Fans seen some tight hoop work most of the way in both speedy fixtures. Next games will be next Friday evening there.

In the first half of the initial contest, Neill's had a bit of an edge and doubled the score at 8-4, but they were crowded more in the second stanza, though still having a margin on counting. Wilma Floyd and Jean Vass led the scoring parade while Marg Freeman stood out defensively for Neill's. For Collis, Edith Mchagga, M. Sullivan and M. McKee were best. The teams:

Collis: D. McNeeley, M. Sullivan 3, M. McKee 1, R. Henderson, E. McIlhagga 3, P. McIntosh 2, B. Larmer, J. O'Brien, M. Beggs, A. Metheral.

Neill's: D. Callan 2, F. Floyd, J. Caverley, M. Freeman 2, G. Boate, J. Vass 4, J. Smedmor, M. Crowder, J. Dunk 1, W. Floyd 7.

The Nightcap

In the second game, both sides really turned it on in a fast display. Lock Co. made it a real battle though shy a couple of good players. Nurses had a 7-4 margin at the half but it was 5-5 in the last part of the lively tussle with both sides boring in fast in turn. Anita Davis, Bev Pringle and Mary Collins stood out for the winning nurses. E. Harvey, Betty McIlwaine and Joan McIntyre were the pick of the battling Lock Co. crew. The teams:

Lock Co.: J. McIntyre 1, J. Wilson, B. McIlwaine 4, E. Harvey 4, D. Jackson, M. Knox, M. Caverley.

Nurses: A. Davies 5, S. Wilkinson, M. Flowers, J. Metcalfe, B. Pringle 2, M. Collins 2, B. Deyell, J. Plunkett 3, J. Smith, A. Bowler, S. Curtis, E. Crawford.

Six Day Bike Race One Of Biggest Flops

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP).—One of the biggest flops in Washington sports history ends its dismal six-day run at the National Guard armory tonight.

The capital city's first — and probably last—six-day international bike race will roll to a close at 11 p.m. EST with only five of the original 10 teams which started the race expected to cross the finish line.

The Danish-Belgian duo of Arne Pedersen and Emile Bruneau led the depleted pack at the 1,542-mile point, crossed at 4 a.m. today.

The venture, a financial nightmare, has cost promoter Jimmy Proscia an estimated $25,000. Washington sports fans have been conspicuous by their absence since the event opened last Sunday night. At no time have more than 450 of the Armory's 4,800 seats been filled.

Win Opening Game

TORONTO, Dec. 4.— (CP). — University of Toronto won its opening game of the senior intercollegiate hockey season Friday night, defeating University of Montreal Carabins 5-2. Montreal already has beaten McGill and Queen's, the other two teams in the league, in their first two games.

ATTRACTIVE LAVERNE THOMPSON of Los Angele Calif., displays the bowling form that has enabled her to rocket to USA's pin pinnacle. She's pace-setter in Southern California ladies' major league with 195 average and has been active in the pin sport just three years.

Citation Wins His 18th Victory

SAN BRUNO, Calif., Dec. 4.—(AP).—It was more of the same old story for Citation in a $5,000 tune-up sprint at Tanforan race track.

The Calumet Farm comet scooted Friday to his 18th victory out of 19 starts this year, doing the six-furlong chore in 1.12 on a muddy track.

He ran away from his four foes to win his western debut by a length and a half.

The victory, worth $3,100 and running his 1948 total to $677,670, only confirmed his previous status as the heavy favorite for the $50,000 Tanforan handicap next Saturday.

The three-year-old son of Bull Lea paid only $2.20 to win and $2.10 to place.

Bold Gallant, second choice in the betting, ran second to pay $2.20. Barsad took third. There was no show betting.

Citation, packing 126 pounds, conceded three of his rivals 14 pounds and gave M'Dearsy 23 pounds.

His total earnings for two years now stand at $833,350, just $77,985 short of Stymie's world record of $911,335.

Flyers Leading Junior OHA Wallop Galt Rockets 5-1

By The Canadian Press

Barrie Flyers took over the leadership of the Junior Ontario Hockey Association race last night —the first team to overtake the high-flying Windsor Spitfires and St. Catharines Teepees.

Lying quietly in a third and fourth spot since the season opened, Flyers stepped up and walloped the seventh-place Galt Rockets 5-1 last night to go point ahead. Windsor and St. Catharines are deadlocked in scond spot with 25 points apiece.

The fleet Barrie squad has a chance to maintain their lead when they play a return match with Galt tonight. Windsor looms as a threat with a week-end game against Oshawa Generals.

In other OHA games Friday night, Toronto Marlboros leaped into second spot in the senior race by downing Hamilton Tigers 5-3 in Toronto. Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen strengthened their lead atop the loop with a 6-4 overtime decision with Stratford Indians.

Barrie grabbed a 1-0 lead at the end of the first period, held a 2-1 margin at the end of the second and batted in three goals in the final frame to clinch their tilt.

Cut Margin

Paul Meger, who led Barrie with two counters, garnered his first early in the initial period on a pass from Stan Long. Real Chevrefils put Barrie two up early in the second stanza but Billy Bercham drove back for Galt to cut the margin.

Meger, Wib McArthur and Don Ashbee scored in the last period.

Marlies forged into a 1-0 lead early in the first period when Chuck Blair beat Art Childs on a three-way combination with Ray Timgren and Alex Davidson. Sid Lovelace got the equalizer minutes later.

Hamilton then took the lead when Murray Comfort slipped the puck past net minder Howie Harvey on a three-way play with Ab Conick and Carl Liscombe. But Toronto drove back with two fast goals to take the upper hand. Scotty Mair and Blair took the honors.

Johnny McCormick and Al Buchanan counted in the final frame for Marlies while Clare Shillington notched a goal for Hamilton.

Fleet Don Bauer broke out in a three-goal, overtime-period rash to lead Kitchener. Other Kitchener scorers were Leo Curik with two and Bob Wielier with a singleton. Billy and Bill Walsh each counted twice or Stratford.

Kitchener fought through the first period with a 2-0 lead, then dropped back to relinquish it when Stratford banged in two quick counters. Each team scored once in the third period.

Name Alvin Dark Rookie Of Year

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP).—Alvin Dark, Boston Braves' talented young shortstop, today was named rookie of the year for 1948 by the Baseball Writers' Association.

The 25-year-old freshman who hit .324 for the pennant-winning Braves won by a comfortable margin. Dark received 27 of the 48 votes by the same writers' committees who selected the most valuable player in each major league.

Gene Bearden, southpaw pitching star of Cleveland's world series triumph, was second. He polled eight votes. However, all balloting was done during the last week of the season and thus did not take into consideration world series performances. In the regular season he won 17 and lost seven.

Bearden, of course, flashed brightest right at the end of the year.

After defeating Boston Red Sox in the playoff game to decide the pennnant, he shut ou the Braves in the third series game. Then he came back in a relief role to save the day for Bob Lemon in the sixth game when the Tribe won the series.

Third honors went to Richie Ashburn, Philadelphia Phils' towheaded speedster. He had seven votes. He jostled Harry Walker, 1947 National League bating champ, out of a job and hit .330, second only to Stan Musial, the champ.

Ashburn broke a bone in his hand in August and missed the last two months of the season.

Richard's Slump Has Coach, Fans Mystified

By BERT ALLEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The failure of Maurice Richard to break out of his scoring slump is a mystery to Montreal fans and coach Dick Irvin alike.

The Rocket, who averaged 36 goals a year in his last five seasons and holds the all-time National hockey record of 50 markers in one campaaign, has scored only two goals in the Habitants' 16 games.

In act, the inability of the fiery right-winger to find the scoring range has some of the loyal Canadien fans saying the Rocket has "blown a fuse."

Time was when the 27-year-old Rocket was the terror of all National League netminders, with his blinding speed, sizzling shot and tremendous drive when inside the opposing team's blueline.

But whereas once other teams used to assign two men to tail the Rocket, they now find that his opposite number on the wing lane can handle the job well enough.

And it's a sure thing Montreal isn't paying Richard $12,000 a year—reported to be the highest salary in the circuit—to score one goal in every eight games, his production rate to date this season.

Expect Action

This might be the week-end for him to snap out of the slump and go on a scoring spree. Canadiens are at home to New York tonight and move to Boston for a game with the Bruins tomorrow night.

In other week-end games, Toronto are hosts to Chicago and Detroit are at Boston tonight, while the Red Wings travel to New York and the Maple Leafs play the Black Hawks a return game in the Windy City.

The high-flying Boston Bruins, sitting pretty atop the league standing with a four-point margin over Detroit, had some more bad news Friday. Already without centre Milt Schmidt and defenceman Jack Crawford because of injuries, Bruins learned that their crack sophomore pivotman Eddie Sandford will be sidelined for a while with an ankle injury.

To fill in for Sandford, Boston recalled Phil Maloney, 21-year-old centre, from Hershey Bears of the American League.

Conn Smythe, general manager of Toronto Maple Leafs, said Friday night in Toronto: "I haven't been talking deals with any other club and they haven't been talking deals with me," when asked about trade rumors.

That scotched the latest hot-tip —that Doug Bentley was due to come from Chicago Black Hawks to join his brother Max in the Toronto forward line. Smythe said he plans to carry on with the players he has.

"Our trouble has been that we haven't enough men who can keep us ahead once we are ahead," said Smythe. "And we haven't good enough penalty-killers to keep the opponents off the score sheet when we are in trouble."

Joe (Mr. Football) Krol was reported resting comfortably in a Toronto hospital today. He was operated on Wednesday to remove a cartilege from his left knee that bothered him all season. He is expected to be released from hospital in four or five days.

Paul Thompson, former National Hockey League star, said Friday at Vancouver he is interested in buying New Westminster Royals, pace-setters of the Pacific Coast Hockey League.

Owen Kenney McKenzie put the for-sale sign on the team Thursday, climax to a dispute with Coley Hall, owner of the Vancouver Canucks. It was reported the asking price would range from $30,000 to $50,000, but McKenzie said yesterday: "I'll sell, but the price is not $30,000.

Olle Tanberg of Sweden stopped Eugene Robert of Belgium in three rounds of a scheduled 10-round heavyweight fight at Stockholm Friday night. The Belgian went down for a count of six at the end of the third round, but was saved by the bell. He was unable to come out for the fourth round.

Canada Heading International Badminton Tilt

TORONTO, Dec. 4 — (CP)— Canada was on its way to victory today in the Dominion's first bid for international badminton honors.

The Canadian team took a 3-1 lead over India Friday night in the first round of play for the Thomas Cup and the world's team badminton championship.

The Canadians won two doubles and a singles match after the Dominion's top player — singles champion Dick Birch of Toronto —lost out in the first match of the tournament.

With two singles and three doubles matches facing them tonight the Canadians need only two more wins to qualify for the second half of the round against the United States in Pasadena, Cal., next week-end.

The 35-year-old Birch lost 9-15, 15-7 17-14 to Indian champion Divinder Mohan of Madras.

Johnny Samis of Vancouver put Canada back in the running with a 15-9, 15-10 victory over team captain George Lewis of Lahore and then Canada swept the doubles.

Ted Pollock of Toronto and Roy Smith of Woodstock beat Balal Ullal and Datta Mugve, both of Bombay 15-7, 15-9. Birch got a measure of revenge when he teamed up with Gord Simpson of Montreal to beat Mohan and Lewis 15-3, 5-15, 15-10.

Nearly 1,500 people at Toronto's swank Carlton Club saw Birch take the first game from Mohan, then falter beneath Mohan's accurate placement shots With the score tied at 14-14 in the final game, the agreed to play for three points and the Indian took three straight.

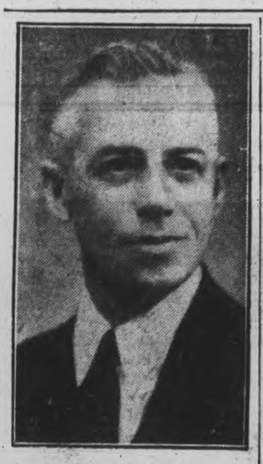
WHO'S WHO IN PETERBOROUGH'S MUNICIPAL CONTESTS MONDAY



Arthur Bernard Burrows, A candidate on the aldermanic slate, is sub-district administrator for Department of Veterans' Affairs. He came to Peterborough 36 years ago from his birthplace in Birmingham, England, and worked for Dickson, Turnbull and Richard Hall companies. In 1921 after service overseas with the 93rd Battalion and 16th Battery, he moved to Lakefield to open a branch drygoods store for the Dickson Company.

He managed the business for 12 years and finally took it over himself and during this period was elected to the Lakefield reeveship. For six years he was trustee of both Public and High Schools, and was secretary of the library board, secretary-treasurer of the board of trade, president of the Canadian Legion for three years. Mr. Burrows was also secretary of the athletic association and curling club.

After moving to this city he was president of the Peterborough Male Voice Choir for ten years, president of the Workers' Educational Association Credit Union, for four years and director of the Ontario Credit Union League. While he was assistant manager of the unemployment insurance commission, he was transferred to DVA work.

Mr. Alfred Barber, who is an aldermanic candidate was born in Belfast, Ireland. He received his early education in Reading, England and in Quebec. Mr. Barber finished his education in Cochrane, Ontario.

In northern Ontario Mr. Barber did construction work on the Northern Ontario Railroad and at the Abitibi Electric Power Company at Island Falls. Later he was employed at the Lakeshore Gold Mines. From there Mr. Barber came to Peterborough. This was 14 years ago. He was employed at the Omemee tannery. At the present Mr. Barber is employed at the Canada Packers.

Mr. Barber is president of the Allied Labor Council. He has been president of the Local 210 UPWA three times and vice-president twice. He is on the executive of the Peterborough Gladioli Society.

John Beggs, is one of the Labor candidates running for City Council. He is president of Local 293 UPWA, and treasurer of the Allied Labor Council.

He was born in a mining village in Lanarkshire, Scotland and started working underground at the age of 13. Wishing to improve his formal education he attended night school for three years and studied nightly after he came home from his work in the mines.

The First Great War interrupted his studies at Hamilton Academy where he was planning on a career as a mining engineer. Altogether he spent more than four years in the British Army.

In 1920 he went to Pennsylvania to study United States mining methods, and while still on this continent he made a trip to Peterborough.

After completing his visit to the United Sates he went back to Scotland, but later he decided to work in Peterborough. In 1929 he left coal mining for hard-rock mining in Timmins and Kirkland Lake. He did not like it and returned once more to Peterborough where he gained employment with the Quaker Oats. He has been with that firm for 19 years, and is now president of the Local.

ALD. Hurrell Dodds, In his four years in the council, Ald. Hurrell Dodds has been chairman of the parks and property committees, and is the present chairman of the board of works. Apart from those civic positions, he is chairman of the trustee board of the Canadian Legion.

It is hardly necessary to recall that Ald. Dodds has been chairman this year of the building committee of the Civic Arena, now almost complete as the first covered rink Peterborough has had for too many years. He has been one of the most active members of the Lions Club in its development of playground and swimming accommodation for children at Riverside Park. Peterborough Citizens Band, now in its first year, was organized largely by his energy and enthusiasm. His responsibility as chairman of the board of works has not been an easy position in the council, with so many demands for extension of sewers and sidewalks, and he has also had to supervise the sanitation department, including collection and disposal of garbage. Obviously, he has had to devote a great deal of time to his job on th council, a fact which is probably generally understood by the citizens. Ald. Dodds is an appraiser in the local customs department of the Dominion government.

James Gillespie, a life-long resident of Peterborough, is making his first bid for civic office in the coming election. Since 1927, he has been associated in the operation of the auto dealer firm of Gillespie's garage, which he owns in partnership with his father and brother. He received his education in the city, at King George and Queen Mary public schools and at PCVS. During his life in the city, he has taken an active part in sports, having played on teams in softball leagues. He served for five and a half years with the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, with four and a half years overseas, where he attained the rank of Major. He was one of the troops in the D-Day invasion of France.

Joseph Jebson, a newcomer to the aldermanic ring, was born in Yorkshire, England. He obtained his education in Eengland. When 18 Mr. Jebson was secretary of the Shop Assistants, Warehousemen, and Clerks' Union in Tewsbury. At the age of nineteen he was sent as a delegate to the Yorkshire district council.

In 1911 Mr. Jebson came to Canada. He has always been associated with the food business. For 17 years he was in charge of the Dominion Stores for eastern Canada, 250 stores in all. In 1940 Mr. Jebson came to Peterborough where he managed the E. F. Mason stores. Recently he has been connected with the E. C. Braund stores.

During the First World War Mr. Jebson served with the 75th Battalion Toronto Scottish. He was wounded at The Somme.

Mr. Jebson is chairman of the Memorial Centre. He belongs to the Chamber of Commerce, Peterborough Busines Men's Association, Peterborough Club, and the Peterborough Golf and Country Club.

Maurice E. Ketcheson, who is making a second bid in the aldermanic elections, was born at Wallbridge in Hastings County. His parents were farmers.

When a young man he went to Trenton where he travelled for a house furnishing company. He covered the route from Oshawa to Ottawa. At present Mr. Ketcheson is a jewellery salesman.

Mr. Ketcheson is vice-president of the CCF in Peterborough and is also chairman of the membership committee of that organization. He is a member of the Provincial Council of the CCF.

Mr. Ketcheson is Worshipful Master of the Loyal True Blue Lodge 515 Peterborough, and is also District Grand Master of that Lodge.

Percy Martyn, a contestant for city council last year, Percy Martyn is making his second bid for a seat. Born in Forest, Ont., he received his education in Western Ontario, following with a business course in London, Ont. In 1923, he was appointed branch secretary of the North American Life Assurance Company at London. In 1930, he transferred to Peterborough to take over the position he still holds, branch secretary of the company's office here. In service during the first World War, he was a member of the 6th Battalion, Winnipeg, later being transferred to the Strathcona Horse. He served in France from June 1915 until after the war and was wounded once.

Ald. Adam Sands shares with Mayor-elect Swanston the distinction of being the senior member of the council. He is now completing eight years as alderman, during which he has been chairman of board of works, legal and reception committee and special hospital committee. He has a broad knowledge of the background of the question which will come before the new council, is familiar with the details of the important work of preparing the year's budget, and is directly interested in matters affecting the city's financial position

The administrative experience of Ald. Sands is an asset which he has acquired from all the meetings of council and committees which he has attended durin the last eight years. He is especially familiar with the details of the preparatory stage of the building of the Civic Hospital, and he has been a most genial chairman of the reception committee and its welcoming duties.

Ald. Sands is a member of the realty firm of Sands and Bateman whose enterprise has been shown in the new Brookdale residential section at the north end of the city. It may be mentioned, also, that he has consistently supported the special housing projects which circumstances have forced the council to assume.

SIX ENTERED FOR FOUR VACANCIES ON THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

Ald. Herbert Young, M.D., has served two years as alderman, and with that experience behind him is seeking re-election. This year he has been chairman of the parks committee which has charge of Peterborough's seventeen parks and playgrounds. The public skating and hockey rinks during the winter are also under the direction of the parks committee whose work extends through the entire twelve months, involving much detail that does not attract news headlines.

Part of the duty of Ald. Young's committee is to maintain co-operative relations with Recreation Commission and with the Service Clubs that desire to promote playground facilities for the city's children. The chairman recently had drafted a program of improvements designed as development during the next five years.

Purchase of portable bleachers was an investment of the parks committee this year that were generally used at several of the parks, and finally at the laying of the corner stone of the new Civic Hospital. Ald. Young has suggested that the parks employees might be able to build similar bleachers during the winter.

One of the properties that invite a plan of improvement is at the foot of Lock St., on the river. It requires filling, levelling and seeding, probably with eventual purchase of the river front on the east side of Lock St. Purchase of a power saw to save labor in tree removal provided new equipment for the parks crew this year whose main work is care of the many parks throughout the city, tree planting, and planting and care of many flower beds.

Harry Yudin, who is making his debut as an aldermanic candidate, was born in London, England. His family went to the United States where he obtained his education at Washington and Jefferson College, and the University of Pittsburgh. He has his BA degree degree and Doctor of Laws degrees. While he was at the University of Pittsburgh, he played basketball and baseball. For nine summers Mr. Yudin was camp director at Camp Red Feather, Pa. He was also on the National Camp Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Mr. Yudin came to Canada where he became interested in the movie field. He lived in St. Catharines and while there was a member of the Lincoln and Welland Regiment.

A short time after Mr. Yudin came to Peterborough he became affiliated with the youth organizations of the city. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the Sales and Ad club, the Business Men's Association, and is past president of the Optimists club. At present Mr. Yudin is president of the B'nai B'rith.

Stanley R. Adamson, is a candidate for the Board of Education in the coming Civic elections. He is works-auditor of the Canadian General Electric Company and rose in their employ over the past 20 years from clerk in the accounting department to his present position. In 1942 he was appointed supervisor of accouning for Genelco and after four years came back to the parent Company as Co-ordinator. For a year before he took over his present work he was supervisor of costs and estimating. Office efficiency has always been his specialty.

Mr. Adamson is a Peterborough man and was educated at the King George and Queen Mary Schools and the Peterborough Collegiate Institute and went directly from High School into the CGE.

Golf is his main recreational sport and he is a member of the Kawartha Golf and Country Club. He is also secretary-treasurer of the Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants, Peterborough branch.

Walter E. Bannon, is seeking his third term on the Board of Education. He has already served four years—three years as chairman of the Advisory Vocational Committee, and chairman of the Appointments Committee for one year.

Cornwall Hopes Tin Mines To Be Reopened

BI LESLIE HAYNES.

CAMBORNE, Cornwall, England, Dec. 4— (Reuters). — The men of Cornwall are anxiously awaiting a government decision which, they hope, will result in the re-opening of the famous Cornish tin mines.

Until 50 years ago, the mines had been in constant production for thousands of years. Some 2,000 years ago the Phoenician traders sailed their ships into the small ports fringing this nistoric south-west corner of England to barter their cloth for Cornwall's tin ore.

As the centuries passed, the industry grew, until 100 years ago it employed 36,000 men who extracted 12,000 tons of tin ore a year from the earth. At that time Camborne and the surrounding district was looked upon as the world's main source of supply.

Then came the development of mining overseas.

In Malaya, cheaper alluvial deposits were discovered, and in Bolivia and Nigeria, prospectors were able to produce the metal at cheaper rates.

Suffer Slump

Competition with the Cornish market became intense and Cornwall, unable to compete with with the cheaper foreign rates, suffered a slump. One by one the Cornish mines closed down. In 1918, there were only 30 left. To-day, there are only three which between them produce 600 tons a year.

There are many left who remember when they sold their tin ore at $160 a ton and they compare it with the price paid today of nearly $2,400 a ton.

The recently-formed Cornish Mining Development Association has sent to Hugh Gaitskell, Minister of Fuel and Power, a scheme for reviving the industry with government assistance.

Deep mining at 2,000-4,000 feet is the key to a revival for which, they say, capital of £6,000,000 is required to open up the deposits.

BON VOYAGE — Prime Minister St. Laurent shakes hands with pretty Barbara Ann Scott, Canada's ice-blade queen who makes her first bid for stardom in a New York ice show Dec. 21. Her first engagement runs for approximately five weeks at a reported salary of $10,000.

Bible Lesson Describes Early Christians' Lives

Scripture—Acts 1:8, 2 1-4, 4 1-4, 8 4-17, 25, 11 1-18; 13:1-3; 14:26, 27, 16 1-10; 28 16, 30, 31.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

Our lesson today tells how the Christian religion, beginning as a new way of life among a small group of humble, unlettered men, under the leadership of Jesus of Nazareth, grew until it had spread over the whole of the then known world, Palestine, then Asia and Europe

The New Testament stories give us the entire story—the beginning, growth, and spread of this religion under the leadership of the Master while He was on earth, and after His death and ascension, its continued expansion under His disciples.

Nothing could stop it. Persecution, torture death—its disciples could not be silenced. Obeying the injunction of Jesus to spread the message "in Jerusalem, and in Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth," in the nearly 2,000 years since the time the apostles started their missionary work, there are no civilized nations on the face of the globe that have not heard, in part, at least, of the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

It was just before Jesus' ascension that, being with His Apostles, He told them that He was leaving them, but that they should take His message to the whole world. Then, "He was taken up, and a cloud received Him out of sght."

MEMORY VERSE

"Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all the nations"—Matthew 28 19.

Jesus had told them that they would receive the power of the Holy Ghost, and while they—the Apostles—were gathered together on the day of Pentecost, this came true.

The Holy Ghost descended upon them accompanied by a mighty wind that filled all the house, and cloven tongues of fire sat upon each of them, and they began to speak in other tongues—signifying that they would be able to bring their message to others who spake not their language.

Peter and John, preaching from the temple steps in Jerusalem after performing a miracle, aroused the anger of the Sadducees, because they preached Christ risen from the dead.

These men — many of whom were rich and powerful—laid hold on them and put them in custody for the night, as it was evening. Nevertheless, about 5,000 persons were converted that day.

Soon great persecution started, and the disciples were scattered. Philip went to Samaria and preached Christ to the people there. They listened and believed. Among these people was one Simon who was a charlatan—one who pretended to perform miracles, fooling the people. After listening to Philip, Simon too was converted and continued with Philip.

Now there arose dissension in the church because certain of the Jews felt that if a Gentile received the message, he should become a Jew — be circumsized. Peter, however, had a vision and told it to these doubters.

He saw a sheet let down from heaven with all manner of living things in it. A voice said to him, "Rise, Peter, kill and eat." Peter was horrified and said he had never eaten anything unclean—meaning the meats the Jews considered unclean. "What God hath cleansed, that call not thou unclean." The argument eventually died out, and Gentiles were received the same as Jews.

We do not have space to tell of the missionary journeys of Saul —Paul — and Barnabas out of Antioch to Greece, and later of Paul and Timothy, the son of a Jewess and a Greek. And how whle they were at Troas a vision appeared to Paul of a man of Macedonia, who prayed to him to "come over into Macedonia to help us." So to Macedonia in northern Greece they went.

For nearly 20 years Paul traveled, spreading the gospel over the earth, but finally his wanderings were ended. He was taken prisoner in Rome—into "protective custody," as they say today.

Paul was allowed to live in a house of his own, but with a soldier to guard him. Nero was then on the Roman throne—Nero, the arch persecutor of Christians who martyred thousands of believers including Paul.

Yet here, guarded as he was, Paul at this time was allowed to "receive all that came to him. Preaching the kingdom of God, and teaching those things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ, with all confidence, no man forbidding him."

A map showing the missionary journeys of Paul and his companions would be most helpful in teaching this lesson.

Shanghai City of Rumors Citizens Fearful of Future

SHANGHAI, Dec. 4 (Reuters). —Shanghai to-day is a city of wild rumors. Its worried, hard-pressed population, uncertain about the future, about the food supply and soaring prices, and fearing the worst if the Chinese Communists should march in, have turned this city into one of the world's most prolific rumor factories.

Each day brings a fresh crop of rumors, all credited to "reliable sources" and "official quarters," to add to the daily rehash of old ones.

One which crops up regularly at least once a week, for example, is that President Chiang Kai-Shek has resigned and turned over the government to Vice-President Li Tsung-Jen. The latter is said in turn to have concluded a coalition pact with the Reds.

Press agencies and newspaper offices receive calls at all hours from people who have "heard from reliable quarters that Nanking has fallen."

Another wild rumor which gained apparently city-wide circulation was a report that the city's water supply might be cut off "at any moment" by Red saboteurs.

The rumor spread rapidly with the result that most Chinese families had their tubs, basins and whatever other containers they could lay hands on filled to the brim with water.

Favorite Tale

"Peace talks" between the Nationalists and the Communists is also a favorite tale among the rumor-mongers. But observers here attribute this largely to the wishful thinking on the part of a population, buffeted by fears of impending disaster and longing for stable conditions.

The prize rumor, however, which is still gaining ground, is that Shanghai will be turned over to the foreign powers and internationalized.

Neutral observers here believe that there are too many "insurmountable" difficulties involved in such a plan. They state that, apart from the Chinese distaste for extra-territoriality and their insistence on observance of sovereignty, the difficulties of making Shanghai an international city are greater than any issue raised by Chinese sovereignty.

Proceeds from the sale of tickets will go towards the cost of constructing two pools by the Lions Club at Riverside Park. HURRICANE SHIP SKIPPER —Capt. H. N. Lawson, of the ill-fated British freighter Leicester, is shown in Halifax where he stopped over on his way to Baltimore where his ship is being repaired. Abandoned during an Atlantic hurricane, the Leicester was later located by a Halifax tug and towed to Bermuda. Another hurricane drove her aground and she was then taken to Baltimore for repairs. She is scheduled to clear there Dec. 10

History of Church Told in Bible

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Acts 1:8; 2:1-4; 4:1-4; 8:4-17; 25; 11:1-18; 13:1-3; 14:26, 27; 16:1-10; 28:16, 30, 31.

By Alfred J. Buescher

Just before His ascension, Jesus was with His apostles, and He told them: "Ye shall be witnesses unto Me both in Jerusalem . . . and unto the uttermost parts of the earth."

On the day of Pentecost, the apostles being together, suddenly from heaven came a rushing, mighty wind, and there appeared unto them cloven tongues like fire that sat upon each one.

Peter and John preached in the porch of the temple, and the Sadducees, hearing them, were grieved because they preached the resurrection, and they laid hands on them.

Paul, arrested by the Roman authorities, was allowed a house of his own in which he lived for two years, and received all those who came to him.

MEMORY VERSE—Matthew 28:19.

A Precious Scripture Message

By REV. E. R. JAMES

Paul unto the Church of the Thessalonians, which is in God the Father and in the Lord Jesus Christ. Grace be unto you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.—I. Thess. 1:1.

As a devout Christian are you deeply moved that this is the first mention of the Lord Jesus in Christian literature. This letter was written about A.D. 51: about 20 years after the death, resurrection and ascension of the Lord Jesus. It is well to remember that these words are full of teaching, dogma.

It is too much, to ask you to imagine a scholarly Greek gentleman glancing at this roll in the spirit of curiosity. He notices that the writer is a Jew with a Roman name—Paul. He gives the Jewish salutation of peace in the Name of God the Father. He knew that the Jew believed in the one living God, whom he called Jehovah, Father. He would be astonished to note the coupling of God the Father with Jesus Christ. We are so familiar with this arrangement that we do not realize the tremendous meaning.

Want All Leases To Expire At Same Time

"I think it is fortunate that this question of the proposed sale of the properties the city owns in this block came up at this time," said Ald. Hugh Waddell to the committee of the whole council. "The investigation into the values has given us all a clearer understanding of these properties, and I am sure that councils for the next 10 years would not have realized the value we have in this central block, if the council of this year had not been required

The committee recommended to make a thorough inquiry."
the adoption of a policy of leasing the ground floor stores under the market hall, until 1952 to 1955 when present agreements of tenancy expire with certain two and three year extension options. That is the short view until the store leases have all arrived at the same basis of expiry.

In the meantime the council will be prepared to discuss with any prospective purchaser terms and other matters relating to the market square.

The leasing policy was adopted in a motion by Ald. Waddell, seconded by Ald. Doug. Miller. It may be remembered that the council had appointed a small committee some months ago with Ald. Waddell as chairman to consider the entire matter of the market properties and a previous suggestion of disposing of the whole block aso pportunity permitted.

Present leases are staggered, they are expiring at different times in the next three or four years. Ald. Waddell said that when the encumbrance of lease periods has been removed the council will have the entire store block in a clear position. It could be then offered for sale or a long time lease, depending upon the policy of the council when the conditions have changed to that extent.

In the meantime, the council is retaining ownership, and would receive any benefit of increment.

Council is willing to consider sale of the vacant land of the market block if some attractive offer is received. That transfer would involve the council in setting up a new market, and revives the broad question of the market and its usefulness to the citizens.

HEAD BOY AND GIRL, chosen by student-ballot and teachers alike of PCVS, were presented with prizes at Friday's Commencement Exercises. Head girl, Barbara Lawrie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas J. Lawrie, 480 Charlotte St., was presented with the Mrs. R. F. Downey Prize by Mr. R. F. Downey, BA, and the Canadian Council of Women Scholarship by Mrs. W. Addyman. Henry Dinsdale, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Dinsdale, 354 Park St. N., was chosen head boy. Principal C. S. Browne presented him with the H. R. H. Kenner Memorial Prize and the Melville C. Robinson Memorial Prize.

Sleigh Ride Planned For Scouts And Cubs

A sleigh ride for Cubs and Scouts was planned by the St. John's Cub and Scout Mothers' Auxiliary at a meeting in church parlors at which Mrs. T. A. Mortyn presided. Plans were made for a sleighing party in January with lunch to follow.

It was decided to donate new screens required for cub work and G. Groombridge was authorized to order them.

At a social hour Mrs. G. Green and Mrs. H. Elcome were tea hostesses.

WARM ON THURSDAY

The temperature moved up to 52 on Thursday and shoppers basked in September-like weather. Last night the mercury tobogganed down to 22, but the weatherman came back this morning with the heartening news that the warm weather should continue for a few more days.

Police Say Carelessness Behind Most Car Thefts

Carelessness of the owners is the root cause of most car thefts. This is the opinion of traffic officers and police. Like much of the rest of their work, that department involves a great deal of protecting people from their own folly. Their records of car thefts show how this applies.

"I would say that 75 per cent. of the thefts in the city are due to drivers leaving their cars parked and with the keys left in them," said Traffic Officer Harold Mesley. With a sitting target like that, police say, it is hard for the light-fingered gentry to resist the temptation. And it's hard to get very sympathetic with car owners whose thoughtlessness brought on the theft in the first place.

The theory of "crossing wires" to start keyless cars is easier in books than in practice, police say.

"It takes a pretty good mechanic to do a thing like that," said Traffic Officer Claire McGillen.

"Most persons can go right on crossing wires . . . but few of them know what wires and how to do it. With the newer models of cars, the job gets tougher, not easier."

There is a way to do it, he added. But the officer was not passing out any instruction sheets, even to the omnipresent press. As a "trick of the trade" it is occasionally used by the police themselves to get a parked car off a road, to help out a driver who has lost his key, or for some other legitimate reason. The knack is handy to know, but not nearly as widely-practised as the public thinks.

About a dozen cars a year are stolen in the city of Peterborough. Of those taken in the past 10 years or more, records show that only three have not been recovered.

Most of the cars stolen in the city are found right here. Some, of course, which have been taken to some distance, are recovered with the assistance of provincial police and forces in other cities. All departments keep in close touch with one another, trading lists of stolen vehicles. Every department maintains a record, revised from day to day, of cars missing from around its district and from other points in the province.

Have Poor Memories

Many are the incidents which frenzied owners title "theft" turn out, after some polite police checking, into mere forgetfullness. It is amazing, the officer will tell you, the number of drivers who park their cars, then promptly forget where they left them. Often a walk to the next block shows the vehicle sitting there placidly—right where the excited owner had left his faithful steed.

Ask a policeman: What's the best way to keep my car from being stolen?" and his answer is simple. It is so simple, it should go without saying, but police know from experience how many drivers ignore it.

"Be sure to lock your ignition and doors when you leave it."

The police also advise against leaving articles of value in cars. If such are left, put them out of sight. Passersby with a loose regard for the rights of ownership might be attracted. Once in the car the sight of the key dangling there might be too powerful. Don't give them that temptation, is the best course.

Resort Owner Appeals Convictions

COBOURG, Dec. 4 (ENS)—Appeal of Joe Kelly, Roseneath tourist resort owner against two convictions under the LCA was heard by Judge M. A. Miller in chambers yesterday here. H. R. S. Ryan of Port Hope and J. C. M. German of Cobourg acted for the appellant, the judge reserving his decision. Kelly was sentenced to two months in jail for "keeping for sale" and $10 and costs for having liquor in an illegal place when he came up before Magistrate R. B. Baxter in court here last October.

AMPUTATES PART OF TOE

It would seem that a person isn't safe in jail these days. On Friday afternoon a prisoner was having a shower at the county jail when he slipped and severed a portion off one of his toes. There is a metal skirting along the walls of the shower, a few inches above floor level. As the man fell his foot slid forward and caught under the metal skirting, thus severing part of his toe.

THANKS TO R. FORD

A little orchid for Dick Ford for his half hour carillon matinee Friday afternoon as a salute to its perfect weather. The occasion called for something rather more lyrical than Mr. Ford's music, but it was a pleasant sound in the pleasant afternoon. As a community felicity, the chimes at St. John's are not used frequently enough, and with broad variety of program.

48 Dogs Killed Painlessly In November

During the month of November the Humane Society painlessly killed 48 dogs and 56 cats, it was announced at the monthly meeting this week.

The November report also disclosed that four dogs were killed on the streets as were four cats and one hen. Of 28 dogs picked up, 12 were returned to their owners.

One unusual trip during the month was to Bethune and Wolfe Sts. where a stray cow was recaptured and later returned to its owner, a Green Hill resident.

There was one successful prosecution for cruelty to cattle and another cruelty case is pending. A driver in the retail business was dismissed from his job for ill treating a horse, the Society was informed.

Discussion arose as to the horses at the Nick Peconi farm. It was decided that the public should be re-assured the 20 to 40 horses being ranched there are old, lame, or otherwise decrepit animals and are waiting their turn to be killed for fox meat.

The Society is satisfied that the horses have sufficient water and feed and are able to survive the outdoor weather without unnecessary suffering.

A request from the Society was that drivers of horses should not trot their animals while they are eating from their nosebags. It was stated that the bag made it difficult for the animals to breathe.

Harry L. Hamley Will Do All Purchasing

Purchasing for all departments under the direction of council becomes a responsibility of the city clerk's office, with Harry L. Hamley as purchasing officer, by the decision of the council Wednesday night in adopting the report of the executive committee by its chairman, Ald. Hugh Waddell.

Edward Humpage, city auditor, is asked to prepare a memorandum of procedure in the centralizing of purchases.

City Clerk Outram was authorized to advertise for the services of a young man as clerk in his department. The same report directed A. S. Couper, city treasurer, to collect all accounts owing the city.

Council endorsed the following recommendation of the property committee: "All groups desiring to use either the committee room or council chamber as a meeting place, must communicate with the city clerk at least 48 hours in advance of the time they require such accommodation, and secure his authorization for such use."

American News Company was accepted as tenant of the store at 91 Hunter St. east from Dec. 1st. Their lease is for one year.

By the adoption of the board of works report, the request of A. Comstock & Sons for permission to use the house at the south-east corner of Simcoe and Rubidge Sts., as a funeral home was referred to the city planning board.

City Solicitor Huycke was asked to prepare construction bylaws for: a sewer on Hazeldon St., from Anne St. to Charlotte St.; sewer on Swanston Ave., to the existing sewer on Curtis Road; concrete sidewalk on Kent St., 215 feet northerly from Romaine St.; sidewalk on both sides of Carlisle Ave.

Another clause in the board's report, presented by Ald. Dodds, was: "That L. T. Titterington be granted permission to build a garage on his lot on King George St., in connection with his residence, provided he has the written permission of his neighbor."

If National Film Board wants additional prints of the Peterborough film, "The Call of the Kawarthas," the board will be responsible for the cost, as recommended by Ald. Anglesey's industrial development committee.

H. Dinsdale, Barbara Lawrie Win Highest Awards At PCVS Commencment

Top honors of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School went on Thursday afternoon to Henry Dinsdale and Miss Barbara Lawrie. Both members of the graduating class for which commencement exercises were held in the school auditorium, they received the awards as "Academic Head Boy" and "Academic Head Girl."

The awards signify leading qualities in scholarship, leadership, sportsmanship and character.

Henry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Dinsdale, 354 Park St. North, and Miss Lawrie is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas J. Lawrie, 480 Charlotte St. He was president of the Student Council of PCVS in his graduating year.

The graduation exercises, in which 200 students received their diplomas, were attended by a large crowd of students, parents and interested citizens which nearly filled the auditorium.

Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, chairman of the Board of Education, was chairman and extended a welcome to the audience and congratulations to the graduate from the Board.

Guest speaker was a former student of PCVS, the Rev. H. Reginald Howden, rector of the Church of St. Michael and All Angels, Toronto. He was introduced by PCVS Principal C. S. Browne, who recalled that the speaker had received the honor of being chosen "head boy" in 1928.

Mr. Howden told the graduates that "the answer to the kind of world ahead lies with you and others like you around the world." He said there were two alternatives—"to go forward into something approaching God's Kingdom on Earth or to go backward into the same kind of war and destruction which we have known."

He recalled some of the memories of the Peterborough school as he remembered them across the years, terming it "the place which holds so many pleasant memories for us all." He paid tribute to the work and example of the late H. R. H. Kenner, principal of PCVS for many years.

"I think with gratitude of the preparation I received here, not only for examinations, but for life itself . . . may God guide it in its great work."

Absent 18 Years

Summing up the 18 years that he had been away from the city, he said that the "face of the world had been changed with upheaval—the first half with the depres-

Voters will be given three ballots if they are property owners, two if they are not qualified to vote on the money bylaw.

Twelve names are shown on the council ballot. In alphabetical order they are: Alfred Barber, John Beggs, Arthur Burrows, Hurrell Dodds, James Gillespie, Joseph Jebson, Maurice Ketcheson, Percy Martyn, Peter J. Mather, Adam Sands, Dr. Herbert Young, Harry Yudin.

Every voter should remember Peterborough's trick regulation: you must vote for four candidates for council. You may vote for five; you must—for four.

Board of Education ballot shows the names of: Stanley Adamson, Walter Bannon, Dr. Ralph Honey, Frank Jobbitt, Dr. Ross Matthews, S. O. Shields.

There are four vacancies on the Board. Public School supporters may vote for any number of the candidates from one up to four.

Don't spoil an aldermanic bylaw by voting for fewer than four.

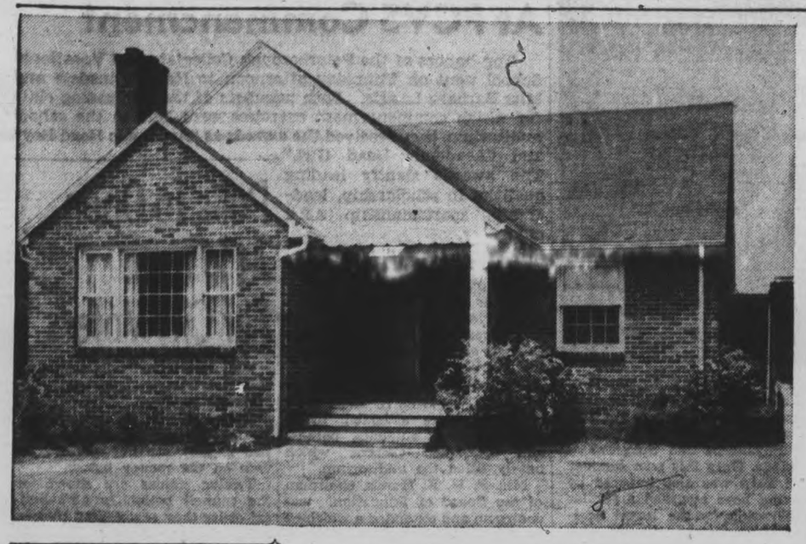
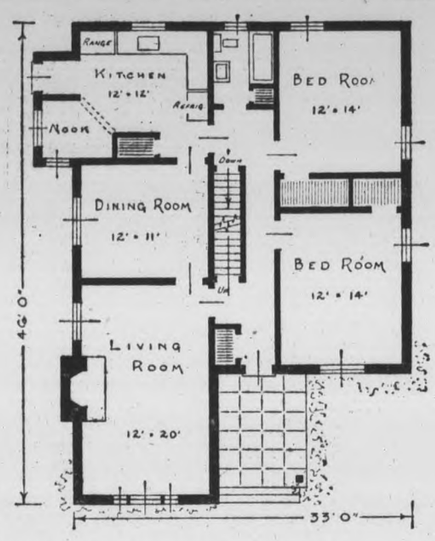
PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT





HOUSE NO. 452—A sturdy red brick home with five good-sized rooms. There is space for additional rooms on the unfinished second floor. Both bedrooms are identical in size—and what fine proportions they have, too: Notice that they are separated from each other by closets and that etch has cross ventilation. Rooms are neatly placed around the long centre hall, which carries all house traffic. Sleeping rooms are to the right, and the living area to the left—with the bathroom conveniently located at the end of the hall. Kitchen equipment forms a work-easy "L" shape, and there is a window placed directly over the sink. The breakfast nook is bright and handy to the meal preparation centre. Better Save On Small Items Than Reduce Size of House

No matter what size home, every family which has ever started to build has been faced sooner or later with the necessity of "cutting the cost". It is better to make savings in small items than to reduce the size of the house. Ample space is more important than fine finish, built-in improvements, and gadgets. There are printed below a few suggestions as to how you may "cut" the house you want which has turned out to exceed the budget.

1. A square is the most economical form in which a given amount of space may be enclosed.
2. A low-pitched roof costs less than a high one. A roof without dormer windows costs less than one with dormers.
3. An inside chimney costs less to build than a decorative one on the exterior.
4. The fewer the outside corners the lower the cost of the house. A recatangular house is cheaper than an L shape.
5. An elaborate exterior cornice requires expansive material and a great deal of labor. Its value is purely ornamental.
6. If you are building a basement, a sloping lot requires less excavation than a flat one.
7. A tile cinder, or concrete block foundation is usually less expensive than a poured concrete basement wall.
8. Room sizes which conform to the standard lengths of lumber produce a house which may be built with less haste...less labor.
9. Bay windows are very beautiful, but they cost more than twice as much as the ordinary kind.
10. Be sure that your plans call for nothing but "stock" windows and other millwork. Special millwork has no place in a low-cost house.
11. The lower grades of flooring look just as well when finished and serve just as well...they cost less, but last as long.
12. Light fixtures are attached to the house after it is built. They may be changed any time ...start out with inexpensive ones.
13. Watch your door pattern Some doors cost less than others, but you can't tell the difference when the house is finished.
14. Stained woodwork is cheaper than painted. There are many interesting new light stain treatments which will save decorating money.
15. A short driveway costs lots less than a long one. Watch the garage location...you may easily double driveway costs to no advantage.
16. If you have to eliminate a room make it the dining room.
17. For screen savings why not use the galvanized half-window length kind? You get such a lot for your money.
18. It is not necessary ...when you are building a new home... to finish both bathrooms. You can have the pipes set...and then lock the door 'til you can afford the kind of plumbing you really want.
19. Siding, for the outside of the house, comes at various prices. Some of the best looking kinds are the least expensive.
20. Locate the fireplace so that the chimney which serves your heating plant can carry the fireplace flue also.
21. Your plaster walls can be finished with an inexpensive paint You can paper them later.
22. If you are burning coal now but hope some day for automatic heat...you can most economically wire for the thermostat while the house is being built.
23. Floors offer an opportunity for real savings. There's a lot in the finishing...and many of the best examples of low-cost homes today are floored with short lengths of wood flooring which takes beautiful finishes.
24. The style of your house will have much to do with the cost. Remember that the two-storey house requires less basement and less roofing for the amount of living space provided...than a one-storey house does.
25. Rough plaster left gray makes an interesting wall texture. Or you can finish-plaster a spare room and leave the floor laying for later on.
26. Stairs are least expensive if built between partitions.
27. Eliminate gingerbreak trimming on the exterior of the house. Keep it simple and let the proportions of the building make it beautiful, not the fretwork.
28. Look over the inexpensive stock millwork which your lumber dealer has to offer. You'll be surprised at the modern improvements in such lines.
29. And about the basement recreation room. Will you use a finished basement enough to warrant the expense? Or can that wait until you've settled into the house for a few years?

Prairie Farmers Safeguard Can. Economy

By FORBES RHUDE.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 4 — (CP).—The Western farmer, producer of most of Canada's exportable food surplus, is keeping a flow of money running into the Canadian economy and providing about the surest safeguard against any bad recession.

As a part of this, he is doing all right himself. Across the Prairies one hears stories of the wheat chequest to individual farmers running to $10,000 and more or of others carrying around in their work clothes creased and greasy cheques in four figures which they haven't bothered to cash. Many are holding one or even two years' wheat crops unsold, regarding them as so much money in the bank.

Much of this money is being saved because there is only a limited supply of heavy goods, such as cars and farm machinery, on which to spend it, and it is this surplus which will stand in good stead in less expansive days.

While much is being saved, much also is going into circulation for farm repairs and modernization, or purchase of more land. In many places the farm kitchen is turning from the old-fashioned range to a citified planned layout — with an assist from rural electrification and modern fuels.

Across the provinces, Departments of Agriculture and universities, as well as farmers themselves, are giving thought to keeping farming on a profitable level.

British Planners Seeking To Improve Midland Area

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Dec. 4—(CP)—Immediate steps to breathe new life into the "Black Country"—Britain's industrial Midlands—are advocated by a committee of experts which has just completed an exhaustive survey of the region.

The experts included Sir Patrick Abercrombie, whose plans for the development of Greater London have largely been accepted by the Ministry of Town and Country planning.

He and his colleagues say that the Midlands, rather than trying to reduce their population, should prepare for an increase to 3,785,000 in the next five years, compared with the present 3,400,000.

The recognize the area's importance as a producer of wealth and a magnet for industry and population, conditions which an intensified export drive is apt to increase rather than lessen.

Their 750,000 word report says that the Midlands can easily support an additional population, but it urges a drastic reshuffling in present living conditions. Some towns could expand, while others should be reduced in size.

One of the gravest problems in many Black Country towns, says the report, has been created by the "flight to the fringe" of upper and middle class residents. They have sought suburban homes, leaving the towns almost completely to the working classes.

Quick Remedy Needed

The result has been a decline in social and cultural amenities which should be remedied at once, and a deterioration in housing standards. The experts recommend such towns be given priority in a re-housing program.

Their plan pictures Birmingham as the business, administrative and cultural centre of the West Midlands. To develop properly on this scale it should lose 223,000 residents, bringing its population down to 990,000 by 1962.

Other towns which should be reduced in population are Wolverhampton, Smethwick and Walsall. Their surpluses could find homes in expanding areas like Solihull, Sutton Coldfield, Tettenhall and even farther afield. Burton, Redditch, Stafford and Worcester are also capable of expansion.

Rugby and Coventry should also be developed, while Stratford, Warwick, Leamington and Malvern should be reserved for national and regional resorts and centres for the arts.

The London Times gave the report an editorial welcome, saying "it is heartening to find the territorial planners accepting the challenge of economic realities and making it the foundation for a sensible strategy for gradually redeploying resources within the West Midlands, in order to secure the reconstruction of its older towns into communities which may hope to better both their industrial efficiency and their social well-being."

Percy Kilbride Doesn't Care For Film Parties

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 4 (AP)—What happens when fame is thrust upon a man in middle-age?

"Well, it's not easy to adjust to it," declared 60-year-old Percy Kilbride, the hawk-faced character who has brightened many a Hollywood movie

"You see, I've always been a solitary sort. I never cared much for parties. Oh, I belong to the Lambs Club, but whenever I drop in I usually just have a drink and leave. I've always kept pretty much to myself.'"

His quiet life continued the same as long as he remained a stage actor. But then he was brought to Hollywood for "George Washington Slept Here" and immediately scored as a bucolic character. Many film roles followed and fans began to recognize him.

"It was very hard at first to get used to people staring at me," he remarked. "I was quite uncomfortable. But then I got so I could become unconscious of the stares.

"I had a following when I was on the stage, but they would leave me alone. Since I came to pictures, it is different. You see, I have no wife, and I am alone much of the time. When people see you alone, they think you want company."

Kilbride said he is often accosted on trains or in restaurants by people who want to meet him and want him to meet their friends. "Then I sit down with them and they expect me to say something funny."

The mild-mannered actor indicated he preferred his solitude.

"I imagine it is much worse for the really big stars," he added modestly. "I imagine that is why they have their own parties among themselves."

Vancouver Girl Has Date In N.Y. Revue

By PAT USSHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 —(CP)—Auburn-haired Lorraine Browning of Vancouver has a date at the Persian room of New York's stately Plaza hotel Dec. 16 and she hopes it will be a lengthy one.

That's the opening night of a revue-type show called "new faces" in the posh hotel room. The 22-year-old Miss Browning has a solo dancing part in the Leonard Silman show.

Miss Browning's first job was as a cigaret girl at the Palomar supper club in Vancouver. That was in 1942. Later she appeared as a singer in some of the club shows.

Silman specializes in promoting little-known young performers in his "new faces" shows, other versions of which have been broadcast and televised. George Hall, Toronto-born comedian, appeared recently in a Silman broadcast show.

Busy Actor

Walter Huston, Toronto-born actor, was asked the other day out on the Pacific coast if he would ever retire. "Actors never retire," he replied. "If a good part comes along, you do it." However, he admits he doesn't mind the idleness between roles: "I'm the busiest guy you ever saw—I cook and do wood work and I like to go to the shows and watch the other guy do the work."

New Title

"Japhet," the comedy produced by Toronto-born John Yorke. has been retitled "Oh, Mr. Meadowbrook!" the Ernest Truex vehicle, which played last month in Yorke's native city, now is undergoing revisions and is due to arrive in New York the week of Dec. 27. "Magdalena," the lavish musical with a score by Heitor Villa-Lobos of Brazil, closes this week-end, afte r88 performances. A magnificent spectacle, it is reported to have cost $360,000 to produce. Advance tickets were on sale until mid-January but apparently the weekly intake of $35,000 needed to break even was too big a handicap.

TURNING THE PAGES OF "Canada Unlimited"

In 1621, Marie Couillard, daughter of Canada's first farmer, Louis Hebert, cooked her husband's meals in a large iron pot suspended in their big stone fireplace.

50 years later French farmers had a stone open-air cooking oven called a "caboose". This type of oven can still be seen in some parts of Quebec.

In the 18th century, Father Biard suggested using an iron box, such as used in Germany, for a wood fire. This was Canada's first type of stove.

After Canada's first gas company was started in Montreal in 1847, the gas stove was introduced. This, with the electric range which was developed early in this century, changed the Canadian kitchen.

Today, the modern homemaker has at her command many types of sleek, efficient stoves to lighten her work.

These developments portend still greater opportunities for there's room to grow in Canada Unlimited.

Hit-Run Victim Sues Registrar

Harold Harrison, 23, now a patient of Civic Hospital and formerly of Instow, Saskatchewan, was on Friday awarded $5,000 damages in an action for damages against the Registrar of Motor Vehicles for Ontario. This was handed down in a judgment by Mr. Justice Genest in the closing day of the current non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court.

First action for damages against the Registrar of Motor Vehicles that has been entered in Peterborough County began to-day at the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court, Mr. Justice Genest presiding.

(Under Section 93E of Highway Traffic Act people who are victims of car accidents are permitted to sue the Registrar if they are free from blame and the other party cannot be found.)

Harold Harrison, 23, now in Civic Hospital, to-day entered his action for $5,000 damages, the maximum claim allowed. He was represented by Walter H. Howell while E. H. Silk, KC, was solicitor for the Registrar.

Mr. Harrison, who is formerly of Instow, Saskatchewan, but who came to the Peterborough district more than two years ago, claims he was struck by a hit-and-run motorist as he walked home on the night of July 12, 1947.

Dr. H. G. Carleton and Dr. Donald Whyte testified as to the plaintiff's disabilities. Dr. Whyte produced X-ray plates of the broken right leg and fractured left knee.

He stated that there was some doubt whether or not the leg would ever properly heal, and added that there was a possibility it would have to be amputated. Even if the injured limb did heal he estimated a 15-20 per cent disability; and in the event of an amputation, 45-50 per cent.

The left knee was 10-15 per cent impaired, he said.

Defence counsel limited his remarks to computing possible contributory negligence. Mr. Silk said that the plaintiff was too close to the paved surface of the road, particularly in view of the fact that the smooth shoulder of the road was 11 feet wide at the point where the accident occurred.

The defence also argued that Harrison made no attempt to avoid the oncoming car.

Mr. Justice Genest decided that there was no contributory negligence because the plaintiff had the right to assume when he was so far over on the shoulder of the road that he would not be struck by a car.

Damages amounted to $1,220.71 for doctor bills, hospital bills and travelling expenses; $900 for loss of wages during his 15-month period of unemployment, and $3,500 for general damages, including pain and suffering.

Altogether the judgment added up to $5,600.71, but the Justice rednuced this to $5,000 which was the amount asked for in the statement of claim, and the maximum which can be paid under Section 93E of the Highway Traffic Act.

He told the court he was hit by an oncoming car about a mile north of Peterborough on the Chemong Road, According to his testimony he was walking on the left side of the road on the gravel, about four feet from the paved surface, when he was knocked down.

As a result of this accident he was taken to the Civic Hospital, where it was learned that he had a broken right leg, a fractured left knee, and a head injury. Since then he has had several operations on his leg and lengthy hospitalization in both Peterborough and Regina.

Mr. Harrison earned his living as a farm worker, but since the accident he has not been employed. He limped into court on crutches, and had a cast on his leg almost from ankle to thigh.

When asked by Mr. Howell how long doctors expected he would have to wear the cast, he replied about a year.

The case is continuing to-day.

HOW VETERINARIANS HELP

Newcastle disease, a new threat to poultry, broke out last spring for the first time in Canada in three provinces. Within two months it was wiped out by veterinarians of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, who quarantined premises, slaughtered several thousand affected birds, cleaned and disinfected premises.

Milk fever in cattle is a result of calcium deficiency. Veterinarians today cure 99 per cent. of such cases. Acute cases which occur after a cow has calved are given intravenous injections of calcium. The effect is almost miraculous, a cure often within 20 minutes.

"RADIO"—FORUM SUBJECT

"I Hear On the Radio" is the subject of Farm Forum broadcast Monday, Dec. 6.

The Forum Guide says the farm people of Canada are fortunate. "In addition to the broadcasts of general interest, they have several programs designed for their particular needs. Outstanding among these is National Farm Forum, the only rural program of its kind in the world The Ohio Farm Bureau has study groups similar to our Farm Forums, but these groups have no radio broadcasts to help them. In the United States the farmers have no nation-wide farm broadcast of any kind."

With that facility of communication of ideas in their own hands, it seems strange that any promotional effort should be required in Ontario townships, and especially in many sections of the eastern part of the province, to stimulate the interest of farm communities in forming their own forums.

In Great Britain radio broadcasting is publicly owned by the British Broadcasting Corporation, and there are no commercial programs. In the United States all radio broadcasting is privately operated and commercialy financed.

All networks in Canada are operated by the publicly owned Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, but there are 114 privately-owned community radio systems. CBC owns 14 stations across Canada and operates three national networks: Trans-Canada, Dominion and French networks. These networks are made up of both CBC and private stations. For example, Trans-Canada is made up of nine CBC stations and 14 private stations.

Forum Guide says it would be impossible to bring radio to all the people of Canada as a paying enterprise under a wholly commercial system as in the USA. On the other hand, "if our radio broadcasting were all done by a publicly owned system, the license fees would have to be many times higher than at present."

CBC is owned by the people, and is responsible to Parliament, and not to the government of the day, as many persons mistakenly believe. As to fees, radio licenses in Great Britain are $4; Australia $3.25; New Zealand $3.80; South Africa $7.75; Canada $2.50.

EXPANSION AT MAPLE

Dufferin has increased to eight counties the area now attached to the Maple cattle breeders' artificial unit, which now extends from Halton on the west to Peterborough on the east with a membership of more than 1,400 farmers.

Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, reports that the local group has been gradually growing. Three memberships were received within the last ten days or two weeks. One was Jersey breeder, another Ayrshire, and there were two Holstein breeders. They were owners of small herds.

Jersey and Ayrshire bulls were added to the unit in June, and approximately 12,400 cows have been bred to the end of November. The total will reach 14,000 by the end of the year. The Maple stud now has 21 bulls, and the association employs 16 inseminators.

Visitors during the Royal Winter Fair came from all the provinces except British Columbia and Prince Edward Island. Among those who took time out from the Royal to see the new plant at Maple were:—Wm. J. McCartney, Ormstown, Que.; A. F. Doure, Bega, N.S.W., Australia; R. Waechter, provincial veterinarian, Regina, Sask.; B. M. Tierholm, Department of Agriculture, Truro, N.S.; A. E. LaFrance, Manager, Artificial Breed Station, St. Pierre, Man.; J. K. King, livestock extension service, Moncton, N. B., and many others.

View of Peterborough Civic Hospital now under construction

A "Quiz" On The Civic Hospital Situation Based On Questions Asked By Citizens:—

On Monday, December 6th, the ratepayers of Peterborough will be asked to approve a By-law authorizing a $1,500,000.00 debenture issue to complete the new Civic Hospital. Below is a list of questions that have been asked by citizens about this project — and the answers:

1.—QUESTION: Does Peterborough really need extra hospital accommodation?
ANSWER: Yes. At present the rated capacity of the Civic Hospital and St. Joseph's is 182 beds.

2.—QUESTION: What hospital accommodation do we need?
ANSWER: Provincial authorities estimate that Peterborough and District must have at least 425 beds to permit proper medical care in hospitals, plus an additional 65 beds for chronic patients.

3.—QUESTION: How many beds will be available when the present hospital expansion is completed?
ANSWER: St. Joseph's Hospital will have 137, and the Civic Hospital 265, making a total of 402 beds, which even then will not meet Provincial estimates.

4.—QUESTION: Are many patients being turned away from local hospitals due to lack of accommodation?
ANSWER: Yes. At the present rate over 660 people will have been unable to obtain hospital accommodation this year.

5.—QUESTION: How is the $3,500,000 estimated cost of hospital and other buildings arrived at?
ANSWER:

Hospital of 265 beds	$2,404,780.00
Power House and Laundry	304,425.00
Residence for 113 Nurses...	479,050.00
Furnishings and all equipment for hospital	376,700.00
	$3,564,955.00

6.—QUESTION: Where is this money coming from?
ANSWER: From the following grants, subsidies and gifts:

Federal	$230,000.00
Province of Ontario	230,000.00
County Council	150,000.00
City of Peterborough	600,000.00
(a) City Trust	300,000.00
(b) Public Utilities	50,000.00
Balance Nicholls Hospital Trust Fund	240,000.00
Sale of Old Building	200,000.00
New Bonds, City of Peterborough	1,500,000.00
	$3,500,000.00

7.—QUESTION: Besides rooms for 113 nurses, what other facilities will the Nurses' Residence have?
ANSWER: The Nurses' Residence is also the nursing school building. Provision is made for class-rooms and laboratories. No space is being provided for any facilities other than those necessary for the ordinary comfort of nurses in residence. There are no large scale recreation facilities of any kind.

8.—QUESTION: Will all this money really be spent?
ANSWER: When the Money By-law is passed, the City will issue debentures only as they are required. Only needed money will be borrowed. The By-law simply sets the maximum which the Council may borrow for this purpose.

9.—QUESTION: Has every possible effort been made to keep construction and furnishing costs to a minimum?
ANSWER: Yes. For instance, the original plans submitted called for a Nurses' Residence costing $738,000.00. Without sacrificing essentials, the new estimate calls for an expenditure of only $479,050.00. All outlays have been subject to similar careful scrutiny to ensure the building of a good, practical hospital without costly and unneccessary frills.

10.—QUESTION: Does the Architect's work cease with the drawing of the plans?
ANSWER: No. The Architect is responsible for seeing that the building is put up in all its detail according to the plans, He must pay from his fee for the engaging of consultants and specialists, and his profit on this contract will be relatively small. The Architect's fees are set by the Ontario Association of Architects.

11.—QUESTION: Of the total cost, how much will actually be spent on the Hospital itself?
ANSWER: Approximately 80%. The rest of the money will be used, as shown above, for such necessary services as is required to operate the Hospital.

12.—QUESTION: What will this Money By-law cost the average Peterborough property owner in taxes?
ANSWER: As half the property taxes are paid for by Business and Industry, only about 50% of the cost of these debentures will have to be borne by home owners. This should work out as follows: The cost of carrying additional Hospital Debentures for $1,500,000.00 and amortizing them over a 20-year period will add approximately 3 mills to the tax rate. As the average assessment for residential property is around $2,200.00, this means that the average cost to the average residential taxpayer will be about 12c a week, or less than 2c per day.

Everyone Agrees The Hospital MUST Be Completed—There Is No Other Solution

Approximately half of the construction work on the new Hospital is completed. To abandon it now would be foolish and a sheer waste of the money already spent. The extra money needed is due only to increased costs, and, as there is no indication these costs will be lower in the near future, the sensible and economical thing to do is pass the By-law and complete the Hospital as soon as possible.

Peterborough needs the Civic Hospital more than ever before — and all groups—Religious, Labour, Business, Service Clubs, Women's Organizations, Educational and Charitable — are solidly behind the project, and join in urging all citizens to get out and vote FOR the Hospital By-law.

Students and Graduates Enjoy School Dance

PVCS students transformed their gymnasium into a lantern-lit ballroom for the Commencement dance Friday evening. The school letters in red and silver on black formed the color scheme key-note and a background for the orchestra with lighted Christmas trees marking the corners of their stand. Evergreens boughs overhung from the gallery and the railing above was laced with streamers. Spotlights were placed judiciously to show the poster silhouettes placed around the walls by art students. These were the "conversation pieces" of the day, depicting "school daze" and some of the activities—dancing, basketball, rugby, field day, orchestra and music, graduation, and even studying.

Music for dancing was supplied by the Sevenaires. In rooms on the second floor refreshments were served to the teachers and to students at intermission.

Those winning prizes during the evening were: Ruth Brown, Jim Fitzpatrick, Jane Abbott, Art Dobson, Beverly Gamble and Roger Hendren.

OAC, OVC Alumnae Organize Local Unit

First large gathering of OAC, OVC and MacDonald Hall graduates living in this district on Friday evening was the start of what may become a very active alumnae organization—if the enthusiasm shown is utilized. With Mr. Jim Wharry as chairman there was 'never a dull moment" either during the banquet or business meeting which were held in the Empress Hotel. Those present were unanimous in their choice of Mr. Grant Morrow, Peterborough, for their president. Mr. Morrow, who is the district representative of the parent Alumnae at Guelph, has been instigator of this meeting, but was unavoidably abent on business. Mr. W. W. Drury, Peterborough, was elected vice president, and Dr. T. W. Hawke, Cobourg, for secretary treasurer.

Veterinaries of the district will be represented in the Association by Dr. J. N. Perry of Peterborough; Peterborough County by Mr. F. C. Paterson; Victoria County by Mr. M. H. Winters; Hastings by Dr. A. Younghusband; Durham by Mr. Gordon Staples; and Northumberland by Mr. Harry Sirett.

Aims and purposes of this Alumnae Association were suggested by Mr. Jock Appleton of Wallaceburg, vice president of the alumnae, who was introduced by Dr. Hary Hamilton. In his forceful address he said: "As graduates of OAC and OVC we represent leaders in agriculture. The basic necessity for maintaining our democratic way of life is a sound agricultural system. To overcome the problems facing our farming minority population leadership was perhaps never needed more than now. Being graduates we are well aware of these problems but we are again a minority group. So, our prime purpose must be to interest influential people in the district, particularly the bankers, in the problems that are facing agriculturists today."

"Since the primary producer the farmer, is not getting the recognition he deserves in this country, it appears that he is seeking other employment. Farmers now represent about 25% of the population, whereas 50 years ago they made up more than 70%, the speaker pointed out. "Yet upon the shoulders of agriculture falls the greatest responsibility in the world."

Also, due to a great deal of exploitive farming, farmers here do not get nearly as much out of an acre as in some countries where they use scientific knowledge to keep the soil in condition. To emphasize that this is a problem that must be realized and remedied, Mr. Appleton defined agriculture: "Through the medium of the green leaf, fed by the soil, the energy of the sun is transferred into the goods we use as food."

"I believe it is the duty of all our graduates to think of what is going on in the agricultural fields and then to ask people in other industries to give thought to these problems. The only way farmers can give city dwellers cheaper beef is to have cheaper operation costs. Those people must be made to understand what the famer, the minority group has to do. They must stop talking about 'hicks' and 'rubes' and dig in and help him find a better way." The speaker then remarked 'In this democratic system these things come slowly and there must be a constant and continual push that we who are members of this Alumnae can give."

At the conclusion of the address, Mr. Frank Paterson spoke briefly, expressing the opinion that the job ahead cannot be done by agriculturists alone. He felt the medium suggested was the right one and that it is the task of the graduates to push the plan. He suggested that each county's members have frequent meetings in regard to the big task of the Alumnae in re-organizing the agricultural system of this province. Opinions running along similar lines were given by Mr. A. D. Dalrymple, Hastings County, Dr. T. W. Hawke, Northumberland and Mr. Gordon Staples of Durham. Dr. J. N. Perry, an Alumnist of both colleges, also endorsed the plan.

The Hon. E. C. Drury, who graduated from OAC in 1900, and was the oldest present by a wide margin, reminisced on the older days to the enjoyment of all. He spoke of studying under the late Dr. Jas. Mills, one of the most outstanding educators of this country, who encouraged studiousness and was most strict on economy and English. "When I was a student at OAC life was a great deal simpler than it later became—with the addition of MacDonald Hall" he remarked.

After extending a hearty welcome Mr. Wharry proposed a toast to the Alma Mater. Speaking of college days he said "We thought they were hard, but now we think they were the greatest. Attending OAC not only gave us education but made it possible to gain friends from outside our community circle and from other lands."

Mrs. W. V. Drury entertained delightfully with a solo, playing her own accompaniment. She also played and led a sing song.

Arrangement of the banquet and social evening which followed was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Drury and Dr. and Mrs. J. N. Perry. Appreciation to them an dthe guest speaker was expressed by Mr. John Buckley.

Those present were: The Hon. E. C. Drury from Barrie; Dr. and Mrs. J. N. Perry, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Hamilton, Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Ford, Dr. and Mrs. John Leslie, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie McWiliams, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Davidson, Dr. and Mrs. Geo. DOROTHY DIX

Man's Wife is Rare Woman Who Makes Home a Career

DEAR MISS DIX I thank God that I am lucky enough to be married to a woman who gets a real thrill out of her job as wife and mother. She doesn't feel that she is wasting her time in making a comfortable home for her husband and children and catering to all their wants and needs. She doesn't leave her youngsters to baby-sitters while she steps out for a gay evening, because she gets a kick out of cuddling them in her arms. She takes pleasure in cooking the dishes that a mere husband especially likes. In a word, she makes her home a real career, instead of a chore.

Dorothy Dix

There would be lots more happy homes and fewer divorces if there were more women like her.

S. E. P.

ANSWER: Amen to that, brother. There is no one thing in the world that would work a greater reformation than for women to wake up to the fact that the most important career they can follow is that of the home-maker. Nor is there anything more tragic than the fact that with the great majority of the sex it is a despised calling.

Even the woman who rears a fine family belittles her job. "Oh, I'm nothing and nobody," she will say, "just a wife and mother," and she will positively grovel before any woman who has a career, no matter how phony it is. It is only too sadly true that there are millions of women who never even think of marriage as a career. They don't see in it great opportunities to help their husbands achieve success. They don't thrill over the knowledge of how they can mold their children into fine men and women. They don't waste any charms on their families. They don't even feed them decently. They let themselves grow dull and whiney and discontented because they are bored with domestic life.

Cause of Delinquency

And that gives us the delinquent children who fill our courts and jails, and the philandering husbands who take to roaming because there is nothing attractive to keep them at home. Pity that so many women do not realize that making a happy home is the best paying career that any woman can follow.

DEAR DORTHY DIX: I am a girl 21, and for the last six months have been engaged to be married. What I really want to know is: Do all girls feel as desperately uncertain as I do? One week I feel overjoyed and as if I couldn't live without my boy friend, and the next week I am perfectly disgusted with him and don't know whether to marry him or not.

I have worried over this for hours a day until I am nearly crazy. I don't think I ever could find a better man to marry, but I am still scared to take the risk I feel as if I should pray to God and leave it with Him. He will take care of me before it is too late. Your advice will be appreciated.

NERVOUS WRECK

ANSWER: Well, you couldn't leave the decision in better hands, and I hope that the Good Lord will send you some message that will set your troubled soul at rest. It is a good idea to take your problems to Almighty Wisdom, especially about marriage. Most marriages need a lot of praying over.

But before you break off with your boy friend, calm down a little. Relax. Nearly all men and women get into a hysterical state on the eve of their marriage. It brings them face to face with the knowledge that they are leaving the old life and entering a new one about which they know nothing, and it scares them blue. But they have to make the plunge and it generally turns out fine.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 21 and divorced from a man to whom I was married for eight months. Do I have to go by my maiden name or my married name? Should I tell people as soon as I meet them that I am a divorcee? If I am asked whether I am single or married, what should I say? At a social gathering should I behave like a married woman or a single girl? How should I break the news of my divorce to my associates at the office? Please tell me what I should do.

ANSWER: Inasmuch as you had to leave your husband after a brief marriage because he had a mental difficulty that made him unsafe to live with, and as you are so young, it seems to me that it would be best for you to assume your maiden name; but your lawyer can advise you better about that than I can do.

As for the rest, do not voluntarily tell people that you are divorced; but if anyone asks you about it, do not make a secret of it. Explain the situation as briefly as possible. If you fall seriously in love with a man who wants to marry you, of course you should tell him of your unfortunate first marriage.

FINE WASHABLE GLOVES—Fine fabric gloves, of double-woven cotton, with hand stitching, and clever detail, have become an integral part of the accessory scheme of the well dressed woman. Pert and pretty is this glove, with its crisp ruffles that outline a sweetly heart-shaped wrist, while sewn seams add length to elegant fingers. Washable gloves have particular appeal when the air becomes sooty and grime-laden.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, December 5

Sunday's horoscope encourages most determined and astute efforts to work toward advanced goals of both practical or experimental or creative inspiration, in which, perhaps, ideals, imagination, and fancy have significance. Spiritual or cultural values are accented, with promotion or preferment in sight. Yet it might be easy to negative these by enmity jealousy, strife.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a period of outstanding success, with subtle returns or recognition for unusual plans, skills or aspirations of a practical as well as idealistic character. There are strange undercurrents in which the hidden and intriguing should be utilized along practical lines. But an excess of emotions or feelings might precipitate inharmony, wounded feelings, and instill jealousy and envy. Adhere to higher values.

A child born on this day may be blessed with many choice talents and ambitions, assuring it place and distinction. It might also encounter jealousy and envy should it deviate from inherent high purpose.

For Monday, December 6

Monday's astrological forecast presages the sudden advent of an event or chain of events that are destined to prove spectacular and breathtaking. While this visitation may prove revolutionary and devastating, the implications are for unlooked-for honors, distinction, favors or recognition, affecting the emotions and feelings as well as place and circumstances. This might concern some novel accomplishment, a startling discovery or scientific creative effort, with romance and gay adventure spotlighting commonplace experiences.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a startling precipitation of unique, novel and sensational experiences, at once devastating and thrilling. Of radical important to the life, its pattern and purpose, this abrupt affair may relate to conscious achievement in invention, science, art, drama or other creative urge. The feelings and emotions are also involved, with romance and joyous adventure in the closeup. Try to accept it with equamity and poise, with regard for spiritual undertones, not carried to extremes of behaviorism.

A child born on this day may be especially rich in skills, talents and endowments for a conscious place in the limelight, for its novel or unique expression of creative drives.

To Relieve Bad Cough Quickly, Mix This at Home

Here's an old home mixture your mother probably used, and, for real results, it is still a most dependable medicine for distressing coughs. Try it once, and you'll swear by it.

It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed. (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.) Anyone can do it.

Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a 16 oz. bottle, and fill up with syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really splendid cough medicine—more than you could buy for four times the money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time. Children take it without the usual struggle.

This splendid home mixture has a three-fold action. You can feel it take hold at once. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. This explains why it gives such quick relief.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for its quick action on throat irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Pinex Is Fast Relief. Easily Mixed. Saves Money.

6—In Memoriams

DAVIS—In loving memory of Gertrude Davis, who died December 5, 1935.
We do not forget her, we love her too dearly,
For her memory to fade from our lives like a dream;
Our lips need not speak when our hearts mourn sincerely,
For grief often dwells where it seldom is seen.
—Remembered by her mother and father, sisters and brother.

DAVIS—In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Thomas Davis, who passed away December 4, 1945.
Yes, she sleeps but not forever,
In a lone and silent grave;
Blessed promise she shall waken,
Jesus died the lost to save.
In the dawning of the morning,
When the troubled night is o'er,
All the buds in beauty blooming
Will rejoice to see her more.
—Ever remembered by the family.

GIARDINO—In loving memory of Louis Giardino who passed away 4 years ago today, Dec. 4, 1944.
His smiling way and pleasant face,
Are a pleasure to recall,

Some day, we know not when,
To clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again.
—Ever remembered by the family.

YOUNGS—In loving memory of Dad and Gramp, Abraham Youngs, who passed away one year ago, December 17, 1947
Dear Percious dead! They have become
Like guardian angels unto us;
And distant Heaven seems more like Home
As those passed on begin to woo us
The love that gave them angel wings,
Has called their flight to higher places;
Our dead have now the power
In us to foster holier graces.
—Ever remembered by wife, Ellen, Winnifred, John, Esther and Carol.

. . . death, suffering, destruction and expense."

"Such has been the record of these past years, such has been the background of your lives. What of the future?" he asked. "I look to the future with faith and hope, for you are well equipped to handle and face your problems. We must never lose sight of the vision of all that is best in life."

Mr. Howden quoted Sir Richard Livingston's definition of an objective in life: "the vision of a country and a world of Christian brotherhood and love."

Great as that vision is, he said, it is even greater to "translate the vision into reality." This, he said, was the task which faced the youth of today.

"It will remain a vision until you go out and help to build it," he challenged the graduates. "In this day of crisis, do your part to make that vision come true."

He urged on the young men and women to "dedicate yourself to the task of translating the vision of all that is good into reality."

Citizens must be prepared to accept the responsibilities which a democracy demands, he said.

"There is too much talk of rights and privileges, too little consideration to the duties which go with them."

Education, the speaker said, should be regarded as "a sacred trust—not something with which to make a soft living, but as something by which you can make a contribution to your fellow men."

In the final phase, he said, man cannot accomplish these things alone.

Need God's Help

"If we are ever to build a country and a world of the best, we must turn to God, ask His guidance and blessing and help. Give God the place He deserves in your lives."

The head girl award to Miss Lawrie was made by R. F. Downey, the Mrs. R. F. Downey prize ring for the coveted title. The winner also received the award of the Canadian Council of Women Scholarship, which was presented by Mrs. William Addyman, president of the Local Council of Women.

Principal C. S. Browne made the presentation of both awards for head boy to Henry Dinsdale—the H. R. H. Kenner Memorial Prize and the Melville C. Robinson Memorial Prize.

Polish Speeches In Last-Minute Election Drive

By The Canadian Press

Candidates for municipal office in 23 Ontario cities today polished their last-minute oratory — final touches to campaign drives that will put many into power after Monday's elections.

Hot fights for the job of mayor, notably at Windsor, Fort William, Sudbury and Stratford, featured campaigns in 15 centres, a Canadian Press survey showed.

But in eight other municipalities the usual battle for the chief magistrate's seat will be absent this year. Acclamations filled the chairs, with one mayor, W. H. C. Brien at Sault Ste. Marie, going back into office for his fourth term.

Other cities where the mayor was re-elected by acclamation were: Kitchener, Galt, Guelph, Brantford, Peterborough, Woodstock and Belleville.

Fort William voters are confronted with a situation believed unique in Canadian municipal history—they will decide whether Mayor Charles W. Cox of adjacent Port Arthur also will fill the chief magistrate's chair at Fort William.

Mayor Cox, liberal member for Fort William in the Ontario legislature, campaigned on a platform of drawing the rival lakehead cities closer together and eliminating what he terms duplication of services.

Two other candidates in Fort William, both former aldermen, are Hubert Badanai, garageman, and Hubert M. Limbrick, tourist camp operator. Mr. Badanai's campaign speeches have sharply criticized Mayor Cox's 15-year record as chief magistrate of Port Arthur.

The Old Guide and Trapper All Out for New Hospital

By GORD BAILEY

The old woman and me has been readin' a lot lately (her readin' and me smokin' and listenin') about the new hospital folks were building over to Peterborough. She'd been in a hospital once and still talked about it whenever she got a chance. So, last Sunday afternoon I'm sittin' smokin' and full of potatoes, turnips and spareribs (we slaughtered Old Fanny this fall . . . that's the sow I bought off Jeff Simmons and called it after his old woman because she reminded me of Missis Simmons every time I saw her), and I was feelin' all kind of snug like and contented, when the old woman ups and asked me to take her out to see the hospital. Well, that wasn't so odd, 'cause I usually took her out somewheres every month or so . . . been kind of soft like that . . . and just as though I'd been struck with the idea myself, I said "Sure".

I guess it was the first time in my life that I made such a quick decision. But then a fellow does odd things now and then at my age.

So I wound up the old Model T and we set out for the city. Well, after all the talk about the town bein' dressed sorta fancy like I thought we would see somethin' worthwhile, but the way things was, you'd never think that the Governor-General had even left Ottawa, it was so tidy.

When we got as far as those new-fangled houses they also blame on the war, I pulled up with a start like, and we set there together looking out across a meadow to a real neat pile of brick and mortar. Boy, that's the slickest building ever in these parts. "If they've got a ladder, I'm goin' to climb 'er," I told the old woman, so we started out up a long hill for the place next to Hugh Stewart's farm where this building was at. Well, sir, I climbed out and then helped the old woman through the side-curtains so she could get a better view. It was all kind of mudy like but we didn't mind, knowin' what bricklayers do with their spare mortar now and again, besides the old woman had on er waders I bought her a couple years ago, and I thought to myself as I give her a slay glance like, that she looked as pretty and as pink as old Fanny that was slaughtered this fall.

Well, some dude come along and said he'd been to the top and there was a durn good ladder inside and to go ahead and take a look at the view from up there. Well sir, the old woman just giggled soft like and didn't say much more than she wouldn't chance that ladder no matter how good it was, so I went ahead personally and by myself.

They certainly have a great building in the makings and though there's a lot to be do done, such as put up walls, get inside plumbin', and fill the window holes with glass and probably smooth out those cement floors a bit for waxin', but I hear they're still workin' at it.

But the roof! Boy . . . . that roof . . . . all verandah-like, and a high wall around it about up to my shirt pocket. Well, there I stood lookin' out across the fields that were kind of grayin' now, with some that was all lit up with the sun that was doin' a dodgin' game behind some clouds. Off there the long hills steeped in a bluish-purple mist was runnin' out and gettin' lost along the horizon. Hugh's farm just sort of lazed there in the late afternoon . . . . and so I stood, just thinkin'. I forgot about the old woman, the Model T and everything else, except this one idea. This view alone, could be an awful lot of healin' for sick folks and I thought as I went down that ladder, "Gosh, they surely didn't have to put a think like this to a vote."

City Parks Due For Clean-up Supt. Seeking More Facilities

Recommendations involving the construction of new roads and bridges, the planting of hedges and the removal of unattractive features in the city's parks are contained in a report which the parks superintendent, Armar W. Butcher, has presented to the Parks Committee. The report was prepared at the request of the committee.

It is suggested that the road running in front of the stage in Nicholls Oval should be closed and a new road opened onto Rogers St. to accommodate the traffic which results from picnics in the park. The report states that this is the finest picnic ground in the city. In addition to a football field, ball diamond and ground for racing, there are swings, teeters, children's slides and sand-boxes which are already in use and it is suggested that a small merry-go-round would be a suitable addition.

Completion of the stage in the amphitheatre is strongly recommended and also the installation of PA system equipment, toilet facilities, a dressing room and a shrubbery on the railroad embankment behind the stage.

The report states that many 'teen-age boys and girls have asked for tennis courts to be built in Inverlea Park, and because of the great demand, suggests that facilities for tennis be provided. A ball diamond, however, is not considered necessary, and if provided, would necessitate the removal of trees which are indispensable to the amenities of the park. A ball diamond on the other side of the river is easily accessible to the older children.

The superintendent reports that in his opinion the swimming beach in Inverlea Park is unsafe. "There is quite an undertow at times," he states, and a strong current outside an under-surface wall is not an ideal condition for swimming. He also considers that the tot-lot in the park "creates a hazard and distracts from the appearance of the park." He thinks it ought to be moved to the shady part of the park as it is too hot in its present position, during the heat of the summer days.

Unsightly Fountain

Although he considers the fountain in Victoria Park to be situated in a beautiful setting, the superintendent states "it is anything but an ornament" and suggests that it is either removed or put into use. It would take a considerable amount of time and expense to put it in working order.

There is a good deal of work requiring to be done in Victoria Park, according to the report. The most urgent is the surfacing of two frequently used paths leading northeast and southeast.

The superintendent comments that Victoria and Confederation Parks are beauty spots in the centre of the city and should, therefore, be kept as places of rest.

The report states that it has been suggested that the introduction of music in King Edward Park would greatly increase the attendance of older people. A bowling green for the southeast side of the park is also recommended.

Fencing is now in hand for the completion of the 10 foot fence in Fleming Park. The park needs to be raised at the south end and a shrubbery along the picket fence would greatly improve the beauty of the park.

There is a suggestion to purchase the property on the opposite side of the road to the park at Lock and McKeller Sts. The old boat houses need to be cleaned and if the shore line was trimmed there would be another park on the river bank. This park, which has only recently been developed, requires playground equipment and should be large enough to be used as a rink house with sports dressing rooms and a rest room with adequate conveniences. It will have to be filled, levelled and seeded and there should be shrubs, flower beds and playing fields.

Point St. Charles is considered a potential picnic and aquatic park. When the lake pollution has been cleared, there will be no limit to what can be done as far as aquatic sports are concerned, the report states. There could be swimming, boating, fishing and regattas.

Hamilton Park, which is being developed by the Kiwanis Club, still requires considerable filling and should be top dressed and planted with trees, shrubs and flower beds and play apparatus should be installed. The attractive setting of this park lends itself well for development into one of the city's finest show places.

Ashburnham Memorial Park, which is administered by the Board of Works, is ideally situated for an illuminated fountain, which would be seen from the four main approaches to the city. The north side is also considered an excellent site for a slide for skiis and toboggans.

The report recommends that the Nicholls Trust, which is responsible for Jackson Park, be asked for permission for the council to develop it as it is the most natural forest parks in the vicinity.

Sports Centre

Riverside Park could be developed extensively as a sports centre. One of the many recommendations for this park is an aquarium for the display of native fish. Another suggestion is for the construction of rustic bridges to connect the islands with the park.

It is suggested that the Lansdown St. ground should be landscaped and the rest of the park developed for such sporting activities as baseball, softball, football and rugby, etc.

Stones have been removed from the property behind Nicholls Hospital. Soil has been top dressed and brushed and the poison ivy has been sprayed.

The council is urged to purchase the waste ground along Jackson Park creek at Donegal and Murray Sts. for development as a playlot. If these properties are not acquired in the near future, the report states, the land will be used for building.

Turner Park should be raised six inches and needs to be landscaped. The building is not yet finished and equipment is needed for the playground.

McKellar Subdivision playlot has been surfaced and reseeded and lights have been installed.

The George St. ground opposite the wharf should be top dressed, levelled, seeded and planted with a hedge and perennial bed.

The New park property at the new hospital is in need of development.

BANDSMEN DINE

The members of Peterborough Citizens Band arranged a dinner for themselves at Kawartha Club Thursday night. Gordon Myles, president, was chairman. Arthur Thomas entertained with card tricks and the musical program was featured with piano and concertina selections by their versatile Czech member who joined the band a month ago. Ernie Gibson, now retired, was present, and also Ald. Hurrell Dodds.

In addition to ginger, ginger ale frequently is flavored with cloves, cinnamon, lemon essence or malt.

Mayor Opens New Theatre Rotarian Funds Swelled

The new Paramount Theatre on George St. was officially declared open by Mayor William Ovens, on Friday. Leading Peterborough peprsonalities were among the audience of nearly 1,000 people who attended the opening ceremony and saw the first movie to be shown in the theatre.

As a tribute to the late Senator Frank O'Connor and the late Roland Denne, a former mayor of Peterborough who did a great deal of public work for the city, Famous Players Ltd. donated the entire proceeds of the evening's entertainment to the Rotary Club. Mr. Clare Collins, chairman of the Rotarians' finance committee, accepted a cheque on behalf of the Club, from Mr. Gordon Miller, manager of the theatre. He announced that when Mr. John Joseph Fitzgibbon, CBE, president of the Famous Players Canadian Corporation learned that the proceeds were expected to amount to approximately $700 he contributed a further sum to give the Rotarians $1,000.

Mr. Fitzgibbon said the Paramount was the 386th Famous Players theatre in Canada. He had known Frank O'Connor and "Rollie" Denne well and recalled that Mr. Denne had often asked him to build a theatre in the city.

During the coming season there would be a tremendous amount of American tourist business in the city, Mr. Fitzgibbon said. In view of Canada's interest in visitors from the States, the Corporation was asking it staff—ushers, doormen, cashiers and managers—to ensure a warm welcome for U.S. patrons of the theatre. He He paid tribute to Mr. Herb. Duerr, the architect of Toronto, and Eastwood Construction Company for their fine job of workmanship under trying conditions.

The manager remarked that many of the arrangements for the evening's entertainment had been made by the Rotarians and particularly by Mr. R. J. Allen who had devoted many hours to the sale of tickets and the provision of entertainment. Mr. H. L. Garner was master of ceremonies.

In the foyer, where guests were received, music was provided by the Peterborough trio — Cecil Searles, Charles Allen and Tom Smith.

The film "The Empress Waltz" was preceded by a number of short films and by songs and a piano recital. Soloists were Helen Hajnik and Don Landrey and Charles Allen and Harry Northrop played piano duets.

Before leaving the theatre every lady was presented with a rose. Guests met in the Empress Hotel later in the evening for a buffet supper.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

A CHANCE TO SHOW OFF

EVERYBODY is human enough to like praise. Especially when he had begun to seem ordinary to those with whom he had been playing a while. And most especially if a great build-up had preceded him and he had received no opportunity to astonish, mystify or thrill his new-found friends. He is likely then to look out with an eager eye for some means to put on a show—not just to live up to expectations, but to take off of an embarrassed spot the admirer who had so loudly blown the bugle for him.

South justified that bidding in his own conscience by the fear that his partner of the moment was a player who might leave him in a less than game contract despite his cue-bid of the hostile hearts. Actually his reason was that he wanted to be the declarer on the last hand of the evening after playing only ordinary bridge until then.

West gave him a chance to go spectacular by leading the heart K and following it with the Q. Instead of ruffing this, South discarded the diamond A! Can't you just hear the others gasp? West then switched to the spade 2, and the K forced the A. The club K and A fortunately felled the J, making the 8 to the 9 a dummy entry, which was used after the diamond K and Q were scored. The diamond J, 10 and 9 then furnished discards for three spades and the contract was home amid oh's and ah's. South hummed a happy song as he then wended his way home.

Your Week-End Question

When a player equipped with the Blackwood convention has a void suit with a bidding situation that seems slammy, under what conditions should he substitute the cue-bid of a suit for the convention as a slam invitation, and under what conditions merely bid five as his invitation?

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Short Course In Agriculture At Norwood Tuesday To Friday, Dec. 7-10 — Federation of Agriculture Noon Luncheon At Empress Tuesday, Dec. 7 — Farm Forum Subject Monday Night Is Canada's Radio System.

Quinte District Seed Growers rejected a proposal to return to Peterborough for their spring show in March at their annual meeting here Thursday afternoon.

They decided to retain their rotary system, and accepted the invitation of Kingston to hold the grain and seed show there in 1949. B. C. Jackson of Enterprise was elected president, succeeding John Rickard of Newcastle; Wilmott Croxall of Uxbridge is 1st vice-president; G. E. Shepherd, Kingston RR 1, is 2nd vice-president, and A. O. Dalrymple, Stirling, is retained as secretary-treasurer.

Peterborough had hoped to bring the Quinte show back to this city again on the strength of the injection of new life and ideas it received here last March in the form of Farmers' Week. Eastern Ontario Brotherhood of Threshermen joined with the Quinte district seed men in a three-day show that presented many interesting displays of interest to farmers and a program of pictures, addresses and other program details.

It is understood that this plan will be retained at Kingston and that the Armouries may be obtained for the seed and grain show.

PROF. RUNIONS' ADVICE

"Economy of production is one thing farmers today must keep uppermost in their minds," Prof. Arthur D. Runions of the department of animal husbandry, OAC, recently told a meeting of Brant County Junior Farmers.

Prof. Runions advised caution in the inflated economy of today, and recommended that farmers watch the markets and adjust their requirements accordingly.

To the juniors he urged them to take pride in their organization and its work, and also in their own industry. If they had any sense of inferiority they should cast it from their minds. Farmers were feeding the world, and they were engaged in one of the finest of man's occupations.

Juniors retiring from executive office should not become inactive. "Your successors need the help of your experience. Co-operate with them and loyally support them. Broaden your interests by studying world conditions in other countries."

Prof. Runions quoted a recent opinion of Senator J. J. Duffus, who, in a conversation, expressed his belief that Canada was approaching the greatest period of expansion it had ever seen. It required mainly settled conditions throughout the world.

DRY HAY WITH FRESH PASTURE

Ladino clover has made a great improvement in pastures, Douglas Hart of Woodstock, dairy editor of Canadian Countryman, said at the recent annual meeting of Elgin Holstein Breeders' Association. He rated it as the most important item in pasture mixture except in seeding on dry, gravelly knolls.

Reed canary grass was ideal in damp areas and creek bottoms. It had to be pastured off as it grew. In Mr. Hart's opinion orchard grass ranked at the top, and brome grass was not so woody as timothy and orchard grass when it matured. He said meadow fescue was useful in pasture mixtures, and he favored perennial rye as a nurse crop.

Mr. Hart warned against cutting hay short in July when the hot sun and dry weather attacked the roots which needed covering and protection. He believed that within 20 years there would be more grass silage than corn silage. With modern mechanical methods, grass silage could be produced at less cost and also less labor.

Too many pastures were deficient in fertility, he said. With the modern methods of making and maintaining pastures, he believed it should not cost much more to produce milk than it did ten or twenty years ago. He recommended more land to be seeded to grass, more storage of grass as winter silage, and more attention to fertilizing pastures. He said he had been using last month acid phosphates on his pastures at the rate of 5½ to 6 tons per 20 acres.

Mr. Hart reported that he had found helpful the New Zealand practice of feeding milking cows dry hay when they were on fresh, green pasture. In this plan he had used hay cribs in his barnyard The dry hay had improved his milk tests. He had found that cows needed dry hay to provide bulk in their food.

STORING MACHINERY

Fertilizer distributors should get special attention before going into winter storage. W. S. Richardson of the Dominion Experimental Station, Lennoxville, Que., advises that this machine should be washed, allowed to dry and metal parts covered with grease or oil.

"Owing to the action of the fertilizer in attractive moisture these machines are rather short-lived under good conditions, and one or two years of neglect may ruin them."

Machinery equipped with rubber tires should not only be set up on blocks, but also the tires should be correctly inflated. Cooling systems of tractors should be drained and a little oil placed in each cylinder."

FEDERATION LUNCHEON

This is a last call to the Federation lunch at the Empress Tuesday, Dec. 7, beginning at 12.15 p.m. John Kitney, secretary of the Federation, adds the qualifying word "sharp," meaning on time.

"We expect 50 to 75 members and their wives," Mr. Kitney said. "We should also have a representation of juniors. The attendance depends on the response of our farm members. If this luncheon idea appeals to them we may have a good turnout.

The speaker is R. M. Morrison, 1st vice-president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, and secretary-manager of the Ontario Cream Producers. As an added feature, Mr. Morrison is going to show a film of pictures he took in Western Europe, including Holland."

W. W. Dawson of Otonabee, president of the Federation, will be chairman.

MAKE FALL FAIRS FREE?

As an ideal for agricultural fairs to aim at, P. M. Dewan, former provincial minister of agriculture, suggested no admission charge as at plowing matches, in his talk last week at the conference of district No. 7 of the Ontario Association of Agricultural Societies at Paris.

He also recommended that midways should be kept to a minimal place at fairs, most prominence should be given local exhibits, and the assistance of women should be enlisted to a larger extent than in the past.

As a fair director for years, he recalled the primary importance of a competent manager, and an enthusiastic president who injected liveliness into meetings of directors.

Committees should be appointed early and "should be comprised of men and women who were willing to work." "No honorary positions," Mr. Dewan advised. Grounds should be beautified, and every effort should be put forth to interest young people in the plans and work of the agricultural societies and their fairs.

The former minister said women had a talent for detail, and he believed their assistance had greatly improved these rural societies in the last 10 or 15 years. Directors should get around to other fairs and observe their methods.

NORWOOD COURSE, DEC. 7-10

Farmers are reminded of the four-day agricultural course in Norwood town hall Tuesday to Friday next week. The main subjects to be discussed are: soils, fertilizers, farm management, livestock, field crops and pastures.

Speakers are: N. J. Thomas, B.S.A., on soils, pastures and fertilizers.

Dr H. L Patterson of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, on farm business.

Alex McKinney, Brampton, farm and dairy herd management.

This course has been arranged by Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, primarily for a group of 25 young ex-service men who are engaging in farm work, and farmers generally are invited, especially the juniors of East Peterborough.

Programs will include motion pictures on farm subjects. Morning sessions are from 10 to 12 and afternoon from 1 to 3 p.m. The course is free excepting a registration fee of 50c.

GLOOMY CHEESE REVIEW

Producing cheese factories in Central Ontario are now fewer than those that have become defunct and out of business.

This pathetic and ominous fact was reported at the recent dairy show and meeting of Central Ontario Cheese Makers' Association at Belleville.

James L. Irwin, former dairy grader, said 126 factories in the Central area had ceased to operate in the last 20 years. There are now 101 factories in production, but several of them will not unlock their doors next spring.

In Victoria County only one factory remains active; 15 are gone; in Peterborough eight are operating, and 25 closed for keeps; Lennox-Addington 13 have closed, 17 are continuing. Hastings shows 46 operating and 38 closed.

Northumberland has 17 factories working, but 24 have gone out of business. Prince Edward has 12 operating and 11 closed. "During my term as grader in the Central district, I graded cheese in almost everyone of those 126 factories which are lost to the dairy industry," Mr. Irwin said. "In the province as a whole there were 470 factories operating this year."

New U.K. Food Contracts Won't Absorb Surpluses Gardiner Tells Farmers

Beans, Apples, Eggs And Bacon On List; Won't Accept Lower Price But Can't Assure Market For All Produced

OTTAWA, Dec. 6—(CP).—Agriculture Minister Gardiner warned the Dominion-Provincial agriculture conference today in an off-the-record speech that prospective United Kingdom food contracts will not absorb expected surpluses of Canadian beans, apples, eggs and possibly bacon. An official version of Mr. Gardiner's statement quoted him as saying that while Canada will accept no lower than the current price for bacon the quantity of United Kingdom purchases of this product will be reduced.

Mr. Gardiner spoke for a half-hour off the record, but later a statement was issued giving excerpts which could be quoted.

"No longer," he told the delegates, "can you assure your farmers of a market in Britain for all they can produce."

"The fact that we have a contract with Britain for wheat would appear to take care of any problem which otherwise might have arisen during the immediate future."

Continued Difficulties

He forecast continued difficulties in disposing of surplus apples and beans and said that the new egg contract would be for a smaller quantity than the one now in effect—smaller by the amount of fresh shell eggs shipped this year.

Mr. Gardiner also reported that the price of honey would go down.

Recalling his warning to last year's conference of the danger of marketing problems, he said these had now become difficult with regard to certain products, not through a lessening of British needs but because of Britain's shortage of dollars.

Mr. Gardiner spoke at the opening of the 10th Dominion-Provincial conference, called annually to discuss future farm production, and dealt with food contracts now under negotiation.

Arthur MacNamara, Deputy Minister of Labor, reported that Canada's total working force, with more than 5,000,000 persons employed during September, was the highest on record but still was not meeting demand.

Indications now were that 1949 labor requirements again would exceeded labor supply available. However, immigration and Dominion - Provincial co-operation projects were helping to avert serious shortages.

Poll Officers Keep Voting Going Smoothly

With several substitutions in the selected list of poll officers, plans for the municipal elections today went into effect smoothly this morning.

"Several officers became ill before the weekend, and asked us to appoint others in their places," said City Clerk Outram, "but with that exception, our preparations worked out as we expected. We had a few stand-bys and simply called on them to fill the gaps caused by temporary illness."

Mr. Outram thinks well of the local system of enlisting school teachers for the responsibilities of deputy returning officers and poll clerks. It was his own idea, and in his opinion there isn't any place in the country with more efficient poll officials.

"The teachers do not need a compliment from me, but I don't mind repeating that they are most reliable and their intelligence is a great asset. And they open election day with a talk to the school children on the significance of municipal voting and the administration of the city."

Polls close at 7 p.m., and the first returns will be expected at the city hall 15 or 20 minutes later. Announcements will be made through CHEX at 7:45 p.m., 8:29, 8:59 and 9:29. These will be spot summaries of progressive returns, with a general review at 10:30 p.m. There will be four telephone lines operating at The Examiner to provide election results.

Compass Saves Pair From Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Dec. 6—(AP)—Two boatmen and a compass were credited with saving two duck-hunters from being swept over Niagara Falls in a dense fog.

Harold Edwards, 24, and Larry Voelker, 22, said their boat was drifting toward the brink of the falls after its engine failed late Saturday.

Calls for help and shotgun blasts they fired were heard by the boatmen, Ivan D. Carter and Edward Schmidt. Carter and Schmidt took a compass in a 15-foot boat and inched into the fog-bound river until they saw the running lights of the hunters' boat.

Without the compass, the men said, it would have been almost impossible to find correct direction and tow the disabled craft to shore.

Tries To Get Lists Russ Soldier Held

BERLIN, Dec. 6 — (AP) — A Russian soldier is under British arrest for investigation of his alleged attempt to seize the voting lists in a polling station, it was announced today.

The British announcement said two Russians in uniform invaded the station in a Spandau cafe a half hour after the polls closed last night. They demanded the voters' register.

Warned away by German police, the Russians were reported to have scuffled with British military patrolmen. One Russian escaped by firing a shot but the other was held.

Watch For Robbers

TORONTO, Dec. 6—(CP).—Provincial Police across Southern Ontario have been asked to watch for three men believed responsible for the theft of several thousand dollars in money orders in Winnipeg Nov. 23. The suspects are Alex. McDonald, brother of Mickey McDonald, who escaped from Kingston Penitentiary last year, and now is believed in the United States; Joseph Bourassa, and a man identified only as Boyle.

Reds Announce Encirclement Of Chiang Army

NANKING, Dec. 6 — (AP)—The Chinese communist radio reported tonight that red forces had completed "an air-tight encirclement" of the nationalist former Suchow garrison in the developing battle for Nanking.

The garrison, comprising some 110,000 combat troops in the sixteenth, thirteenth and second army groups, abandoned Suchow last Wednesday in an effort to reach the trapped government twelfth army group in the Suhsien sector, about 45 miles to the south.

If the communist claim is true, it means that only the government troops on the new Hwai River defending line enjoy freedom of movement in the region. The line was set up recently 100 miles northeast of Nanking, but is manned by relatively inferior troops.

Communist columns were reported shifting to the west to try to stem the advance. Communist Gen. Chen Yi was said to have massed 15,000 troops across the path of the Suchow forces.

Foreign military observers said the Suchow troops—largest government force in all East China—must break through the Communist lines or face probable annihilation. Having destroyed huge supply depots in the evacuation of Suchow, the troops are carrying only limited supplies.

The battle probably will be decisive, in any event. The immediate future of Chiang Kai-Shek's Natoinalist government is regarded as hinging on developments between 100 and 200 miles northwest of Nanking.

Chinese press dispatches reported 20,000 Communist troops equipped with artillery were active in an area about 60 miles northeast of Nanking. These reports coincide with the widely-accepted belief that many Communists have infiltrated to the north bank of the vital Yangtze river.

Some are even believed to have crossed the broad stream and come into the Nanking area.

Blow Open Co-Op Safe Thieves Take $800

OSHAWA, Dec. 6 (CP) — Thieves who last night blew the 150-pound door off the Peterborough Co-operative safe at Sunderland, 20 miles northwest of here, escaped with $800 and a number of cheques but dropped $300 at the door of the building as they fled.

Ontario Provincial Police said the safecrackers used "enough soup to blow the building apart." The safe door was blown through a plaster wall and struck the ceiling of an adjoining room.

Give Japanese Hearing

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—The supreme court by a 5-4 vote today granted a hearing to two Japanese wartime officials convicted as war criminals and sentenced to be hanged. The court's action was made known in an opinion by Justice Robert Jackson. He said he had agreed with Justices Hugo Black, William Douglas, Frank Murphy and Wiley Rutledge that the two Japanese should have a high court hearing.

Reds Soundly Beaten In W. Berlin

86 Per Cent. Voters Go To Polls; Socialist Party Wins

BERLIN, Dec. 6. (AP)—A final count showed today blockaded Berliners slapped the Communists with 1,330,820 votes, each one a protest against Soviet occupation policies.

The Central Election Bureau said 86.2 per cent of the eligible voters cast valid ballots yesterday in the three western sectors for the regularly-scheduled city elections, which the Communists boycotted.

The vote swept the Socialist party into power in the western part of the city. Like the Christian Democrats and the Liberal Democrats, who ran second and third, the Socialists are anti-Communist.

The final results:

Social Democrats (Socialist) — 853,100 (64.5 per cent).

Christian Democrats (Conservative) — 258,496 (19.4 per cent).

Liberal Democrats (Conservative)—215,224 (16.1 per cent).

In all, 1,586,090 Germans were eligible to vote in the constitutionally prescribed election in the three sectors, under American, British and French control. The Russians refused to conduct or permit voting in their sector. In voting the western Berliners defied a variety of threats from the Communists.

Fought On One Issue

The Communists had urged Berliners either to avoid the election or spoil the ballots. But election officials said the final check showed only 37,156 spoiled ballots—which they termed "not unusual." Russian-control newspapers contended the spoiled ballots exceeded 200,000.

The election was fought on one issue—Russia versus the West. All three parties on the ballot denounced the rule of the Soviet sector.

The press of the Western sectors hailed the result as a gigantic "nein" (no) to Moscow. The Russian sector press hollered 'fraud.' In 1946 the Communists had 13.5 per cent of the vote in the Western sectors and about eight per cent of the electorate stayed home.

The voters chose representatives in the city and borough assembles. Each party receives seats in proportion of its share of the total vote. The assemblymen are named by party executive committees.

Anti-Communist leaders regarded every ballot as a vote against Russian occupation policies.

Although the election ordinarily would have been merely a local contest between rival political parties, the East-West struggle magnified it into a barometer indicating support of Russian or Western policies.

Vote For Freedom

Western Berliners, blockaded 100 miles behind the iron curtain, went to the polls with the exhortation of their leaders to vote "for freedom and against Communism."

The 86.4 per cent figure of eligible voters who cast ballots was doubly significant. Even if all non-voters were Communists —

Police Find Him Vague On Experience

Remembers Nothing Till Loading Truck In Brockville

MONTREAL, Dec. 6.—(CP). — A stock man with a headache today sat in a business office here and monotonously told questioners that he didn't know who he was but "hoped' he was Robert Taylor Thompson, Toronto truck driver who disappeared last Thursday.

The man appeared this morning at the offices here of the National Cash Register Company—the firm which had employed Thompson at its Toronto office—and asked employees who he was. He showed them a label, taken from his trousers, which bore Thompson's name and that of the company.

When interviewed by the Canadian Press, the man was clear-eyed, clean-shaven and his square, stubby hands were steady as he puffed at a cigaret and answered questions. He said he couldn't remember anything before last night when he came to his senses while loading a "big, red truck" in Brockville.

Drives All Night

He said that after the truck was loaded, it started off for "someplace" and drove all night. When he awoke, the vehicle was pulling up to a "station" in Montreal. He didn't know it was Montreal, who he was, why he was there or any background, he said. But he went into a cigar store, found out where he was, bought a razor and shaved.

Then, he related, he found the identification tag sewn to his trousers and went to the company offices on Craig Street. Because he was an employee of the Toronto office, no one recognized him. However, J. B. Lynes, manager of the Montreal branch, said that "he tallies to Thompson's description to some extent."

Hundreds Greet Ice Queen In New York

NEW YORK, Dec. 6. (CP) — Hundreds of sleepy New Yorkers were on hand today to greet a cheery, bright-eyed Barbara Ann Scott when she arrived in the early morning hours.

With a huge bouquet of roses thrust into her hands the moment she stepped off the train, the pretty world-champion skater spent more than a half-hour posing for newspaper and newsreel photographers.

To everyone she flashed a bright smile and said how glad she was to be in New York.

"Really, it's wonderful to be here," she said to Hugh D. Scully, Canadian consul-general on hand to greet Barbara Ann who is to embark on a professional career in this city.

"I love New York and it's so thrilling that so many people are here to see me. When I left Ottawa last night there were hundreds of youngsters to see me off. I was really touched."

Greeting her on behalf of the city was Col. John J. Bennett, Deputy Mayor. With Col. Bennett, the tiny blonde skater spent fully 10 minutes while newsreel cameras ground out hundreds of feet of film in the heat of huge spotlights.

While the cameras recorded the scene, Barbara Ann's mother whispered something to the skater that brought an even bigger smile to her face. Mrs. Scott said later she reminded Barbara Ann of one of her childhood sayings.

"As a little girl she always used to say: 'Mommy likes Boston, but I like New York.' Now she's here; where she's always wanted to be!"

US Plane Crashes With 37 Sight Survivors In Ocean

By The Canadian Press

Rescue operations were under way in the Pacific today for a United States air force C-54 transport forced down at sea with 37 men aboard during a week-end marked by a series of plane crashes on three continents as well as the Pacific Ocean. Air disasters occurred in Germany, in China and in several states in the United States. The total known week-end death toll was 65.

From Johnston Island in the Pacific, word came today that a search plane had signed survivors of the C-54 forced down yesterday. The search plane radioed: "Sighted flares. Dropped boat. Boat landed about 100 yards from survivors. Don't know whether they saw it or not." The rescue plane pilot's fuel was running low, and he started back toward his tiny island base as other planes were ordered to the scene. He did not report how many survivors he could see.

Twenty-five Chinese, mostly women and children, were killed in the crash of a transport plane on Formosa. The crash occurred Friday but was not reported until today when the wreckage was found. The victims were dependents of Chinese army officials.

Death Toll of 11

In Shanghai there was a death toll of 11 in the crash of a Chinese Central Air transport plane which burned at Kiangwan airport

In Berlin, three American crew members perished when an airlift C-54 crashed just after a take-off.

At Forlonia airport near Milan an Italian Airlines plane en route to Brussels, crashed and burned killing the crew of four Italians and one German passenger.

The crash of a plane into a mountain near Salinas, Calif., took a death toll of six persons. The occupants were navy personnel, but the navy said it was not a military aircraft.

Fog Cancels Flights

MONTREAL, Dec. 6 — (CP)—A dense fog, one of the worst ever experienced in this district, shrouded the Montreal area during the week-end cancelling all airline flights for 36 hours, and slowing up traffic to a crawl

Walker Booked On Drunk Charge

TOPEKA, Kas., Dec. 6—(AP)—Police said Robert Walker, Hollywood film actor, was booked last night on a charge of being drunk and destroying city property.

Walker was picked up with several other persons for creating a disturbance at a hotel. While waiting to be booked, police said, Walker suddenly smashed the glass of the bulletin board with his fist.

The actor was released without bail. Officers said his case probably would come up in court tomorrow.

Last Oct. 22 Walker and Miss Thelma Patricia Byrne, 24, were arrested in Los Angeles when police noted Walker's automobile travelling erratically

Walker broke away from arresting officers but was caught and taken to a police station. He was charged with being drunk and disorderly and paid a $50 fine.

Miss Byrne, who was driving the car, paid a $150 fine. She was charged with drunken driving.

Known as "Barry Stevens" through his rac eselection column, Homewood worked in British Coluumbia for almost 50 years. During that time he handicapped more than 14,500 races.

Proposes Power Plan

OTTAWA, Dec. 6.— (CP).—Development of 1,200,000 horsepower of Hydro-Electric capacity in the Lachine Rapids of the St. Lawrence river is proposed in a board of engineers report made pubilc today by Transport Minister Chevrier.

Plane Smashed Pilot Killed

HALIFAX, Dec. 6.—(CP). —A Canadian navy pilot was killed and his plane smashed to bits when it struck harbor water here today after a mid-air collision with another plane.

Name of the pilot will be announced as soon as his next-of-kin have been notified.

A naval air station official said three Seafire fighters from the nearby Eastern Passage Air Station were drilling over the harbor early this afternoon when the collision occurred.

They started to change formation to line astern when the propellor of a plane piloted by Lieut. J. G. S. Campbell of Weymouth, N.S., sheared off the tail of the leading plane causing it to carsh into the harbor near George's Island.

Suspend Pen Guard For Smuggling Money

OTTAWA, Dec. 6—(CP). — A penitentiary guard at Kingston has been suspended for allegedly smuggling money into the penal institute at the request of prisoners.

Federal Penitentiaries Commissioner R. B. Gibson said in an interview Sunday night the money involved was no more than between $10 and $20 but it will nevertheless mean that a full investigation will be opened at once.

It was not the first time that smuggling of money had been discovered. In all cases the amounts involved were small and were used for gambling by the prisoners.

The penitentiaries commissioner did not believe the funds brought in illegally were being used to help prisoners escape.

He said he could not disclose how the contraband was recovered or how the money was brought in until the investigation was completed.

London Newspaper Accuses Princess of Being Playgirl

LONDON, Dec. 6.— (AP).— Is Princess Margaret getting to be too much of a playgirl? Staying out late at night, that is, dancing a lot, doing what she can to make her life that of other spirited 18-year-olds.

The mass-circulation Sunday Pictorial — which earlier in the year suggested Princess Elizabeth was seen around too much in cafe society—raised the question about Princess Margaret today.

It was prompted by Princess Margaret's round of dates last week, which made the front pages with stories and features. Displayed particularly was a picture of Margaret in a low-cut, off-the-shoulder gown, dancing the Samba with a tall adolescent partner at a nurses' benefit ball in Bloomsbury.

"Princess Margaret," the Pictorial said, "is causing the same sort of problem in the Royal family as that which every other family has to face.

"Is she, as a 'teen-ager, having too many late nights?

"Four times in the past week she did not return to Buckingham Palace until very late."

Those occasions were a Royal command film show, a concert and dinner at the Guards Barracks in Knightsbridge, a theatre party followed by dancing, and the Bloomsbury ball.

The 22-year-old Marquess of Blandford squired her to the exclusive 400 Club after the ball and had his fortune told. Margaret refused with a blush to have hers told. One report said the fortune-teller informed the marquess he'd be married in a year, but couldn't say who the bride would be.

Fire At Pembroke Razes Freight Office

PEMBROKE, Dec 6—(CP)—A spectacular early morning blaze burned its way through a CPR freight shed in the heart of Pembroke's business district, gutting a freight office and eating its way into a line of five freight cars alongsde.

Second major blaze to break out in this community in less than 24 hours, the blaze appeared to Fire Chief R P Dey as one of the severest this year.

At 2 a.m., about an hour after the blaze broke out, one-third of the 300-foot long freight shed had been destroyed

Firefighters early Sunday halted a three-hour two-alarm blaze which threatened the downtown district, destroying a furniture store and billiard room and causing $75,000 damage

Both fires were of unknown origin.

Mark Anniversary of Halifax Explosion

Woman Still Bearing Scars, Recalls Hundreds Dying In Blast

HALIFAX, Dec. 6—(CP)—A munitions ship was scheduled for unloading here today and it provides a grim reminder to many older folk of the Halifax explosion—a catastrophe that ripped the city apart on this day 31 years ago.

The British freighter Arabia, carrying 600 tons of shells for Halifax, will be handled in the unhurried care and decorum of peacetime.

The operation will be in marked contrast to the feverish wartime bustle in 1917, when 2,000 persons died in the blast which followed a collision between the freighter Imo and the French munitions ship Mont Blanc, laden with 4,000 tons of explosives.

A woman, who asked that her name not be used, recalled the disaster Sunday. The lady—she is 81—still carries facial scars from flying glass. Her husband was brought home to her days after the blast—totally blind.

The death toll rose to 2,000; 20,000 were injured, many crippled for life, and 500 disappeared without a trace.

"Yes, I remember," said the old lady. "I was only one who got hurt and I was lucky, I'm still alive."

A blue flicker of flame from the Mont Blanc was the first sign of danger that fatal morning.

Blast Rocks City

Seventeen minutes later the blast came and the munitions vessel was engulfed in flames.

A boat party from the British cruiser Highflyer had gone aboard the Mont Blanc in a heroic attempt to quell the first flames They were still aboard when the 4,000 tons of TNT exploded.

Fires broke out across the city and added to the death toll. School children died at their desks, scores died at early morning mass.

Next day, as the dead were being collected and hospitals worked frantically to treat the wounded, a new terror came. The worst blizzard in the city's history struck the horror-filled streets. Pneumonia quickened the deaths of the injured.

Haligonians thought it was going to happen again one night in June, 1945, when fire broke out at the big naval magazine on Bedford Basin.

Today, prayers were offered in Halifax churches in memory of that 1917 blast.

Canada Too Easily Led By Big 5 Powers, Australia Charges At UN

Hood Fighting For Rights Of Smaller Nations Thinks Dominion Should Help; Pearson Silent, Doesn't Want Long Debate

PARIS, Dec. 6—(CP).—Canada's traditional role as mediator between Britain and the United States came under direct criticism Saturday in the United Nations Political Committee. Australia implied that the Dominion too often bows to the wishes of the big powers. The charge came from Australia's John D. L. Hood in a debate on a Canadian proposal to invest a subcommittee of the big Five with authority to select a three-member Palestine conciliation commission.

Hood said it was a "most extraordinary proposition" to come from a country with a record like that of Canada.

L. B. Pearson, head of the Canadian delegation, earlier had moved the Canadian proposal as an amendment to a British resolution. He chided Australia for suggesting the General Assembly should select commission members.

This assembly procedure, the Canadian external affairs minister said, did not always reflect the will of the assembly.

Can't Understand

Speaking with some warmth, Hood rejoined that he was at a loss to understand how Pearson "so lightly" could propose that the assembly 'deliberately discard" its responsibilities in this matter.

Ever since the birth of the United Nations at San Francisco three years ago, Australian External Affairs Minister Evatt has taken on the role of the champion of small power rights

Pearson's suggestion, Hood said, was another reflection of the viewpoint that "whatever is fixed up" among the great powers has a special status and should be treated with greater deference than matters decided by smaller powers.

Pearson did not reply to this point. Later, however, he told The Canadian Press he did not want to prolong the debate, but would state the Canadian case in fuller terms if the opportunity arose on some other occasion.

Don't Like Policy

Australia subsequently voted for the entire British resolution incorporating the Canadian amendment. This resolution was approved by a narrow margin. The matter now goes to the assembly where it is anybody's guess what will happen.

Privately, some Australian delegates have expressed the wish that Canada would relinquish what they call "slavish adherence" to big-power policy.

Just as many Canadians on the other hand, view Australia as a small unruly boy who persists in sticking fingers in the jam pot.

2 Killed Helping Car From Ditch

COOKSTOWN, Dec. 6 (CP)—Two persons were killed near here Saturday night as they stood beside a car they had helped push out of a ditch. Seven others were injured, none critically.

Dead are: Robert Ney, 71-year-old Cookstown farmer, and Robert Dales, 32, of Alliston, 10 miles west of here.

Police said a second automobile, driven by William Berry of Alliston, swerved to miss the car on the highway and hit the two men.

Ney had come from his nearby farm to help push the car out; Dales was a passenger in one of two cars which stopped to help.

The injured, all from Alliston, were brought to hospital in this town, 45 miles north of Toronto.

Recapture 2 Patients From Whitby Hospital

WHITBY, Dec. 6—(CP)—Two patients at the Ontario Hospital escaped Saturday night under cover of a dense fog but were recaptured soon after. The two —Thomas Webb, 52, and Samuel Lewis, 31—escaped while returning from their evening meal.

One was caught at Ajax, where a night watchman, G. Battleday and a switchboard operator, Mrs. Deith, became alarmed when they spotted two prowlers and called university guards. Two guards, Pat Cherry and William Guerin, captured the patient at the University Tuck Shop. The second patient was picked up later Saturday night in Toronto.

Mrs. Deith said she heard a disturbance at the door and locked herself in the switchboard office while she called the guards. The patient was turned over to Provincial Constable Murray Bruce, who returned him to Whitby. He was captured about four hours after his escape.

Nine On Tugs Wait Out Storm After Battering

POINT AU BARIL, Ont., Dec. 6—(CP)—Safe but still marooned in two sturdy tugs, this afternoon nine men waited for a storm on Lake Huron to recede before moving out of shelter by the lee of a small island.

The tugs took refuge there, some six miles west of this Georgian Bay community, after a sequence of events which included the grounding of one of the vessels, a 65-mile rescue voyage across stormy waters by the other and—by a quirk of fate—the burning of the nets and gear of the rescuing skipper.

Waiting for calmer weather was the Gary M, under Capt. W. H. Oldfield, 84, believed the oldest active skipper on the Great Lakes, and the Twin, with his son, Capt. W. S. Oldfield, in command.

The action began when the Gary M, returning from collecting nets after the summer's fishing, ran hard aground in a fog Saturday night.

Two crew members, Frank and Alex Foster, braved high waves to row here in a lifeboat to call for aid. By telephone, Capt. W. S. Oldfield learned of the danger to his father. Quickly he rounded up a crew of four and set out over wind-whipped Georgian Bay. It took the 72-foot tug seven hours to do the 65 miles to the north.

Meanwhile, the Gary M had freed herself, aided by the rising wind. When the son arrived he found the gale blowing 40 miles an hour. The two skippers decided to wait it out. The two Fosters had rowed back to the Gary M to aid the skipper which is not likely—they could not polled more than 19 per cent of the total. In 1946 the Communists polled 19 per cent of the vote.

Besides the Fosters, another son Frank, of the octogenarian skipper was aboard the Gary. The five on the Twin were Capt. Oldfield, his son, Ken. Ronnie Darling, Newell Clendenning and Capt. George Polick.

The Soviet military command had forbidden the election in its sector of Berlin. The Russians set up a "rump" Communist government of their own in the city last week.

German Communists had refused to be on the ballot and tnreatened revenge against all who dared vote.

Greatest Victory

The Social Democrats who demand socialization of Germany along the lines followed by the British Labor party, scored possibly the greatest victory in the 80-year history of their party.

They emerged with an absolute majority which gives them working control of the next city and borough governments under western Allied auspices.

The Socialists claimed the election showed at least half the Berliners who voted Communist in 1946 had gone over to the Social Democratic party.

The Soviet-controlled press of Eastern Berlin reflected Russian chagrin at the huge election turnout.

"Mass arrests in the west" was the headline in a Communist trade union newspaper regarding a report that 70 Communists had been detained by police for attempting to stir trouble at polling stations.

Police Find

He was quite coherent in his conversation but said he was suffering from a headache.

"I sure hope I'm Thompson," the man said.

Vague On Questions

He was vague on virtually every question asked him. When asked how he knew he was in Brockville last night, he said he "must have seen road signs."

He had no recollection, he said, of what kind of truck he travelled in and he had not talked to the driver "because I was sleeping." He said he didn't know which "station" he was let out in front of in Montreal.

He also said he had no recollection whatsoever previous to last night.

Company officials said they were in touch with their Toronto office in an effort to identify the man positively.

Thompson's truck and wallet were found in an Oshawa park last Thursday and Ontario Provincial Police, fearing foul play, launched an extensive search.

Looking For Man

TORONTO, Dec. 6—(CP)—Toronto police said today they were looking for a man named Johnnie who may be able to explain certain "angles" in the disappearance of Robert Thompson, Toronto truck driver who turned up in Montreal today after being missing since last Thursday.

"We know that amnesia is possible," Toronto police said today, "but there are other angles to this case. We know that the truck driver was with another man on the afternoon he disappeared. We know that this man's first name is Johnnie. We know that the truck was seen between Ajax and Oshawa on the north side of the highway with its nose in the ditch at 4:30 p.m. (last Thursday). We know that it was abandoned in Oshawa before 5:30 p.m."

Police said they would like to know where Thompson stayed Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday night and how he got from Oshawa to Brockville. They said they were investigating Thompson's financial affairs. Company officials estimated he carried $115.

Thompson was to be returned from Montreal this afternoon for questioning and detectives planned to go to Montreal to continue their investigation.

Golds, Base Metals Slide On Exchange

TORONTO, Dec. 6—(CP).—An early rallying attempt fizzled out and prices dipped on Toronto Exchange today. Industrials held some of the morning gains in dull trading and golds and base metals slipped downhill. Western oils lost their advances to slip into easier ground.

Volume for the first three hours was 669,000 shares.

Industrials moved ahead briskly at the opening but dipped down as early gains were wiped out and fractional losses began to crop up. International Paper weakened ½ in the paper list and Brazilian Traction, Bell Telephone, CPR, Great Lakes Paper and Power Corp. were easier. Royal Bank, Ford A, Seagram's and Canadian Breweries retained their small advances.

Western oils showed a wide list of losses. Home Oil lost an early fractional advance, dipping ¼ at 13¼. Pacific Petroleum, Anglo-Canadian, Leduc West and Atlantic Oil were down 4 to 10 cents.

Consolidated Smelters, ahead 1¼ at one point, was even in the base metals. Steep Rock, Pend Oreille, East Sullivan and Normetal lost five cents and New Calumet rose four cents to a new high at $2.52.

Dome, Eldona, San Antonia, Madsen and Chesterville weakened in a very quiet gold group.

Mme. Chiang Asks U.S. For 3 Billion

Still Not Too Late To Save China, Marshall Is Told

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek is appealing here for the United States to rescue China from Communism with a program which would cost an estimated $3 billion during the next three years.

This presentation of China's program comes from top Chinese officials who would not permit direct quotation. American informants say it is the basis on which the Chinese have suggested negotiation of an aid program.

The program covers four points It has been presented by Chinese Ambassador Wellington Koo to President Truman as well as used by Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek for her appeals here.

Mme. Chiang has conferred now with State Secretary Marshall and will call on President and Mrs. Truman early this week. It is reported she is stressing the need for greater understanding here of China's plight The Chinese belief that it is not yet too late to save the situation, and the contention that the Chinese Government of her husband, Generalisimo Chiang Kai-Shek, is fighting not only for itself but for the United States and all other anti-Communist countries.

The Chinese proposed program calls for:

1—An immediate declaration of American support for Chiang Kai-Shek's anti-Communist war.

2—A tremendous speed-up in the delivery of military supplies before action by Congress on any new program.

3—Sending to China a military leader of great prominence to run the supply services for the Chinese Army, extend and operate military training, and assume direction of strategic planning.

4—Laying down a military and economic aid program for a period of three years at $1 billion a year, including expenses of the military mission

ON GUARD

Day and night, more dependable than ever

TODAY, telephones are four times as free from "trouble" as twenty years ago, and there are twice as many of them!

Each month 10,000 are being added so that soon all may have dependable telephone service and the security that goes with it.

This is being done in spite of rising costs, yet up to now there has been no increase in the basic telephone rates established 21 years ago.

For you, this means greater value than ever before; for us, the satisfaction of providing "the best telephone service at the lowest cost".

Durham Farmers Break Production Records Highest Ont. Potato Yield

BETHANY, Dec. 6—(ENS).—Highest average yield in Ontario of 534.6 bushels of potatoes to the acre was grown this year by the 25 members of Durham County 500-Bushel Potato Club. This was announced at the club's annual banquet and presentation of prizes at Bethany Town Hall on Friday. The club, which was formed in 1944, was originally striving to attain an average production of 500 bushels to the acre.

Members were congratulated by Charles Stephenson, MP, who also led community singing, with Robert Sisson at the piano. John Foote, VC, MP, told the farmers he was anxious to forward their prospects by supporting measures to alleviate their production and marketing difficulties. He also spoke of his wartime experiences, including his sojourn in a German prisoner-of-war camp. He passed on his own good wishes and those of Premier Thomas L. Kennedy to the farmers.

Proper Storage.

Mr. Alex Stevens, Warden of the counties of Northumberland and Durham, who was introduced by Reeve Ernest Cavano, expressed his interests in the work of the club and hoped something would be done to provide proper storage facilities for the huge potato supplies. "This club has indeed come a long way since it's beginning in 1944 and it would seem you have gained a reputation for good potatoes and good crops Now a good storage unit is the next step," he said.

Awards were announced by E. A. Summers, agricultural representative, and were presented by R. E. Goodin, who added his congratulations at the remarkable achievements of Durham potato growers. He voiced the appreciation of the members in having Mr. Summers as the agricultural representative. "You are indeed fortunate in naving one so interested in all farming problems and with such outstanding ability in coaching junior farmers Short Courses and training junior boys and girls for judging competitions. Mr. Goodin criticised the Mail and Globe for the recent headline "Dumping Potatoes.' He said that while this year's bumper crops have created an excess of supply over the present demand, the recent adoption of a support price as announced at Ottawa by J. C. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, Commerce Minister C. D. Howe's statement that potatoes will be placed under export control, do much to brighten the situation. "There will be no potatoes dumped in the ocean, I can assure you," he declared.

Hunters Plan To War On Foxes

COBOURG, Dec. 6— (ENS) — A big fox hunt for early in the New Year is planned by the Northumberland Fish and Game Club. The odd fox has been seen on rabbit hunts held in past years by the club and farmers in the Front Road East district for some time have been lamenting the fact that too many foxes are on the loose. The same situation exists along the lakeshore section between Cobourg and Port Hope.

The two dollar bounty authorized at the November session of counties council, covering foxes shot in Northumberland and Durham counties, is expected to prove very attractive to those handy with guns. If all the foxes said to be infesting this district were shot, it would put a big dent in the counties treasury paying off the bounties. So far one fox pelt has been brought into the counties' clerk's office in Cobourg this month, but they are expected to come in on a large scale once some organized hunting gets under way.

Foxes are a headache to fish and game assocation trying to get pheasants to survive in reasonable numbers. Bert Kernaghan of Colborne, who has had extensive experience looking after pheasants that have been placed out by the fish and game association, states that birds are an easy prey for foxes.

"It will be a mighty good thing when they cut down on the fox population," one Haldiman Township farmer told The Examiner on Saturday. "They are much too plentiful and this two dollar bounty should result in a bunch of them being shot."

Two Pay Fines In Hastings Court

HASTINGS, Dec. 6 — (ENS)—Appearing before Magistrate R. B. Baxter at Hastings Police Court Bernard Condon, R.R. 11, Peterborough, pleaded guilty to two charges. He was fined $10 and $2.50 costs for being intoxicated in a public place, and on the second charge of having opened liquor in a place other than his residence he was fined $10 with $2.50 costs.

Unlike UN World Churches Made Progress, Minister Says

Church delegates to the World Council of Churches set a pattern of behaviour, the United Nations might well copy, Dr. W. J. Gallagher, general secretary of the Canadian Council of Churches told the morning congregation at Murray St. Batpist Church on Sunday. Dr. Gallagher told of the differences that had arisen during the discussions, but added the delegates spoke the truth and were imbued with a desire to understand the viewpoint of the other delegates. There was no anger, and as a result progress was made, which showed the difference between this group and the U.N.

The speaker was introduced by the Rev. Ivan Morgan who said Dr. Gallagher was the only pastor in Canada who could be claimed by all Protestant denominations.

"Many historic events have taken place in Holland but there was none better than the opening service of the World Council of Churches in Amsterdam on Sunday, August 22 this year," said Dr. Gallagher. "Three thousand people thronged 600-year-old Cathedral of Holland. About 50 per cent of the congregation were from other parts of the world. From 40 countries came delegates from 150 denominations. The assembly used three languages, English, German and French."

"Plans were begun in 1938 to bring together the churches of all the Christian demnoinations. A constitution was drawn up. The opening service was to be held in 1941, the war preventing this. The war tended to bring together different denominations together rather than apart," he said.

Dr. Gallagher continuing said, "Two tasks confronted the organization, the business and the study programs. A provisional committee which had been set up made its report to the Assembly. The old constitution was amended. Changes were made in policy, budget and administration programs. It was my duty to try to help set a budget for a world organization with the monetary exchange as it is today. The topic for the study periods was "Man's Disorder" and "God's Design". The Assembly was divided into four sections. They were, church, witness of the church, the church's social disorders, and the church and international affairs. Discussion groups were held for six half days. Many questions arose from the discussions, concerning unity of the church in the world, the urgency of evangelism, the refusal of many to put loyalty to God first, and the desire for human rights and freedom."

"All delegatse were deeply concerned with the revival of spiritual life in the churches, preaching the word of God to everyone, everywhere, and the unity of the church of God."

Eyes Were Opened

"The major impressions of the Assembly on myself were the realism of representatives of all churches all over the world to open their eyes to the evil in the world, the spirit in all discussions, the universality of churches in world today, and the measure of success in the unity of churches."

Dr. Gallagher then read the message which the World Council of Churches issued, "We bless God our Father, and our Lord Jesus Christ who gathers together in one the children of God that are scattered abroad. He has brought us here together in Amsterdam. We are one acknowledging Him as our God and Saviour We are divided from one another not only in matters of faith, order and tradition, but also by pride of nation, class and race. But Christ has made us His own, and He is not divided. In seeking Him we find one another. Here at Amsterdam we have committed ourselves afresh to Him, and have covenated with one another in constituting this World Council of Churches. We intend to stay together."

Have you forgotten something? Would he continue to have all of mother's attention, and a home free to grow up in, if you were prematurely taken from your family? Farmers In Income Tax Clover

The Citizens' Research Institute of Canada has complained in an open letter signed by Mr. Eric Hardy that the Income Tax Act is operating with undue favour to the farmer. Mr. R. A. Stewart, President of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, has replied to the charges. It is rather a retort than a reply, since he fails completely to parry the Institute's statements.

Mr. Hardy's letter stated that farmers make up 29 per cent. of the population, yet in 1946 contributed only 1.51 per cent. of the total revenue from personal income tax. Mr. Stewart replies that "there is no logical basis for arguing that 29 per cent of the population should provide 29 per cent. of the income tax". Perhaps not, but there is a good argument that the farmers who in 1946 received in cash for farm products over 16 per cent. of the national income should pay at least 16 per cent. of the personal income tax. Instead they paid only 1½ per cent. of the tax. Mr. Hardy has reasonably compared that with the tax paid by 1,719,000 Canadians classed as "employees of business enterprises" who had an average income of $1,880. These people paid 57.2 per cent. or 370.3 million dollars of the total personal income tax. Half as many gainfully employed Canadian farmers (829,000) with an average net income of $1,665 paid only 9.8 million dollars.

The Ontario Federation of Agriculture's President retorts in an unconvincing fashion and says that the Bureau of Statistics "has never represented its figures as true farm costs". He mentions social services, and the big property taxes farmers pay to build roads and schools. "What we should be doing is looking for ways of taxing the cities to provide rural social services". Our leading editorial last Wednesday showed how low rural taxes are in comparison with city taxes.

It is evident that farmers are not paying their just share of income taxes. Why? Governments coddle farmers in this matter for they control seats out of proportion to their numbers. It used to be that farmers set the tone for honest dealing in our society, that they were models of rectitude in financial matters. Certainly as regards the paying of income tax, the factory workers are now setting the standard. The Income Tax Division of the Department of National Revenue is not without responsibility in the matter.

Perjury Or Adultery?

A Toronto County Court case is bringing into prominence in Ontario a legal situation which was exposed in Britain a generation ago by A. P. Herbert in his book Holy Deadlock. A "private investigator" who faked evidence in divorce cases has been tried for perjury and the like, and a paid "co-respondent", a young woman, has been in the witness box.

In Ontario the only unexceptionable legal ground for divorce is adultery. So it used to be in Britain until A. P. Herbert crusaded in and out of Parliament for a change in the divorce laws. In his book he related the devious ways in which the law forced persons to act who wanted divorce and who, in many civilized persons' opinions, should be divorced from "holy deadlock". By arrangement between the husband and wife and with the tacit approval of their lawyers, a "private investigator" would be hired to spy on one or the other—usually the husband. The husband would hire a young woman who was willing to make a few extra pounds innocently, and would obligingly rent a hotel room. The young woman and the husband who wanted to provide his wife with grounds for divorce would be "surprised" together in the hotel room. The setting would be arranged so that the court could conclude that the man had been acting adulterously. Thus divorces were secured.

It seems that the same sort of practice is now common in Ontario. The "private investigator" in Toronto has been found guilty. The young woman who acted as co-respondent in several divorce proceedings collapsed in the witness box. The defence counsel attacked the divorce system, saying it and not the individual was to blame: "It is common knowledge that the situation has got so bad that many of the best legal firms in the city never touch divorce cases at all". The judge remarked: "I suppose that a good many people would sooner commit perjury than adultery".

We are sure they would, for perjury is less offensive to the persons involved and to society than adultery. As long as the Ontario divorce laws remain as they are, people in need of divorce will be forced to commit adultery and outrage society and their own instincts, or perjury and outrage the courts.

Oregon's Social Security Lesson

A little-noticed yet timely lesson in social security was taught by the results of the voting last month in the western State of Oregon. The people of that state are conservative; it was the only western state to vote in favour of Governor Dewey for President. On the same day that its electors marked their ballots for Dewey, however, they voted the state into bankruptcy by approving an old-age pension revision by a vote of two to one.

The plan seemed innocent enough. The product of sixty followers of the Townsend dream, it called for an increase in Oregon's pension for elderly, needy persons to be raised from $47 to $50 per month. In view of the degree of inflation in the United States, that was a modest increase. Nobody paid much attention to the wording of the referendum, and the plan received 300,000 votes as compared with 247,000 for Dewey.

A few days later Oregon had a statewide headache. It was discovered that the voters had approved a pension plan providing $50 a month for all men over 65 and all women over 60, regardless of need. The referendum made no provision to raise revenue to meet costs of the plan. Increase in number of pensioners was estimated at more than 150,000, which would mean a pension bill of $9,000,000 a month—three times the total now spent on all state government. To pay the new pension bill an increase of thirty-three mills in the tax rate on all real estate would be required.

Loud noises were heard in the state machinery. State officials were informed by the Federal Security Board there would be no more Federal funds for Oregon until the situation was straightened out. The state office was forced to notify old-age pensioners they would receive no cheques for December. School and municipal bond issues were ordered held in abeyance; everyone affected turned to the State Supreme Court for relief. Oregon's Attorney-General relieved the tension a bit when he announced that the referendum was so confusing that its results were inoperative.

Latest reports are that almost everyone in Oregon would be happy to forget about the referendum results if a $3-a-month raise were given to present recipients of the old age pension. The people there have learned that there is a definite limit to the degree of social security a state can afford—the limit being the amount its taxpayers are able and willing to pay for social security.

The Last And First Word On The U.S. Election

Much has been said about the rejection by American voters of the experts' opinions, the pollsters' prophecies, and incidentally, the near-President Dewey. We have had our say, too. But G. K. Chesterton beat everybody, as William Rose Benet points out in the Saturday Review of Literature. He commented on the situation long ago in the introductory remarks to his novel The Napoleon of Notting Hill. Here is what G. K. C. said in 1904:

> The human race, to which so many of my readers belong, has been playing at children's games from the beginning, and will probably do it till the end, which is a nuisance for the few people who grow up. And one of the games to which it is most attached is called "Keep Tomorrow Dark", and which is also named (by the rustics in Shropshire, I have no doubt) "Cheat the Prophet". The players listen very carefully and respectfully to all that the clever men have to say about what is to happen in the next generation. The players then wait until all the clever men are dead, and bury them nicely. They then go and do something else. That is all. For a race of simple tastes, however, it is great fun.

The "next generation" became the "next election" and the clever men have been buried under ballots.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A preacher in New Orleans says that "business men are finding it harder and harder to get into Heaven". Are we to deduce that this is the result of a trend toward advanced socialism in the celestial regions?

"Of Cabbages And Kings"

By PETER ELIOT

"THE old Duchess of Devonshire (to introduce yet another delightful anecdote from Margot Asquith's Off The Record—last in the series of Countesses' meanderings in the small-and-large talk of a very recent Britain) was, after my Queen Alexandra, the leader of all that was fashionable in Mayfair. A German by birth, and married to an English duke of little significance, she fell in love with one of Mr. Gladstone's most important colleagues. He was then the Marquis of Harlington, and a rarer specimen of the British aristocracy you could not have found. He was always supposed to be the coming Liberal Prime Minister after the great Lord Salisbury had retired. But he had no such ambition. He detested publicity, was a great gambler, owned race horses, and, though he never said a stupid thing when he spoke in the House of Lords, it was told of him—with what truth I do not know—that when asked why he spoke so seldom in the Upper House he replied: 'can't refrain from yawning in the middle of my rare orations. I will go further. I fell asleep one afternoon and dreamt that I was addressing that august assembly. By Gad! when someone woke me up, I found that my dream was true. I was speaking to their lordships.'"

ISOBEL Field, stepdaughter of Robert Louis Stevenson, has woven many interesting stories into This Life I've Loved—a beautiful autobiography. As a little girl, Belle Osbourne lived in a rough mining camp; then came a visit to her grandparents in Indiana; school in San Francisco; painting and drawing in Julian's atelier in Paris; Grez, where her mother first met Stevenson; San Francisco and marriage to Joseph Strong, the painter; Hawaii and the brilliant court of King Kalakua; penurious days in Sydney in an actor's boarding-house; and finally, the Stevenson menage at Vailima, Samoa. "Louis (she recounts) took my mother and me to Sydney for a three weeks' jaunt. We stayed at the Oxford, of course, and I remember the headwaiter reserved all the hearts of celery for our table. Louis was feeling care-free and rich, buying anything that struck his fancy, including fine clothes for my mother and me. We had a gay time in Sydney, going to receptions, dinners and theatres, and Louis accepted many invitations to speak before clubs and societies.

"He gave a dinner to a number of the new friends who had entertained us so handsomely. It was at the Victoria Hotel, and I thought of the first time he and his wife had appeared there, two strange looking travellers off a trading schooner who were told in everything but words, that they were not wanted.

"Louis, (she continues) in evening clothes made by the best tailor in Sydney, looked very smart and distinguished as he walked into the great dining room beside his wife, now really lovely in her handsome gown of black velvet and point lace. I trailed behind them in my yellow silk dress, and was very agreeably conscious of the sensation we made. Waiters slipped about among the tables, murmuring "Stevenson", a name which had been conspicuous in the papers ever since our arrival.

"One day, as Louis was leaving the hotel, he stopped to send a message up to my mother by one of the 'buttons,' as they were called. The only boy present was sitting, deeply engrossed in a book. When Louis spoke to him, he made no answer but went on reading. Impatient, Louis plucked the book out of the boy's hand. It was Treasure Island. Returning it instantly, he said: 'Go right on reading, my little man. Don't let anybody disturb you.'

WHEN her mother and Stevenson first came to Vailima, she explains, it was then a dense forest. They had a little cottage built where they camped while a site was cleared for the house. As they could not speak the language and were three miles from town they had some pioneer experiences.

One day they were busy setting up a cook stove. The natives, who had carried it up from Apia, had no idea how to help them with this strange foreign object, so Louis and his wife struggled with it themselves, getting rather moist and blacked in the process. They were in the midst of this when to their surprise two visitors appeared, the artist John Lafarge and Henry Adams of Boston.

"Louis was so pleased to see them that he invited them in cordially, gave them the only two chairs while he and my mother perched on boxes. He apologized for not inviting them to lunch and explained laughingly that all they had in the house was one avocado pear and a few biscuits. (The boy they had sent to town for supplies hadn't returned.)"

The Stevensons thought that the visitors would understand the difficulties they were contending with and take the situation humorously as they did themselves. Not at all. Mr. Adams, on his return to New York, reported that the author and his wife were living in squalor, so poverty-stricken that they were subsisting on bits of fruit and a few crackers. He was shocked to see that the lady's hands were not clean, and the room they lived in was in disorder. That interview was widely copied in Europe and America, causing Louis' friends great anxiety."

"BRING in the representative of The Times and let the reporters wait", a remark credited to Mr. Asquith, which sums up the special position held by that great paper in British life, a position which, happily, it still occupies. The third volume of the History Of The Times—printed and published by The Times at Printing House Square—has just come to hand. Suitably sub-titled The Testing of the Times, 1884-1912, it covers a period which was a very vital one for The Times. When the paper seemed doomed by financial difficulties which loomed larger in the last two decades of the 19th century, Lord Northcliffe, disguised as X, purchased the paper and brought it up to date. After 1912, he came out into the open and successfully fought the Times Book Club, the two supplements, and put the paper back on its feet. Geoffrey Dawson was firmly established as its editor and her correspondents overseas began to enjoy the importance of their special position. As this was considerably greater than Britain's ambassadors, they rather than the official representatives of the country earned the hostility of Europeans, particularly in the case of the Germans, from the Kaiser downwards.

It is felt that two volumes rather than one should have covered this period, which was one especially rich in domestic activity—Home Rule, the Protection-Free Trade fight, the accession of King Edward VII, and the crisis in the House of Lords. These issues should not have been sacrificed to Imperial and foreign politics no matter how important.

Canada's New Citizens

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

THE official announcement from Ottawa that more than a quarter of a million persons have immigrated from other nations since the end of the war is evidence that the careful immigration policy of the Dominion Government is providing a substantial addition to the population of this country. The average per year for the period is approximately 85,000, with the number entering each year increasing appreciably. There is a possibility that the number of persons allowed to enter the Dominion each year may continue to increase, until it reaches a point where it might even silence those critics who feel that the present rate should be immediately doubled or even trebled, with little regard to the nation's ability to absorb such an increase.

There have been claims made by several men prominent in public life that Canada can absorb stated numbers of immigrants within set periods of time. One estimate placed the immigration capacity of the Dominion at fifty million over a period of twenty years; another placed the capacity of Ontario alone at twenty-five million over an even shorter period. There have been more conservative estimates, and one or two containing figures which sound almost fantastic. It seems probable that the most nearly accurate estimate among all these will be due more to good fortune than to calculating ability, for immigration—if it is to be wholly successful—must be based primarily on domestic economic conditions, and none can prophesy accurately the changes in these conditions which will occur from year to year during the next decade or two.

The most reasonable immigration policy the Dominion could adopt, we believe, is that apparently being followed today. The nation should admit as many new citizens each year as it can accommodate successfully, and several factors govern the successful provision of accommodation. Primarily, Canada must be able to offer these new citizens a measure of economic security by making sure that demand in the labour market is more than sufficient to absorb the added supply—and that the general condition of Canadian workers is not adversely affected by the entry of new citizens. Canada must also be sure it is able to provide its new citizens with the necessities of life, and it is far from easy to give this assurance today.

Housing accommodation is still a major problem. Although second only to Sweden in the provision of new housing accommodation last year, there are still many people seeking houses or apartments.

Preceding all other considerations, of course, is the selection of persons thought likely to become desirable citizens. As far as can be judged at this time, the work of selection appears to be proceeding satisfactorily.

Under the conditions briefly outlined above, we think the best interests of the people of Canada will be served by as rapid an increase in immigration as possible.

A Bible Message

And there went a man of the house of Levi, and took to wife a daughter of Levi. And the woman conceived, and bare a son: and when she saw him that he was a goodly child, she hid him three months.

And when she could not longer hide him, she took for him an ark of bulrushes, and daubed it with slime and with pitch, and put the child therein; and she laid it in the flags by the river's brink. And his sister stood afar off, to wit what would be done to him.

And the daughter of Pharaoh came down to wash herself at the river; and her maidens walked along by the river's side; and when she saw the ark among the flags, she sent her maid to fetch it. And when she had opened it, she saw the child; and, behold, the babe wept. And she had compassion on him, and said, This is one of the Hebrews' children.

Then said his sister to Pharaoh's daughter, Shall I go and call to thee a nurse of the Hebrew women, that she may nurse the child for thee? And Pharoah's daughter said to her, Go. And the maid went and called the child's mother.

And Pharaoh's daughter said unto her, Take this child away, and nurse it for me, and I will give thee thy wages. And the woman took the child, and nursed it. And the child grew, and she brought him unto Pharaoh's daughter, and he became her son. And she called his name Moses: and she said, Because I drew him out of the water. (Ex. 2: 1-10.)

Letter To The Editor

FARMERS REDUCE DEBT

Sir: This rural reader has, of course, no way of knowing just what the anticipated surplus on Parliament Hill for the current fiscal year will be; but I notice, in the course of your editorial of Nov. 30 entitled "Is Canada Over-Taxed?", that you quote Mr. George Drew as having discussed this problem at Montreal recently and making reference to "the long-haired boys in Finance Minister Abbott's victory tower at Ottawa."

I thought that the comment of one of our study club members in the above connection not only neat but timely: "That language doesn't come overly well from one who dreams of some day becoming prime minister?"

Undoubtedly the Examiner is 'on the beam' in advocating that the time to reduce the overburden of either national or individual debt is "while we have the national prosperity that enables us to do so."

As you well know, the farmers clear across Canada have been, in the sporting vernacular 'making yards' in this field of reducing the debt burden—a veritable bog into which "the depression decade" mired them — and, notwithstanding the fact that (even in the comparative prosperity of the past four or five seasons) they are still yielding ground to constantly increasing operating costs, I understand that several hundreds of millions of dollars of rural debt has been steadily lifted from the farm economy. At the moment, therefore, the rural barometer points to "fair weather" as Old Man Mortgage has released from thousands of farms—and especially on the prairies—where, for years, he had taken most of the joy out of life. As you put it, "Hard times will come . . ." Debt-free farms, in those days, will be good for every Canadian?

Vote On Projects To Cost Seven Million

By The Canadian Press

Civic projects totalling $7,202,000 will be voted on today by citizens in seven of the 22 Ontario cities holding their annual municipal elections. Another centre, Windsor, will elect its council on Wednesday.

Rivalling the hot mayoralty campaigns in interest for the voters in some cities, the projects range from pension plans for civic employees to financing of $1,500,000 hospitals.

Weather conditions might cut down the vote in some centres. Generally much colder weather with snow or rain was predicted for today.

At London, where Mayor George Wenige is gunning for his ninth term, the advance poll during the last three days indicated voting today may be light. Officials said only 100 appeared, much less than last year. But St. Thomas reported the advance poll at 272, highest in five years.

The mayoralty campaigns provided voters at Fort William with a situation believed unique in Canadian municipal history: whether one man will be mayor of two cities.

Seeks 2 Posts

Mayor Charles W. Cox of neighboring Port Arthur also seeks the mayor's chair in Fort William. He represents Fort William riding in the Ontario Legislature.

In seven cities mayors were returned by acclamation—Kitchener, Galt, Guelph, Brantford, Peterborough, Belleville and Sault Ste. Marie.

Here are the major projects voters will decide on: At Guelph, a new $1,500,000 general hospital; at Peterborough, $1,500,000 to complete a new hospital and build a nurses' home; at Sault Ste. Marie, a new $100,000 home for the aged; at Sudbury, a new $1,200,000 civic auditorium; at Brantford, debentures for a $117,000 trunk sanitary sewer; at Fort William, a $980,000 hospital project and a $898,000 community centre and rink.

Barrie Flyers Hit Stride, Whip Galt 7-2

By The Canadian Press

Barrie Flyers are beginning to clip along at the pace that carried them to the Memorial Cup finals last season. Walloping the lowly Galt Rockets 7-2 Saturday, the Flyers held on to their lead in the Junior A Ontario Hockey Association race.

The victory, coming on the heels of a 5-1 trouncing handed the Rockets Friday, seemingly indicated other clubs would have a tough job capturing the leadership the Barrie team took over with Friday's triumph.

In other junior games Saturday, Windsor Spitfires moved into sole possession of second place by overpowering Oshawa Generals 9-5 and Toronto Marlboros fought to a 2-2 deadlock with Stratford Kroehlers.

In the only senior OHA game, the Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen fattened their first-place margin by whipping the cellarite Stratford Indians 4-1 in Waterloo.

Barrie shot into a 2-0 lead in the opening period, held a 6-2 margin at the end of the second and added another counter in the third stanza.

Leads Marksmen

Paul Meger led Barrie marksmen with two goals, while Don Ashbee MsArthur, Bob Hogg, Stan Long and Bob Bingley garnered one each. Hal Hopper and Bob Newcombe counted for Galt.

Windsor connected with four goals in the last period to clinch their decision over Oshawa. The Spitfires shot into a 3-1 lead in the first period and then split four goals in the middle frame.

Bert Giesbrecht and Jim Hay both counted twice for the winners. Bruce Giesebrecht, Francis O'Grady, Bob Rawlyk, Gerry Lavergne and Larry Wilson scored one each. Scoring honors for Oshawa went to Don Hall with two and Dick Gambe, Frank Sullivan and Ted O'Connor with one each.

Marlies spotted Stratford two goals early in the first period and then grabbed one in the second and another in the third stanza.

Dinny Flanagan and Pierre Cadieux counted for Stratford and Bob Galand and Bob Hasard scored for Toronto.

Kitchener dropped a 1-0 lead early in the first stanza when Stratford's Joe Nelmes beat netminder Marcel Pelletier on a close-in shot. Bobby Bauer got the equalizer with only 55 seconds left in the session.

After a scoreless second period, the Dutchmen fired in three goals, Bobby Bauer getting his second and Don Bauer and Harvey Jacklin counting one each.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press

When the firing stopped after a heavy-scoring week-end, in the National League, little Grant Warwick, shifty Boston winger, was no longer in sole possession of top place. He now shares it with Chicago snipers Doug Bentley and Jim Conacher. Bentley picked up a goal and two assists and Conacher grabbed a goal and an assist to move into a three-way tie for the league leadership. Each has 21 points.

The Leaders	G	A	Pts.
Warwick, Boston	12	9	21
D. Bentley, Chicago	8	13	21
J. Conacher, Chicago	11	10	21
Kennedy, Toronto	9	10	19

Local Wrestling Star In Opening Bout

According to the threats coming from the team of Big Morgan and his team partner, Dan O'Connor, the tag team wrestling action in the Brock St. Arena ring on Wednesday will be worth seeing. Morgan and Dan take on the team of Pat Flanagan and Fred Atkins Viccharelli in a re-match stemming from the disputed win by Pat and Fred last week.

Morgan and his Irish teammate from Kansas City are prepared to guarantee that they will upset the tables on Wednesday night. They have insisted on a new referee claiming that Bert Maxwell gypped them in his counting out of Morgan while O'Connor was still in the ring with Flanagan.

Nick Viccharelli, the local mat star meets a tough opponent in Sammy Gotter the Montreal light-heavy. In the semi-final Dr. Ed Meske takes on the newcomer Martin Hutzler.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

They've rematched Fred Atkins and Pat Flanagan against Ben Morgan and Dan O'Connor in the main team grapple bout at the Brock Arena this Wednesday night. With Dr. Ed Meske and Martin Hutzler of Detroit in the semi-final, and Nick Viechiarelli of Peterborough tackling Sam Gotter, a light-heavy, in the prelim. Haven't heard at the moment who will referee, but doubt if Bert Maxwell will get the call. He awarded Pat Flanagan the deciding fall of the main team bout here last week—popular it was, too—when Morgan was out of the ring, but ignored the fact that Atkins had left his corner to pull bearded Ben out. This rematch should be another rip-snorting affair before a big crowd.

Grid Panthers are getting fancy jackets this season, being notified to this effect at their windup dinner at South Beach the other night. No less than 58 on hand for the enjoyable affair, with genial Stan McBride master of ceremonies. He knows some jokes, too. While the club again went well in the red, the morale was never higher and they'll be back bigger and better than ever next season. Dr. R. S. Chenoweth gets a jacket, too, as a Club gesture of appreciation for aiding the Panthers the last three years. He, Dr. D. Aitken and Dr. House are turning over their insurance fees for injured gridders to the club, and that's a big help. A signet ring is being sent Joe Cook, the treasurer, now living in Chicago. Oh, yes, H. T. Cranford won the draw prize.

'Caygeon Question Mark

Coach Ned Vitarelli has his Legionnaires' lineup pretty well set, but there's just one point not quite clear. Bobcaygeon may ice an intermediate "B" puck squad this season and, naturally, would like to keep the Nicholls. The latter prefer to stay up in senior "B" company and have signed with Legion. The club expects to keep them as these pucksters were with 'em last season. But the OHA has to approve and will make a decision on it shortly. We imagine they'll be allowed to step and play for the nearest senior "B" centre and that'll make Legion plenty potent again. Otherwise, the Legionnaires will need a couple or three replacements.

* * * * * *

They re banking on Ross Nicholls for goal again, and he's a fine, cool customer betwixt the pipes. For defence, there's Johnny Godfrey, Ned Vitarelli, Doug Mortimer, Don Coughlin and Percy Nicholls. Plenty of blue-line talent there. Rustling Percy has decided to stay around these parts and should be a big help for his defensive ability, his scoring and his fight. Started with Legion last semester but left shortly to play in Vancouver, where he went good in fast company. If he's with 'em, the team will be strong on defence.

* * * * * *

Plenty Of Okay Prospects

Up front, the pick of the forwards appear to be Joe Rochetta, Bill Crowley, Bob Greenlaw, Ernie Nicholls, Dootch Vitarelli, Bill Hicks of last year and some new ones. These include a chap named Stewart from Smiths Falls, Art Lucking—here last year but not playing—Ralph Hamilton, Norwood's top TVL sniper, Jeff Stock (a youngster coming up), fellow named Murphaugh of Cornwall, Bert Hill and Nick Humulka—both of Fort William, as well as two others of last year's Legion, Toodie Greenlaw and Bob Parnell. Maybe one or two more prospects, but that'll assure fans of another good Legion puck club.

* * * * * *

What the senior "B" setup around this area will be isn't clear yet. Kingston Navy has a team of that calibre, and Gananoque would like a grouping. Belleville tried to go intermediate "A" but was refused, owing to the size of the city. The Stouffville coach is interested in getting in with the Petes and Legion. And two Toronto teams—one being the Meteors who make Lindsay "home" ice—would like in, also. Whether or not they'll get permission from the Toronto body remains to be seen. We think the ideal setup would be to have the two Toronto teams and the two from here grouped together. Gananoque and Kingston make for long, expensive trips, whereas this four-club group would have but one fairly hefty haul, that to Toronto.

Things Done At The OHA

At the OHA annual on Saturday, 'twas decided next season on a draft rule whereby senior "A" and junior "A" clubs can draft players from lower classifications by paying $150 a player to the club executive. A player on a form "C" option to a pro club may only be drafted by an OHA club sponsored by the pro outfit which has the option. Junior "B" teams may now import four players and junior "C" three. A player's certificate must be registered by the OHA and returned before he can play. The "25-mile radius waiver" rule was tossed out. OHA has $29,804, plus $14,000 in bonds, on hand. But more again on the puck picture.

Curling Notes

By HERB MARTIN

Who will represent our club in the playing for the Ontario Tankard and the district cup competitions?

This is a question that has caused much controversy among the curlers in recent years and we expect it is yet.

For many seasons now the management committee have appointed skips who in turn would choose their own rinks—this method has met with sever opposition, and in some quarters the committee has been accused of appointing their friends—now this year the system has been changed. Any curler is entitled to enter a rink in either of the Tankard or District Cup playoffs. Should there be more than two entries in either of these competitions an elimination series will be arranged to determine the winners.

Several years ago this same system was tried out and many of the curlers entered just to make a farce of the competition and they did just that.

We are of the opinion that this system is good and sound providing the boys play it on the up and up.

We are going to take the liberty to pass along these suggestions to any of the curlers who are thinking of entering these playoff games.

First. Be sure you have the ability to play in such stiff competition.

Second. Be prepared to go right through to the finals.

Third. Take the game seriously and play hard to win.

Entries must be in the hands of the secretary by December 15.

We will watch the outcome with interest and will also be listening for comments

The winning skips in the Saturday night mixed bonspiel were F. Bolton, O. Price and J. Welsh.

Tonight the men's schedule continues: Group No. 1 and No. 2 playing.

A chartered bus carrying home the Oregon State high school championship football team plunged off a highway near Grants Pass, Oregon, Sunday night, killing two players and injuring 25 others.

The bus burned and the boys and coaches had to break their way out through the windows.

The two players killed were tentatively identified as Al Newman, a star halfback, and Sterling Heater. They were burned to death.

The Danish-Belgian team of Arne Pedersen and Emile Bruneau lapped the field Saturday night to win Washington's first international six-day bike race. The two Montreal teams of Rene Paquin-Claude Greegore and Bobby La Course-Larry Tessier tied for fourth and last place.

Wayne University cagers scored an easy, 53-45, win over the University of Western Ontario Mustangs at Detroit Sunday night before nearly 2,000 fans.

France has made a deal to take five of Canada's puck-shooters to strengthen its European barnstorming Racing Club of France hockey team, it was learned at Ottawa Sunday night. The are Jean-Paul (Lally) Lalonde, 21-year-old former Ottawa army forward; Joffre Desilets, 33-year-old former N.H.L. forward from Espanloa, Ont.; Marcel Bessette, 24-year-old star defenceman of the Lake Placid Roamers; Maurice Gougeon, 21-year-old Ottawa right-winger who obtained his release from the Glace Bay Miners in the Cape Breton League and rookie Limoges, 21-year-old forward with Hull Volants.

Projectile, owned by the Richelieu stables of Montreal, romped to a straight heat victory in the $500 championship trot at Toronto's Dufferin Park harness races Saturday and set a meet record in each heat. Projectile, driven by Phillip Dussault, covered the 4½-furlong dash in 1:12 4-5, the 6½ furlong heat in 1:46 3-5 and did the mile grind in 2:15.

Jim Fair's Last Mark, winner of the 1948 King's Plate, brought home $21,820 in earning as top money winner of the 144-day Ontario racing season. George McCullagh's two-year-old Speedy Irish won $20,165 in 10 starts. Canada's Teddy, owned by Morris Fishman of Toronto, earned $15,700.

Rodney, speedy giant striding bay stallion owned by the R. Horace Johnson stable of Charlotte, N.C., Saturday was named "harness horse of 1948" in a vote of 181 sports editors, radio experts and turf writers. Runner-up in the balloting was Demon Hanover, 1948 Hambletonian champion. Dr. Stanton, the only Canadian-owned and Canadian-driven horse on the grand circuit, placed sixth in the experts' poll.

City Carpetball

Results have come in fairly good this week but we are again obliged to change the setup owing to the dropping out of the Red Patch Club from the league games. However, another team has stated it wishes to enter; we only regret that we cannot rightly name the skip. It is one of the Garside boys and will be playing under the Legion banner. This team will take the No. 9 position and should do its best to catch up with games scheduled to date.

The Glengarry's showed their figthing spirit as they downed the Thistles 8-5 and 14-8 in their first battle of the year but apparently got some wool in the eyes when they had to share the points with the Bonnerworth aggregation, taking the first 11-9 but dropping the second 4-19. The wool gatherers apparently can't get over the hump to take double headers, as in their other game they lost all their cash to the treasurers who made a clean sweep by the scores of 16-5 and 9-8. Thinking they would take all the money coming to them the Treasurers took their money bag to the Legion, meeting the door guards and scoring 11-8 against those heavy warriors, but got bounced on their ears for a like score in the second when the bouncers took them for the 11-8 count. The Fighting Parsons are still holding their own, although they lost to King Billie and his orange squeezers 14-8 in the first game; they took the juice out of the oranges in the second 12-5.

In the other games reported the Bell Ringers went to town on the Scotch Thistles by playing the Blue Bells of Scotland for 11-6 and 9-7.

Standings to date show:

T	W	L	D	Pts.	Ave.
2	3	1	0	6	56
1	3	3	0	6	51
7	3	1	0	6	47

3	1	1	0	2	49
5	1	5	0	2	48

Schedule

Must be played this week or defaulted: LOL 3 vs LOL. Should be played before any other games, Woollens No. 8 vs BESL 9; SOE 2 vs LOL No. 4; LOL No. 3 vs BESL No. 6.

Games for this week: SOE No. 2 vs Glengarry's No. 7; Treasuers No. 1 vs BESL No. 9; BESL No. 5 vs BESL No. 9; LOL No. 4 vs BESL No. 6.

Games for next week—Treasurers No. 1 vs LOL No. 3; SOE No. 2 vs BESL No. 6; BESL No. 5 vs Woollen No. 8; Glengarry's No. 7 vs BESL No. 9.

We understand that Mr. Garside, skip of No. 9 used to play with Art Sims last year.

Everything possible will be done to get a complete schedule in the hands of every skip and possibly every member of the league by the end of next week.

Keep 'em rolling.

Canada Downs Indians 7-2

TORONTO, Dec. 6. — (CP).— Canada's six-man badminton team today prepared for its second big test in its first hunt for the international badminton crown. Canada defeated India 7-2 during the week-end in first-round matches of the Thomas Cup.

The Canadians, showing unexpected strength in singles—said to be Indian strong point—swept four or five singles matches and three of four doubles tests.

More confident after victory, they will fly to Pasadena, Calif., tomorrow to meet the American team in the second round. They figure they have a "50-50" chance of winning next week-end.

Friday night's play also gave them the solution to the problem of beating the Indians. After Canada's captain, Dick Birch of Toronto, was downed by Devinder Mohan who broke through the big Canadian's orthodox serves, Johnny Samis of Vancouver, took a walkover victory from George Lewis, India's captain, mainly on the strength of high floater serves which descended from the rafters.

The same serves were used Saturday night with devastating effect.

Deverall Of Port Hope Bows To Greenwood

PORT HOPE, Dec. 6—D. E. J. Greenwood, St. Catharines, boxing in the middleweight class, captured the Bradburn Cup emblematic of the open boxing championship of Trinity College School. Greenwood won a decision over Deverall of Port Hope.

In the novice B lightweight entry, Emery of Cobourg defeated Gilham, Crabtree Mills, Quebec.

Remember When...

The lure of cash proved too much for the time-honored agreement against broadcasting among New York's three major league baseball clubs seven years ago today when a sponsor's bid, reported to be $75,000, caused Larry MacPhil to abrogate the 14-year pact. He announced that Brooklyn Dodgers would broadcast all their games at home and away.

High-Powered Reds Trounce Rockets 8-1

By The Canadian Press

Providence Reds and St. Louis Flyers today continue to dominate their respective eastern and western sections of the American Hockey League after scoring decisive victories Sunday night.

The high-powered Reds whipped Philadelphia Rockets 8-1 to stretch their lead to 10 points with Jack McGill, veteran centre, and Billy Arcand, defenceman, pacing the attack with two goals each.

Paul Gladu, Flyer wingman, scored his 100th and 101st goals since he joined the team four seasons ago as the Flyers downed New Haven Ramblers 7-3.

Buffalo Bisons extended their unbeaten home streak to 11 straight, nine wins and two ties, by trouncing Hearshey Bears 5-2.

Cleveland Barons and Pittsburgh Hornets fought to a 3-3 draw with Sid Smith getting two Hornet goals.

Want Louis To Retire

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.— (AP).— The majority of his fans want Joe Louis to retire as undefeated heavyweight champion. But the Brown Bomber will put his title on the line next summer if a suitable opponent is found and if a $500,000 purse is guaranteed him. The 34-year-old Louis, in training for his six-round exhibition against Billy Conn here Friday night, seems uncertain about who can be classed as a suitable opponent.

New OHA Player Draft System Goes Into Effect Next Season

TORONTO, Dec. 6.—(CP). — Although opposed by Oshawa, Whitby, Port Hope and other centres, the new player draft system, approved Saturday by the Ontario Hockey Association's annual convention here, will go into effect next season.

The amending inaugurating the sytem highlighted Saturday's stormy session. It permits senior and junior A teams to draft players from clubs of lower classification—though only two from any one club—on payment of $150 a player to the club's executive.

The wrangling occurred over a clause which allows a player on a Form "C" option to a professional hockey club to be drafted only by an O.H.A. team sponsored by the pro outfit which holds the player's option.

The Oshawa Generals delegate, Neil Hezzlewood, said his club, a junior A team, was not professionally-sponsored. He said his Generals "might as well fold up" if professional clubs "are given the protection of this clause."

Drop Waiver Rule

The meeting threw out the waiver rule which permitted a player to perform with a team other than his home-town within a 25-mile radius of his residence. The executive described the rule as "nothing but a headache."

The delegates also ruled that starting next season a player's certificate must be registered by the O.H.A. and returned to the club before he could participate in any game. A breach of the rule will mean loss of the game by the erring team.

Import restrictions were relaxed slightly. Instead of two imports, Junior B clubs will be able to sign four, and Junior C clubs, three.

The convention also vote to recommend to the next meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association that 25 instead of 18 players be registered by teams competing in C.A.H.A. playoffs.

Maintain Competition

Retiring president George Panter of Gravenhurst, told delegates that the problem of the O.H.A. was 'to maintain even competition through the small town, assist larger centres to provide first-class hockey, regulate the rights of all clubs and so prevent unfair practices and to give the player the right to advance in his chosen career."

Panter told the delegates representing nearly all of the 100 O.H.A. member clubs that hockey had become a "chosen business career" for great numbers of young men. And it was up to hockey to provide a sports entertainment "that will thrill the people and attract them in great numbers to every game played."

Today, he said, strictly local talent was not enough. "The people demand that we obtain talent commensurate with the new style and size of show we put on."

Panter, president for the last three years, relinquished the post to incoming head J. J. (Tiny) McFayden, of Galt.

Writers Name Citation Horse Of The Year

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—(AP)— To the surprise of no one who follows horse racing, Citation today was named "horse of the year" in the annual poll conducted by the Baltimore racing publication Turf and Sports Digest.

The Calumet comet, winning the top honor for his stable for the fifth time in 13 years, was chosen the outstanding racer of 1948 by 161 of the 163 sports writers who participated in the poll. He drew the same number of first place votes in the balloting for the best three-year-old of the season.

Citation, which finished first in all but two of his starts in two seasons of racing, recently drew the top vote in a similar poll of daily racing form turf experts.

Bruins Edge Canadiens 2-1 To Keep Slim NHL Lead

By The Canadian Press

Kenny Reardon's elbow might have something to do with Boston Bruins still being in front in the National Hockey League.

The Montreal defenceman used his elbow illegally Sunday night, got a penalty and Bruins whipped in two quick goals to win 2-1 and keep their slim lead.

It was a game that Bruins needed. Detroit had beaten them 3-2 Saturday, following it up with a 3-1 win over New York Sunday, and finished the week-end two points back of Boston.

Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs split their two games and wound up still tied for fourth place. Chicago won 6-4 in Toronto Saturday and Turk Broda got his third shutout of the year in Chicago Sunday as Leafs beat Hawks 2-0.

Rangers dropped their other week-end game 3-1 to Canadiens, who now are a single point ahead of Chicago and Toronto.

Critics Penalty

Canadiens seemed on their way to their first win over Boston this year when Reardon's penalty was called in the final minute of the second period. They had gone ahead on Elmer Lach's goal from Hal Laycoe early in the period.

Murray Henderson tied the score with a 35-foot drive from Pete Babando. Then Henderson led a five-man rush, fired a pass to Ed Sandford and Babando drilled home the rebound for the winning goal.

Bruins lost to Detroit Saturday on Bud Poile's 35-foot drive in the third period. Goals by Bruin Pat Egan and Red Wing Gerry Coture left them tied at the end of the second with scores by Pete Horeck and Poile shoving Detroit ahead. Knobby Warwick came back to score for Boston.

Only Pentii Lund's goal with less than two minutes to play saved New York from a shutout against Detroit Sunday night. Red Wings went ahead in the first on Marty Pavelich's goal from Ted Lindsay and Sid Abel. In the third Jack Stewart set up goals for Couture and rookie Jim Enio.

Back To Life

New York's loss in Montreal Saturday brought Canadiens back to life after dropping two straight shutouts on home ice. Billy Reay got the winning goal for Dick Irvin's Habitants in the last period and added another one just before the final whistle.

Up to Reay's goal it had been a 1-1 tie, with scores by Montreal's Rocket Richard in the second and New York's Edgar Laprade in the third.

Toronto twice blew two-goal leads as they dropped their Saturday game to the fast-skating Hawks. Harry Watson and Bill Ezinicki shot them well ahead in the opening period. They faltered and Gaye Stewart and Jim Conacher had tied the count by the end of the frame.

Ezinicki and Vic Lynn put Toronto ahead again but Doug Bentley, Adam Brown, Stewart and Roy Conacher all counted before the end of the period.

They were two different teams Sunday. A tight Toronto defence gave Turk Broda a quiet night and goals by Cal Gardner and Ted Kennedy sewed it up in the second period.

Give Parliament Buildings Face Lifting Before 1949

By JOHN LEBLANC.

OTTAWA, Dec. 6 — (CP) — From new hors d'oeuvres wagons to new plumbing, Canada's Parliament Building is undergoing a big sprucing-up for the session due to open in January.

When the legislators assemble, they also will be greeted by new carpets, new lighting, improved air conditioning, and bright new draperies replacing the well-worn materials in the lofty Commons Chamber.

Even the pillared stone and marble halls of the centre block will have a new face. Stone-cutters are going ahead with carvings on areas that have been blank for the last 30 years.

Face-Lifting

Biggest job of all has been the plumbing, and members coming around a few weeks ago would probably have winced to see the walls torn ruthlessly out of their private rooms and their belongings piled up in the halls while plumbers wrestled new copper piping into the walls.

In a fortnight or so, all will be restored to their original condition. Even those with a few dozen pictures on the walls will find each in its place, thanks to charts kept by the staff as it removed articles.

For their deliberations, Commons members will have an air-cooling system to beat Ottawa's stifling summer heat.

Improvements

The Commons Chamber will be improved, too, by new green carpets in the sections around the members' desks and by gold velour draperies cutting off the Chamber itself from the members' lobbies.

Use of fluorescent lighting has been extended, though it has not yet made its way into either of the deliberative chambers. Chief new installation is in the big and hitherto-gloomy Railway Committee room.

The appointments of the Parliamentary restaurant on the sixth floor will be improved. That is where hors d'oeuvres wagons will make their first appearance. Also, a special salad section is being opened in the kitchen, taking over the space once occupied by a now unused wine closet.

RANKS THIRD

Only the United States and Russia have more railway mileage than Canada.

Royal Price Commission Has Voluminous Report

OTTAWA, Dec. 6 — (CP). — The Royal Commission on Prices had no authority in its terms of reference to reduce prices, but it present plans are to produce a voluminous report on the various reasons why they are high.

Work has been under way on the report for several weeks, although the public hearings have not yet finished. Evidence on subjects already studied has been analyzed and the commissioners have spent much of their spare time going over the evidence taken by the Parliamentary Committee on Prices, which preceded their work.

It is believed among sources close to the commission that the report is likely to run to 400 or 500 pages.

One possible recommendation is believed to be that lumber should bear grade marks when it reaches the final consumer. At present very little does. Questioning by Commission Counsel H. A. Dyde during the lumber probe, however, opened the way for such a recommendation and there are indications that the commissioners may take his lead.

No source close to the commission sees the slightest possibility that its members will recommend any general extension of the present limited price control. The members are known to be opposed to general peacetime price controls.

Some commission sources believe one of its most important contributions may well be its incidental study of some aspects of wartime controls. These sources privatey admit their feeing that privately admit their feeling that the necessity, under wartime controls, of prividing profit margins which would allow inefficient firms to stay in business, has led in many cases to higher post-war average mark-ups.

Commission

The personnel and terms of reference of the Royal Commission on Transportation Rates will be announced shortly.

Membership of the commission has been decided on by the government, but the names of the members are being guarded closely.

Delay in making the announcement is understood to be due to the fact that the Cabinet has not yet been able to draft the terms of reference for the commission.

There is a nebulous dividing line between its work and that of the Board of Transport Commissioners in its general freight-rate inquiry, and informants say the government is having trouble drawing the line between the two investigations.

Kinsmen Entertain Ladies At Banquet

OMEMEE, Dec. 6 (ENS). — Kinsmen's Ladies' Night banquet was held on Wednesday at Trinity United Church school-room. President A. N. Weir was master of ceremonies.

The Rev. Dr. Semple, pastor of George Street United Church, Peterborough, was guest speaker and other guests included the Rev. F. W. Pooley of Christ Church and the Rev. and Mrs. V. E. R. Zufelt of Trinity United Church.

Community singing was led by C. R. Vaughan, with Miss L. Race at the piano, and Mrs. J. Hayes sang a solo.

Dr. Bill Earle proposed a toast to the ladies, on whose behalf Mrs. H. Deyell replied.

Mr. Zufelt introduced the speaker, who gave a discourse on lighting fires in cold rooms, and a vote of thanks to the speaker was moved by P. McGuire.

The party continued in Coronation Hall with euchre, bridge and dancing.

PC Party Sends Top Speakers To Back Drew

OTTAWA, Oec. 6. — (CP).— The Progressive Conservative party put some of their top speakers on the hustings Saturday to support George Drew in the forthcoming Federal by-election in Carleton county. Mr. Drew will be opposed by Eugene Forsey, CCF candidate, in the voting Dec. 20.

A meeting at Burritt's Rapids was followed by a talk-fest at North Gower where John Bracken, former Progressive Conservative leader, participated.

Speakers included Mrs. George Drew, Hon. George Dunbar, Ontario Minister of Reform Institutions, Russell Boucher, former member for Carleton who resigned to make way for Mr. Drew, Donald Morrow, Member of the Ontario Legislature for Carleton, and Grattan O'Leary, associate editor of the Ottawa Journal.

Mr. Drew was scheduled to open his campaign at the two meetings, but was confined to his home in Toronto with a throat ailment. However, he will attend a joint nomination meeting today at Richmond, Ont.

Br. Bracken said he planned to give all possible support to Mr. Drew and predicted the new Progressive Conservative leader would be prime minister after the next election.

Speakers criticized Communism, with Mr. O'Leary saying that the Moscow radio was taking a keen interest in the by-election.

Mrs. Drew said the by-election, was not merely the issue of Mr. Drew getting a seat in Parliament. She added:

"It is the issue of what he stands for—our way of life, a pride in this country, a belief in home, in children, in church, in community, in all those things which, when multiplied a thousand times, mean Canada."

TURKEY SALES POOR

Because of the good weather sales at the outside market remain high. The usual vegetables —potatoes, carrots, cabbage and turnips—were selling well. Bagged potatoes went at $1.50. Eggs sold at 50-60 cents a dozen; chicken at 42-50 cents a pound. Demand for chicken was small and even smaller for turkeys selling at 50-60 cents a pounds.

GRAZING?

The old gray mare was a little off her course on Saturday night. Motorists, who were slowed down to a snail's pace due to the fog, were surprised to see a dark shape on the Lakefield highway. Bessie or Josephine just turned her big eyes on the cars as much as to say, "What are you doing on my stamping grounds?" She did not realize she was risking her life on the heavily travelled road.

Ballad Singer Received With Enthusiasm

The second concert of the Peterborough Concert Association series for this season was given by Susan Reed, the ballad singer, who offered a program of folk songs. Such a program is a novelty for the Association, and after it became clear what Miss Reed was and what she was doing her program was received with enthusiasm.

Susan Reed's art is composed in roughly equal parts of excellent musicianship and admirable showmanship. Her voice, which appears to be untrained, is nevertheless admirably disciplined for her purpose; her playing of the Irish harp and the zither, seemingly so artless, is brilliant; her charm of manner and the simplicity of her platform deportment, though quite genuine, are not unstudied. She is an accomplished actress and has already mastered the art of judging how much dramatic interpretation a folksong can stand—a knowledge which many singers of folksong never achieve.

There was the same deceptive appearance of simplicity about the songs she sang. Many a singer of reputation, but bound by "technique" and a slave to piano or orchestral accompaniment, would be defeated by the exquisite modal melody of "My Lagon Love," which Miss Reed sang with so much tenderness and understanding. We do not realize the degree to which our ears have been debauched by diatonic scales, "well-tempered" pianos, mushy orchestration, and the loud but often off-key roarings of singers whose voices are big but essentially unpleasant, until we hear an artist of Susan Reed's quality, who gives us the simple beauty of melody. Melody is the stepchild of modern music, and the word "simple," when applied to a song, is almost disparaging; a singer who can sing us back to real simplicity and who can show us that singing is a creation of the tender heart and the understanding mind, rather than a laboriously acquired ability to utter loud and sustained sounds, confers a great favour upon us. Much modern singing, in Bernard Shaw's words "is merely a tasty kind of yelling"; Susan Reed's singing is a kind of delightful thinking aloud.

Farmers Clamor For Fox Drive

G. A. Brethen of Norwood will read with special interest The Canadian Press report from Watford that farmers are "clamoring for organized drives against foxes". He and the hatcherymen of this district are asking the provincial government for extension of the open season for foxes. They propose that the time be extended to the entire 12 months of the year instead of the winter season.

Foxes are fattening in western Ontario on pheasants, chickens, turkeys and rabbits. Their pelts are so low in market value that they have no appeal to trappers and others who usually hunt them for gain.

Man Who Had Tommy Gun And Revolver Pleads Guilty To Three Charges In Court

Pleading guilty to three charges involving possession and use of firearms, Elgin Asselstine, of 121 Carlton St., Toronto, was fined a total of $135 and $7.50 costs in police court today. The accused was charged following a fracas at a home in Lakefield during which Asselstine pointed a revolver at a crowd of persons at a party. He pleaded guilty to possessing a .22 revolver which could be concealed on the person, to pointing it, and to illegal possession of a German sub-machine gun.

Speaking on behalf of the accused, defence counsel W. J. Arthur Fair said that "it was just one of those things that young fellows do once in a while. This young man was visiting friends at a party and there'd been some drinking. There was a scuffle of some kind and one man cut his hand on the revolver."

Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, also ordered confiscation of the two weapons, both heavy models and in good working order. The revolver is nearly new.

The charges were laid by Police Chief Samis of Lakefield.

Week-end Weather Lovely Fog Blankets Highways

It is a toss-up whether the main subject of conversation among the thousands of Saturday shoppers had to do with Christmas shopping activities or the weather. With highest official temperatures for Dec. 4, standing at 53 degrees, hundreds of shoppers strolled about the streets carrying heavy outer clothing. Stores were filled, but lack of crisp normal temperature did not encourage buying of woollen clothing and winter sporting equipment.

The ground was cold and by sundown, warm air in contact with the solid cold earth produced fog that spread from the Otonabee River to the tops of the surrounding hills. Midnight homecomers found it so dense and the driving so difficult, that many country people had great difficulty reaching their homes and were forced to drive in low gear on the highways' centre safety marker. Police report seven accidents due to poor visibility, fortunately none of them serious.

The fog burned off by Sunday morning and the remainder of the day was overcast but pleasant with a rising temperature. After supper a brisk warm wind rose out of the south-east, warning of rain. Steady precipitation started about 8 p.m. and lasted most of the night and official recorder Jim Harrison reports .12 inches of rain fell.

The unusual open weather has been a boon to everyone, particularly in the amount of fuel that everyone has been able to save. Farmers have no complaints at all since their ploughing is finished. They are now able to cut fuel in woodlots, although swinging an axe and running a saw is mighty warm work, even in mid-winter. Contractors have had several weeks in which to sheath in building projects and this will mean more homes ready for occupancy after the first of the year instead of early spring. Everyone is reasonably happy about the whole thing, except the kids who feel things are all topsy-turvy because there is no ice and feel that the lack of snow is going to hamper Operation Saint Nicholas on Christmas Eve.

Car In River Blame Dense Fog

Dense fog is believed to have been responsible for the car of Arthur Lemon, Lakefield, going off Highway 28, just north of the city, early on Sunday morning and into the Otonabee River.

Lemon, who was driving from Peterboro to Lakefield, had progressed about as far as Nick's Camp when he apparently lost his way in the fog and ran down the 15-foot embankment to the right of the highway. The car did not turn over and Lemon was uninjured.

The vehicle was not submerged; only the right wheels were in the water. Total damage has been estimated at $25.

Provincial Constables B. Bell and Arch. Grayling investigated.

Farm Groups Have Busy Week

A regional conference of agricultural representatives and assistants opened this afternoon at the office of Frank C. Paterson, and is continuing Tuesday.

These county agents of the Provincial Department of Agriculture are coming from North and South Simcoe, Ontario county, Durham, Northumberland, Victoria, Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox-Addington, and Peterborough.

Mr. J. A. Garner, director of extension, with the Department, will be accompanied by his assistant, A. M. Barr, and by T. R. Hilliard, junior extension field man.

Two other events of rural interest are booked for Tuesday. One is the opening of the short course at Norwood, continuing until Friday afternoon, and the Tuesday noon luncheon sponsored by the Peterborough Federation of Agriculture, at which Mr. R. M. Morrison, first vice-president of the Ontario Federation, will be the guest speaker.

Directors of Peterborough Exhibition are meeting Friday at 8 p.m. at Mr. Paterson's office.

Directors of Peterborough Holstein Breeders' Association are meeting next Saturday morning. In the afternoon the annual business meeting of the association will be held in Mr. Paterson's office. Dr. R. A. McIntosh of Ontario Veterinary College has been invited to speak to the members.

3 Peterboro Men Hurt At Reaboro

LINDSAY, Dec. 6—Three Peterborough men were injured late Saturday night when the truck in which they were riding, owned and driven by George W. Mitchell, struck a soft shoulder on the Reaboro bend and took to the ditch, where it overturned.

There was a heavy fog at the time and Mitchell was forced to turn sharply to the edge of the road when crowded by an oncoming car, which failed to stop. Mitchell of 6 Wells St., Peterborough, sustained chest injuries. Wilford Cummings of 75 Hunter St. W., suffered severe injuries about the back of the head, as well as cuts, and Ken Lee, 279 King St., Peterborough was injured about the eyes.

TORONTO'S 68th FATALITY

Kosh Lake Association Collects $1,000 For Dam

TRENT RIVER, Dec. 6—(ENS)—Allan T. Brown, secretary-tresurer of the Kosh Lake Conservation Association, reported total donations to date of $1,000 at a special meeting here on Saturday night. It was held at the home of George R. Brooks, and in the absenceof President William Dennison, MPP, Toronto, the meeeing was presided over by Dr. J. H. Holdcroft of Havelock.

The progress of the building of the dam at North River, which was completed late in October, was told by Contractor W. G. Barrie of Norwood. He told of the difficulties of transporting materials from the site of Blue Mountain Lodge to the dam site by outboard driven boats, a distance of one and one-half miles by water due to absence of any roads. The matter of appointing an overseer for the dam was discussed but the executives present were not able to decide on the matter of wages; this decision was left until a later date.

Kosh Lake is free of carp, according to cottagers and association members, and in an endeavour to keep it this way they appeal to all fishermen to make sure that carp fingerlings are not brought to Kosh Lake for bait. Mr. Brown reports that an abandoned bait pail was found this summer which contained some carp minnows, still alive; they were destroyed by the person who found them. They realize that is will be a very difficult condition to control and can only hope fishermen themselves will play the major part in it.

Others present at the meeting were John G. Pierce, H. H. Graham, Miss Gladys Moore, Lorne Richardson and Harry Graham, all of Peterborough; Fred Hull, Stony Lake, Bruce Longmuir and Clarence Holdcroft, both of Havelock. Mrs. Brooks served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Says Bus Barns Sold; Price $30,000?

Frank Mitchell, head of Peterborough bus lines, is expected in the city from Windsor some time this week.

Mayor Ovens recently informed the Examiner that he understood Mr. Mitchell was coming to discuss several matters of joint interest to the company and city. Reported sale of the bus barns by the Mitchell company is one of the subjects some of the members wish to enquire about.

Rumors at the first intimations of the deal said the bus people had sold the King St. property for close to $30,000. The barns were bought from the city several years ago at a time when according to representations they were essential to the business and their location a decided advantage in facility of operation from a central point.

It was recalled that the property was sold by the city for $12,000. Bus Lines have more recently acquired the Edwards motor building, on the north side of Hunter St., at the east end of the bridge.

"We could have used the King St. place for a garage," Ald. Swanston remarked at the last meeting of the council. Discussion had got around once more fo that subject. Some one estimated that it would cost at least $40,000 to build a garage and repair shop big enough for the city's own needs.

Probably some one is going to ask whether the city was entitled to any priority of repurchase when the Mitchells had bought new accommodation across the river. The agreement, it was recalled, provided for the city receiving first call on the transportation business if the company decided to sell, but whether that phase of the transaction included a priority the property and barns was a detail which several aldermen recently mentioned as at present outside their information.

Recognizes Cap Arrest Follows

David A. M. Stevens, Indian River, was remanded in police court today until Dec. 13 on charges of theft of two cars. One of them, owned by George Munro, was found damaged on Armour Rd. about midnight of Nov. 22 after its disappearance earlier that evening. Police found in it a cap which P. C. Claire McGillen recognized as belonging to Stevens.

The second charge is linked with the car owned by Donald Elliott. It was taken from the Quaker Oats parking lot in the early morning of Nov. 23, and was recovered undamaged on a Lindsay street, where it had been abandoned. Stevens' bail was set at $2,000.

Given Seven Days For Drunk Driving

Wilfred Bolton, 279 Braidwood Ave., was sentenced to seven days in jail when he was found guilty in court today on a charge of drunk driving. The car of the accused was ordered impounded for three months and his licence was cancelled.

The charge was laid following an accident on Park St., north of King St., on Nov. 27 in which Bolton's car collided with two others. Officers testified that the accused was "in a very drunken condition" when he was brought to the station.

Two Horses Shot Near Buckhorn

For some zanies the hunting season is not yet over and anything that moves is apparently fair game. The case of two horses wounded by buckshot is being investigated by Provincial Police.

When J. Robertson, of Buckhorn, went back to the pasture on his farm on Saturday morning he found that two of his horses had been riddled in the flanks and legs by buckshot.

How the incident occurred or who is responsible for the shooting has not been determined.

One Driver Hurt 3 Cars Damaged

A truck-car collision on Lansdowne Ave. at nearly midnight on Saturday was attributed to the heavy fog which made driving visibility low. Truck driver was Barney Foster, 64 Aylmer St. and Clifford Davis of 568 Charlotte St. confirm the statement that there was a flash of light, and that a loud noise—described by some as a small explosion — came from the north. The time was 1.40 a.m.

One man who was awake at the time said there had been a high wind which kept him awake. He believed two swaying wires touched somewhere on Sherbrooke St. block, causing a short circuit.

Residents near the sub-station on Aylmer St. say that immediately after the flash of light and the explosion, utilities trucks and emergency crews went speeding on their way.

One Sherbrooke St. resident decided to find out what happened and was informed by a workman that the trouble was caused by a burst wire at Sherbrooke Place and Sherbrooke St. The wire was replaced by noon today.

were no injuries in the collision. Damage to the truck was to the platform, which was pushed forward and the shattering of the rear window. The car received damage to its radiator, grill, headlight, hood and windshield.

At George and Romaine Sts. about midnight Sunday a fog-blinded motorist rammed his car into a steel CNR post and caused considerable damage to the car and slight injury to the driver. Albert Dainard, 468 Brioux Ave. was taken to hospital for examination when the collision with the post shoved him sharply against the steering wheel. Injuries were not serious. Damage to the car was to the bumper, grill and fender. P.C. C. J. McGillen investigated both accidents.

Canon Brown, rector of All Saints' Church in Windsor, will take the post here Feb. 1. Born in Sarnia, his first pastorate was there and then he served at Calgary from 1931 to 1934. Later he took a post in Detroit before going to Windsor.

Flash And Noise Awakens Many Citizens

A small area in the downtown district of the city was without electric power for short periods early today. And people on Sherbrooke St. report being awakened by a noise like a minor explosion.

Post office workers say that the power went off at 1.30 a.m. for a short time, and again at 4 a.m. until 5.15 a.m. During that blackout period the clerks sorted today's mail by candle light.

A downtown store also reported a brief cutoff as late as 8.20 a.m. and phoned the Examiner to learn what was wrong.

According to Ross Dobbin general manager of the Utilities Commission, the trouble was caused when some connecting switches on transformers behind Dewart's Mill burned out. While repairs were being made by emergency crews the area was plunged into darkness.

Residents on Sherbrooke St. between George and Aylmer Sts., said they were awakened by a blinding flash of light that seemed to come from the north. And this was followed by a loud buzzing sound from the wires.

Wires were not affected, however, for as one resident reported, "lights popped on all the way along the street, as people got up to see what was the matter." Others whose homes are on Charlotte St. confirm the statement that there was a flash of light, and that a loud noise—described by some as a small explosion — came from the north. The time was 1.40 a.m.

One man who was awake at the time said there had been a high wind which kept him awake. He believed two swaying wires touched somewhere on Sherbrooke St. block, causing a short circuit.

Residents near the sub-station on Aylmer St. say that immediately after the flash of light and the explosion, utilities trucks and emergency crews went speeding on their way.

One Sherbrooke St. resident decided to find out what happened and was informed by a workman that the trouble was caused by a burst wire at Sherbrooke Place and Sherbrooke St. The wire was replaced by noon today.

Detail Important

PARIS — Fashions are varied this season and if you seek to know what makes them so different one from another, you will find that it is often the detail

Some designers favor ultralong scarves of contrasting wool jersey, falling in a casual knot from throat to the hem. Others recommend tartan scarves, particularly for sportswear. Marcel Rochas puts a black velvet scarf at the neck of a black dovetyn afternoon coat, while elsewhere you may see a black velvet scarf on a chestnut-brown cloth coat.

There are innumerable coats with cape collars, some of them with genuine coachman effects. Robert Piquet shows these collars in the same cloth as the coat, but lined with fur.

Campbellford Couple Mark 40th Wedding Anniversary

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 4 — (ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Palliser, Rear St., were at home to their friends on Friday afternoon, and evening their 40th wedding anniversary.

They were married at Mrs. Palliser's home, Healy Falls, by the Rev. Mr. Strike of the Methodist Church. Following the wedding reception they travelled by horse and buggy to the Palliser homestead in Campbellford where they resided for the next 10 years.

Mrs. Palliser, formerly Ethel Keller, was born on the farm now known as the Ayrhart estate. Her father built the first summer resort on the Trent River 55 years ago. She is a member of the local Rebekah Lodge, having served for a term as Noble Grand. She belongs to the Women's Missionary Society and the Women's Association of the United Church. Lawn bowling and benevolent work take up most of her leisure time.

Mr. Palliser was born in Campbellford where he has been a successful florist for the past 40 years. He belongs to the IOOF and Masonic Lodges and is an active member of the town council on which he has served for 10 years, two of them as deputy reeve. For a number of years he has been a member of the board of stewards of the United Church. The recreational side of Mr. Palliser's life is expressed in lawn bowling and social activities.

They have six children: Mrs. James Higgins (Reta) of Peterborough; Mrs. Don Holmes (Ruth) of Campbellford; Mrs. Clifford Chaplin (Helen) of Trent River; Miss Anne at home; Fred and George, both of Campbellford. A girl, Clara, died at the age of four.

Intriguing Decorations Seen At Peter Robinson IODE Tea

Decorators displayed outstanding ingenuity and skill produced a picture setting for the Peter Robinson Chapter tea Saturday afternoon. The unusual effect, that was so greatly admired by the crowd, was gained by utilizing things from out-of-doors with red, white and green as the color scheme. The YWCA Green Room was a most fitting background, and sprays of gay Christmas crackers were hung in its windows.

An oval centrepiece was devised to match the table top. Red hydrangea made five bright spots in the scene with snowballs and clusters of small white berries set in the low arrangement of evergreen with tiny branches of the colorful barberry peeping through. Beautiful antique crystal comports with frosted design were filled with glittering Christmas balls of red and green and placed at either side so that the flickering red candles would make dancing reflections on the silver tea things. Presiding at the table during the afternoon were Mrs. C. B. Waite, Miss Rachael Young, Mrs. C. L. Upper and Mrs C. E. Graham.

Objects of considerable comment for their prettiness were two small Christmas trees on the mantle. Colored decoration on their branches were very attractive and their source is a simple trick from the housewife's pantry. The bases, also from the kitchen, were made to look like red and white candy sticks. Gaily wrapped parcels were a reminder of the Christmas gift-giving spirit and these highlighted the piano top where a basket, tied with a large red bow and filled with decorated cones, sat in bed of evergreen goughs. To highlight the opposite corner there was a brilliant hydrangea bloom surrounded with berries and evergreen, set in a white wooden pail.

Another unusual feature of this tea was the draw for a Christmas tree. This small evergreen came to the winner, Mrs. Hubert Chown, complete with blue lights, bright decorations and wrapped gifts for the family, one each to grandparents, parents, brother, sister and baby. The ticket was drawn by the chapter regent, Miss Mary Greer, and the sales were in charge of Mrs. Geo. Coleman Jr.

Winner of a turkey dinner for Christmas was also decided when Mrs. ... H. Turner, regent of Municipal Chapter, IODE, drew the ticket purchased by Mr. W. Brundle. This draw was in charge of Mrs. L. Carlyle and Miss Myra Baird superintended ticket sales at the door. Mrs. C. McIntyre and Mrs. M. Hardill convened the draw on a small rug, won by Mrs. Gordon Hill with the ticket selected by Mrs. W. C. McCreery.

For the novelty table decorators again came through with a novel idea and this time they stole the men's canes, covered them with strips of red and white paper and tied groups eof three with evergreen to mark the corners of the L-shaped table. A bare umbrella frame was found and this they decked with evergreen and on the ends they hung knitted apple string-holders, corn cob tea pot holders, mittens and such small items as there were in a huge supply of gift articles. Mrs. W. C. McCreery and Mrs. W. Derry were in charge here with Mrs. B. V. Moore, Mrs. F. Jobbitt, Mrs H. Cranford and Mrs. E McBrien assisting.

Five angel cakes were noted on the home cooking table amid one of the most tempting and bountiful displays. Eager customers were being served by Mrs. W. Belleghem, Mrs. B. Burns, Mrs. W. Regan, Miss H. Buller and Miss Margaret Cameron

Miss Mary Greer and Mrs H. Baker, vice regent, were receiving the guests. Hostesses were Mrs. F. Buckland and Mrs. B. I. Burgess. Tea room conveners were Mrs. C. B. Muir and Mrs. L. H. Ingram and Mrs. Burgess was in charge of the decorating. Mrs. N. Gell was at the treasurer's table.

Tea room assistants for the afternoon were Mrs. G. Ham, Mrs. R. Lewis, Mrs. E. Thompson, Mrs. D. Ketcheson, Mrs. E. Braund ,Mrs V. Selkirk, Mrs. J. Weir, Miss C Clark and Miss M. Bailey. Plates were replenished by Mrs. G. Hill and Mrs. E. L. Sackville, with Mrs. W. Fitzgerald Miss Doris Burgess and Mrs. W. Hardwicke assisting in the kitchen. The tea was made by Mrs. H. Keefer and Mrs. H. Steggles.

Donates Machine To United Church

The Mr. and Mrs. Club of St. James' United Church held its regular meeting on Friday. The group in charge of the program included Mr. and Mrs. Harry Orvis, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Hudgin, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Seabrook, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tully, Mr. and Mrs. George Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Davis. Fifty-five members and guests were present.

Mr. Harold Barton, Murray Mander and Terry Huffman of the Salvation Army played several number on the bells, chimes and marimba, Mrs. Aitkenhead, elocutionist, gave several readings and Mr. L. Bird showed two films.

One of the highlights of the evening was a sing-song, led by Mr. Cyril Davis who was accompanied at the piano by Mr. Ashton Fife.

It was announced that the club has purchased a mimeographing machine which will be donated to the church.

A rummage sale will be held by the club next Saturday in the building formerly occupied by the Louis Cafe. Proceeds will help pay for the machine.

A lunch was served and thanks of the club was extended to the group in charge by President Gerry Seabrook.

The next regular meeting will be held on January 28.

One Side First Cuts Mileage On Bed-Making

NEW YORK. — There have been several studies made in recent years of the chore of bed-making to determine the easiest, quickest way. The trick, of course as most housewives know, is to make up the bed entirely on one side and then do the other side.

But most bed-makers, somehow, make more than the one trip around. For these, the Department of Agriculture has some astounding figures worked out by their experiment stations.

The average homemaker devotes 25 hours a year and four miles of walking to making up just one bed. If the bed has more than one blanket, it takes longer.

This means that 100 hours a year and 16 miles of walking are required to keep four beds in order for a 12-month period.

However, by adhering strictly to the "once-around" practice, the 25 hours can be reduced to 16 and the four miles of walking can be cut to about a mile and a fifth.

The ideal height for a bed, from the standpoint of making it up, is waist high.

DOROTHY DIX

Double Living Often Leads To Collapse of Business

DEAR MISS DIX: My business partner is a man in his early fifties. He has a lovely wife and three children, but much to everyone's disgust he has fallen so much in love with his young secretary that he has lost all sense of everything else. He makes no attempt to hide his feelings and it is simply sickening.

Dorothy Dix

We have been together for many years and I am devoted to him, but I am at a loss as to what to do about the situation. He is losing out in business in more ways than one. If you were his partner what would you do?

WORRIED

ANSWER: I should tell him that he would have to send the girl away and do his love-making outside of the office and business hours. Nothing could do more to disgust decent business men and to ruin the credit of a firm than for one of the partners to be billing and cooing like a love-sick school boy with his secretary. Such affairs are always bad enough. They should at least be kept under cover. As the cynical old proverb says: "If you can't be good, be quiet."

Beginning Of The End

I should be much inclined to break of my partnership with such a man because he is a sinking ship. If you will notice when a middle-aged man begins having illicit love affairs, nine times out of ten it is the beginning of his downfall. Whether it is because his attention is distracted from his business by his Lady Love, or whether it is because his acting a fool shakes other men's confidence in his business sagacity, or whether bankers feel that a man who is not playing square with his wife is intrinsically dishonest and not to be trusted, or whether it is the judgment of God on him for breaking the oath he swore at the altar, I do not know.

But look about you. Run over the men you have known who at middle age forsook the wives who had helped them build up their fortunes, and you will see that with nearly every one of them their prosperity ceased with the beginning of their leading of the double life.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: When my sister died I went to my brother-in-law's home to care for his children and keep house for him.

But I am only 23 years old and I want to leave and get a job and be on my own. My brother-in-law, who is 50 years old, wants me to marry him, but I don't love him and I don't want to marry him.

My entire family tell me that it is my duty to marry my brother-in-law and take care of my sister's children. What should I do?

UNHAPPY GIRL

ANSWER: Certainly it is not your duty to sacrifice your life to take care of your dead sister's children. Your brother-in-law wants you to marry him because you are young and pretty and because you spare him the expense of getting a housekeeper. Just tell him that you are going to leave, and leave.

Your first duty is to yourself. Don't be one of the foolishly sentimental people who ruin their lives to accommodate their relatives.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 17, in love with a widower who wants me to marry him. He has four children. Please advise me what to do.

SCHOOL GIRL

ANSWER: For Heaven's sake, don't. Don't do it if you value your own happiness, or the man's happiness, or the happiness of the four children. A school girl of 17 is too young to marry anybody. She is too young to have anything but a passing fancy for any man, or to know what she wants in a husband when she is grown up. She hasn't had any girlhood and she isn't ready to settle down.

At 17 no girl is fitted to be a stepmother. She is a child herself and she is sure to quarrel with her stepchildren, and that means misery all the way round. There is no harder job on earth than to have to take care of some other woman's children.

Don't marry until you are grown, and then marry a nice young chap who will not present you with a readymade family.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, December 7

A stubborn obstacle, some static condition, may give zest or challenge to very constructive manipulation, which initiative and aggressive action may break up the congestion and eventually yield rich and lasting progress.

Timely aid from friendly sources may be counted upon, but shrewd analysis, profound thought, and probably compromise or readjustments are in order.

Personal affairs thrive and there may be encouragement for social festivities.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look forward to a progressive year, with definite headway in breaking up static conditions or stubborn obstacles. This, by force of sound preparation, clear-thinking and long-range plans, in which it may be necessary to change tactics, make adjustment or perhaps make friendly efforts for needed assistance from influential sources.

A child born on this day may be ambitious, capable and resourceful, although studious and introspective.

Low-Calorie Dinner

Broiled sausages and Calves' liver (3 oz.) (300 cal.) Unsweetened Applesauce (100 cal.) Mixed Diced Carots and Peas (80 cal.) Celery, Apple and Walnut (Waldorf) (Minimum of Dressing 60 cal. for 5 oz.) Grapefruit Sections Jellied in Lemon Jelly (50 cal.) Rye Wafers (40 cal.) Coffee (0 cal.)

High-Calorie Low-Cost Dinner

Note: The purpose of this meal is to give you a recipe for Bread Stuffing for practice in getting ready for stuffing the Christmas turkey. Spareribs are more expensive than the meat I usually include under this caption, but you might be in the mood to say "the heck with expense".

Stuffed Baked Spareribs (see recipe)
Baked Potatoes
Generous Tossed Green Salad
Baked King or Spy or Wolf River Apples Coffee

One-Burner Dinner

Corn and Bacon Chowder (a one-dish supper—see recipe)
Cheese Stuffed Celery
Steamed Cranberry Pudding (see note) Coffee

Directions

Many changes may be made in bread stuffing but this one seems to be a general favourite. For those who do not like onion simply leave it out—there is plenty of other seasoning 6 tablespoons fat—drippings or chicken fat or butter, 1½ cups hot water, 4 cups stale or toasted breadcrumbs, ½ teaspoon salt, 1½ to 3 teaspoons sage, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ¼ cup finely chopped onion, 2 tablespoons each finely chopped celery and parsley. Melt the fat in the hot water, and mix with all remaining ingredients. If you like a drier stuffing leave out some of the water. This amount will fill a 4-lb. chicken so when you make it for you increase it for the turkey triple it.

Now if you like you can form the spareribs into a "crown" by standing them on their sides, curved-in side out, skewering the cut ends together to keep them in place, and filling the inside of the "crown" with the stuffing. Bake in slow oven until tender, but not dry.

We had had French fried fish for lunch on Saturday so I tried this vegetarian supper dish—Corn and Bacon Chowder: saute 1 large onion with ½ cup chopped side bacon until transparent; add 1 can well-drained kernel corn or frozen corn, 1 to 2 cups canned tomatoes, 1 can condensed consomme or chicken noodle soup, 1 pint homogenized milk mixed with ⅛ teaspoon baking soda, ½ to 1 teaspoon salt, shake of pepper. Simmer until heated through and blended; serve with melba toast or toasted rye bread. Have a big mixed fruit cup fo rdessert.

U.S. INDUSTRIALIST and engineer, Alfred A. Strelsin (ABOVE), who has returned from a trip to Israel, where he witnessed the battle between the Israel and Egyptian forces for control of the Negev. Though outnumbered eight-to-one, he reported that the Israel forces scored a decisive victory. The bombshell of his report was the fact that a major issue in the fight for the supposedly worthless desert area are the three secret oil sites that exist in the unblooming desert sands. Strelsin revealed that Arabs sworn to secrecy are sinking oil shafts in the Negev, under the supervision of English and French technicians.

Many Attend Funeral Of Late Stuart Curry

A large attendance and many floral tributes marked the funeral service for the late Stuart E. Curry, 32, of 298 Fredick Ave., at the Comstock Funeral Home on Friday afternoon. The Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, assisted by the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan of Murray Street Baptist Church. Pallbearers were Walter Cox, Douglas Melville, J. A. Henry, R. Knox, E. Burnham and A. Bradley. Burial was at Little Lake Cemetery.

Mr. Curry died on Wednesday after he had been rushed to a Peterborough hospital from Hamilton. Blood transfusions furnished by the hospital and friends failed to stop a haemorhage which resulted in his death. He was born in Peterborough, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Curry, and for the past 14 years had worked at the Pratten Hardware. He was employed most recently by the Hobbs Glass Co., and was stricken while away in Hamilton taking a course of instruction.

He was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church and only a month ago was appointed superintendent of their Sunday School by the session and was to have taken over his duties on Sunday. Mr. Curry was a member of their Men's Association and served last year as secretary. He was member of both the Peterborough Lawn Bowling and Curling clubs.

Lots Of Law-Breakers In Toronto, Sunday

TORONTO, Dec. 6. — (CP). — There were lots of law-breakers in Toronto Sunday — residents who slipped into drug stores and restaurants to buy cigarets, and the persons who sold them. Sales were in defiance of a police notice that those selling cigarets on Sunday would lose their licences.

Inspector Charles Greenwood said no extra men were put on during the day to hunt violators of a bylaw banning cigaret sales on Sundays. The notice was directed not at those who sold a few packages of cigarets but at stores using their licence to sell groceries, cameras and even hardware, police said.

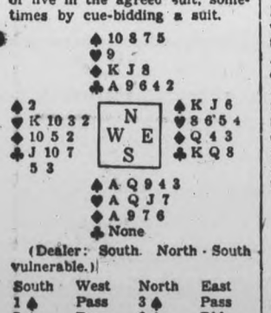
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

DON'T BLACKWOOD THEN

PLAYERS equipped with the Blackwood convention should not use it on all hands that seem slammy. There are situations in which it is better to jump at once to the slam and others in which it is advisable to employ a different method of obtaining slam information. The most specific of these comes when the slam-inquirer is void of some one suit, so that knowing about its ace would be unimportant, if not valueless. Then it sometimes is better to invite slam with a bid of five in the agreed suit, sometimes by cue-bidding a suit.



(Dealer: South. North - South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
5 ♠	Pass	6 ♦	Dbl

South's second bid there was the correct way to invite slam on this deal. When he failed to use the Blackwood convention, North knew that the slam did not depend upon the suit-tops North held, but upon the general merit of his hand. North, estimating his holding as being at least as good for slam purposes as his previous call indicated, went the rest of the way.

But suppose South had held a hand of at least as much total power as this, with the same distribution, but lacking the top control of one of his three suits. Then it would have been better, over North's 3-Spades, to cue-bid the clubs in case the diamond ace interested him, or diamonds if he wanted to know about the heart ace. If North in response bid the suit containing the required ace, South could have gone to slam, refraining from it if North could not give the desired response.

There was not much sense to East's double. The only influence was to help South make an extra trick. The diamond 2, 8, Q and A first trick was followed by the diamond K, spade 10-J-Q, heart A, heart Q covered by the K and ruffed, spade 9 finesse, heart 7 ruffed, club A for a diamond discard, club 2 ruffed, spade A felling the K, heart J, diamond J and the club 9 ruffed for all thirteen tricks.

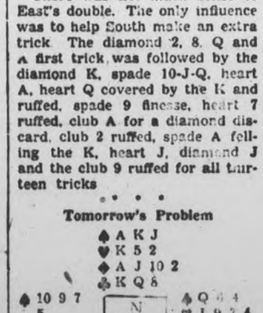
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer North. East-West vulnerable.)

How would you play for a No Trump game in the South after the fourth-best club lead?

Shirley Temple Puts Foot Down On Film

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 6 (AP)—It may bring her a suspension from her studio, but Shirley Temput is putting her foot down.

Shirley's studio, Selznick, wants to loan her to another producer for a picture after "Mr. Belvedere Goes to College." But she read the script and answered she did not want to do it. She reasons: "There is no sense in doing a picture in these times when you have a bad script to start with."

This is the first picture Shirley has turned down in her long career and she is waiting to hear if she will be on suspension. "It might be very interesting," she smiles.

Grabl to Rlax

Betty Grable finished off "Beautiful Blonde from Bashful Bend" despite her aching back. For a few months she will relax while her two-year-olds are racing at Santa Anita.

Nothing has been scheduled for Betty at 20th-Fox, although there has been some talk of the Eva Tanguay story, "I Don't Care." But Betty is tired of costume pictures. She has not done a modern story since "Diamond Horseshoe."

Jane Russell plays a dumb dame in "It's Only Money," and that will take some acting. She tells me that Jack Beutel, the forgotten man of "The Outlaw" cast, is taking drama lessons in hopes of another picture. Wouldn't another Western with Beutel and Russell be a natural for Howard Hughes?

Two-Show Young

Watch out, Dennis Day and Phil Harris: Vancouver's Alan Young will join you as a radio personality with two shows. Jimmy Durante's new "boy" will also have his own show on NBC next January.

Maria Montez and Jean Pierre Aumont plan to do a picture a year in France for the next three years. Their own production company, named Christina after their child, has made "The Last Port" in Marseille and Paris.

Mrs. Vera Richardson, Toronto, willingly entered a contest against a New Toronto policeman, Irving Pease, and walked off with the honors. But it was close all the way. Mrs. Richardson backs into a tight parking space (left) with body truck while Constable Pease judiciously watches her efforts and weighs her chances of making it. Churchill Party's Main Hope To Beat Laborites In 1950

By JAMES McCOOK.

LONDON, Dec. 6 — (CP) — If Winston Churchill were 20 years younger, more Britons would back the Conservatives to win the general election expected in 1950.

He is his party's main hope to win the vital floating vote of about 2,000,000 middle-class people whose decision probably will decide the election.

He is the Conservatives' greatest single asset but—and his supporters themselves use the "but"—he is not an unmixed blessing.

A full-dress Churchill speech, delivered in sonorous phrase and with the power that rallied wartime Britain, still is an historic occasion. But sometimes his words cause as much comfort as embarrassment to his Labor opponents, particularly when he intervenes in a Commons debate.

Churchill, once a Liberal, often "agin the government" and always independent by nature, can wrathfully utter statements that distress colleagues trying to dress the Tories in a new look.

Has Own Ideas

These planners carefully draft "charters" and speeches on questions like industrial relations and agriculture to show that while Conservatives cling to their faith in free enterprise they still approve social security, labor unions and the foreign policies Labor has pursued.

Churchill goes along with the general principles of these statements, but in the heat of debate he may reveal opinions counted old-fashioned by some and sentimental by others.

In some policies—such as his proposals for European unity—he is ahead of Labor. In others—such as criticism of haste in granting India independence — his political foes accuse him of being the voice of a bygone age.

On the government benches opposite him sit his political foes who were his colleagues in wartime — Prime Minister Attlee, Foreign Secretary Bevin. Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of th Exchequer, and Herbert Morrison, Deputy Prime Minister.

At his right hand is his lieutenant, Anthony Eden.

These six men are the leading personalities of British politics to-day.

Firmly In Saddle

Attlee, overworked, recently troubled by poor health, remains firmly in the saddle, and unless the unexpected intervenes he will lead his party in the election campaign.

After Attlee observers place the emotionless Cripps, once a Labor Party outcast because he was too far left. His rise has been the most spectacular since Labor took office.

Morrison and Bevin remain two pillars of Labor's structure and few question that when Churchill goes his place will be taken by Eden.

None of the six is young (even Eden is 51) and all have known illness in recent years. After them, neither politician nor voter can guess Britain's future leaders.

AWARDED MEDAL — Fire Chief Robert P. Dey of Pembroke, who has been awarded the King's Police and Fire service medal for the daring rescue of an 11-month-old baby from a blazing Pembroke home last March. The award was approved by the King on the recommendation of the Ontario Fire Marshal. Announcing the award, the secretary of state's office said Chief Dey suffered severe cuts and carried out the rescue at "considerable risk."

The captain, Barton Otis Bush, 46, suffered chest wounds and a bullet hole in his left wrist. Doctors pumped Mrs. Bush's stomach after she was taken to hospital. Later she returned home.

Chinese Reds Surround Chiang Army

Trap Three Forces From Suchow; Nanking Confirms It

NANKING, Dec. 7 — (AP)—Government sources admitted today that Chinese communist armies have encircled 110,000 nationalist combat troops on the Central China front southwest of Suchow.

These sources said the three trapped army groups have been compressed on a front eight miles long and five miles in depth. They were trapped by the communists as they marched from Suchow to rescue other encircled government forces.

Eight or nine red columns, commanded by Gen. Chen Yi, were said to have completed the encirclement of this former Suchow garrison. The trap was sprung about 50 miles southwest of their former base.

(The government sources' confirmation of communist reports came shortly after nationalist forces announced they had abandoned two towns on the northern front to reds marching toward Peiping.)

The bulk of Chen Yi's forces were reported concentrated south of the government pocket to prevent an attempted break-through in an effort to make contact with the encircled 12th army group.

Monday night the communist radio claimed 20,000 casualties already have been inflicted on the 2nd, 13th and 16th army groups caught in "airtight encirclement." Another communist broadcast said nationalist troops attempting to march south were "stampeded" when they came under attack.

A nationalist military press spokesman described the reported communist encirclement as "not probable." He said he had "not received such reports," but government communiques are usually late in reporting reverses.

NATIONALIST GUNNERS eject a shell from a 105-mm. gun on the Suchow front after firing at Chinese Communists. Leader of the reinforcements now helping these men is General Soong Hsi-Liang, hero of the 1937 Battle of Shanghai.

Ottawa Elects French Mayor

OTTAWA, Dec. 7—(CP)—For the first time since the turn of the century, Ottawa has elected a French-Canadian mayor.

E. A. Bourque, controller since his election in 1936, succeeded to the post today after a stiff, three-way battle which won him a plurality of 1,100 votes over G. W. Goodwin, optometrist, and 1,800 over Dr. C. M. Geldert, anaesthetist, who finished a close third.

A native of Ottawa, 62-year-old Mayor Bourque runs a coal ice and wood business and likes to carve small wooden figures in his spare time. Although the capital has had French-Canadians acting temporarily in the post of Chief Magistrate, Mr. Bourque is the first to be elected to the post since Thomas Payment held it at the turn of the century.

Final returns Monday night gave him a total of 15,983 votes while Controller Goodwin polled 14,853 and Dr. Geldert 14,171. Dr. Geldert served during the last months as acting mayor in place of Mayor Stanley Lewis, who was recovering from a heart ailment. Mr. Lewis did not run.

Million Dollar Fire Destroys Chemical Plant

COPPER CLIFF, Dec. 7—(CP)—A sudden fire Monday night swept the $1,000,000 steel and concrete main building of the Canadian Industries Chemical plant here.

No one was injured in the blaze. But the fire destroyed the 500-foot long building—considered virtually fireproof—in little more than two hours.

It left a mass of tangled steel girders. The building had been built in 1929 to manufacture sulphuric acid from refinery wastes at the International Nickel Company's copper refinery here.

With valuable equipment and machinery destroyed in the fire, damage was estimated to be well over $1,000,000.

Nearly the entire population of this mining town of 3,500 people turned out to watch the fire that raged through a sleet storm.

One company employee said he was astonished at the speed the flames swept through the building.

The cause of the fire was unknown. Officials said from six to 10 men normally worked nights in the plant but all of them escaped before the building was destroyed.

The flames licked near six tanks, containing 6,000 gallons of sulphuric acid, but engineers said there was no danger of an explosion. Several small blasts were heard at the height of the blaze, but there were no major explosions.

Ask Aid For Korea

PARIS, Dec. 7—(AP).—The United States today asked United Nations protection for the Republic of Korea against threats of violence and terror from Communist North Korea. John Foster Dulles, acting chairman of the American delegation, told the political committee that UN members should show "solidarity with the newly-formed but already-threatened government of the Republic of Korea."

Kicks Policeman In Shin Warrant Out For Flynn

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP).—A bench warrant for arrest of Errol Flynn was issued in magistrate's court today after the screen actor failed to appear on a charge of kicking a cop in the shin. An expert boxer and fencer, the 38-year-old actor allegedly gave the boot to one of New York's finest after one of those cloudy disputes that sometimes befall gentlemen in taxis after midnight.

Flynn, released in $500 bail supplied by a night club proprietor, hollered it was a "frameup." The validity of what happened to whom was to be tested in court later today.

This was the police version of the incident:

Flynn and a companion, who identified himself as Robert Graham Wahn, 38, a movie publicity writer, were riding in a taxi which was stopped by a police patrol car.

The police—Patrolmen Joseph Bergeles and Joseph Gardner — thought the 22-year-old driver had an unusually youthful appearance.

When the driver got out to show his credentials Wahn leaped out and allegedly used abusive language.

Sat Quietly

Flynn, a man of hair-trigger temperament, sat quietly in the cab.

Then everyone was taken to a police station.

There, with one word leading to another, Bergeles charged that Flynn kicked him in the shin as the policeman walked behind him.

Flynn and Wahn were removed to another station which has cells. Flynn was charged with third-degree assault, Wahn with disorderly conduct.

John Perona, operator of the El Morocco Night Club, appeared with bail money after receiving a frantic call from Flynn's wife who was not in the taxi. Perona said he didn't believe it at first because "the Flynns are always gagging."

Perona prevailed on Flynn to post bail, though the actor indicated he'd rather languish in jail. It was the principle of the thing, he indicated. Wahn also was released in $500 bail.

Flynn has done nearly everything, though there is no record of his ever having allegedly kicked a policeman on the shin before. He was a correspondent in the Spanish Civil War. He's a yachtsman, a novelist of sorts, and a romantic lead in numerous movies.

Plows Clearing Manitoba Roads

WINNIPEG, Dec. 7—(CP)—Blizzard-raked Manitobans counted today on the weatherman's say-so that a three-day storm is blowing itself out.

Weather bureau officials said Monday night the storm had moved off Manitoba territory in the direction of James Bay to the northeast. Temperatures were expected to be lower in Manitoba and high winds were expected to abate.

The storm brought Manitobans their first real taste of winter weather after a comparatively mild autumn. Monday night the Provincial Department of Highways warned motorists to keep off all highways south and east of Brandon, a district where the blizzard seemed to strike hardest, unless in an emergency.

All provincial snow plows and rotary plows were put to work on the highways. There had been fears that some towns might be isolated but through persistent efforts of those manning the plows, this danger failed to materialize.

Only three inches of snow had fallen in Winnipeg since Friday night but high winds had whipped the snow into drifts in many sections of the city. Winnipeg reported trams and buses had been slowed slightly by icy streets.

Gets Third Reading

LONDON, Eng.—The National Service (Amendment) Bill, extending the period of conscript service from 12 to 18 months, received third reading of the House of Commons Monday night. The vote was 218 to 25. The measure now goes to the House of Lords.

Name Reuter Mayor Of Berlin

Chosen Unanimously To Finish Term; 2 Million In Area

BERLIN, Dec. 7 — (AP) — An outspoken foe of Communism, Socialist Ernst Reuter, became lord mayor of blockaded and sundered Berlin today.

The newly-elected city assembly chose him unanimously to finish the present mayor term, in expectation that he would be continued in office when the assembly meets in January.

The Russians, who have a Rump Communist city government in their occupation zone, do not recognize Reuter. His sway is over the three western zones of about half the area of Berlin and more than 2,000,000 people.

Reuter led the Social Democratic party to a smashing victory in the western sector city elections last Sunday. The Russians forbade election in their sector and Communists boycotted the balloting. The new mayor will replace acting mayor Louise Schroeder, also a Socialist, who reverts to deputy mayor. A Russian veto prevented Reuter, a reformed Communist, from taking office last year.

The east-west conflict split the administrative staff of the city's power company.

Eight hundred employees of the company, Bewag, angry at Communist police interference in their affairs, reported for duty at a new office in Western Berlin instead of at headquarters in the Soviet sector.

Four hundred employees whose homes are in the Russian-occupied area stayed on at the old headquarters by agreement with those who left. It was said the 400 would risk Communist reprisals if they joined the protest.

Ernest Reuter, 58, a one-time Communist whom the Russians vetoed when the city assembly elected him Lord Mayor to fill a vacancy 18 months ago, is the Social Democrats' choice.

The official Socialist newspaper Der Sozialdemokrat, said it was expected the city assembly would finally seat Reuter today.

The term will run only until mid-January. The new city assembly will be formed then by the Social Democrats, the Christian Democrats and the Liberal Democrats on the basis of their shares in the 1,330,820 votes cast Sunday. However, the Social Democrats polled 64.5 per cent of the votes and Reuter probably will be named to head the new city administration also.

Milk Producers Appear Dec. 10

TORONTO, Dec. 7.— (CP).— Application of milk producers serving the Toronto market for an increase in price will be heard before Judge J. B. Moon Dec. 10, it was learned today.

Producers and distributors, unable to agree on a price last month, consented to their differences being arbitrated.

Toronto producers have asked for an increase which distributors say would result in a price increase of two cents a quart.

An application by producers serving 40 Ontario markets outside Toronto will be arbitrated by Judge D. J. Cowan at Brantford.

Discover Utopia

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 7 (Reuters)—The crew of the ketch Miena, which reached here Monday, claim they have discovered an "Island Utopia" whose 900 inhabitants do not even know there has been a war. Its people have "no politics, no inflation, no taxes and no isms." Women wear their hair short and men wear theirs long — and bleach it, the crew said. The island is Tikoteia, three miles long and a mile wide, 450 miles east of the Solomon Islands.

Drew, Temple Near Blows After Meeting

RICHMOND, Ont., Dec. 7 (CP)—A hectic meeting, which came close to winding up in fisticuffs, marked a joint public appearance Monday of the three candidates in the Carleton County Federal by-election.

William Temple of Toronto, who defeated George Drew in the last Ontario election almost came to blows with new National Progressive Conservative Leader after the two had exchanged insults. Donald Morrow, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario Legislature for Carleton, assumed the role of peace maker, and quickly restored order.

The clash came after the candidates and their supporters took turns addressing a meeting held in the Town Hall of this Carleton County seat after the close of nominations.

Mr. Drew and Eugene Forsey, CCF candidate, were the only two in the field a short time before nominations closed at 2 p.m. EST. But at the last minute, J. Nelson McCracken, a retired war pensioner, entered the running as a Social Credit candidate.

3-Way Fight

The by-election, one of the three scheduled for Dec. 20, is the only one in which there is a three-way fight.

When nominations closed in the Manitoba constituency of Marquette, Justice Minister Garson was opposed only by Mrs. Earle Keating, C.C.F. In the Quebec constituency of Laval-Two Mountains, Leopold Demers, Liberal, was opposed by Honore Desy, who ran on a Republican-for-the Peace ticket.

The exchange between Mr. Drew and Mr. Temple came as a climax to the meeting which saw C.C.F. supporters boo the former Ontario premier and Progressive Conservatives boo Mr. Forsey. Both Mr. Forsey and Mr. Temple were shouted down when they attempted to speak beyond the time limit set for candidates and supporters.

Few were aware of the trouble between Mr. Drew and Mr. Temple as most of the audience was filing out of the hall when the exchange occurred. Newspaper men saw the men talking heatedly but were not close enough to hear much. They heard Mr. Temple tell Mr. Drew: "You are the most contemptible character I have ever met; you are not even a man."

Insulting Remark

Mr. Drew told newspaper men that Mr. Temple had made "an insulting remark while I was speaking and I made what I thought was an appropriate reply." He laughingly declined to disclose what he had said.

Mr. Temple told reporters that Mr. Drew had called him a "swine."

Hurrell Dodds Heads Polls; Peterborough Votes $1,500,000 For Hospital

Gillespie, Young, Burrows And Sands Elected To City Council; Voters Put a Premium On Experience

Peterborough voted an additional $1,500,000 for the completion of its new Civic Hospital in the municipal elections on Monday which returned Ald. Hurrell Dodds at the head of twelve candidates for the City Council. The decision on the hospital financing by-law was 3,252 to 1,157, an approving majority of 2,095.

Ald. Dodds finished in front of the aldermanic field with a plurality of 666 over James E. Gillespie, a young business man and officer of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders in World War II.

Ald. Herbert N. Young was re-elected in third place with a comfortable margin over Arthur B. Burrows, another of the new candidates who polled 33 votes more than Ald. Adam B. Sands.

The results of the election of five members of the council for two year terms, as announced at 11 p.m. Monday night by City Clerk E. A. Outram were:

Dodds 4706; Gillespie 4040; Young 3589; Burrows 3188; Sands 3155. And for the seven other candidates: Peter J. Mather 2610; Harry Yudin 2606; John Beggs 2193; Joseph A. Jebson 1963; Percy A. Martyn 1834; Alfred Barber 1395; Maurice E. Ketcheson 1381.

Value Experience

The electors manifestly put a premium on experience by retaining the three members of the present council who accepted nomination, Alderman Dodds, Young and Sands.

The council of 1949 is made up of: Mayor-elect Max J. Swanston, who succeeds Mayor Wm. G. Ovens by acclamation, and Aldermen Dodds, Gillespie, Young, Burrows, Sands, and the five members with another year of their terms remaining: Hugh Waddell, Dick Raine, Douglas Miller, Grant Miller and P. J. Anglesey.

The hospital bylaw carried at all but two of the 51 polls, a decisive declaration of the wish of the property owners to complete the new institution in its original capacity and plans. Its success in the polling was never in doubt from the first return at 8.30 p.m.

Dr. Ralph Honey Heads Polls In B of E Vote

Dr. Ralph Honey, seeking his second two-year term as a member of the Board of Education, headed 44 of the 51 polls, tied in two and placed second in the other five to take top place in the balloting for the four seats open on the Board. Dr. Honey scored the surprising total of 4748 votes to lead the second contender by a wide margin. He was followed by Dr. Ross Matthews, Frank Jobbitt, Walter Bannon, Stanley Adamson and Stanley O. Shields, the last two failing to place.

Complete returns as compiled by City Clerk Outram and his deputies this morning reveal the following totals, with little change from the figures as released by the Examiner Monday evening: Honey, 4748, Matthews, 3945, Jobbitt, 3686, Bannon, 3360, Adamson, 2851, and Shields, 2480.

In 1946 when Dr. Honey, just back from a long term of active service, presented himself for election, the voters gave him top spot in 40 of the 50 polls. This year they did even better, and at the same time, 300 more votes than the total polled in 1946 were added to his count.

Dr. Ross Matthews, a veteran of six years service in the RCAF, who came to Peterborough late in 1945, appears to have impressed the electors with his ability and friendly personality. They gave him a heart-warming reception, as he made his debut seeking a place on the school board, placing him second in the standing, and first in one poll, and second in more than 30. His support was consistently strong from one end.

Planning To Reopen Public Spy Hearings

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—The House of Representatives un-American Activities Committee suddenly decided to reopen public hearings today in its investigation of Communist spying. It named Sumner Welles, former undersecretary of state, as a witness.

Representative Carl Mundt (Rep. S.D.) flew into town to take charge of the hearings. He went into an immediate huddle with Representative Richard Nixon (Rep. Calif.), a committee member, and Robert E. Stripling, a committee investigator. Mundt said Stripling would be a witness as well as Wells.

Stripling, Mundt said, will put "on the public record the way the case has evolved and developed and where this information came from."

Find No Sign Trucker Hurt

TORONTO, Dec. 7—(CP)—Dr. John O'Hara, Toronto physician said today he could find no sign that Robert Taylor Thompson, missing truck driver who turned up Monday in Montreal after disappearing last Thursday, had suffered any physical injury.

"His trouble may be psychic," Dr. O'Hara said. "He may not have received a physical bump, but may be emotionally upset."

Dr. O'Hara said Thompson's eyes have the appearance of a man suffering from amnesia but added that a similar stare is occasionally found in the eyes of a normal person.

Thompson was trembling Monday night as he was assisted from the Montreal train. He said he did not recall that he lived in Toronto. He complained repeatedly of pains in the head.

Mrs. Thompson met the train at Port Hope 60 miles east of here.

Thompson showed no signs of recognition. Over the phone he told her: "I don't know anything about a wife, but if you say you're my wife I guess you must be right."

Mercy Plane Lands Immediately Explodes

SIOUX LOOKOUT, Dec. 7 — (CP)—Climbing out of the wing of a burning plane 500 feet in the air 40-year-old Ernie Farlinger helped the pilot guide the craft to an emergency landing on a frozen lake and then pulled an injured man from the plane's cabin two minutes before the plane exploded.

Pilot Art Colfer of Hudson, Ont. landed on Hanna Lake about seven miles from Sioux Lookout. His plane had been used to pick up a bush worker, Nick Derkacz, 50, suffering a broken leg.

The plane was destroyed.

Britain's War Shipping Loss Will Soon Be Replaced

LONDON, Dec. 7.—(Reuters).—All Britain's shipping losses during the Second World War will have been replaced by the time present building or orders placed in British shipyards have been completed.

This position has been reached relatively quickly despite simultaneous priority building for export overseas.

Starting the war with 17,400,000 tons of shipping, Great Britain lost 11,333,000 tons through enemy action. Aided by intensive replacement building, she emerged with 13,900,000 tons at the end of the war.

Now the balance has almost been made up—in liners, tankers, deep-sea tramps, coasters and smaller ships—while considerable work still is being done for foreign countries.

Owing to steel shortages and increasing building costs, the amount of new construction in British yards appears to have passed the peak, at least temporarily.

For the third quarter of 1948, merchant shipping under construction in British yards totalled 2,208,999 tons gross down by more than 30,000 tons compared with the previous three months.

This represented 15 fewer ships being built than the 45 under construction earlier in the year.

Among the larger ships being built in Britain for foreign countries are three refrigerator and passenger ships for Argentina, the first of which, the President Peron (15,500 tons) has already been launched at Barrow-in-Furness, Lancashire.

Other large ships under construction or completed recently include the Cunard White Star Line's 34,000-ton Caronia, the largest ship built anywhere in the world since the war, and new luxury liners for the South African passenger trade.

Old Guide And Trapper Reviews Peterborough's Municipal Vote

By GORD BAILEY

Me and the old lady was listenin' to the radio last night and them two talent shows, the aldermanic contest, and the one where people get diamonds hung on them. "Dodds," says the old woman sudden like. "Hurrell Dodds" reminds me of them hollyhocks of our'n, dependable and perennial as can be."

"What about Adam Sands and Doctor Young?" I snaps at her, smart as a cricket like. "I'll accept them too," she says, sort of condescendin' like. "I guess you got to," says I, quiet like, of course.

Well, I could see what she was drivin' at, she bein' the cautious type (that's the only way I could type her) she liked the idea of havin' real sound experience in the majority. Not that them two new boys aren't sound, with their experiences in the wars, they oughta know most of the answers and when to speak up and when to shut up . . . or put up.

Long after she went to the hay, I sat there smokin' and thinkin' about people and the way they act . . . and vote. Seems there's no connection between their actin' and votin'. Well, when I go to town I usually git time to slip into the Pig's Ear for a glass of amber, and I generally listen to the boys blowin' froth and givin' off with how the laborin' men is being treated. Now, accordin' to them, if you work in an office, a bank or a store, you ain't laborin' (as fer me, they probably class me as a country gentleman or a hill billy). As I was sayin', no man accordin' to them is laborin' unless they're in a shop or diggin' a ditch. Well, the question in my mind is, where do these guys go on election day, the pub's is closed and the labor men are usually left at the post. I reckon they really don't want their own kind elected or they just like to talk and imagine, they would like to be represented by their shop buddies. People is funny.

Well, Peterborough has a pretty good cross-section of their citizens workin' for them and AIN'T IT WORK, why I'd sooner be out here watchin' and waitin' for some fed-up city feller to come out and envy me for a day or two and listen to him tell me how much he'd give to have my job. But no money's comin' forthwith, for same.

Well, about this time the old woman started to siore and I thought I should get her off her back for a spell, but if I woke her I'd have to listen for an hour or so to her talkin' about the election. Her snorin' brought me around to my own votin'. Out here we can plump for someone, but down in Peterborough, I bet they tore up a lot of ballots because people couldn't go all out for their friends (probably the labor fellers succumb to this urge.) I hear the hospital is going to be finished and I'm awfully glad that a lot of people realized that good health is a great gift that might be snatched away any time and they will need their Friend-on-the-Hill. Well, the thought of havin' that place with a nice clean bed and a couple of pretty nurses and good scenery is sorta comforting' (even to a feller my age). The Board of Education looks pretty solid too, with four pretty fine chaps, (although I ain't much on book learnin') they oughta be able to look after the Peterborough kids alright. Now I guess Peterborough is all set for another year and with these lads all lined up all tasty like for the fray, they oughta get things done. Now this is off my mind all I got to think about is wether the Judge's friend will sell those bubble pipes, if Mrs. Chiang will get Harry to loan her that 3 billion to beat off them Red Skins and if Sparkle Plenty will be home with Gravel Gertie and her old man in time for Christmas. Gosh, there's always somethin' doing'.

REEVE ERNEST LESSON was on Monday re-elected reeve of Havelock. He defeated his last year's opponent, Fred Pollock, with a vote of 292 to 244. Havelock voters also had a by-law asking them if they wanted municipal garbage collection. This was approved 447 to 87.

Reeve Flynn Defeated

Gale Elliott, Harvey township councillor for the past six years, was elected Reeve over past reeve, Charles Flynn, by a margin of 47 votes. Four councillors, Thomas Mason, Kenneth Junkins, Thomas Gordon and Charles Johnston, were returned by acclamation.

Due to an earlier voting date this year over last, and good highway travel in all directions, the highest vote in years was recorded in the district, according to township clerk, Mrs. M. B. Hall.

McKnight Heads Cavan Polls

MILLBROOK, Dec. 7—(ENS)—Election interest was high, voting was heavy for township council on Monday and six men were contesting the three seats. J. H. McKnight, a newcomer headed the polls with a total of 465, Lloyd Hooton was re-elected placing second with 436 and the third position went to Harold Bradburn, a new man with 357.

and a dirty rat." Mr. Morrow said that when he reached the scene, Mr. Temple, who defeated Mr. Drew in High Park largely on the liquor question, was threatening to beat up the Conservative leader.

Although feeling ran high throughout the 2½ hour meeting, the incident appeared to have been set off by Mr. Drew's charge that Mr. Temple did not have "an honest vein" in his whole body. Mr. Temple, who had stated that Mr. Drew was controlled by the liquor interests, jumped to his feet to answer the charge but a section of the audience shouted him down and he resumed his seat.

Not Controlled

Mr. Drew told the meeting that he and his party are not controlled by anyone except the people of Canada or of Carleton county. He defended his Ontario government's liquor legislation which, he said, had rectified a situation where hotel rooms were being turned into private bars to the detriment of youths and others. Among those who were opposed to the legislation were those who were helping bootleggers.

(The legislation referred to permitted the establishment of cocktail bars and the sale of liquor by the glass in various parts of the province. Previously liquor could only be purchased by the bottle in government operated stores).

The incident ended as quickly as it started and Mr. Drew moved on to address a quiet meeting at Metcalfe, a small town in the riding which takes in some of the Ottawa suburbs and some of the farming areas to the south of the capital.

Mr. Forsey and Mr. McCracken were not involved in the incident. Mr. McCracken was the only candidate to receive a quiet hearing. He said he would not participate in making charges and in name-calling.

Mr. Drew was booed at the outset of his speech when he referred to the CCF as the Nationalist Socialist party.

of the city to the other. Dr. Matthews, a specialist in pediatrics, is on the staff of the Peterborough Clinic.

Frank Jobbitt, vice-chairman of the Board who is starting his fifth year of service to the public school supporters polled a big vote, showing strength in the west and north wards, and a substantial vote in all the 51 polls.

Bannon Headed Poll

Poll 51 at the Grove School gave Walter Bannon first place with 64 votes, Honey being second with 49. Polls 4 and 5 in the south ward, Bethel Baptist Church and May's School swung Bannon into a tie with Honey, and in the remainder of the polls Bannon maintained fourth position, jockeying with Jobbitt as he drew liberal support from the south, west, north and Claraday. Starting his fifth year on the Board Bannon polled 3360 as compared with 3260 two years ago.

Stanley Adamson, a newcomer placed fifth. He was born in Ashburnham on Woodbine Ave., and received his primary education at King George School Perhaps too many new residents have moved into that section of North Ashburnham, since the Adamsons moved. At any rate, he did not draw a very heavy vote in the east ward except in polls 41, Finnie's residence at 700 Armour Rd. and the Immaculate Conception School. Stanley O Shields, the other newscomer placed last. He received strong support in the west ward where he lives, leading Adamson in three of the ten polls. In the early returns, little could be determined because Poll 6, May's School, the fourth to report gave Matthews, 34, Honey, 31, Bannon 27, Shields, 24 and only 11 for Jobbitt. As the returns rolled in however, it soon became apparent that Matthews was going to be with the leaders.

Central School, the first booth to report in the north ward gave the following results Honey. 99, Matthews, 86, Bannon, 77, Jobbitt, 74, Adamson, 55 and Shields, 45.

The first poll from Claraday subdivision, 50, Confederation School, came in as follows, Honey, 95, Bannon, 93, Matthews, 76, Adamson, 74, Shields, 49 and Jobbitt, 27.

At 7.45, three-quarters of an hour after the polls ahd closed the results of five polls were in, and the Board of Education standing at that time was Honey 222, Matthews, 183, Bannon, 177, Jobbitt, 161, Adamson, 151, and Shields 100.

At 8.15, there were 20 polls complete and the standing was the same, Honey, 1406, Matthews, 1174, Bannon, 1146, Jobbitt, 1091, Adamson, 877 and Shields, 764.

From that time on, the checkers in the committee room of the city council were swamped and the count from 35 polls was complete shortly after 8.30. The score at that time was Honey, 2877, Matthews, 2403, Jobbitt, 2204, Bannon, 2156, Adamson, 1786 and Sihelds, 1560.

The retiring member of the Board is Wilmott B. Gordon who has completed a two-year term on the Board but is forced to retire because of pressure of business.

Sentenced to one month as the result of a picket line disturbance last May 3 were: Victory Hann, Walter Hall, Harry Wallace, Tiberio Denino, and Walter Moffatt. Samuel Crawford, former shop steward, was sentenced to two months.

Rescue 33 Plane Survivors In Shark-Infested Waters

HONOLULU, Dec. 7—(AP).—Thirty-three survivors of a mid-Pacific plane crash were rescued Monday night after floating in shark-infested waters more than 40 hours aboard two overcrowded life rafts.

Their four companions aboard an ill-fated United States Air Force C-54 transport plane were listed today as dead. All 37 aboard were Air Force personnel.

The survivors were picked up by the carrier Rendova Monday night 520 miles southwest of tiny Johnston Island, at the climax of a dramatic air and sea search extending over two days.

When the plane crashed into the ocean Sunday morning, only two seven-man life rafts could be found and inflated, survivors reported in a radio interview.

Sixteen to eighteen men were packed on each raft, said Lt.-Col. William R. Calhoun, pilot of the plane.

They took turns clinging on the outside. Sharks were seen circling around the overcrowded rafts from the time the plane was "ditched" until the survivors were picked up.

"We had shark repellant aboard the raft and used it at all times to keep them away," Calhoun said.

Rotarians Ask For New Park

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 7 — A communication requesting the council to set aside a plot of ground for park purposes was received by the town council on Monday night from the Rotary Club. Grant Anderson, speaking on the letter, said that the Rotary Club had considerable funds on hand and that a park would be a worthy object for his organization to sponsor. Councillor MacMillan was rather skeptical of the proposition. He said that he was in favor of a park but that the town could not afford to spend any more money at this time. The matter was deferred to a later meeting.

A resolution was received from the Owen Sound City Council regarding the power shortage in Ontario. The local council was asked to urge Premier T. L. Kennedy to call a special session of the Legislature to deal with the matter. Campbellford owning its own power plant, the council was not interested. It was moved that the letter be received.

A letter was received from the local I.O.D.E. asking for a grant to aid the fight against tuberculosis in eastern Northumberland County. $25 was voted by council. Another letter from the Canadian Mothercraft Society, Toronto, outlining dangers to mind and body from deficiencies in our food caused by soil erosion. It asked for financial aid to support their work in edcuating the public against these dangers. No action was taken.

Communications were received from the Fire Marshal and the Fire Underwriters' Association in reference to dispatching fire fighting equipment outside of the town limits. Both letters stated that municipal council had full jurisdiction over its own fire department but that it would be unsafe to send equipment elsewhere unless there was sufficient equipment retained at the fire station to meet any local emergency. It was moved that the letters be received and filed. After further discussion it was moved and carried that the fire chief be instructed to comply with the regulations posted in the fire hall.

Indivivdual letters were sent to the members of the council, stating reasons why Mr. Barnes should not be granted a permit to build a movie theatre. No action was taken. Morgan Ames billed the town for $7.50 in payment for a broken spring on his car, caused by the bumpy condition of Centre St. It was moved that the bill be handed to the insurance agent.

Because Mr Ellis had not respected the rules of the building by-law he had been given 30 days notice to vacate the property on which he now resides but he had failed to comply with the council's order. The chairman of the property committee was delegated to take action. J. C. Birmingham was engaged to survey the market reserve on the condition that his work be verified by a certified land surveyor.

DP's Anxious For Citizenship

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 7 — (ENS).—"Displaced persons coming to Canada from many parts of Europe are anxious to become Canadian citizens," said the Rev. Maurice Kaminsky, director of the Jewish Mission of the Church of England, Toronto, when he addressed members of the Rotary Club at their noon luncheon on Monday. "They are quickly adapting themselves to our customs and language and will make fine new Canadians," he declared.

Mr. Kaminsky stated that the missior had a camp for underprivileged children at Sparrow Lake. The camp had been given to the mission by the Church of England, but the mission was responsible for its maintenance. The camp was mostly for Jewish children, but the children of other nationalities were not barred from its opportunities and privileges. There was no better place than the camp to teach children the meaning of tolerance, respect for others and correct behaviour.

The speaker told of a Jewish refugee family in Toronto which had experienced dire financial need. The father had lost his job, the roof of the house was leaking and there was little money. The mother was so disturbed that she was contemplating suicide. We visited the home and received permission to take their three small children to Sparrow Lake camp. Now they were attending the mission and are happy with life in Canada.

"The story of another family from Vienna, Austria is a fair illustration of the horrors and hardships of displaced persons in Europe," he said. "The father, mother and son were placed in different concentration camps until finally they were brought together at crematory ovens in Poland. They escaped, and after weeks of privations, reached Spain. They now live in Toronto where the father has a position with a life insurance company and the son plays defence for a rugby team. The father speaks 12 languages and has received his MA degree from the University of Toronto for his linquistic abilities. They are now members of the Church of England and are grateful for the privilege of living in a free country."

Mr. Kaninsky said the mission was making Christmas preparations for some 300 children of displaced persons. For them there was no Christmas because there was on Christ. "To miss the joy is to miss all," he concluded.

Rotarian the Rev. W. J. Lennox introduced the speaker and Rotarian Dr. O. C. Watson moved a vote of thanks. President Bill Brady was in the chair.

Refuse Naturalization To Oshawa Applicant

WHITBY, Dec. 7. — (CP). — Judge D. B. Coleman Monday refused to recommend naturalization for Alex Soloman of Oshawa, when Soloman admitted he was a member of the Canadian Workers' Benevolent Association.

"I understand this is a Communist group," Judge Coleman said.

"I didn't know it," Soloman replied.

"I am not going to grant your application," the judge said. "You'd better get out of this organization."

Anthony Billen Seymour Reeve

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 7. — (ENS).—Anthony B. Billen was elected reeve of Seymour Township in Monday's election over Alfred E. Bennett by a majority of 80 votes. The polling divisions of Connolly's School, Lamb's Hall, Minie, Orange Hall, Petherick's, Orange Hall (Stanwood) and Mrs. Ella Hay's, Trent River, gave Billen majorities of 4, 126, 39, 13 and 20 votes, while Bennett received majorities of 51, 15 and 56 at West's School, English Line School and Myersburg. There were 920 votes polled with Billen receiving 500 and Bennett 420.

For councillors Samuel Diamond was high with 653 votes; Harold A. Milne was second with 600 votes; and Ward W. Archer, this year's councillor, was third with 486 votes. James A. Goacher, who was eliminated, received 451 votes. Seymour's municipal affairs for 1949 will be in the hands of A. B. Billen, reeve; H. C. Bedford, deputy-reeve by acclamation; and Samuel Diamond, H. Milne and W. W. Archer, councillors.

Three Young Men Are Sentenced

COBOURG, Dec. 7 —(ENS) — Edward Clarke of Brantford, age 21, was sentenced to three years in Kingston Penitentiary on a car theft charge by Magistrate R. B. Baxter yesterday. On a charge of theft of the same car, his brother, John Clarke, age 19, was sentenced 12 months definite and six indefinite in the reformatory. For attempted jail break, John Clarke, was given six months definite and three indefinte in the reformatory to run concurrent. The third member of the trio, Douglas Wise, age 17 of Brantford, received the the some terms as John Clarke for car theft and attempted jail break. Edward Clarke was sentenced as a habitual offender.

READ THIS CLOSELY to get it straight. Mrs. Millicent Koch, 28, is shown here marrying Raymond Oberg, second from right. Best man is Claude Koch, second from left, whom Mrs. Koch divorced in order to marry Oberg. However, it's all been done before. Millicent first was married to Koch; divorced him to marry Oberg; divorced Oberg to remarry Koch; and has now divorced Koch and is marrying Oberg. A county judge is performing the ceremony, the harassed-looking gentleman third from right is Millicent's attorney, and it happened in Chicago.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1948

The Municipal Elections

The results of Monday's civic voting give Peterborough citizens reasons for congratulating themselves. One is that the voting was appreciably heavier than last year, in spite of there being no mayoral contest. Another is that the 1½ million dollar Civic Hospital by-law was given 3-1 approval. The extra money was needed to complete the hospital; the property owners realized the necessity and their duty, hard as it was and may be. No by-law in the last twenty years has had as heavy a vote; more than fifty per cent. of the possible voters voted. It was the recognized importance of the by-law as much as the larger field of aldermanic candidates which accounted for the heavier general poll this year.

We can congratulate ourselves, as well as the successful candidates, on the elections to the Council and the Board of Education. Alderman Dodds, at the head of the polls, and Aldermen Young and Sands were re-elected; the newcomers to the Council are Messrs. Gillespie and Burrows. Messrs. Honey (at the top of the polls), Jobbitt and Bannon are returned to the Board of Education and Dr. Matthews is the new member. We congratulate, too, Mr. G. A. Macdonald on his uncontested return to the Utilities Commission, and Alderman M. J. Swanston on his acclamation to the Chief Magistracy. In him the 1949 Council will have an able and experienced head.

None of the three aldermanic candidates sponsored by Labour groups received sufficient votes to gain seats, and had no strong support even in the wards in which it might have been expected. The voting in the twenty polls of the south wards was comparatively light, and heavy in the ten polls of the west ward. Candidates are elected by votes, and votes are not cast by people who do not go to the polls.

Death By The Thousand

It is a paradox of modern human society that violent death shocks its interest or arouses its pity in inverse ratio to the number of people killed. Three men trapped in a mine set the whole world by the ears; three dozen killed in an explosion are a casual topic of one day on one continent; three thousand deaths from drowning are reported in minor headlines and occasion only momentary comment. It is true, of course, that the farther removed in space or personal relation the disaster is, the less a person is touched by it.

The whole world should nevertheless be at least mentally aroused if not emotionally shocked by the violent death last Friday of 3,200 Chinese refugees. They were on board a steamer which exploded near Shanghai. Another appalling disaster occurred off Southern Manchuria early in November. It was not reported until last week. On that occasion nearly 6,000 Chinese, presumably soldiers, were killed when their ship exploded and sank. It was the largest single-ship disaster in modern times.

Even in these days, even though the accidents occurred afar off, even if the people killed were Chinese, are western peoples so inured to violence that they cannot be moved to pity and horror by such calamities as the sinking of these two ships and the loss thereby of nine thousand lives?

Monthly Rental Of $27.43

Not long ago the Bureau of Statistics informed the householders of Canada that their average monthly rental was $27.43. (That was before the recent modest increases were authorized.) Perhaps not more than half of them were surprised, because 31 per cent. of the total number of households were paying from $20 to $29 rent, 28 per cent. from $10 to $19.99, and five per cent. were paying less than ten dollars a month. Those most astonished would be people who have moved into houses or apartments recently built, or young couples searching for places to live and having difficulty in finding a 2½-room "dwelling" which rents for less than $50.

The average rental in Canada is low now because it was low in 1941 when general rent-control was imposed. Rent for new accommodation is higher because building costs are high. Rents on newer quarters are not, however, as fantastically high as gossip reports. Since 1941 the average rent for newly constructed units in apartments or flats has risen from an average of $29.90 to $52.42 a month. The rent for unit houses has risen from $27.06 in 1941 to the following levels before the recent increases: for units built in 1942 and '43—$29.01; for units built in 1944 and 1945—$30.81; in 1946 and 1947—$36.17 (a sharp increase).

Since these are figures for houses built to rent and large wartime housing and veterans' projects are included, they do not properly reveal the cost of renting an ordinary privately-built one, or even the carrying charges on a house built this year by a home-owner. Nevertheless, all the figures do show that the majority of Canadians are relatively cheaply housed in these times of high prices.

Nosy Parkers Of Fleet Street And Niggling Minds Of Main Street

Some mass-circulation British papers have been plastering Princess Margaret's name over their front pages. They have been tsk-tsking the young lady for being gay and staying out late at parties. We suspect that they are appealing to the niggling prejudices of their readers in Clapham and on hundreds of High Streets, rather than being gravely concerned about the Princess' conduct. If that is so, is is a nasty kind of publicity stunt. If they are really concerned, they should sniff and wheeze privately into their sanctimonious kerchiefs and keep their yellow fangs out of the young Princess' private life.

Princess Margaret is eighteen years old. This is her hour for light-hearted life. Let her have it and enjoy it like any other girl. She is more entitled than most to the gaiety and feckless follies of youth, for very soon she must forego them to live as a personage of state perpetually under public scrutiny. She should now be as free to taste the red wine of youth as are the daughters of the Fleet Street reporters.

The clucking busybodies in the High Streets of Britain and the Main Streets abroad—to whom Fleet Street is pandering—may have little better to do with their time than bewail the goings-on of the younger generation. It is great sport to snip and snoop on other people's children, even better to prate piously about a Princess Elizabeth in Paris or her sister in London night-clubs. Let these morality-mongers wring their scrawny hands: family life is not threatened because Princess Margaret likes to dance into the early hours of the morning; the throne will not shake nor the Empire totter as a result. The sensible ordinary people of the Commonwealth, the ones who took the gay, high-living Edward the Seventh to their hearts, will approve of Princess Margaret in this generation. The young Princess was not born to blush and blossom behind Victorian drapes.

Our Wealthy Authors

In spite of a mountain of evidence to the contrary there are still people who think that authors make a great deal of money. There have been wealthy authors, like H. G. Wells, Arnold Bennett, G. B. Shaw and Hugh Walpole, but they are uncommon in every sense. Most authors barely scrape a living, and in Canada the scraping is particularly hard.

Here are some figures from the Department of National Revenue which prove what we have said. Of 172 Canadian authors who reported their year's royalties to Income Tax officials 40 made less than $1,000, 50 between one and two thousand, 30 between two and three thousand, 10 between three and four thousand, 30 between four and seven thousand, 10 between eight and nine thousand, and only two over ten thousand. That is to say, 150 of the 172 who described themselves as authors made less than $3,000 a year. And—crowning blow—our Government taxes the royalties of an author as "unearned income"!

NOTES AND COMMENT

Russia has an answer to the New Look, we read. Skirts to the feet, so that no one can see which way she is going?

We read that "avalanche at polls snows Reds under". That happened in the Berlin municipal elections on Sunday. In the Peterborough municipal elections on Monday there was no avalanche of votes—just a mild flurry. Too few Reds here? Too few democrats? Or too little snow?

Britain's Historic Role In Western Union

By A. L. ROWSE

(Mr. A. L. Rowse, the historian, is a Fellow of All Souls College, Oxford University, and has a number of standard works on the history of England to his credit. He was educated in schools at St. Austell, Cornwall, and Christ Church (College), Oxford. He was a lecturer at Merton College, Oxford, from 1927 to 1931 and at the London School of Economics from 1931 to 1935. Among his works are "The Spirit of English History", "The Use of History" and "The End of an Epoch".)

THROUGHOUT modern history there have been two alternative ways of organizing Europe. The first and the easier way has been that of force—the attempt on the part of one power to impose its ascendancy on the others. But that has always proved unsatisfactory. Apart from its inherent undesirability, it has never succeeded for any length of time even as a mode of organization for, naturally enough, other countries have not liked it and before very long have usually taken to active resistance. Such was the experience of Europe under the ascendancy of Philip II of Spain, under the domination of Louis XIV and Napoleon, and in our time under the heel of the Germans.

The second way of organizing Europe is more difficult, more civilized and mature, and ultimately far more satisfactory if it can be held: the free association of the powers in a European system. It is the prime need of our time to organize such an association, to make it stable and lasting. And it is precisely here that the experience of Britain has something to offer the world, not only her experience within the Commonwealth, but in her traditional relation to Europe and her historic policy in Europe.

THIS has been largely misunderstood. It has not been fully understood even by the English-speaking peoples—certainly not consciously; with us Britons political instinct (which is, perhaps, only an extension of common sense) has been apt to rule, rather than conscious intention. All the same it has, certainly, served us well. We do not have to concern ourselves here with those who are so hostile to Britain's past that they make no effort to understand it or do us any justice. But it is important that we should understand what Britain's role has been, and one cannot understand without trying to do it justice. It is extraordinary the number of people, historians as well as politicians, French as well as German, who have been dominated by the hostile view that the role of English policy was simply to prevent the combination of Europe. The answer is really quite simple. If Britain was successful in overthrowing the domination of one great power after another that was too strong for the others—Spain, then France, then Germany — we did not achieve it by ourselves: we did it in combination with those whose interests, and sometimes whose very existence, were even more at stake than our own. There are smaller, but still independent, nations in Europe who understand this, and all that they owe to it, rather better than we do ourselves.

THE extraordinary success of Britain's policy in the long run—it has had plenty of set-backs in the short run—has been due to the fact that our interest has been one with that of the bulk of other European countries. That is what has preserved Britain in modern times. I draw from modern history, from the wars and reiterated defeats of aggressors in the end, the lesson that there is no one power that is naturally strong enough to hold down all the others. And I conclude from that that it is silly and disastrous for any one to try. There is a great deal of wisdom in the saying of the American Admiral that force should be in the hands of those who do not believe in the use of force.

But there are still people who have a hankering after the domination of one great power and think it the solution of our troubles. If these people considered the matter more deeply they would notice that one power dominating all the others never has been the solution throughout modern history: it has always produced the resistance of all the rest, who have banded together to end it. Nor has it ever been a good thing in itself. A German-dominated Europe was the negation of civilization the culture of Belsen imposed on Europe. Nothing could be quite so bad as that.

Even Napoleon stood for restrictions on freedom of thought, the liberty of the individual, which is vital to the life of the spirit, to cultural creativeness. That is no doubt why France under Napoleon went through a poor period so far as the arts were concerned —contrast it with the marvellous outpouring after he had gone. Then too the power that has the hubris to attempt it always exhausts itself in the process. Would not Spain have had a far happier history if she had not exhausted herself in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries in the effort to hold down half Europe? And Germany now: would she not have saved herself—as well as others—an infinity of misery if she had never attempted the impossible?

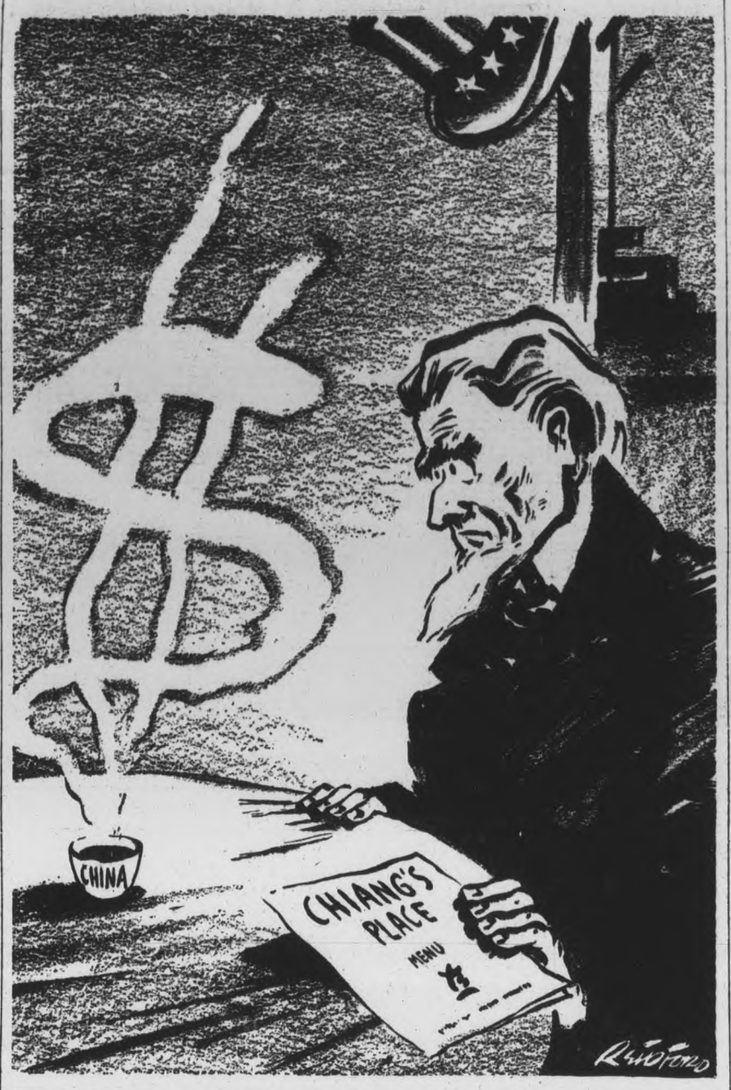
I MUST be forgiven for being absolutely convinced, as an historian, that the way of Britain's policy has been the right one. The long-term perspective of history reveals British policy as limited and and moderate in its objectives, making it the keystone of its policy to work along with others as far as possible in the common interest, and not to override them. The clue to our success has been that our interest has been very largely one with the common interest. Wherever we have departed from these principles we have been defeated. There is no country that has not made its mistakes, but Britain, at any rate seems to have learned something from them: we seem to have learned the fundamental thing about human societies, that their deepest wish is to run things their own way and govern themselves, not to be pushed around by others.

It seems to me that that is the prime condition on which free peoples who have learned that lesson may come together to lend each other strength against whatever may threaten them. And in that task—the primary one facing free peoples today — no country has had a longer experience to offer than Britain, or on the whole a more successful and encouraging one. Bevin's early initiative is drawing western European countries together for economic recovery and to build the foundation of Western Union is in keeping with the whole trend of Britain's policy.

BITTER TEA



Letter To The Editor

TEACHERS' SALARIES AND THE BOARD

Sir: Now that the question of increased salaries for school teachers has again been raised, I am availing myself of your column to voice my reaction to those demands. The basis for the teachers' demands presumably has been calculated on a survey of four local industries. The matter of selection and source of information is not divulged but certainly the fixing of any percentage increase is highly conjectural when it is known that a large part of those increases have accrued to low salary groups.

Even the matter of work hours cannot be considered irrelevant, when it can be fairly well established that a school year is something less than forty weeks a year, twenty-eight hours weekly or the equivalent of 140-eight hour days.

Subtract from this the countless local school holidays for parades, circuses, athletic contests, election days, statutory holidays, etc., and the sum total is very much different from that of the industrial worker.

It is to be hoped that our Board of Education, will truly serve the taxpayer in the forthcoming discussions, by supplementing their lack of experience in these matters, with a super-abundance of sound reasoning and business sense.

This might be a good time to condemn a practice that must annoy many and that is the custom of the Board of Education, with or without the blessing of the Department of Education, of opening our schools for one hour only when a local school holiday is to be observed. Would it be asking too much, to give some consideration to the inconvenience that the mothers and children suffer through the enforcement of this ridiculous practice.

In closing, may I digress to the extent of suggesting that our City Council publish their order or business one or two days before their regular meeting so that the citizens could attend and hear discussions on matters of particular interest to them.

A Carrot For The Donkey

Christian Science Monitor: Soon every man in Tito's Republic may be a Pooh-bah.

The omniscient Yugoslav state—cornucopia of Communist largesse—is getting ready to dispense medals, titles, honours, and distinctions of many gradations to the country's more worthy citizens.

Under legislation before the Parliament, a diligent peasant may win the title of "Deserving Agricultural Worker and Member of a Co-operative."

Several additional rungs up the medal-bespangled ladder there awaits him the rarefied distinction of "Distinguished Agricultural Worker and Member of a Co-operative of the Federal People's Republic of Yugoslavia." His career in this modern knight-errantry may be crowned with the signal honour of being a "Fighter For Higher Production."

All this—and more titles, too, for industrial workers—is reminiscent of the glittering incentives with which the Soviet Union has obscured pure Marxism.

No longer prevails in actuality the still-repeated Communist dictum: "From each according to his abilities, to each according to his needs." Communism has found no adequate substitute for the incentives of capitalism in this sort of idealism. Nor has it found them in the more forceful incentives of compulsion.

As the Party in Russia struggles to make a complicated modern economy turn at full speed, honour by kudos and payment by piece-work have replaced equalitarianism. The Stakanov system of bonuses and piece-work pay outdoes the "oppressive" capitalist system of wages graduated according to the value of the work.

And now Yugoslav would woo from its people the last ounce of brawn and effort with high-sounding honours reminiscent of the world of Don Quixote. The question is whether communism is going forward or backward.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judaea in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem, saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him. When Herod the kin ghad heard these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him....

Then Herod, when he had privily called the wise men, enquired of them diligently what time the star appeared. And he sent them to eBthlehem, and said, Go and search diligently for the young child; and when ye have found him, bring me word again, that I may come and worship him also.

When they had heard the king, they departed; and, lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was.... And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts; gold, and frankincense, and myrrh. And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way.

And when they were departed, behold, the angel of the Lord appeareth to Joseph in a dream, saying, Arise, and take the young child and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be thou there until I bring thee word: for Herod will seek the young child to destroy him. When he arose, he took the young child and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt. (Matt. 2: 1-3, 7-9, 11-14.)

Polite Veterans

Windsor Star: When a young man addresses you as "Sir," it's quite in order to ask him which of the services he was in, and the length of time he spent overseas. His easy courtesy marks him not only as an ex-serviceman, but as one who had spent considerable time in the Army, Navy, or Air Force.

This revival of the use of "Sir" came at a time when it was all but extinct. Young people apparently had come to regard it as something degrading. Then the war came, and military discipline began to remold the customs of hundreds of thousands. "Sir" became a required form of address for servicemen.

It is significant, however, that although more than three years have passed since demobilization, these veterans are maintaining this usage. They see no self-abasement in it, and in fact do honour to themselves by retaining this side of their military training. It identifies them as veterans more completely than any service button can do.

The armed forces, too, may look back with pride on this effect of their discipline. Although theirs was the grim task of hardening young men for war, they turned out the best mannered citizens to be found in the country today.

Railways Open Evidence On Freight Rate

OTTAWA, Dec. 7 — (CP). — The railways were to open evidonce to-day in opposition to the application of British Columbia Province for removal of the "mountain differential" rate on some freight hauls over the Rockies.

After reception of provincial evidence in the West, Board of Transport Commissioners heard final testimony here Monday on behalf of the BC application.

At the same time, Chief Commissioner Mr. Archibald ruled that prima facie case for removal of the higher rate had been established and that the railways would have to go on and submit their side of the case.

Mr. Justice Archibald gave this decision after provincial counsel had suggested that the provincial case as presented did not call for an answer from the railways.

However, railway counsel did not ask that the BC application be thrown out. Their arguments apparently were directed at having the board prevent British Columbia from presenting any later evidence apart from rebuttal testimony.

In outlining the railway case, J. Q. Maunsell, general solicitor for the Canadian Pacific Railway declared evidence would be given of "extraordinary" conditions calling for the mountain differential rate of 1¼ times the Prairie scale.

Stole Bank Satchel WithMillionInCheques

TORONTO, Dec. 7.—(CP). — Police Monday night arrested 37-year-old Alfred J. Gosslin, no address and charged him with assaulting a bank messenger and stealing a satchel containing $1,000,000 in cheques. The loot wouldn't have done him any good —the cheques were cancelled and worthless.

Police said Gosslin wrested the satchel from messenger William Egerton, as he entered the head office of the Bank of Montreal here. The messenger and bank janitor chased him and he threw the bag over a fence before he was caught and held for police.

Denies Engaging In Fraud System

LONDON, Dec. 7.—(Reuters). —Key witness Sidney Stanley Monday denied he had engaged in "a whole system of fraud" during the last year.

He was testifying before a special tribunal investigating allegations of corruption in government circles.

Stanley shouted "that is untrue" when Attorney-General Sir Hartley Shawcross asked Stanley if he had engaged in long-term fraud by evading income tax and by suggesting to clients he could obtain licenses from government departments.

Stanley also told the tribunal that Dr. Hugh Dalton, former chancellor of the exchequer, had asked for a company directorship at £10,000 ($40,000) a year, but had been turned down.

A few days ater Dalton re-entered the government as chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster.

Stanley also denied that he ever had paid or lent money to John W. Belcher, parliamentary secretary to the Board of Trade, or Mrs. Belcher.

Extortion Charge

TORONTO, Dec. 7.—(CP). — Two women who, police said, phoned James Carson of Toronto Monday and told him they had been kidnapped and would be released on payment of $25, didn't get far with their story. Carson brought the police along with him. As he handed over the money, the police arrested Gwendolyn Preece, 22, and Margaret Croix, both of Toronto. The pair were charged with extortion.

Cooper Marks 20th Year As Top Star

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 7 (AP).—This years marks the 20th that Gary Cooper has been a top film star and I found him in a rare reflective mood about his long success.

In 1928, the lanky Montana lad sauntered across the screen in "The Virginian." It was his first starring role, although he had already made a hit in "Wings" and "It." For two decades he has clung to the list of top stars. Naturally, I wanted to know how.

"Darned if I know," he answered. But as an explanation, he offered some history:

"After 'The Virginian, Paramount worked me like a son of a gun. I was at the studio 16 hours a day, sometimes working on two pictures at a time.

"Finally, in 1931, my health broke down. I had jaundice and was down to 158 pounds. My doctor said unless I got some rest I'd be susceptible to TB, and other things. So I told the studio I was slowing down, whether they liked it or not. I was put off salary and I went to Africa for a year.

"When I got back, I told Paramount I wouldn't work in anything I didn't think was going to be good. They took me at my word, and I began to get important pictures like 'A Farewell To Arms,' 'Devil And The Deep' and 'Lives of a Bengal Lancer'."

Free Lance

A few years late, Cooper waded into the free-lance field. "You have to read through a lot of trash to find what you want," he said, "but the freedom is worth it."

One factor in his success, he added, is that he usually follows an occasional bad picture with a good one. "I'm a great comebacker," he smiled.

As far the next two decades, Coop is going to take it easier. He'll take a vacation after his current "Task Force." The way the industry is now," he said. "there's no sense in making any picture I can't get excited about."

Hear More Evidence In CSL Shooting

SARNIA, Ont., Dec. 7.—(CP). —Evidence in the case of Melville Murphy, chief engineer of the CSL freighter Lethbridge on five charges of shooting with intent in connection with a seamen's strike flare-up July 14 was given a county court grand jury here Monday.

The charges were laid following the wounding of five out of six Canadian Seamen's Union pickets who attempted to board the Lethbridge at Point Edward dock.

Judge E. A. Shaughnessy in addressing the grand jury said: "As a matter of law, while it is lawful for a ship's officer to use force to prevent the commission of an offence for which the offender may be arrested without permission, or against the orders of its master, and force used must be reasonable and not excessive. If the force used it not reasonable or if it is excessive the person using that force may be guilty of an offence under the criminal code."

The trial is continuing.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Annual Canadian Press poll is on now with sports scribes across the country voting on half a dozen questions. We trust it proves more popular with the populace than the rather recent Gallup poll on the USA presidential race. First question is to name the top three men individual performers, amateur or pro, this year. Second one is ditto with the girls. Then name the greatest disappointment—that could be Canada's Olympic showing, eh? Greatest thrill might be the Stampeders' grid victory for the Grey Cup. Another item calls for the oddest happening in competition. And still another wishes to know if there should be a world series of puck champs of the NHL, the USHL, the PCHL and the AHA. Got to think these over.

Didn't get the swim results from Hamilton in time for yester's sports section, so will mention 'em today. Mr. and Mrs. Gord Minty, Mrs. Mary Reid, Gord Dobbin, Ken Lee, Fred Hutchins, Jack Forbes and Ken Stacey looked after the 32 local swimmers making the trip for the big aquatic meet at the Municipal Pool. Alec Baptie placed second in the final of the 12 years and under 50 yard free style out of 32 competing. John Boorman was fourth in the final for those under 14 and second in his heat with 21 swimmers. Louis McClennan took fourth in the final of the 100 free style for junior men, 21 battling it out. Brian Reid, Michael Triggs and Elwin Mowry went good in the free style of 25 yards for those under 10, while Jack Forbes was third in his heat in the senior men's 50 free style championship event. Nice work.

Next Friday, two girls' games will be run off in the evening at the YWCA gym, Neill's vs. Collis at eight bells, followed by Lock Co. vs. Normals. One more week's play after that and then a layoff till 1949 arrives on the stage. An exhibition men's hoop game on Saturday p.m. at the Collegiate with Toronto Harvard Hoopsters playing Marines "B" bunch, followed by Queen's University vs. Marines "A" squad. Following week sees U. of T. here.

The non-fraternization edict among rival players in the NHL by Prexy Campbell has created a lot of comment, much of it ribald. It doesn't, of course, apply to amateur hockey. But we feel there's some sense to it, if not carried to extremes. Matter of fact, we'd just as soon not see rival players acting too friendly toward each other immediately before even an amateur game. We believe the fans, too, prefer the feeling of rivalry between teams who will shortly try to knock each other into next week. Knotty Lee would never permit pre-game fraternization.

He Is "Hors De Combat"

Sonny Hooper, Bowmanville's contribution to Oshawa Generals in OHA junior "A" competition, is lost to the club for a while. In the Windsor game the other night he suffered a fractured collar-bone. The Motor City scribe doesn't think much of the OHA ruling on the "C" clause, since the Generals are not sponsored by any NHL team. He says: "The rule now means that any Oshawa boy, junior 'B' or juvenile, who signs a pro contract clause 'C' must go and play where told—while the Generals have no claim on him whatever. Everyone knows that the NHL clubs have signed to 'C' clause contracts almost every player in the country with any promise, so where will Oshawa get material? It may be ironed out later but as it stands right now it could be the end of junior 'A' hockey in Oshawa at the end of this season."

Nine clubs were represented last gloaming at the annual re-organization meeting of the Industrial Hockey League in the "Y". Don Rosenburgh was elected president for the coming campaign, with Chuuck Johnson the secretary, and Frank Shine treasurer. No list of entries given out yet, as they'll have another open meeting next Monday eve at eight in the YMCA at which time all clubs wanting in must be represented. This large and lively loop should have a good season on ice in the coming cold months, and we'll list the entries a little later.

Lemony Side Of Count

Petes' puckists went down to Belleville last evening and went down by an 8-5 count. A pretty fair tussle, speedy and clean, but the Creighton crew were undermanned on regulars and showed lack of practice. Whilst the big Quinte squad looked good from the goalie out. The Petes carried some rookies, and were minus those Belleville stalwarts, the Goyers and Tim Williams, whom they're hoping to get for their senior "B" lineup this season. What the score is on that we don't know yet. If the CNR Diesels ice a senior "B" squad, then the Quinte players naturally will have to stay there—otherwise, they may turn out with the Petes. Freddy Garvey went best for the visitors in last night's number.

Quinte Squad Gets Win Against Petes

About 700 fans in Belleville last night saw the CNR Diesels of that city defeat the Petes 8-5 in an exhibition puck match. Here and There in Sport

Minor leagues teams from junior to bantam affiliated with the Ontario Softball Associaton will receive fnancial assistance in the future to offset travelling expenses, Frank Feaver, O.S.A. secretary, announced at Hamilton Monday night.

Feaver said the Association, which held a meeting in Hamilton during the week-end, would spend as much as $1,800 to be divided among the teams on a mileage basis.

Delegates at the meeting turned down requests from Toronto and Brantford that midget and bantam teams be classed as provincial champions. The OSA ruling is that only zone titles are decided in classifications that low.

Dave E. Kennedy of Guelph, defending champion and honorary president of the Ontario Curling Association led a select pack of Ontario and United States curlers into the second round in the main event of the Imperial bonspiel at Sarnia.

A record entry of 36 rinks including six from Sarnia, is contesting this year's play. There are four American entries.

Jimmy Tarangelo, New York lightweight boxer, was taken to hospital in New York Monday with with a concussion after being knocked out at the St. Nicholas arena.

The hospital described his conditon as "fair." Tarangelo was knocked out by Jimmy Watkins, Jr., of New London, Conn., in the second round of a scheduled six-round bout.

The National Baseball Congress directors Monday night appproved a budget of $35,000 for expenses of the western hemisphere representative in a future non-professional game with the Far East representative.

Such a game is planned for either Tokyo or Manila following signing of the final peace treaty with Japan. The teams would be picked in playoffs in each hemisphere.

Murdo Mackay of stampeding Buffalo Bisons for the fourth consecutive week held top scoring honors in the American Hockey League with 35 points. MacKay, who hails from Fort William, Ont., had a three-point edge over Carl Liscombe of Providence Reds. Sid Smith of Pittsburgh Hornets and Roger Bedard of Providence were tied for third with 32 points. Buffalo's George Pargetter and George (Wingy) Johnston of New Haven Ramblers followed with 31 tallies apiece.

A minor league investigating committee Monday at Minneapolis opposed televising of night baseball game. Frank Shaughnessy, President of the International League and chairman of the committee, made public the groups report. It said "Night game attendance soon will be hurt badly because televising these games is simply advisng the fans, seeking and having time for recreation, to get it at home without cost.."

Cantor Gets Decision Over Billy Thompson

LONDON, Dec. 7.— (CP).— Solly Cantor of Toronto today is a step closer to his ambition — a crack at the Canadian lightweight boxing championship held by Li'l Abner King, also of Toronto.

The 20-year-old Cantor said Monday night after he was awarded an eight-round decision over Billy Thompson, British uightweight champ, in a non-title affair, that his ambition now is to meet the flashy King, who also holds the British Empire crown.

King won the British Empire title when he scored a seventh-round technical knockout over Thompson, also European title-holder. That bout which was billed for 15 rounds in Manchester Oct. 1, gave the vacant title to the Toronto slugger.

OHA Junior Race Very Tight For Nine Clubs

TORONTO, Dec. 7 — (CP). — With three teams only three points apart, it's tighter than a drum to-day in the nine-club Ontario Hockey Association Junior A circuit. But Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen have rolled up an impressive five-point lead in early-season play in the Senior A loop.

Heading the Juniors are the 1948 Memorial Cup finalists, the Barrie Flyers. They went into the lead last week-end after St. Catharines Tee-Pees and Windsor Spitfires had been fighting since the start of the season for first place.

Hap Emms' Flyers have won 14 of their 20 games this season to take a one-point edge over Windsor. But Windsor has two games in hand—and it has the Giesbrecht brothers.

The brothers—Bruce and Bert —have scored 35 of Windsor's 98 points this year. Bert leads the league in scoring with 39 points, three ahead of Bruce.

Tied With Marlboros

In the Senior race, Hamilton Tigers, last year's league champions, are tied with the Toronto Marlboros, five points away from the leading Dutchmen. Owen Sound Mercurys have 18 points, three less than the second-place clubs. The humble Stratford Indians have scord onely four victories and two ties in 20 games.

Big gun for the Kitchener-Waterloo club is centre Don Bauer, who leads the league in scoring with 10 goals and 21 assists. He is a brother-in-law of Bobby Bauer, former Boston Bruins forward, who also is on the club. Two points behind don are two Hamilton veterans, Johnny Conick and Clare Shillington.

Right behind the three leading junior clubs are the fourth-place Oshawa Generals and the fifth-place Stratford Kroehlers, either of whom could catch the leaders with a winning streak. Guelph Biltmores are sixth and the Galt Rockets seventh.

St. Michael"s College, a team to be feared during the war years, languishes in the eighth-place doldrums with four wins, five losss, and two ties in 11 games. The Irish are three points ahead of the cellar club, Toronto Marlboros.

French Boxer Pounds Zaduk

MONTREAL, Dec. 7.—(CP). — Laurent Dauthuille of France made an impressive North American debut here Monday night when he pounded out an unanimous 10-round decision over Pete Zaduk of Guelph, in the co-feature of a boxing card that drew 7,000 fans to the Forum. The Frenchman scaled 158, Zaduk 154.

In the other main event Gaby Ferland, Montreal Fancy-Dan, scored an easy 10-round decision over Joe Pyle of New Waterford, N.S.

Dauthuille, a well-built protege of Jack Dempsey's, had the youthful Zaduk on the deck once in the fourth round. The Guelph boy took a right hand sock flush on the chin while moving in and dropped for the automatic eight count. He didn't appear to be hurt too much, and weathered this storm to keep out of trouble for the rest of the bout.

The Frenchman connected more often and landed the harder blows to pile up the points. He made a determined bid for a knockout in the 10th heat, but Zaduk played cagey while getting in a few good belts of his own.

Curling Notes

By HERB MARTIN

There were some good games on the 7.00 o'clock draw last evening.

On ice No. 2, Dr. McKee and R. Payne played a dandy game. Tied coming home, first one had advantage and then the other. Finally Payne won by one shot. When the end was over and counted 10 stones were within the cirles.

On ice No. 3, K. Bissett was down two coming home playing against A. Gibbs. He earned the game by playing well to count a big four.

The other game that caught our fancy was the Giroux-Price affair—only two points difference.

The remaining games were somewhat one-sided.

The leaders in each of the five groups as posted on the schedule card early last evening are:

Group No. 1—T. McArthur, won 5, lost 1; R. Payne, won 5, lost 1; Dr. R. Clark, won 5, lost 1.

Group No. 2—G. Putnam, won 5, lost 0; S. Lowe, won 5, lost 1; F. Batten, won 5, lost 1.

Decide Chiefs Best In Fielding

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(AP).— Led by Eddie Shokes, Clyde Vollmer and Johnny Bebber, Syracuse Chiefs compiled the best team fielding mark during the 1948 International Baseball League season, final official averages show today.

The Chiefs made the least errors, 148, in 150 games and posted a .947 mark. The pennant-winning Montreal Royals were next with a .971 average. The Royals also turned in the most double plays, 166.

Shokes came up with the best record among the first basemen while Vollmer topped the outfielders and Bebber the pitchers.

Shokes booted only 11 out of 1,402 chances for an average of .9924. Ed Levy of Baltimore was a close second at .9916.

Volmer, sold to Washington at the season's end, made only two errors in 293 chances and wound up with a .993 mark. Hal Bamberger of Jersey City was second at .989 and Montreal's Al Gionfriddo, 1947 world series star, third at .987.

Woodcock Wins His Fight But Loses Chance At Title

LONDON, Dec. 7. — (AP).— Bruce Woodcock won the fight but lost the big prize—any hope for a world title match with heavyweight champion Joe Louis.

Lee Savold lost the bout but showed himself a better man and worthier foe for Louis than the winner.

That sums up the slant of expert ringsiders on the scheduled 10-round go here Monday night that had been plugged as an elimination for a world championship contest.

Woodcock, British heavyweight champion who weighed in at 191, was pronounced the winner in the fourth round when the referee disqualified Savold on the grounds he had hit below the belt.

Savold, veteran American boxer who scaled 188, was going strong at the time and many onlookers had been expecting him to win.

Boos at the decision went up from among the crowd of 11,000 in Harringay arena while Woodcock writhed on the canvas in a show of pain.

London fight writers took exception to the outcome in this morning's papers, and almost to a man they agreed Woodcock is not championship material.

The News Chronicle quoted promoter Jack Solomons as saying he will fly to New York tomorrow to try to talk the 20th Century Sporting Club into a match between Louis and Woodcock in London next summer.

Atkins-Flanagan Team Up Against Morgan-O'Connor

Team bout wrestling, with the added spice of a bit of "grudge match" thrown in is to be the fans bill-of-fare in the Brock Arena on Wednesday night. The winning team of Pat Flanagan and Australia's Fred Atkins once again meet the duo of Big Ben "Blacksmith" Morgan and Dangerous Dan O'Connor in a re-match with a new referee, Bunny Dunlop in charge. These four man embroglios are plenty exciting and often result in injury to the contestants but the team of Morgan and O'Connor are determined to even up that lost of last week. The result may be the wildest action of the season.

Dr. Ed Meske

Bunny Dunlop

In the semi-final Dr. Ed Meske meets a new wrestler here, Martin Hutzler. The Doc is one of the most popular wrestlers to appear here and is a great crowd-pleaser. In the opener, Nick Vicchanelli risks his local standing as a matman against the Montreal light-heavy powerhouse Sammy Gotter.

Hawk, Boston Players Lead Scoring In NHL

MONTREAL, Dec. 7.—(CP). — Jim Conacher and Doug Bentley of the Chicago Black Hawks went on scoring sprees during the last week and picked up five and four points respectively to move into a tie with Boston's Grant Warwick in the National Hockey League scoring list.

Official statistics released today show these three front-running snipers with 21 points apiece, 2 more than centre Ted Kennedy of Toronto who holds down fourth spot. Next in line is another Black Hawk, Roy Conacher with 18, while a pair of Bruin marksmen, Eddie Sandford and Pete Babando, and Chicago's Gaye Stewart, are deadlocked with 17 points.

Of the first nine scorers, eight are Boston and Chicago players, with only Kennedy breaking the monopoly enjoyed by these two high-scoring squads.

Warwick still tops the goal-getters with 12 counters, while Doug Bentley heads the assist column with 13.

Old reliable Bill Durnan, Canadiens' four-time Vezina trophy winner, still leads in the goal-keeping averages. Big Bill has allowed 32 goals in 18 games for a 1.78 percentage. Next best is Boston's Frankie Brimsek with a 2.11 goals-against average. Durnan also is ahead in shutouts with four.

Bill Ezinicki of Toronto, increased his penalty time to 65 minutes during the week to hold his lead over Canadiens' Kenny Reardon who has 55. Chicago with 269 minutes and New York with 107 are the high and low clubs in penalties.

New Minister Inducted For Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 7—(ENS)—The Rev. Horace Kaye, BTh, of Peterborough, was inducted as minister to the charges of Lakefield, Lakevale and Omemee in St. Andrew's Church on Friday. The service was attended by members of the three congregations and by visitors from Peterborough and neighboring churches.

The Rev. R. D. Duncanson of Norwood was in charge of the first part of the service and preached a sermon, basing his remarks on the text, "Whosoever will come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow Me." The Rev. C. G. Boyd of Peterborough, interim moderator, narrated the steps leading to the call.

The Rev. Horace Kaye was formally inducted by the Rev. E. W. B. MacKay of Cobourg, Moderator of Presbytery. The Rev. Walter Patterson of Millbrook gave the address to the new minister, saying that the work of a minister was not to be a leader in the church but to preach the Word. An Old Country proverb said "A home-going minister makes a church-going people." It was not enough just to visit. The comfort of the Gospel had to be carried, particularly to the sick and aged. A minister had to have time for study, but he also needed recreation.

The responsibility on the shoulders of a minister was so great that only the strength of God could make it possible to bear.

The Rev. Louis H. Fowler, of Port Hope, clerk of the presbytery, addressed the congregations and reminded them of their responsibilities. He stressed church attendance, loyalty, co-operation and unselfishness. "Sometimes we need our faces slapped spiritually to open our eyes to the real meaning of the church," he said. "It is a place where all our our queries are turned into exclamations."

St. Andrew's choir sang, with Miss Jean Clark at the piano. In the pulpit there was a new Bible given by Mr. and Mrs. E. Turk in memory of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gavin Preston.

At the close of the service a reception was held in the schoolroom under the organization of the Women's Association. At a tea table with a colorful centrepiece and candles, Mrs. E. Turk and Mrs. T. W. Chaplin poured tea. Assisting in serving were Eiveen, Ruth and Mary Boyce, Constance Vallance and Shirley Anderson.

First Indication

One of the polls at Prince of Wales School, No. 12, with 36 for and 6 against, first signalled the support that was to follow as the ballots were counted. A poll at May's School, No. 5, came through three minutes later with 28 to 6; a poll at South Central School gave 28-10 in favor.

Those three polls in five minutes were unmistakable evidence of the plain and prudent decision of the voters to provide the money required to complete the hospital as it was designed for the future needs of Peterborough.

Another poll at May's School, No. 6, reported 25-9 for the bylaw. One of the polls at St. Peter's School, No. 28, turned in an adverse count of 23 to 15 against the bylaw, but close on its heels were three city hall polls, 16, 17 and 18, showing 30-4; 11-3 and 20 to 10 for the hospital.

Next in order of telephoning was poll No. 27 at St. Peter's School with 59 to 20 for the bylaw.

Ten polls at 7.45 o'clock gave the bylaw 310 to 96 votes. Ballots were counted in about the same proportion at the next ten polls. The count from 20 of them was 950 to 305.

Had No Worries

At the half-way mark of 25 polls, and the count 1184 to 390, Mr. John R. Marshall, chairman of the Board of Governors of the hospital, was cheerfully convinced that the citizens desired the completion of the hospital as it was at first conceived and undertaken.

The ratio had substantially increased when the figures for 40 polls were received, 2440 for and 816 against. That was in the proportion of five to one. It settled back to 2814-971 for 45 polls and wound up with 3256 to 1157.

The second of the two adverse polls was No. 9, one of two polls at Sacred Heart School, reporting 39 to 35 against the bylaw, but the other poll at that school gave 70 to 22 for the bylaw

The total vote on the bylaw was 4,409 of the possible 8,817 votes, including those of non-resident property owners. If they could be omitted from the reckoning, it appeared evident that the result of the balloting on this question of expending $1,500,000 must have exceeded 50% by a considerable margin.

The Aldermanic Results.

Ald. Dodds received pluralities at 40 of the 51 polls. Mr. Gillespie was in front at eight, John Beggs at two and Mr Burrows at one poll.

That first Prince of Wales poll No. 12, gave a plurality to Gillespie, four more than Young, with Dodds 31. No. 5 at Mays School put Dodds in front with 59 Young second 58, and Gillespie third 55.

No. 10 at South Central was the first of the Dodds polls giving 62, and pushing him into the lead. From there on he coasted into a steadily increasing margin of safety in his front-running position.

Mr. Gillespie's capture of that first reporting poll was no flash in the pan. He disclosed strength in all parts of the city, and it was soon evident that he was going to be up around the front when the last ballot was counted.

Gillespie Polls

The Gillespie plurality polls were: No. 12 at Prince of Wales, No. 17 at the City Hall, No. 27, one of the St. Peter's School polls, No. 2, one at King Edward School, No. 24 at Prince of Wales, No. 26 Queen Mary School, No. 25, a third poll at Prince of Wales, and No. 23, another poll at Prince of Wales.

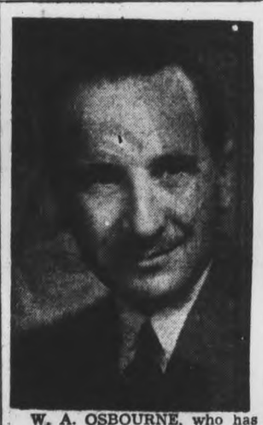
John Beggs led the aldermanic field at 5 and 6, the two polls at May's School. Arthur Burrows carried No. 49, one of the two polls at Confederation School.

Interest in the aldermanic race finally settled on the final placing of Burrows and Sands.

Dodds, Gillespie and Young moved along in that order, and the totals from the adding machine kept Adam Sands in fourth position for 45 polls. He was then only four ballots in front of Burrows, 2,668 to 2,664, and anything could happen at the remaining six. And it did—to the advantage of Mr. Burrows, who was appreciably helped at poll No. 23, Prince of Wales School, with 109 ballots to Sads' 84.

Mr. Burrows, a former Reeve of Lakefield, and member of the County Council, who brings municipal experience with him as a member of the Council of 1949, finished 33 votes ahead of Sands.

Final count left Peter J. Mather a former Warden of the county, in sixth position, just outside the elective group of five, with four votes over Harry Yudin, 2,610 to 2,606, according to the totals obtained from City Clerk Outram.



W. A. OSBOURNE, who has been elected president of the University of Toronto Alumni Association. Engineering graduate of the class of '24, Mr. Osbourne resides in Galt. Used Dungfork On Dog Fined In Court

Convicted of cruelty to a dog, Victor Caban of 543 Park St., was fined $5 and ordered to pay $25 costs in the Magistrate's Court today.

Mrs. Wallace McWilliams, 479 Bonaccord St., told the court that when she was on her clothes line stand in the morning of Nov. 7 she heard a "terrible squealing and yelling" and looked over to Mr. Caban's chicken run from where the noise was coming. She saw a little dog jumping up at Mr. Caban, who was beating it and called to him to stop. When she reached the run the dog tried to come to her but it fell. Blood was pouring from the mouth and one eye. Mrs. MacWilliams asked Mr. Caban why he was beating the dog and he said he had lost some chickens. By this time, she had been joined by her husband with whom she returned home to notify the Humane Society.

Under cross examination Mrs. MacWilliams said there were no chickens in the run. They had been running around in the open field all morning and had not, to her knowledge, been in the run that day.

Mr. Caban said in evidence that there were between 180 and 185 chickens in his run, when he saw a dog scattering them and pulling one to pieces. He said three chickens were already killed when he reached the dog and he took a six-pronged dungfork and jabbed the dog in the back one. The dog then jumped at him and so he put the fork into its mouth and then knocked it down. As a result of the incident he had lost five chickens.

Mr. Gerald Dunford, assistant inspector of the Humane Society, told the court that he was called the same day by Mr. Caban who told him the dog was in the run. When he arrived, the dog could not be found.

Dr. Ford, veterinary surgeon, who attended the dog, said it was semi-conscious when he saw it the same day as the incident and he counted 12 skin wounds. The head was bruised around the eye and the dog was suffering from shock. He described it as a female cocker spaniel weighing approximately 18 lbs.

The owner of the dog, Elton Buchanan of 459 McDonnel St., said the dog got out of the kitchen and when it did not return after half an hour, he took his car out to look for it. He searched from noon until 2.30 p.m. or 3 o'clock. He had seen several other dogs which looked very much like his, and had called to several, thinking they were his dog. At three o'clock he called Mr. Dunford and learned that the spaniel was injured. He said he had had no previous complaints about his dog from Mr. Caban.

The other witnesses were Wallace MacWilliams, who described how he followed his wife to the chicken run, and Mrs. Clara Bonner, who said she was not at home at the time of the incident, but had seen five dead chickens.

In summing up the evidence for the defence, Mr. W. J. A. Fair said that Mr. Caban had admitted hurting the dog, but the law allowed him to do so if it was necessary. He maintained that the dog had been injured, but had not been treated with excessive or wanton cruelty.

Mr. W. B. Gordon, prosecuting solicitor, drew attention to conflicting evidence. Mrs. MacWilliams had said there were no chickens in the run in which the dog was seen and Mr. Caban said there were some 180. He thought it would be well to consider the veracity of that part of Mr. Caban's evidence.

In pronouncing judgment Mr. W. R. Philp, KC, said the accused appeared to have given his evidence frankly and honestly. It was understandable how a person keeping chickens might be annoyed if he found a dog in the run.

Grand Jury Hears Evidence In 11 Cases

Report of the Grand Jury of the General Sessions of the Peace on cases on the crowded list this fall is expected to-day. Decisions of true bill or no bill must be returned on 11 cases.

Foreman of the Grand Jury is Henry Batten of North Monaghan. Members are: Charles Frederick of Norwood, William J. Boddison, 546 Wolfe Street; Fred Campbell, North Monaghan; Maxwell Board, 603 Stewart Street; Gerald Tedford, Smith Township; Stanley Condon, Douro Township; Percy T. Bartley, 11 Rink Street; Arthur H. Ackerman, 153 Churchill Drive; Donald J. Emery, 589 King Street; Earl Drain, Belmont Township; R. J. Tully, Smith Township; Reginald Bell, Smith Township.

INNOCENT BYSTANDERS.

Three girls received the shock of their lives on Monday night. Two Collegiate boys who were standing at the Bank of Commerce corner suddenly drew revolvers and started shooting at them. The girls took their wounds good-naturedly as the guns were cap-guns.

Petitions of Five Chinese Heard For Citizenship

A 30-year wish came true when three members of one Chinese family in Peterborough, along with two other Chinese, had their petition for citizenship heard before His Honor Judge Sheldon L. Smoke at the General Sessions of the Peace for the County of Peterborough, which opened Monday.

Three cousins, Lee Kam, Lee Hung and Lee Gar-sun have toiled patiently in their small laundries, waiting till the Dominion would scrap her Exclusion Act and give them the right to become Canadians. The great day arrived, Monday, and they made their first appearance in a Peterborough court to have their request considered. It is the hope of each of these men, they will be recommended for and receive their citizenship papers.

The Lee family has long had an interest in the Western world. Many years ago when Lee Kam was a small boy growing up in the village of Toi-shen, near Canton, his father operated a jewellery store in San Francisco. Before he was old enough to cross the ocean and join him, his father died.

A brother came to Canada, and when he was established, he sent for Lee Kam 39 years ago. Although he spent nine years in Hamilton, Peterborough is home to this Chinese. He has operated the Lee Sing laundry at the same spot on Hunter Street for nearly 30 years. Another brother operates a grocery store in Toi-shen. The rest of the family farms there, raising two rice crops a year.

Sends For Cousins

When Lee Kam had tasted the benefits of Canada, he was anxious for others in his family to also share them. He sent for his cousins, Lee Hung and Lee Garsun, who came in 1912 and 1913. These own the Lee Hop laundry on George Street and Lee Hung has been doing business there for 28 years.

All three say that Canada is their home, and they have come to realize what a fine country it is. They not only want to become a part of this new land, but they want their children to have a share in its development.

Lee Kam is the father of two 'teen-age boys. He is anxious to have them come with their mother to Peterborough. Each of his cousins is also married and has sons. If their citizenship is granted, they hope to take immediate steps to bring their loved ones here.

Highly Recommended

These three men come highly recommended. L. J. Pettit of Grimsby, and formerly of this city, for many years conducted a class for the Chinese in Peterborough. In a letter to officials, he wrote:

"These three are perhaps the best of 'all my boys' who were in the class I conducted for many years in Peterborough. They should make first-class citizens."

His words were similar to those of the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan in court Monday, when as their sponsor he said he felt no hesitation in saying that the Lee cousins would make worthy citizens.

Well-Known In Peterborough

Two others of Peterborough's Chinese came highly recommended as prospective citizens of the Dominion. They are Tom Men Kee and Hum Eng Ling.

Mr. Tom grew up in Peterborough. When he came to this city as a boy, his uncle was the proprietor of a restaurant where the DeLuxe Cafe is. Jim Hum, who acted as interpretor, Monday, bought the business several years ago. Mr. Tom attended Central School, and has spent most of his life in this city.

Hum Eng Ling, though now retired, was a familiar figure for years on Charlotte street, where he operated the Louis cafe. He has been in the Dominion 39 years, and while Canada has been home to him, he would like to know that it's official.

Both Mr. Hum and Mr. Tom are married and have children, whom they are anixous to have with them again. Should they be granted citizenship, this city will have the opportunity of welcoming some of the first families from China to be admitted under the new ruling.

Citizenship Regulations

If Judge Smoke approves the petitions, the certificate of citizenship is not granted immediately. According to instructions published by the Canadian Citizenship Branch of the Department of the Secretary of State at Ottawa, is certificate is not effective until the oath of allegiance is taken.

"At the hearing, the court decides whether the applicant is a fit and proper person to be granted such a certificate and whether he or she possesses the required qualifications. If the decision is favorable, a certified copy of the Petition for Citizenship is sent to the Secretary of State who may issue a Certificate of Citizenship and forward it to the clerk of the court."

"The Department of the Secretary of State may issue a Certificate of Citizenship upon the receipt of a favorable decision from the judge. The Certificate is returned to the clerk of the court by whom such decision was forwarded. The applicant is informed of the time and place where he is to take the Oath of Allegiance and renounce his allegiance to any other state. When these steps have been taken, the clerk endorses the Certificate with the date of the taking of the oath and thereupon the applicant becomes a Canadian citizen."

Dodds Led In Five Wards Gillespie In One; Little Variation In Voting

Ald. Hurrell Dodds was the high man in five of the six wards in the municipal voting Monday. The exception was the west ward, where James E. Gillespie was 29 votes ahead of the pace-setter of the day. The pattern of the returns on the basis of ward totals showed little variation around the city. Dodds finished in front in five of the six wards, and was second at the other. Gillespie was first in one ward, second at four wards, and in Claraday he was fourth, behind Dodds, Burrows and Young.

The five winning aldermen were in the first flight of returns in almost every ward tabulation. Dodds, Gillespie, Young, Burrows, Sands were the repeated names when the returns were counted according to wards.

In the west ward, Mather was in fifth place, instead of Sands. The voters in the north ward called the results exactly, placing the leading candidates in the same order in that area as the aggregate for the entire city: Dodds, Gillespie, Young, Burrows, Sands, Mather, Yudin, etc....

South ward, like the north, cast their votes in the order of the ultimate totals, with John Beggs in sixth place, followed by Harry Yudin and Peter Mather.

In the centre, it was Dodds, Gillespie, Sands, Young, Burrows, with Martyn in sixth place, followed by Mather and Yudin.

Follows Father

The election of James E. Gillespie, MBE, delighted his many friends. Apparently he gathered them from young and old. The fact that he is a native son, and to such extent that he declared at the nominations meeting that he intended to stay here and would be quite content to die here, was a strong asset. His war record and his friendly, cheerful disposition also counted in the polling booths.

Mr. Gillespie is one of the aldermen who have followed their fathers in the municipal service. George A. Gillespie served Peterborough well for years as an alderman, and might properly be classed as carefully progressive in his attitude to the city's business.

The young alderman-elect and his father have the rare distinction of both having received from the King the decoration of Member of the British Empire.

Arthur Burrows comes to the City Council with benefit of administrative experience as Reeve of Lakefield and its representative on the County Council.

The defeat of Peter Mather will be regretted by those who know his record as Reeve of Otonabee and member of the County Council for years.

The only two changes in the present council in transition to 1949 have come about by retirements. Mayor Ovens stepped down from the chairmanship of the council after three years of eventful administration. Ald. Max Swanston succeeds him by acclamation.

Ald. Gordon Armstrong is near the end of his aldermanic term of two years. In his announcement some weeks ago he said that his business prevented him from giving to the affairs of the city the time which he felt they required.

The Swanston and Armstrong vacancies in the council are being filled by Mr. Gillespie and Mr. Burrows.

Money Bylaws Win Majorities

Only 3,715 property owners in Brantford voted on Monday on money by-laws as compared with 4,409 in Peterborough.

A Brantford trunk sewer project costing $117,000 was approved by 2,550 for and 1,165 against. Another by-law authorized expenditure of one-fifth of a mill to Canadian Legion and Brantford Memorial concert bands carried by 2,101 to 1,583.

Sudbury endorsed a by-law to borrow $1,200,000 for a civic auditorium. The vote fas 2,872 to 1,480.

Guelph decided to spend $1,500,000 on a 140-bed hospital. The debenture by-law carried by 1,848 to 1,143. A by-law embodying a contributory pensions plan for all civic employees also received a favorable vote, 1,778 to 1,207.

The Peterborough hospital by-law was approved by 3,252-1,157

Charges Hydro Power Oversold

TORONTO, Dec 7 — (CP). — Colin A. Campbell, former Liberal Public Works Minister for Ontario, charged Monday night in a broadcast that Ontario's Progressive Conservative administration has oversold its supply of electric power.

"Indeed, this has been publicly stated by engineers of hydro and industry has been advised that this condition will exist until 1951 and some independent writers indicate until 1956,'" said the wartime brigadier who supervised construction of a network of tunnels in the Rock of Gibraltar.

Mr. Campbell, in his address prepared for delivery over a CBC Trans-Canada network, said the situation calls for remedy of the present problem and for further development of power supply.

"The present government of Ontario has made much of its attempts to induce new industry to come to this province and now we find a situation in which even old customers of hydro cannot obtain sufficient power to keep their plants in Ontario. Prospective customers naturally become apprehensive of locating in Ontario....'"

Partial Invalid Tries Delicate Operation

TORONTO, Dec. 7—(CP)—A trip to hospital for a delicate heart operation may mean a cure for Jack Finley, 30, after 10 years as a partial invalid.

A native of Welland, Ont., Finley was a normal youth until the age of 20. Then he was stricken with a condition similar to that suffered by blue babies. He will be operated on Tuesday at Toronto General Hospital by Dr. Gordon Murray, a heart specialist.

The operation may not help him, but "if there is the slightest chance that a doctor can improve my condition I am willing to take it," he said.

London's Big Fog Chokes Park Flowers To Death

By STUART UNDERHILL

LONDON, Dec. 7 (CP). — Forget-Me-Nots don't grow in London's parks and 50,000,000 Britons appreciate the reason why —the fog choked them to death.

Last week most of the British Isles got a dose of fog that doubtless, will earmark this Winter as "The Year of The Big Fog"—unless something even more unpleasant is in store.

For days people groped their way through the filthy murk that got steadier sootier and more choking. It lifted last Wednesday but the after-effects are still being felt and it is still the general topic of conversation.

Doctors Busy

Lucky was the person who escaped without a sore throat or bronchitis. Doctors reported waiting rooms crowded with sneezing and coughing patients in numbers far exceeding the usual November ill. Drug-store displays still feature cough medicines and gargles.

Dry cleaners and laundries report that they are swamped with carpets and curtains all bearing the grimy stain of the fog. Barbers and beauty parlors have had double the usual requests for shampoos.

Gardeners all over the country look at their drooping borders disconsolately. Some are trying to save Forget-Me-Nots and Wall Flowers by washing them clean. They are also spraying dejected evergreens in hopes they will perk up.

A Perfect Excuse

Despite hardships imposed on them by the fog, Britons showed their usual cheerfulness in the crisis. A favorite cartoon in The Evening News showed a tippling husband turning up late as usual with a perfect cause—"Fog! Fog! Fog!"

Bus drivers had one of the nastiest jobs and did their best to keep going, although sometimes with the conductor or passengers walking ahead to direct them.

They won a salute from a letter writer in The Times who said "In these days when one hears so much of lowered standards of behavior, it is nice to pay tribute to the body of public servants who stuck to their job at cost of great personal strain and difficulty."

Lawyer Collapses Dies In Store

TORONTO, Dec. 7 — (CP). — Redmond Code, 55, Ottawa lawyer, collapsed and died Monday in a downtown store. He had been chancellor of the Anglican Diocese of Ottawa since 1943.

Mr. Code served 1928-30 as national secretary to the National Conservative Party under the late Viscount Bennett.

He had been active in law practice since 1915, specializing in departmental, parliamentary and commercial legal work. He served as director of several mining and oil companies, as president of Federal Match Company and a director of Canada Match Co. Ltd.

He was a grandson of the late Abraham Code, who sat in the first Ontario Legislature as Conservative member for Lanark.

McDonald's Brother Not Wanted By Police

TORONTO, Dec. 7 — (CP). — Alex. McDonald, brother of escaped convict Mickey McDonald, said Monday he had reported to Provincial Police in Toronto and was told he was not being sought by police.

The Canadian Press erroneously reported Sunday that McDonald was sought by police in connection with the theft of money orders in Winnipeg Nov. 23.

McDonald said he was in Vancouver on that date.

Guilty Of Murder

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(AP).—A jury Monday night found 21-year-old Walter (Boots) Davis guilty of murder in the rape-slaying of Mary Grey, 80. The convention carries a mandatory death penalty.

ALTHOUGH HER admissions of serving as the "other woman" in many frame-up divorce raids have made her one of the key figures in the sensational divorce racket probe, now under way in New York, Mrs. Sara B. Ellis is still the only girl in the world to her husband, Sidney, who is embracing her here. He is standing staunchily by his mate, whose revelations blew the top off the scandal.

Badanai Mayor Of Fort William

FORT WILLIAM, Dec. 7 (CP) —Garageman Hubert Badanai prepared to-day to take office for a two-year term as Mayor of Fort William after turning back a bid by Charles W. Cox, who had aspired to serve as Chief Magistrate for both Fort William and neighboring Port Arthur.

Badanai, Italian-born veteran of the Canadian Army in the First World War, emerged victor handily in Monday's balloting. Interest had been stirred to such a fever pitch through the unique situation created by Cox's attempt to win the Mayor's chair in the Twin Cities that a record 75 per cent of 15,000 eligible voters cast ballots.

Tourist camp operator Hubert M. Limbrick, a former alderman like Badanai, failed to attract much of the vote. Badanai, who contended in his campaign oratory that Port Arthur lagged behind Fort William in development with Cox as Mayor of the former city, succeeds Garfield Anderson as Chief Magistrate.

Economic Regimentation Would Menace Everyone, Warns B of M President

B. C. Gardner Says High Tax Levels Have Adverse Effect on Capacity for Saving

GENERAL MANAGER, GORDON BALL, REPORTS RECORD ASSETS, DEPOSITS — LOANS LEVELLING OFF

Montreal, Dec. 6.—No Canadian can "hope that it will be possible to establish in this country some form of selective economic dictatorship that will apply to others but leave him unscathed. The experience of other countries makes it perfectly clear that once regimentation is established, no interest or class in the community can escape its tolls." It was with these words that B. C. Gardner, president of the Bank of Montreal, summed up, at today's 131st annual meeting, his warning that the policy and plans of doctrinaire socialists were a danger to Canada.

Sound and vigorous economic growth, he said, could not flourish in an atmosphere where the kind of enterprise that created wealth and well-being was held in low repute. "And no realistic appraisal of present day conditions," he observed, "can ignore the fact that our system of individual enterprise is under attack."

While this was a challenge to all Canadians, it placed a particular responsibility on business men. "I hold no brief," said Mr. Gardner in a forceful passage, "for any concern that in this day and age operates without regard to the public interest. Good business practice is the basic essential of good public relations . . . Business must tell its story more completely, and in terms more readily understood by the man in the street, than it has done in the past.

Technical Progress Vital

Mr. Gardner prefaced his comments on the economic state of the nation by pointing out how much more rapidly price levels had risen than actual output. It was extremely important to realize the true situation behind the peak dollar figures that would appear in the 1948 statistics. For, on a broad front, there were many evidences of the strains, frictions and hardships that were the inevitable accompaniment of an inflationary period.

"Can we regain the benefits of a stable price level?" Mr Gardner asked, and pointed out that, while Canada could not remain an oasis of prosperity with continued disequilibrium in the world outside, there were certain positive steps that should be taken in the national interest.

Increased productivity was the first essential, and, in the final analysis, major gains in output depended on more rapid technical advance. During the past two years there had been a boom in capital expenditure in Canada on new plant and equipment of all kinds, and this might be regarded as an encouraging development. But at the same time such capital expansion has not been matched by an offsetting increase in saving. The result had been "conflicting and competing monetary demand for both capital and consumer goods and a strong impetus to the upward spiral of prices and costs."

Turning to a consideration of the effect of governmental policy on the inflationary situation, Mr. Gardner said, "During the past two years the Federal Government has operated at a substantial surplus, which of course has directly reduced inflationary pressures by drawing off purchasing power from the economy. Under the circumstances of the time the provision of large governmental surpluses is sound fiscal policy."

However, the speaker observed, "at a time when a high rate of saving is necessary in the national interest, one might justifiably expect governing bodies to give a lead in the elimination from the public budgets of all but absolutely necessary outlays.

"This point takes on added significance in that existing levels of taxation have a direct and adverse effect on the saving capacity of the public, particularly that portion of the community to which one might otherwise look as a substantial source of venture capital."

Flexible Interest Rates

"We have now for a long time been in an era of easy money," said Mr. Gardner. "The philosophy and techniques of cheap money were developed under conditions wherein the major economic problems in Canada and elsewhere were those of deflation and unemployment. The situation today is precisely the reverse." He was not arguing for the return of dear money, but he suggested that there would be a definite advantage in introducing a further element of flexibility into the interest rate structure. It would also highly desirable, he believed, that a greater proportion of corporate financing should be of equity form rather than through issue of additional debt.

General Manager's Address

Gordon R. Ball, B of M general manager, reported in his address to shareholders that the total assets of the bank for 1948 were $1,991,000,000, an increase of $93,000,000 during the year. Total deposits had also risen substantially, reaching the record figure of $1,877,000,000. Deposits by the public payable in Canada aggregated $1,568,000,000, which was the highest figure in the history of the bank, and there had been a parallel increase in the numbers of savings depositors. Throughout the year, in its contacts with the public and in its advertising, the bank had laid special stress on the importance of thrift in the present inflationary period, both to the individual and the community.

The volume of banking transactions had continues to expand through the year. While certain special services that the banks had been called upon to perform during the war and early post-war years were no longer required, any reduction was more than offset by the larger volume of more normal banking business. There had been a moderate program of branch extension, and the bank was proceeding only with projects that were essential for the maintenance of its services.

Staff Training

The staff of the bank now numbered 9,300. "Since January last I have travelled over 13,000 miles for the express purpose of meeting as many of the staff as possible," said Mr. Ball in reviewing the staff situation. "In my travels from coast to coast I visited 135 branches in Canada, as well as our offices in the United States. This was a most inspiring experience. . . I cannot speak too highly of the fine spirit of teamwork, enthusiasm and devotion of which I found evidence on all sides.

The rapid increase of personnel in recent years had brought special problems of staff training, and the bank was now operating schools for entrants in Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver. It was intended to extend these schools to include classes for intermediate groups during the coming year, in the past year senior staff courses had been instituted at the head office.

Loan Policy

Mr. Ball referred to the consultations between the Bank of Canada and the chartered banks last February, following which it was considered advisable—with a view to limiting inflationary pressure—to discourage the financing of capital expenditures through the expansion of bank credit. He noted that the upward trend of the bank's loans in Canada reached a post-war peak of about $420,000,000 in November 1947, and now stood at $403,000,000, compared with $382,000,000 at the end of the previous financial year. "In the light of the surrounding circumstances we regard the levelling off of commercial loans as a constructive development," he said. "While a substantial part of the increase in bank loans reflects the more normal use of bank credit for peacetime activities, many of our customers are adopting a more cautious attitude in their commitments in view of rising prices and costs."

Advances to the grain trade, as well as loans to farmers and primary producers had increased over the past year. "The Bank of Montreal has always welcomed the opportunity to cooperate to the fullest possible extent with agriculture and we are pleased that our facilities have been more widely used in this respect. This applies particularly to loans under the Farm Improvement Loans Act, which showed an increase of almost 90 per cent compared with the previous year."

Concluding his review of the bank's loan structure, Mr. Ball said: "In our general lending policy we have been particularly anxious to meet the requirements of small business concerns and individual borrowers. Despite this, it has been alleged from time to time that because of a concentration of financial resources in the larger centres, Canadian business concerns, and small ones in particular, are at a disadvantage in dealing with branch banks in the smaller centres, the inference being that only relatively few have access to credit.

"With this view I emphatically disagree. The full facilities of the entire bank are placed at the customer's disposal at all of our branches and the number of borrowing accounts on our books is to us a clear indication that our customers' requirements are being properly and promptly met.

"I may say that as at September 30th last, of the total number of loans on the books of this bank over 99 per cent were made directly by and at the discretion of our branch managers and local superintendents."

ERNEST REUTER, left, who emerged as Berlin's new Lord Mayor as a result of the municipal elections, is shown in this election clerk, right, at a polling place in photo handling his marked ballot to the the western sector of the city. Reuter is the leader of the Berlin Social Democrats. The election brought out a record vote in spite of efforts of the Communists to discourage voters.

Canadians Cannot Ignore Situation Abroad Judge Smoke Tells Jury

In a charge to the Grand Jury at the General Sessions of the Peace opening on Monday afternoon, Judge Sheldon L. Smoke said that "at no time in our history was there greater need for thought and anxiety than now." The situation abroad, said His Honor, is one which we cannot ignore "because—if the worst comes to the worst—our own country may become the battleground of perhaps the most terrific of all wars. If war should come, there is no doubt who will be the enemy. Although we thought that in the last war that Germany had a tremendous system of espionage, it is quite apparent that those who threaten us now have a system surpassing anything heretofore known."

Destroy Democracies

"That they hope to tear down the remaining democracies in the world must be evident to all who read. They have no democracy at home and those in power rule with an iron hand. They are hoping to do the same abroad. Their agents are trained to infiltrate into governments for the ultimate purpose of domination. These agents are impelled to carry out their duties by intimidation and threat."

"Why anyone in Canada should become enamored with such a cause, I do not know, unless it be that they are espousing a cause of which they have no knowledge. If anyone here could consciouslessly say that he would like to see the Russian way of life introduced into Canada . . . then it seems to me that there must be something wrong with him."

"Apparently, however, there are those here who do believe in that system and if we wish to maintain the measure of democ- ever alert to see that those who cracy which we enjoy we must be would deprive us of it are not allowed to do so. Such people have no place in the pattern of our freedom and you, the public, are the people who may or may not say whether they are to have such a place."

Increase In Crime

Judge Smoke referred to the continuing upswing in crime as a major domestic problem. He said: "It is appalling to read of the ages of many of those now branching out into crime. Scarcely a day passes when our daily newspapers do not report boys from 14 to 16 years of age being involved in some crime. . . ."

"The reason for this," said His Honor, "in my opinion, is largely lack of parental supervision and training in the home. In these days parents have a heavy responsibility cast upon them in the bringing up of their children, but this should be a challenge to them to exert more effort to impress upon the children the differences between right and wrong and the seriousness of disregarding the law."

"It would seem," he said, "that many of the youth of our country are showing a lack of respect for law and particularly for law enforcement officers which should not be."

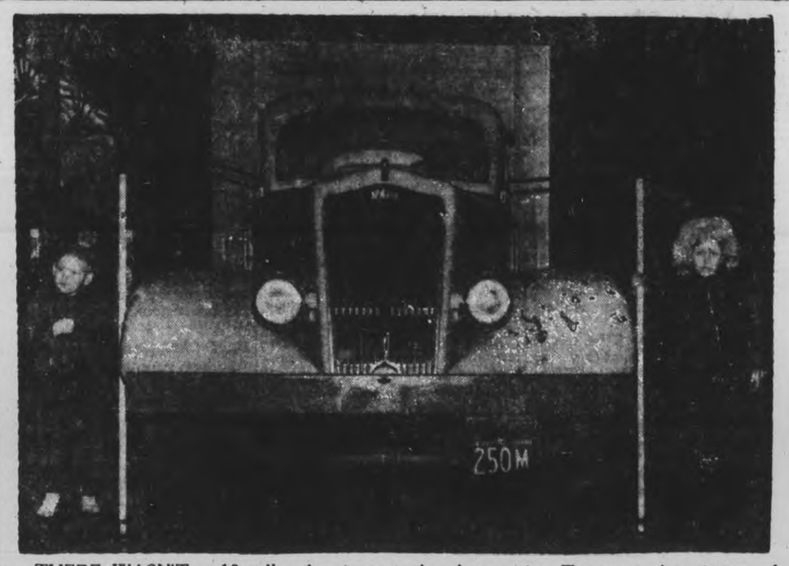
In his advice to parents, the judge said: "I do not mean that parents should frighten children into obedience of the law but that they should be taught that true citizenship in our country demands that they should respect the law and that the laws and the law enforcement officers are there for our protection."

Traffic Accidents

The judge dealt also with "the tragedy of our highways." Quoting statistics which showed the heavy increase in traffic accidents and deaths and injuries in Ontario in recent years, he said: "There can be no doubt but that negligence on the part of some drivers contributed to many of these accidents."

"Many are, I believe, attributable to the fact that drivers are not familiar with the rules of the road. So far as I know, examiners who pass upon the ability of applicants for licenses do not examine them as to their knowledge in this respect."

"It seems to me," he predicted, "that the time is not far distant when each applicant will be required to pass an examination which will indicate that he had an adequate knowledge of these rules."



THERE WASN'T a 10-gallon hat in a truck load as Canada's second national truck rodeo got underway in Toronto, but the same spirit of competition that marks western horse rodeos was with the truck drivers from Halifax to Vancouver who are "riding" it out for a share in the $2,500 prize money. The roadeo is sponsored by the Automotive Transport Association of Canada. Three-year-old Joey Park and his their dad, Joe Park of Cooksville, Ont., a sister, June, 6, are not a bit worried as veteran of 19 years trucking without an accident, bore down on them at 35 miles per hour as they stood on two markers at only two inches on each side.

Tea Served After Musicale

Following the Christmas Musicale Monday afternoon the Art Study Club entertained members and guests of the Women's Art Association in the Green Room of the YWCA. The tea table had been extended to full length and was amply covered with a very lovely hand-crocheted cloth laid over red silk. Ethereal silver figures on the filmy cloud centre were holders for white candles. Tea cups were filled by Mrs. Jas. Turnbull and Mrs. Grace Reindhardt. Mrs. C. C. Pilon and Mrs. H. R. Sills, conveners, were serving with assistance of Arts and Crafts and Music Study group members. Attractive decorations around the room were done by Mrs. B. I. Burgess for the Peter Robinson Chapter tea on Saturday.

BRITISHERS ARE WONDERING whether Buckingham Palace will clamp a curfew on 18-year-old Princess Margaret above, following a London tabloid's criticism of her late hours. The newspaper said she had remained up "until very late" four nights last week. The King and Queen were reported by the newspaper to be concerned by the princess' after-dark entertainment expeditions because "Margaret is not robust" and has been described as "delicate."

Foreign Carol Arrangements And Violin Selections Presented in 1948 Musicale

Ears attuned to appreciation of music received a thrilling performance by the Music Study Club Monday afternoon. Members of Peterborough Women's Art Association and their guests made an audience of about 200 that filled the YWCA recreation room. They enjoyed to the fullest voices trained to a high degree of perfection with accompaniment of fingers at home on the piano keyboard, and the violin selections of guest artist, Mr. Cecil Searles.

Program of the 1948 Christmas Musicale was arranged by Mrs. Allan Clark assisted by Mrs. Bruce Gordon, Study Club convener. Numbers were introduced by Mrs. G. R. Langley.

Three beautiful old carols were given by a sexette, under direction of Mrs. H. A. Mitchell. The first was Bohemian, called "Jesue is born", the second an old French carol, "Patapan" written by Bernard de la Monnoye who lived between 1641 and 1728, and the third an arrangement by Franz Wasner of the Kentucky Mountain carol entitled "See, Jesus the Savior." An interesting fact mentioned about the last number is that the arranger is conductor of the famous Trapp family that sang in this city three years ago.

Singers of the carols were Mrs. G. H. Cutmore and Mrs. Wm. Brown, sopranos, Mrs. H. A. Mitchell and Mrs. Cyril Crowe, second sopranos, Mrs. E. V. Morphet and Mrs. A. B. Burrows, contraltos. Mrs. Allan Clark played ipano accompaniment for the numbers. After the singing she read a delightful story entitled "The Second Christmas" while soft background music was played by Mrs. G. W. Craw. Much has been written about the birth of the baby Jesus but this gripping story by F. K. Foranndh brought into mind a homey scene and the parental concern of Mary and Joseph for their baby, asleep in his crib.

"Jesus, Jesus, rest your head", another of the Kentucky mountain carols, was sung by Mrs. Wm. Brown, and Mrs. Walter Perry sang a Polish carol, "In Nightly Stillness", arranged in fantasy form by the modern composer Arnold Bax. The soloists also contributed a duet called "Star Lullaby" which was arranged by Brian Tryharne from the Polish folk-song. Mrs. Clark was their accompanist.

Singing by the entire group under direction of Miss Mabel Clarry gave evidence of the potentialities of this small club formed two years ago. Their first number was a Polish carol by Lezy, the second "All my heart this night rejoices" by the 17th century German composer Ebeling, and the third "What child is this?" sung to the familiar air "Greensleeves" was repeated by request. Mrs. Craw was again at the piano.

Mr. Searles introduced his own selections and played delightfully on the violin with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Searles. First in the group was a number written by a housewife who had a flair for pretty tunes. He also included the popular "Humoresque" and gave "Ecstasy" as an encore.

Many splendid singers were in the audience and with leadership of the club and Mrs. G. N. Moncrief at the piano their voices were also heard in the familiar words and tunes of the old Christmas carols.

Mrs. N. D. Seaton, president, expressed the appreciation of all present to the Music Study Club.

EVENING PRINTS — The majority of our leading American singers are not only splendid artists, but they are beautiful as well. And as if the gods had not been generous enough, they are endowed with a fine sense of fashion, adapting current modes to their highly individual types, and creating new fashion trends. Mona Paulee, famous mezzo soprano opera and concert star, has started the vogue for printed silk jersey for evening. This model is of printed silk jersey made with a matching stole. Its clinging quality is offset by draped fullness and the fabric is cleverly handled. This model would be nice for resort wear since jersey packs well.

Business Women Hold Dinner At Empress Hotel

Peterborough Business and Professional Women's Club held their annual Christmas dinner at the Empress Hotel on Monday evening. West End group was in charge with Miss Mina Edwards as convener. Tables were lovely with evergreens and Christmas decorations for the occasion. A toast to the King was proposed by the president, Miss Sarah Eastwood. A toast to the Federation was given by Mrs. Lyda Telford, immediate past president, who gave an interesting outline of the aims of the organization. Miss Eastwood gave members a resume of civic dinner and reception for the Governor General and Lady Alexander at which she represented the Club.

A beautiful doll, dressed as a bride, which was donated by Miss Jean Horsfield, was drawn for during the evening by Miss Aleitha Davidson and the winner is Mr. Stanley S. Darling, 541 Hamilton St. A book was received as a Christmas gift from the adopted Club at Truro, England, and presented at the meeting.

Following dinner a bridge party was held at the YWCA.

Members present were: Misses A. Bowles, Mabel White, Ella Distin, Florence MacNaughton, Elsie Bennett, Mina Edwards, Sarah Eastwood, Florence Hutchinson, Mary Eason, Birdie Dawson, Anne Deyell, Vera Heyes, Helen Lytle, May Stone, Myrtle Knapp, Leila Burgess, Alice Hardwicke, Rachael Young, Vida Foote, Jean Gillespie, Olga Haskill, Jane Saunders, Helen Moore, Muriel Morrison, Ethel Ray, Aleitha Davidson, Leta Brownscombe, Rubena Carter, Mina Henderson, Mesdames H. Cunford, E. McCullough, H. Watson, Pearl Edwards, Lyda Telford, Maud Anderson, Helen Perrin, Viola Yeotes and Edna Miller.

VERY CLEVER use of vivid colors bring verve to the current scene. For instance, with her suit of deep green broadcloth, one woman wears a pillbox and stole of moleskin dyed a deep American Beauty red.

St. John CWL Has Success With First Public Event

Staging their first big event since organization last spring, the Catholic Women's League of St. John received splendid support from South End residents Monday afternoon. Their bazaar opened at an early hour with well supplied booths arranged in the St. John school auditorium, located on Jane St., and was closed with proceeds amounting to a pleasing total.

Enthusiasm and enjoyment which members have for their league work was exceeded only by the generous hospitality offered to guests. Mrs. Wm. Prindible was the gracious hostess and her welcome brought them into an atmosphere of friendship and good will.

The president, Mrs. T. McGarrity presided at the lace covered tea table for the first hour and Mrs. J. J. Shaughnessy took over the duties later. A Christmas centrepiece of poinsettas was flanked by small reindeer figures and red candles. The table was laden with dainty refreshments that were prepared by members and attractively arranged. Junior members serving were Misses Patrician Monahan, Jacqueline Goselin, Barbara Hollingworth and Alma Livings.

Tickets were being sold on a hand-made quilt, donated by the president with Mrs. S. Seabrook and Mrs. L. McGarrity in charge. The winner was three-year old Ann Curtin Another draw was held on a Christmas cake and tickets sold at the home-cooking booth. Mrs. Wm. Prindle became the owner when her ticket was drawn by one of the school children present. Five prizes of $5 each were also drawn and the winners were J. Bobby, 513 Parkhill Rd., Mrs. S. DeWolfe, 647 Park St. S., S. Rady, 42 Lansdowne St., Mrs. K Jones, 796 Lock St. and A. Shaughnessy, 135 Morrow St.

Booths were effectively decorated with skirts in the seasonal colors and figures of Santa Claus, and the wares offered had been selected with Christmas gift parcels in mind. The hand-made stuffed toys with calico covers and yellow-haired, indestructible dolls are bound to turn up next in somebody's stocking about the 25th. Small-sized hot water bottles will be on hand somewhere to warm little toes on cold nights, and in day-time the small folk will be wearing cosy bonnets, sweaters, mittens and boottees, all made by League members. Their mothers will be donning pretty aprons and taking some of the fancy pot holders and towels in hand. Or perhaps they will sit down to sew with the miniature chair, that has spaces for needles, thimbles, spools and scissors, placed nearby. For the table there were gay little shakers and pretty juice glasses in the wide variety of novelties, that included tasteful shell jewellery made by a member.

First sell-out of the day was at the taffy apple counter, patronized generously by school children who were enjoying a holiday. Their next visit was to the "white elephant" table, distinguished by a picture of the animal overhung with strings of beads, earrings and barcelets that seemed very attractive to the small girls, and a quantity of miscellaneous articles covered the table top. The home cooking was high in quality, supply and demand with beautfully iced cakes and nicely done pies to tempt the palate. There was also nome-made candy for sale.

Attendants at the novelty table were Mrs. C. Buckley and Mrs. J. Coleman. Apron sales were in charge of Mrs. L. Lefley, assisted by Mrs. J. Fenton, Mrs. F Livings, Mrs. W. Jones and Mrs. C. Smith. Mrs. B. Monahan was in charge of the taffy apples and home made candy. Baking was sold by Mrs. G. Maloney, Mrs. B. Holland and Mrs. A. Goselin. Convener of the toy booth was Mrs. Basil Shaughnessy. The white elephant table was attended by Mrs. C. Connolly and Mrs. S. DeWolfe.

Ne'er-Do-Well Seldom Keeps Promise of Doing Better

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am deeply in love and engaged to a young man, but he puts pleasure above everything else. He won't work and he says there is no use in settling down until after marriage. Do you think that if he won't settle down and go to work before marriage he will afterward?

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: It has been done, but I earnestly advise you not to risk having a miracle pass for your benefit and behoof. It happens too seldom to make it a good gambling proposition.

Occasionally, about once in a blue moon, a man who is pleasure mad and idle and worthless does settle down and go to work after he is married, but it doesn't happen that way often. As a matter of fact, many of these happy-go-lucky chaps can't settle down to any serious work because they are poor weaklings without the strength of character to stand up and fight the battle of life. They lack purpose and stability and a sense of responsibility. They are parasites, not sturdy oaks. They are playboys, not real men.

They are poor things for a woman to lean on because they always fail her in her need. They are the sort of men who are always out of a job, and whose families are always on the ragged edge of want.

Discouraging Future

The world is full of wretched women who married men who promised to be different after marriage; of wives who are still fishing the drunkards out of the gutter who were going to be sober after marriage; of wives who are taking in washing to support the ne-er-do-wells who were going to work after marriage; of wives who are still chasing the rounders who were going to settle down after marriage.

It is about time for women to have sense enough to marry men who are what they want in a husband before marriage, instead of marrying men who promise to be different after marriage.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Which is the greater, a mother's love or a wife's love?

MRS. X.

ANSWER: The love of a wife and mother are so entirely different that it is hardly fair to compare them. You might almost as well ask: "Which is better, ice cream or roast beef?" A wife's love is possessive, it is demanding, it is a matter of the body as well as the soul, it can be killed by coldness and neglect and cruelty. A mother's love is giving, it is selfless, it is full of sacrifices and it lives on in spite of ill treatment.

Of course, there are women who are cold and unfeeling mothers and who really never have even an animal affection for their offspring, and there are wives who worship their husbands with a passionate devotion that makes them suffer any wrong at their hands. But, generally speaking, a mother's love is stronger than a wife's.

Many wives divorce the husbands who are unfaithful to them, or who are cruel to them, or who are hopeless drunkards and ne-er-do-wells; but no matter what her son does his mother clings to him. The blacker her sheep, the better she loves him, and she wipes out with her tears even the memory of his transgressions.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am known as a worrier. Everything, no matter whether it is large or small, wories me. Have you any remedy for this?

A WORRY WART

ANSWER: The only remedy for worry is common sense applied in unlimited doses. Just slap it on good and thick on any situation and it relieves it. Refuse to borrow trouble about something that may not happen, or that has been already happened, and that you cannot help.

Just do the best you can and trust the balance to God, with the assurance that you have gained from past exeriences that nothing is ever half so bad as we think it is going to be, and that most things come out all right in the wash, anyway. Worrying is just a bad habit that you can break yourself of if you will.

Brains, Ability Not Beauty Wanted In Wife

NEW YORK (AP). — You're way behind the times if you think men want wives who are beautiful but dumb, says Dr. Frances Scott.

Dr. Scott is president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women, an organization with 140,000 members. She is also associate professor of hygiene at a large women's college. In both jobs she meets lots of girls and men.

"I see silly girls who still think they have to do the 'Oh, you big strong man' act," she says. "They don't get second dates.

Want Companionship

"College surveys show a man does not want a beautiful but dumb wife. He may like such companionship for an evening. But he wants a life partner with a few brains and ability to use them. Partner and partnership are words frequently used by both men and women to express what they want in marriage today."

Dr. Scott—a physician of 30 years' standing—sees this change as typical of times in which the world is juggling more problems than ever before and women have extended their rights and activities to outstrip what they did in the past.

'Another thing to consider is the greatly improved health of women," she says.

"In 1900 we had such a fixed idea that women couldn't do physical activity, that mothers didn't want their daughters to take physical training. Now women in industries and nurses and members of the Women's Army Corps, who worked at the front, have shown us that, given good health, today's women can stand as much physical strain as men of comparable strength."

Carpentry As Hobby

Dr. Scott is a smartly-coiffed, softly-tailored woman with intelligent eyes and a friendly grin. Her creed is balance. She helps keep it in her life by frequent sessions with her carpentry kit. (Her father gave her one when she was five.) In her Northampton, Mass., house she refinished floors, reset doors, changed locks and sawed and put up shelves.

Dr. Scott says she believes the time has come for women to stop talking about women's rights and work harder on their responsibilities, to vote, to hold office and to be at least as interested as men in civic and government affairs.

"We have won most of the legal and civic rights and now we should get out and show what we can do with them," she says.

"In the next few years it is extremely important that two things be done. First, we must see that more qualified women are elected to office and appointed on boards of policy.

"Second, we must qualify more women for those jobs. I cannot see that our communities are well served by government that is about 99 per cent. men.

"Men and women look at life differently. A man is a very impersonal sort of being in his business and community. He thinks in terms of money and material. Women think of the world in terms of people — of human relationships.

"What we need is balance created by the thinking of both women and men."

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, December 8

Although there may be definite emphasis on the social, domestic and affectional life, or career based upon professional or commercial promotion of kindred interests are in line for pleasant and flourishing performance. The element of charm or magnetism could be more effective than the application of intellectuality or argument, since there is sign of conflict or confusion in mental processes. Errors, false moves, could alienate support from desired places. Shun strife and overindulgence.

Those whose birthday it is may find the accent on the personal life rather than business or career. The latter may be complicated by confused thinking, obscure judgment, or downright errors or false moves. Particular precaution should be used in making contracts, agreements or in writings of any character. With social and sentimental factors stimulated, charm and personality may prove important and influential in promoting plans or aims.

A child born on this day will have strong social and cultural faculties and instincts, although its mentality may be slow for commonplace judgment or rationalizing.

AN EASY TRICK for the budget-minded gals is to invest in a nice velvet beret and then trim it with jet beads or sequin touches for date wear.

GROWING in popularity for theatre wear is the skirt and separate top. Skirts of taffeta, of velvet, of brocade, and of metallic cloth are frequently seen, as are lace or wool jersey tops with very scooped out necklines. Now and again one sees the strapless, wired bodice, a nice choice for the young, slender figure, but not for any other type, we're afraid.

City Industrialist Speaks On Accident Prevention

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 7 (ENS) —Mr. L. H. Ingram, vice-president of the Quaker Oats Company of Peterborough, and president of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association, was the guest-speaker at the regular meeting of the Central Ontario Division of the association held in the Rotary Room of the Hotel Quinte Friday evening. The meeting was well attended, and Chairman H. M. Burley, Corbin Lock Company, officiated.

The speaker was introduced to the assemblage of superintendents, foremen, personal directors and other key men of local industrial plants and adjacent industries, by Mr. H. Baptie, Western Clock, Peterborough

Mr. Ingram, a prominent figure in accident prevention work for many years, spoke on various systems in operation which contribute to the success of safety campaigns on behalf of the industrial worker. His home firm, Quaker Oats Company, was given as an illustration for many of the systems that he explained, sufficient evidence of the worth of the plans when it is considered that the company has an achievement record for over 1,000,000 man hours without a lost-time accident.

Foremen Responsible

The foremen and directors were responsible for the success of the safe operation of the plant or shop. To them was attributed the responsibilty of efficient control and the providing of leadership of those under their supervision. The personal safety of the employee was the prime consideration and through the promotion of systems to assure such safety, relationships between employer and employee were strengthened.

One system which has met with success for twenty-five years of operation was given as the organization of two safety committees; the plant safety committee formed of supervisors, and the workman's safety committee, formed of members of the employee group. The functions of the plant committee were given as the regular inspection of machines and facilities and consideration of suggested methods of increasing safety by decreasing accidents and accident-hazards. The workman's committee made regular inspections and kept close check on possible safety hazards, making suggestions to the plant committee. Accident reports are given careful study by both groups and all possible steps taken to prevent a recurrence of the same

Organize Movement for Safety

"Study accident records and organize a vigorous plant movement for safety," was Mr. Ingram's concluding suggestion to the meeting.

The appreciation of the meeting for an information and instructive address was expressed by Mr. Jack Allen, Stewart Warner.

ROBERT T. TAYLOR, 35, missing National Cash Register Co. serviceman, believed by Toronto police to have been murdered, turned up Monday in the National Cash Register Co. office in Montreal. A company spokesman in Toronto said Thompson, shown above, claims he was slugged over the head and could not remember where he had been or what he had been doing. His truck was found in an Oshawa, Ont., park with his empty wallet and personal papers strewn about.

Doctors Will Be Tried

KINGSTON, Dec. 7.—(CP). — A grand jury Monday returned true bills against two Kingston doctors charged with selling narcotics. Five charges were laid against Dr. Gavin W. Blinkinsop and two against Dr. Robert J. Livesey. Their trials were adjourned to Jan. 25.

9 Foreigners Make Plea For Citizenship

Nine petitions for Canadian citizenship were heard by His Honor Judge Sheldon L. Smoke at the opening of the General Sessions of the Peace Monday afternoon. A crowded courtroom —some of them called for jury duty and as witnesses as well as many spectators—watched the questioning of the applicants for the coveted Certificate of Canadian citizenship. The nine applicants also saw one former applicant receive the certificate from Sheriff John A. Harstone, as the oath of allegiance was administered to Michael Atamanchuk.

Judge Smoke told Mr. Atamanchuk "you join the company of many others who have come here to become part of the loyal citizenry of Canada."

Following the administration of the solemn oath by the Sheriff His Honor welcomed the new Canadian. He said "the words of that Oath mean exactly what they say."

"By taking this oath you put behind you any allegiance to foreign countries or systems. By repeating them publicly, you renounce all former loyalties."

"I would be remiss in my duty," continued Judge Smoke, "if I did not remind you that every right of a citizen brings with it a duty, that every privilege also means a responsibility and that every freedom brings with it an added need for self-control."

The nine applicants will not know for some time whether or not their petitions will be granted. The procedure involves presentation of their applications to the county judge, with reports of their records. The judge then examines the sworn applicants to determine their knowledge of Canadian public affairs and the rights and duties of a citizen.

"You must understand that it is a necessity to uphold our laws," he impressed upon each applicant. He also told them that the privilege of the vote should be exercised.

"There are many countries in the world where that is not possible, and many where the ballot box is just a sham," he told them.

One applicant, John Pepaduk, was delayed in his questioning by the judge to get a citizen to sponsor him. His Honor mentioned that the RCMP report on his activities showed that he had been a member of the Labor-Progressive Party in the early 1930's. The judge questioned the man closely on his present connections and views. Mr. Pepaduk replied that he had no contact with that group (which is the official Communist party of Canada) since 1931.

Clem Galvin, assistant manager of the hotel where the applicant is employed, returned later with Mr. Pepaduk to testify as to the work record of the applicant.

Returned again to the witness stand, Mr. Pepaduk gave his opinions on the rights and duties of a Canadian citizen, mentioning some of the points which had been referred to by other witnesses.

"...And not to belong to any organization trying to undermine our governments," added His Honor.

Names of all the applicants are: Carmino Paterno, Bridget Fialkowski, Anna Sally Maria Hawkins, John Pepaduk, Julian D. Kulchycki, Lee Kam, Hum Eng Ling, Niels Alfred Birkhof, Lee Hung, Lee Gar-sun, Tom Men Kee.

REEVE W. C. GRANT was returned by acclamation as Reeve of Lakefield village at the nomination meeting Monday night. It is his fourth consecutive term.

Reeve W. Grant Is Re-elected

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 7.—(ENS). —Possibilities of an election in the village of Lakefield this year are slight. Reeve William C. Grant was returned by acclamation for his fourth term at the nomination meeting held Monday night. Six were nominated for the four Council seats, four named to fill three seats on the Public School Board. Charles Bickle, who has been hydro commissioner for the past two years, was returned by acclamation for another term in that office.

Four of the six nominated for Council are members of the 1948 Council. They are Roy Brown, Albert Buchanan, William Whetung and Kenneth Morris. Also nominated were R. J. Knox and J. McKercher. Mr. McKercher has already withdrawn his name. Monday night, Mr. Brown, Mr. Buchanan and Mr. Whetung filed qualifications.

Havelock Voters Return Ernest Leeson

Ernest Leeson has been returned as reeve of Havelock with a majority of 48 over his opponent of last year, Fred Pollock.

George Kennedy, who was a councillor in 1946 and 1947, but who dropped out last year, headed the poll on Monday night. Other successful councillors were Bruce Curtis, Douglas McColl and John Davidson.

School trustees and the hydro commissioner were all elected by acclamation.

The bylaw asking the Havelock voters whether or not they wanted municipal garbage collection resulted in an overwhelming five to one decision in favor of the measure. Garbage collection is already in force, but there was some controversy surrounding it as the electorate had not received an opportunity of expressing a direct opinion.

Complete results for Havelock: Reeve — Ernest Leeson, 302; Fred Pollock, 254.

Council — George Kennedy, 348; Bruce Curtis, 284; Douglas McColl, 281; John Davidson, 239; William Longmuir, 196; Fred Rogers, 179; John Menzies, 142; Percy Hill, 115, and Oliver Pomeroy, 106.

Bylaw—For 447, against 87.

Mr. Curtis and Mr. Davidson were both members of the 1948 Council.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WHAT HAS HE LEFT?

DECIDING what your partner, or a particular opponent, has left in his hand can be the guide to sound discarding late in the play. But to settle that question, you may have to go away back into the earlier tricks and divine the reasoning that caused one player or another to do what he did. If you mentally put yourself in his position, you can sometimes reckon what type of holding would have caused you to take like action.

South allowed the club lead to run to his J, so he could use that suit's honors as two entries for diamond leads. The first diamond finesse, of the 10, lost to the Q. When the A won the returned club, the diamond J won a finesse. The A downed the K and on the 2 everybody discarded, East a heart, South a spade and West a spade. Now watch. The heart 2 was led from dummy to the 10, which the Q won. The club 9 went to dummy's K, then South led the heart K, thinking East would have the A because West had already shown quite a bit of strength and believing he might thus force a lead up to his spades.

After West took his heart A, he scored the established club thirteener, on which East had to discard. Deciding West probably had another heart, East decided to keep his J, but West had nothing except spades left. So he had to lead to dummy, where the A and K nipped the Q, making the J the game trick.

The clue to East's discard was away back at the seventh trick, when South led a heart from dummy toward his own hand, putting in the 10. He would have been almost certain not to do that unless he held four. If East had counted thus, he would have rated West as holding only two hearts. Hence later he would have known West had no more than the A when it was played, and consequently was bound to return a spade. That line of figuring should have caused East to keep two guards to his spade Q, thus setting the contract.

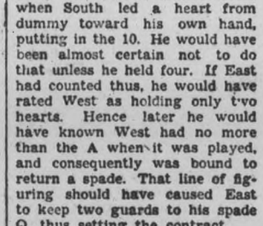
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

If South had twice bid spades and then doubled 3-No Trumps, how should West plan to make it after the suit is led?

—Ever remembered by Helen, Bruce and family.

MASON—In loving memory of Christy who gave his life seven years ago December 7.
There is an ache in our hearts today
That countless years won't take away
We smile with the world, but never forget
In our garden of memories you live with us yet.
—Ever remembered mother, dad, Betty and Jack.

Two Men's Clubs Enjoy Film

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 7—(ENS)—The Gilmour Memorial and Lakefield Men's Brotherhood met for dinner at the Lakefield Baptist Church Wednesday night. Fifty men attended and the film "William Carey," was shown.

President Walter Walker was in the chair. An impromptu quiz program was put on by the president, with Burritt Mann, Russell Kidd, Braden Mann and the Rev. L S. Haverstock of Gilmour Memoral and Stan Millage, Ted Anderson and Rev. W. Watson of Lakefield taking part.

The film showed the life story of William Carey, a shoemaker who became the father of the modern foreign missions. It showed the difficulties encountered 150 years ago when a man without money or influence determined to travel half way around the world to carry a message to the people of India whose language he did not even speak. His difficulties while learning the language and translating the Scriptures were shown in a clear, undramatic manner that made it all the more impressive.

Assessment Dept. Employees Blamed By McKellar

TORONTO, Dec. 8 — (CP). — Controller Kenneth B. McKellar said Tuesday night that several persons with "Communist inclinations" have been discharged from the city assessment department following investigation into the "disappearance for several days of 100 per cent. confidential documents."

He said possession of the documents by unauthorized persons could be "very serious in the event of an outbreak—for instance if we went to war."

Mayor Hiram McCallum said he had nothing to say "at present, but I'll have plenty to say when I get full information."

W. J. Stewart, chairman of the board of assessors, said today he could not support Con. McKellar's statements that employees had been fired for "pilfering" records.

Have To Come From Heads

"If there's going to be any statement on it, it will have to come from heads of civic administration," he said.

If there were any Communists or "pilferers" they were in the ranks of temporary workers who numbered more than 600 last summer in the assessment department, said Garnett Shier, secretary of Local 79 Municipal Employees' Union. He said temporary workers didn't belong to the union and if any Communists were found in Local 79 "we'd kick them out."

OFFICIAL TRAINING VISIT took place at the Armouries on Tuesday night when Brigadier Geoffrey Walsh, CBE, DSO, Eastern Ontario area commander, Centre, examined the program with Commanding Officer Lieut.-Col. M. E. Clarke, ED, Left, and Major G. I. Speedie, DAAG, who accompanied Brigadier Walsh from Kingston headquarters.

Two-Year Plan For Red Berlin

BERLIN, Dec. 8. — (AP).— Communist determination to transform the Russian sector of Berlin into a kind of "Little Moscow" was disclosed today as the East-West conflict tore the city ever wider apart.

Karl Maron, Moscow-trained director of the economics department in the Communist Berlin "government," announced a plan for reshaping Berlin's economy to keep pace with the two-year plan in the rest of Russian-occupied Germany.

The announcement was featured exclusively today in the official Soviet army newspaper, Taeglische Rundschau. It called for these objectives:

1. Preparation of a two-year plan for Berlin matching economic measures already adopted for Eastern Germany by the Communists.
2. "Socialization" of all but the smallest Berlin factories.

Proclaim Abdullah King Next Monday

CAIRO, Dec. 8 — (AP). — A reliable Trans-Jordan source in the Arab League said to-day King Abdulah of Trans-Jordan will be proclaimed King of Palestine on Monday.

The source said a new Trans-Jordan government would be formed with a Trans-Jordan Premier, eight Palestinian ministers and six Trans-Jordanian ministers.

He told a newspaper man a Trans-Jordan Cabinet decision to proclaim Abdullah King of Palestine would be submitted to the Trans-Jordan National Assembly on Saturday.

Report 2930 Perished In Ship Explosion

SHANGHAI, Dec. 8 (AP)—Two Chinese residents' associations reported today that at least 2,930 persons perished when the small steamship Kiangya exploded and sank near Shanghai Friday.

It was the first semi-official assessment of the death toll, which previous rough estimates had placed at more than 3,200. However, the associations said the figures may be higher than 2,930.

Seven Countries To Control Most Uranium

OTTAWA, Dec. 8.— (CP).— formation of a North Atlantic Security Alliance will mean that its seven countries control what government sources here describe as the only two major producers of uranium in the world.

The countries are the United States, Britain, Canada, Belgium, Holland, France and Luxembourg.

Belgium controls the No. 1 mine, in the Belgian Congo. The Canadian government controls the other, the Eldorado field in the Northwest Territories.

Meanwhile, Trade Minister Howe, chairman of the Atomic committee of the cabinet, said Tuesday a second crown-owned field is moving toward the production stage. Other government sources, however, were not quite as expansive. They said a field in Northern Saskatchewan "looks good" but still is in the exploration stage and cannot yet be called of mining calibre.

Mr. Howe told a group of 115 industrialists that private prospectors have made "some very interesting" radio-active discoveries but that the government still controls probably the best sites.

He addressed a luncheon meeting for the visitors who were attending a day-long National Research Council conference at which Chalk River scientists propounded the potential uses to industry of radioisotopes, radioactive tracer atoms which were described as the greatest research tool discovered in the last three centuries.

To spur research, Mr. Howe said he would recommend that any approved industrial project should get radioisotopes free from the Chalk River atomic plant for a year and that a school be set up there to help industry get started.

Kingston Convict Guilty On Two Charges of Assault

KINGSTON, Dec. 8—(CP).—Found guilty on two charges of assault occasioning grievous bodily harm, and one charge of common assault and innocent on another charge of assault occasioning grievous bodily harm, Patrick McKenzie, 32, of Toronto, Kingston Penitentiary convict this morning was remanded for sentence later today at Frontenac County Court.

The single charge on which the jury return a verdict of innocent was that of innocent stabbing Guard G. M. Kempt last June 20.

He was found guilty on a charge of striking with his fists Guard L. M. Stanley, Oct. 5, and stabbing Guards J. R. Hodgson and H. E. Goodfriend, Nov. 4.

The jury deliberated one hour and five minutes. Judge Wilfrid S. Lane of Picton presided.

75 Lashes

"There isn't a man in the penitentiary in the last 15 years who has been strapped more than I have," McKenzie testified.

Penitentiary officials said McKenzie carried on a 17-month campaign against their authority, trying three times to escape, fighting with guards, refusing to work, and going on a seven-day hunger strike.

McKenzie testified that of his 26 months in the penitentiary 17 were spent in segregation, 5½ months on bread and water. He had received 75 strokes of the strap.

As McKenzie stood in the prisoner's box in Frontenac County Court House here armed guards patrolled the street. Inside the court-room other guards watched all windows. Six long-term prisoners were called to testify. Among them is Howard Urquhart, 21, recently acquitted of a murder charge arising from the prison-break slaying of John Kennedy, prison messenger.

McKenzie, who conducted his own defence, said "All the trouble was caused because the guards were trying to kill me."

Fear Marshall Have To Resign

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—(AP). —Doubt arose today whether State Secretary Marshall ever will resume full-time direction of the foreign affairs of the United States.

Marshall underwent an operation Tuesday for removal of a kidney.

While word from hospital is that his condition is excellent, the 67-year-old Cabinet officer obviously will need a long period of rest and recuperation.

Hence there is widespread speculation that President Truman some time in the near future will reluctantly accept his resignation.

Marshall is the second leading figure in the United States Government's foreign relations work to have undergone an operation within a week. Warren R. Austin, chief of the United States delegation to the United Nations, was operated on Nov. 30.

Austin, whose surgery was described as "minor," is expected to be away from his duties about a month. John Foster Dulles, a Republican foreign policy adviser, is acting head of the American delegation at Paris in his absence.

Uses Net, Pitchfork 'Fishing For Wine'

TRENTON, Dec. 8 —(CP)—He had been fishing for wine, Grant Burrows of Trenton claimed when tried on a charge of using a dip net and a pitchfork to fish illegally for whitefish.

Burrows said in court Tuesday that when game wardens came upon him he was fishing in the Trent river for two bottles of wine thrown into the water by a friend.

The charge was dismissed for lack of evidence.

Australian Experts Discover New Wheat

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 8 — (CP). — Australian agronomists have discovered a new variety of wheat that is expected to cause a mild revolution in the country's wheat areas.

The agricultural scientists are hopeful that the wheat, now undergoing preliminary yield tests, will save Australian farmers millions of dollars lost yearly through cold and rust disease.

It is a winter wheat evolved from a chance discovery made by Dr. Stephen L. Macindoe, now principal research agronomist of New South Wales Department of Agriculture.

Ex-Major League Player, Art Shires Held For Murder

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 8.—(AP). —Art (The Great) Shires who mixed baseball with boxing, has been charged with murder in the death of W. H. (Hi) Erwin, a former minor league player and umpire.

Shires, one-time major league first baseman, was first questioned Monday night and released on a $5,000 bond in a habeas corpus writ. He was to appear before Judge Robert A. Hall in district court today.

Erwin, 56, died in a hospital here Saturday. Officers quoted Shires as saying he had a fight with Erwin Oct. 3.

The 42-year-old Shires, whose turbulent career in the big leagues made headlines in the late 1920's and early '30's had no comment when informed of the murder charge.

From 1926 to 1928 Shires played with Waco of the Texas League. Chicago White Sox bought him the latter part of the 1928 season. His first full season with the White Sox was 1929 and on Aug. 14 of that year he was suspended as the result of a fight with his manager, Lena Blackburn.

That same year he took a flyer in professional boxing and kayoed Dan Daly in the first round of his first fight in Chicago.

Shortly afterward Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landiis warned Shires he had to quit boxing or give up baseball.

Shires played with Chicago and Washington in 1930. He also played with Rochester in the International League.

He ended his playing career with Fort Worth of the Texas League in 1934.

Egg Contract 'Also Down, Cheese Same

Egg Prices Only Ones To Be Lowered; Keep Controls On Pork

OTTAWA, Dec. 8—(CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner announced today that the United Kingdom has agreed to purchase in 1949 160,000,000 pounds of Canadian bacon, 50,000,000 pounds of cheese, and 1,533,000 cases of shell eggs or their equivalent in dried whole or frozen whole eggs.

The prices to be paid for bacon and cheese are the same as those in the 1948 contracts. For eggs, the 1949 prices are slightly lower.

In the case of bacon and cheese the contracts are subject to the approval of the United States economic co-operation administration, which is handling the aid to Europe.

The bacon contract represents a drop of 35,000,000 pounds in the amount to be delivered. Britain took 195,000,000 pounds in 1948.

The egg contract also is a decline in volume but the amount of cheese to be taken remains unchanged.

Same Price

Making the announcement before the concluding session of the Dominion-Provincial agricultural conference, Mr. Gardiner said the United Kingdom in 1949 will pay the same price for bacon as in 1948—$36 a 100 pounds for "A" No. 1. sizeable Wiltshire sides.

This was immediately taken to mean there will be no appreciable increases in domestic pork prices next year.

Though the new contract calls for smaller shipments Mr. Gardiner said it probably will absorb all bacon available for export.

"To make as sure as possible that the United Kingdom gets this bacon," he said, "export controls on pork products will be maintained with the provision that the United Kingdom will take delivery when it is available."

At present, shipment of pork products to other markets, including the United States, is prohibited by the export control.

No Requisitioning

Mr. Gardiner said there will be no requisitioning of cheese from Canadian factories in 1949. The new contract price, as for 1948, will be 30 cents a pound, fob factory.

The 1949 egg agreement is for the equivalent of 46,000,000 dozen, covering the 11 months from Feb. 1, 1949, to Dec. 31, 1949. The adjusted volume figure of the previous agreement, covering the 12 months from Feb. 1, 1948, to Jan. 31, 1949, was for 74,000,000 dozen.

Shipments in 1949 will include 19,500,000 dozen storage eggs, 3,000 tons of dried eggs, and 4,000 tons of frozen eggs.

Can Absorb Production

Mr. Gardiner said that while the new contract volume is below that of 1948, "it is considered that with some opening of other export markets in 1949 the quantity should be reasonably adequate to absorb the probable production in that year."

Black's Condition Fair

CLEVELAND, Dec. 8 (AP) —Hospital officials said today Don Black's condition was fair after a major brain operation to remove a weak spot in an artery. The Cleveland Indian baseball pitcher, who suffered a brain haemorrhage in a baseball game last fall, was operated on yesterday because of recurrent severe headaches.

Steel Shortage To Be Worse Officials Warn

OTTAWA, Dec. 8 (CP)—Canadian steel production will reach an all-time high this year, but the steel shortage will probably become more acute, government officials predict.

They said an estimate of 3,100,000 net tons of steel ingots from the year's output looks safe but a probable decline in imports from the United States in 1949 likely will reduce Canadian supplies to about the extent that was available in 1947 — substantially less than this year.

Last year's steel output—measured in ingot tons which suffer about a 25-per-cent loss when fabricated into the forms in which industry uses—steel was 2,854,000 net tons. In addition, Canada imported 939,904 tons from the United States in rolling-mill products.

This year only 900,000 tons of mill products can be added to the estimated 3,100,000 tons produced here. Next year, they estimated, the country will produce about the same amount of ingot steel and will be lucky to get more than 800,000 tons of fabricated steel from the United States.

A heavy defence program in Canada, federal officials said, would cut seriously into supplies to producers of peacetime supplies and capital equipment.

Key To Situation

The key to the steel situation under a defence program, they said, would be found in steel plates. Output at present runs to about 21,000 tons a month, of which the federal steel controller already allocates about 70 per cent to priority users.

Canadian steel production has more than doubled since the prewar days when an output of 1,500,000 tons was a good year and when a depression year—such as 1933—could send it down to less than 500,000 tons.

The government is still waiting for the replies from the major steel producers to its request that they submit plans for a further expansion, the official said. The replies are expected to start arriving within a fortnight.

The cost of the expansion now being planned is unknown, but it is taken for granted that the steel producers will want federal help.

Pleads Innocent

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 —(CP)— Ralph Edward Barrows today pleaded innocent to a charge of first-degree manslaughter in the slaying of Colin Cameron Mackellar, Montreal textile executive. Barrows was arraigned in general sessions court on that count as well as on one of first-degree robbery to which he also pleaded innocent. Sam Siegel, the husky, 19-year-old's lawyer, was granted permission to make motion in relation to the indictment during the next 10 days.

12th Army Group Smashes Through Red Encirclement Latest Government Report

Communist Column Tightening Noose On Garrison From Suchow; Clear Weather Aids Nanking Bombers

NANKING, Dec. 8 (AP).—Units of the Government's hard-pressed 12th Army Group were reported today to have smashed through Communist encirclement in the crucial battle for Nanking. The Government military news agency said these units had made contact with other Nationalist troops advancing northward from the new Hwai River defence line about 100 miles northwest of here.

There was no confirmation of the report by foreign military circles. The military news agency report had no other details.

The bulk of the 12th has been trapped nearly two weeks southwest of Suhsien, rail town 45 miles south of fallen Suchow. The army group, short on food and ammunition, is getting some supplies by air.

Meanwhile, other Communist columns were reported tightening the noose on the 250,000 government troops which abandoned Suchow a week ago in an attempt to relieve the 12th army group.

Clear weather intensified activity from Nanking's airfield. Fighters and bombers were shuttling between the capital and the combat areas to the northwest.

The critical nature of the battle was reflected by a government order extending the martial law to the Wuhan area of Central China. This includes the big city of Hankow, Wuhan and Hanyang.

The government also was rushing all available reinforcements to the Hwai river defence line.

But battle reports everywhere seemed to toll "too late" for frantic efforts to stave off a Communist attack on the capital of Chiang Kai-Shek's government.

In North China, the Nationalists were reported fighting less than 25 miles northeast of Peiping. They hoped to slow down Communist forces driving down the railway from Jehol. Peiping sources disclosed government loss of Chohsien, 35 miles southeast of the city.

The Chinese government may have to decide quickly whether to set up its final Nanking defences along the Hwai river, about 100 miles above the capital, or in front of Nanking itself, on the north bank of the Yangtze.

Undoubtedly the decision will depend on the fate of the 350,000 trapped Nationalists. It appeared that at present these forces had little chance of getting out of two separate traps in time to be of any real help.

Shanghai Jittery

Shanghai was plainly jittery. It seemed as though everyone was pinning hopes on the arrival of United States Marines, who helped keep order in 1927, when Chiang Kai-Shek took over, and in 1932 and 1937 during the Sino-Japanese war.

Fred Hampson of the Associated Press reported it was known that American authorities in Shanghai have blueprinted an emergency evacuation in event conditions become chaotic. Marines might play a part in helping to get Americans out safely, but all officials in position to know denied plans to bring marines to guard American property or to maintain order.

Jewish Forces Cross Border, Britain Reports

PARIS, Dec. 8 (Reuters) — Britain to-day told the United Nations Security Council's "Sanctions Committee" that there had been "two small incursions" of Israeli forces over the Trans-Jordan frontier and Britain might be obliged to take action under her treaty with Transjordan.

Harold Beeley of Britain told the Security Council's seven-country committee on Palestine that Britain has private information that an armed Jewish force was advancing toward the Red Sea near Transjordan.

He said the force of unestimated size was reported half-way between the Dead Sea and the Gulf of Aqaba on the Red Sea.

Beeley said the report is of "serious concern to the United Kingdom." He said any Jewish attack on Transjordan would "oblige Britain to take action envisaged in its treaty with that Arab country."

A British delegation source said the treaty provides for mutual military assistance in the event of aggression against either Britain or Transjordan.

Police Uncover Stolen Car Ring

TORONTO, Dec. 8 — (CP). — Investigations into the shooting of two men in downtown Toronto Nov. 20 have uncovered a stolen car ring which police say is being carried on in both Ontario and Quebec, it was learned on Tuesday.

Seven stolen cars have been recovered in Quebec City and in the Ontario centres of London, Hamilton, Brantford, and Fort William, police said.

First clue in the case was the discovery of unused Quebec auto registration cards by police investigating the shooting and wounding of Frank Battaglia and John Sutherland, both of Toronto. Battaglia has been charged with the theft of an auto.

A second arrest was made Tuesday by police, who charged Ray Reilly, 48, of Toronto, with obtaining $1,550 by false pretences from William Russell of Hamilton. Police said a car sold to Russell had been stolen in Brantford and its licence plates changed.

Suggests Joint Highways Commission

Wants Financing, Construction Of Main Roads Co-ordinated

OTTAWA, Dec. 8 — (CP) — Establishment of a Dominion-Provincial Highways Commission to co-ordinate the financing, planning and construction of main highways in Canada was suggested today by Allan C. Ross of Ottawa, President of the Canadian Construction Association.

In a statement, Mr. Ross said the Association feels that establishment of a highways commission would be "The best method of developing a far-sighted highways program."

The Association, he said, is interested in the Dominion-Provincial conference called for Dec. 14 to discuss construction of the Trans-Canada highway.

Experience in other countries indicated the benefits of a national highways program. He expressed the view that a "Dominion-Provincial Highways Commission could co-ordinate plans for the development of Canada's main highways without restricting the constitutional prerogatives of the provinces."

"All provinces are currently undertaking record highway programs, but faced with long distances, rugged terrain and small populations, most of them find it impossible to provide adequate highways."

He believed a Dominion-Provincial highways commission could do much to accelerate the development of national highways system B:

1. Co-ordinating highway programs of national importance such as the Trans-Canada highway, main highways linking Canada with the U.S.A. and province with provinces, as well as other roads designed to develop Canada's natural resources and tourist trade and meet strategic requirements.
2. Administering federal funds devoted to aid such projects.
3. Establishing minimum construction standards for the various classes of traffic to be carried, in keeping with geographic needs.
4. Promoting, in conjunction with the National Research Council and other research bodies, research on road materials, soil conditions and the like.
5. Establishing long-term road development policies based on thorough studies of transportation economics, in keeping with the financial abilities of the Canadian people.

Revise Fire Damage At Plant To $100,000

SUDBURY, Dec. 8 — (CP). — A survey of the ruins of the fire-ravaged plant of Canadian Industries Limited at Copper Cliff today indicated that most of the damage was done to the roof and one wooden wall of the building, and most of the machinery and equipment would be salvageable, a statement from M. T. Miller, operations supervisor, indicated. Original estimate has been reduced, for this reason, from over $1,000,000 to $100,000.

The CIL statement reported that damage was confined to the wooden roof-deck, change-house and the temporary wall at one end.

"Production has stopped completely," Miller said, "but only for the present. It is hoped to resume production early in the New Year."

Peterborough Federation Organizes First Farmers' Service Club

R. W. Morrison Stresses Great Importance Of Federation Activities; Urges Young People Remain In Country

Peterborough Federation of Agriculture set a rural social precedent in their noon luncheon at the Empress Tuesday, adopting the custom of the urban service clubs. In his compliment to the local branch for their initiative, the guest speaker, R. W. Morrison of Alliston, 1st vice-president of the Ontario Federation, said: "This is something I have always thought we as farmers could get going. Peterborough was among the first county branches organized in Ontario at the inception of the Federation, and now you are first to inaugurate the noon luncheon."

Possibly it is too much to claim that Peterborough was the first of the county branches of the Federation organized in this province. Memory suggests that priority, and it may also be recalled that Reeve James Gifford of Ennismore was the first president of the provincial organization.

Nearly one hundred members and their wives attended the luncheon which was proposed several months ago by Mr. Gifford. Members of the county council were present, and everybody was highly pleased with the promising response to this monthly noon meeting plan into early spring.

"I wish to say personally, and I could make it much broader, that I have a great admiration for Mr. Gifford as a man and also for his ability in the work he is doing here and among our provincial members," Mr. Morrison said. "That is especially true among our cream producers. You can well be proud of Mr. Gifford in having him as your representative."

Mr. W. W. Dawson, president of the local branch of the Federation, was chairman.

Important Group

Mr. Morrison asked the general question as to how many of his audience had listened to the Forum broadcast Monday night. To the majority of hands that were raised in affirmation, he said. "That is splendid, and this luncheon seems to me to be an answer to what was being said in our radio broadcast. You are one of the most important groups of people in this country, and we can't do any better than we are ourselves as the members who go to make it up."

Responsibility for the Federation is ours, each one of us," Mr. Morrison said. "It is what we make it in all its ramifications. We should occasionally take a look at ourselves, in a critical manner, but not too critically. We can go too far in that direction. We should try to be constructive in that examination, and then learn from the mistakes we make."

"The Canadian Federation of Agriculture is set up in a democratic manner. It gives expression to our thoughts and needs, and plays a representative uart for us in agriculture and in all the affairs of life. Our farms supply fresh, verile blood to the urban centre, but let us build up our farm communities and make them more attractive so that they will hold our young people in greater number than in the past."

Cities Luring Farmers

Mr. Morrison said that when he attended the FAO (international agriculture) in Paris and went on to Scandinavia he heard expressions of regret "that our young people are moving to the cities." I thought I was back in Ontario. So, we are not alone in that movement. I think its tempo has been stepped up, but it is something that has been going on all down the years."

"We have one of the best farm organizations in the world. We are fortunate in our leadership all across Canada, in our provincial and county groups. In our national president, Herb Hannam, we have an outstanding leader. I can say that he stands high in the estimation of farm people all over the world. I know it was your intention to have him here today for this first noon luncheon, and I am glad to come in his place, but I suggest that you get him for one of the later meetings. He would be most interested in this series which you have begun.

You know the broad scope of the Federation's work, through its commodity groups, its hospitalization enterprise, its co-operative movements. Our newest endeavor is now in the field of automobile insurance. It is being sponsored by the Federation until it is securely placed on its own feet. Across the border this insurance has grown into a tremendous business. We are not saying anything about private enterprise, but we feel that there is a place for farm people in this branch of finance in which we can have some say and control. Let us make it a success."

Shows Pictures

Mr. Morrison's pictures in color of European scenes which he took on his trip to the convention of the International Federation of Agricultural Organizations included many shots or rural life, farm homes and operations. He was introduced by Mr. Gifford, and the thanks of the members was extended to Mr. Morrison by Norman McConkey.

Senator Duffus briefly congratulated the Federation on their progress, and also on their experiment of the noon luncheon. The large attendance recommended the continuance of the proposed series.

Senator Duffus complimented the Federation on its strict adherence to an original policy to keep politics out of all its meetings and affairs. He recalled that early in its development he had offered that advice, and Federation members and officers had themselves realized the danger of any partisan spirit showing itself. Its success was largely a result of avoiding politics and keeping it out of the Federation fold.

Spy Hunters After 2 More File Looters

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—(AP)—Congressional spy hunters today stalked two more men accused of looting secret government files of papers which may have let Russia crack the vital diplomatic codes of the United States a decade ago.

The House of Representatives un-American Activities committee hopes to track down the pair for questioning at a closed-door session this morning.

Representative Richard Nixon (Rep. Calif.) said the committee is after still a third person for questioning later on. The names of all three, he told reporters, were first mentioned in New York Monday night by Whittaker Chambers, admitted former Communist courier who now is a senior editor of Time magazine.

A state department official said it appears rrom the committee evidence that "foreign matters" have had a good look at those diplomatic codes—and two members of the House group suggested that if one of the countries was Russia, the other probably included Germany and Japan.

As the spy inquiry supplies a spectacular finale for the nearly extinct 80th Congress, there were other late developments:

1. A New York Grand Jury continued its separate espionage investigation with Federal Attorney John F. X. McGohey saying it is closer than ever "to a final conclusion".

2. The Federal Bureau of Investigation and state department promised help to the House committe's inquiry. John E. Peurifoy, assistant secretary of state, told reporters security regulations have been tightened and "I would rather think" there can be no more leaks of official secrets.

Pour Millions Into Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, Dec. 8 — (AP).—Millions of United States dollars are pouring into Yugoslavia to help finance Premier Tito's program of "rehabilitation and Socialist construction.'"

A report in the Yugoslav Communist Party newspaper Borba revealed that a huge majority of contributions of money and supplies reaching Yugoslavia still comes from residents and organizations in the United States.

American contributions in the last three years were listed at $15,500,000. In addition, more than $1,000,000 worth of medical supplies, mobile tuberculosis clinics, trucks and street sprinklers have come from the United States through the Yugoslav Red Cross.

The contributions from the United States do not include the huge collections sent to Yugoslav government-in-exile in London in 1945.

They also do not include the unestimated millions of dollars which stream in constantly from individuals—relatives and friends—in the form of cash, clothing, tinned food and innumerable other consumer goods to private citizens.

Postal officials in Belgrade estimate that more than 90 per cent of the packages received in Yugoslav post offices from abroad come from the United States.

Youth Charged Setting Fire

Charged with wilfully setting a fire in a building on the Exhibition Grounds last June, the case of Ernest McFadden, 336 Braidwood Ave., is being considered by a jury of the General Sessions of the Peace today before His Honor Judge Sheldon Smoke. Evidence was heard at earlier sittings today. Represented by W. B. Gordon, McFadden has pleaded not guilty.

W. R. Moncrief, 248 McGill St., gave evidence for the Crown about the evening of June 9. He said that he was in his garage, near the Exhibition Grounds, when some children attracted his attention to smoke billowing from one of the buildings. It was coming from a small lean-to built on a large building on the grounds, he said.

As he went through the fence and towards the building, he said he met the accused.

"I asked him where the fire was. He told me there wasn't any fire."

Entering the small building, Mr. Moncrief said he found a heap of refuse in a corner next to the wooden wall of the large building. The rubbish was blazing, he said, and had already caught fire to the wall. The witness trampled out some of the flames with his feet, spread the burning material out and then left for a pail of water to complete the extinguishing.

Mrs. Margaret Westwood, 256 McGill St., another nearby resident, also testified as to the presence of the accused near the building.

Only defence witness was Dr. Thomas Courier. He said that from his examination of the accused, who has an epileptic victim, McFadden has been "mentally retarded" and has the mental development of a child of six years of age. To Crown Attorney V. J. McElerry, K.C., he said the accused would know the difference between right and wrong and would appreciate the consequences of his actions only in relation to his backward mentality.

In his address to the jury, Mr. Gordon contended that the evidence of the doctor showed there was "no guilty intention on the part of the accused." He also mentioned the "reasonable possibility" that children — who had been seen in the area that evening—might have started the fire.

Members of the jury are: Sidney J. Black, 408 Water St.; Douglas Grant, 26 Armour Rd.; O. W. Hurrle, 476 Bolivar Et.; Samuel Carpenter, 750 Lansdowne St.; Louis Brooks, 199 Dalhousie St.; Charles H. Huffman, 629 Charlotte St.; Wilfred J. Cunningham, 587 Water St.; Lawrence Sanderson, Havelock; Mark Goodram, Water St.; J. R. Knox, Lakefield; Allan Hayes, Otonabee; John S. Curtis, 13 Benson Ave.

The 1949 prices will be 52½ cents per dozen for storage eggs, $1.36 a pound for dried eggs, 32 cents a dozen for frozen eggs.

Comparative prices for 1948 have been 54½ cents, $1.46, and 35 cents.

He said the negotiations which have been taking place for several weeks were concluded Tuesday.

Mr. Gardiner said there will be no requisitioning of cheese this year. As the cheese comes forward it will be utilized to supply the United Kingdom market. If the cheese did not come forward then Canada would have difficulty filling the British contract.

"We are somewhat concerned about this situation," said Mr. Gardiner.

Before the war, cheese was about the only outlet for surplus milk and no one could say that it would not again be the only outlet in the near future.

However, people were transferring milk from cheese to canned milk. If everyone was satisfied that canned milk was a proper outlet for surplus milk then those making deliveries would have to take the responsibility.

"We are not going to take it," he said. "In our opinion more milk should be going into cheese."

Red Cross Dentist Assigned To Haliburton School Areas

TORONTO, Dec. 8. — (CP).—There's no rooming problem or office problem for Dr. Ruth Dundas, young Toronto dentist who is today on her way to Wilberforce, 35 miles north of Peterborough, to look after the teeth of school students in the small communities of Haliburton county which have no dental services.

Dr. Dundas is in charge of a Red Cross mobile dental unit—a larrge trailer which contains both her office and her home.

The trailer is one of only two in Canada, and in it the school youngsters will find just about everything they would find in any other dentist's office. They won't have to go far to have their teeth drilled—the office will be parked right in the school yard.

And for Dr. Dundas there is a self-contained apartment, with a complete kitchen, bedroom and bathroom.

The novel practice on wheels will be the first for a dentist, a graduate last year of the University of Toronto and for the past year a research student at the University of California.

Belmont-Methuen Elects Barrons

HAVELOCK, Dec. 8—(ENS)—Final returns in the Belmont-Methuen election show that Ross Barrons defeated Reeve William E. Griffith by a majority of 138 votes to become Reeve for 1949. The distant polls of Oak Lake, Lasswade and South Lake were late in reporting but they did not affect the standings of the candidates.

Mr. Barrons who is from Cordova Mines was a member of last year's council.

Corrected final standings:

Reeve—Ross Barrons, 335, Griffith 247; Council—George Newton 482, Robert Wrightly 450, Norris Whitney 390, Donald Anderson 336 and Donald Plunkett 206.

School trustees elected by acclamation were: Area One (one seat)—R. Barton two-year term. Area Two (three seats)—J. McGowan and S. Barrons, two-year terms, and C. Ellis, one-year term.

Homewood Avenue Residents Protest

Business appears to be intruding in the residential west end as reflected in two complaints to the council Tuesday night. Possibly, the two separate addresses refer to the one objectionable business, as it is described, or the complaints have their numbers crossed.

One letter was only an observation that at 560 Homewood a business in live poultry was in operation, with the comment that it should not be conducted there.

The other communication, a largely signed petition, called the council's attention to a warehouse business at 553 Homewood. It was said to be a nuisance, fire hazard and a blight on realty values.

A motion by Ald. Richard Raine and Ald. Grant Miller asked the chief constable to enforce the bylaw. City Solicitor Huycke remarked that some one might have to invoke the authority of the courts.

Not Working Language

PARIS, Dec. 8 (AP)—The Soviet Union failed Tuesday in an attempt to make Russian a working language of the United Nations. On a Mexican resolution the General Assembly resolved that Spanish should be included as a working language but the Soviet attempt to add "and Russian" was ruled out of order by assembly president Herbert Evatt.

Burnham's Point Recreation Centre Is Ready

The Weir house on Burnham's Point has been scrubbed and dressed with a new coat of paint in readiness for the opening of a recreation centre there on Friday.

Men, women and teen-agers living on the Point and in neighborhood districts have been working for two months to prepare ths house and form an organization to run the recreation centre. They plan to hold one bingo a month, and weekly dances for the teen-agers. A record player is being purchased with the proceeds of the sale of tickets on a draw, the articles of which were donated by Mrs. F. Montgomery. The draw will take place on Friday.

Invitations to the opening have been sent to Mayor Wm. Ovens, Aldermen Max Swanston, Hurrel Dodds, and Dr. Herbert Young, and to members of the Parks Department, Mr. Butcher and Mr. O'Rorke.

On the opening night there will be euchre and a dance, with prizes and also a door prize.

The old Weir house, the property of the city has been disused for some time and required a great deal of cleaning and decorating. The interior is painted in white and blue and has required three coats of paint. The outside, which has had only one coat so far, will be finished in the spring.

Those who form Burnham's Point Recreation Centre committee are: Chairman, Mrs. S. Purser; secretary, Mrs. B. Barclay; Mrs. Dunlop, Mrs. F. Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roberts. Members of the teen-agers' committee are: Chairman, Harold McQuigg; secretary, Shirley Johnson; treasurer, Wilhelmena Erwin, and Bill Jones. Two other helpers were Helen Ware and Barbara Ellis.

Will Refuse Bail

TORONTO, Dec. 8 — (CP)—Judge Ian Macdonell said in general sessions court here Tuesday that he would refuse bail in the future to prisoners with a record for the offence they are charged with. His comment was made during the trial of Albert Smith of Toronto who pleaded guilty to two charges of breaking and entering—the second offence being committed when he was free on bail of $3,000 in the first case. Smith was remanded until Dec. 16 for sentence.

The U.S. And China

Chinese Communist armies are advancing on Nanking and the Nationalist soldiers are in retreat—as many of them as can get out of the Communist encirclement south of Suchow. In the last two years the Communists have made extensive gains in north China; their successes in the last two months have intensified the threat to the Chiang Kai-Shek regime. Unless the force of Chinese Communism — both political and military—is restrained in some manner or other, the whole of China may become another Communist country.

Two years ago western governments and strategists were too busy checking Communism in the west, and too appalled by the inefficiency and corruption of the Nationalists, to pay much attention to Communism in the east. It was felt that the Chinese Communists were such in name only and that what was happening in the north of China was an agrarian revolt. It was considered that a coalition Chinese government of Communists and Nationalists was possible and even desirable.

* * *

Now we know that coalitions with Communists are impossible; the Communists take over the government and country. It is also apparent that the Chinese Communists are not merely agrarian reformers; they are Communists in fact as in name. We know now that if China becomes Communistic it would be as much a part of Stalin's empire as Czechoslovakia or Poland. Shanghai would be lost. American control in Japan would be precarious — General MacArthur has said that if the Asiatic mainland were occupied by a hostile power Japan would be untenable. If China became Communist, four million square miles and four hundred million people would be added to the red side of the east-west balance.

* * *

The United States is now the major western power. China has long been important in its economic and foreign policy. It is obvious that American policy in the Far East must be re-defined. One of the most important and immediate tasks that will confront the new 81st Congress is the extent and kind of aid the U.S. should give the Nationalists in China.

More Houses And Better Houses

We have been touring the city lately, casting an unexecuted and even doleful eye at the housing developments, both new and not-so-new. Despite the numerous houses that have been put up this year and last, more housing is needed. Much more. In Peterborough now an employer cannot hire new employees from out of town unless he can guarantee them places in which to live. It is easier to find jobs than it is houses.

New housing is needed, and we think it is not primarily a civic responsibility. Peterborough has done about as much as it can financially in that regard. What is the Provincial Government doing about the large housing aids it offered in the spring session of the Provincial Legislature? Can we look for help and practical results from the St. Laurent project to survey the housing situation in Canada? Will Mr. Robert Winters, the new Minister of Reconstruction in charge of the Federal plan to co-ordinate housing be of practical assistance?

There is another thing wrong with the new housing in Peterborough, apart from the lack of it, and it is a condition observable almost anywhere in Canada. That is the type of housing. Small, box-like, detached houses are going up which no one will ever be able to call "home". They are usually ugly to look at, shoddy despite the high cost to builders and buyers, and lacking in privacy and spaciousness despite the modern plumbing and "dinettes". If that is the kind of house that can be put up for six to ten thousand dollars, it is time that architects, builders and agencies found other ways of building, and other types of dwellings to build.

In our opinion, it is a mistake to put up rows and rows of separate small houses in urban areas. It is uneconomical, the results are architectural horrors, and the people for whom they are intended cannot pay for them. Too many Canadians still cling to the old-fashioned notion that a separate house is more desirable than a flat or a house which is a unit in a large block. Architects and builders may have to begin a propaganda campaign to change their motions.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company undertook a couple of years ago large Washington housing projects which we described and pictured in this paper at the time. They are blocks of houses, not detached, around a garden quadrangle. They have the advantages of separate houses with the advantage of centralized heating, plumbing and services. They were built to house families with limited incomes, and the Metropolitan Life is renting them at relatively low rates and making a profit. These unit homes are good to live in and the blocks very handsome.

Norway has a national housing program under which 36,000 new homes have been erected since 1945. Most of them are in urban centres, and all the urban homes are in large blocks. Because Norwegian urban housing is of this kind, more homes have been built than if they had been single, detached houses, and the dwellings are comfortable, commodious and pleasant.

Peterborough, Ontario and Canada could do likewise. What has become of the several million dollars that the Drew Government set aside last spring to encourage new types of housing construction? Is Mr. Winters at Ottawa giving heed to the necessity for new types of house construction?

Growing Used To High Prices?

Edmund Burke once remarked that "custom reconciles us to everything". We grow used to what is habitual—like wars, our wives (or husbands) and, strange to say in this materialistic world, to high prices. They have become part of our daily climate. So it is noted with mere complaisancy that the index of prices did not climb higher last month (having levelled off at the roof-top of 159.6). So people learn with some surprise that there still exists a Royal Commission on Prices, and that it will present its report within a month or two.

Has interest been lost in the Prices Commission because we have adapted ourselves and purses to high prices, or because we think that no Commission can help us? There is something of both in the present public apathy. Nevertheless, the Curtis Royal Commission has gone about its work in a reassuring quiet, orderly fashion, different from that of the Parliamentary Prices Commission which it succeeded. Briefs have been presented which deal with fundamental problems, and the members of the Commission have themselves been studying not merely transient headline-making data, but basic factors in the price situation. We may expect the Royal Commission's report to be both informative and helpful, even if it has no effect on price levels.

Mr. Drew's Campaign Difficulties

Mr. George Drew is contesting the federal seat in Carleton County at a by-election on December 20th. He has to win the seat both to represent the people of the constituency and to take his place in Parliament as the leader of the Conservative party. That means that he has to conduct his campaign both as a local candidate immersed in local politics, and as a party head, concerned with national affairs. It is a difficult double job.

Carleton is partly a rural constituency, but when Mr. Drew talks to farmers and villagers his words are reported across the country because he is a national leader. He is in the eye not only of the electors of Carleton but also of people as far away as Halifax and Vancouver. If he speaks about trivial matters the wide audience may not think him sufficiently concerned with national matters; if he speaks on national and international questions, he will not attract voters in Carleton who are interested in village pumping.

Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir Wilfrid Laurier had in their own ways the ability to campaign simultaneously on local and national levels. It remains to be seen, in days of quick communication and radio which may make such campaigning more difficult, whether Mr. Drew can develop his own way successfully.

Some Americans on their Communist witch-hunt have found a secret code in a pumpkin. We are only surprised that they didn't find it earlier; on October 31st, for instance, when witches, mischief and pumpkins are generally about.

In the last elections in Moscow 99.99 per cent. of the electorate went to the polls. Under our superior system, of course, we're lucky to get 47 per cent. to use their vote.

Keep It Up, Canadian Poets!

By GEOFFREY VIVIEN

THE other evening after a poetry-reading by a well-known Canadian poet I found myself talking to the one lady in the hall who did not write poetry. I asked her why she did not. Her answer was that there was already too much bad poetry in existence, and that she did not want to add to it. Well, there is a good deal to be said for that point of view. There certainly are enormous numbers of people writing verse nowadays; look at the New York Times or Herald Tribune (which print a poem a day on their editorial pages) and you will scarcely find the same name twice, and seldom a name that one recognizes. Add to these the names of known poets whose works fill library corners; of budding poets climbing to recognition through the pages of the literary magazines; and the great host of rhymers for local papers—it is a small nation of devotees.

It is equally certain that most of this is bad verse; and bad verse, like bad money, drives out good—or at least smothers it. This was the point of the lady's self-denying ordinance. Every poem printed is a rival for the little attention that the world is prepared to give to poetry, and she did not wish to feel that some triviality of hers might even remotely be the instrument of a modern Keats' neglect and despair.

AS a person who collects rejection-slips from poetry editors by the box-full, I felt the force of all that she said, and for a moment considered never putting another poem to paper; or at any rate never sending one in to a literary magazine. But later the answer came to me. It is in the person of the anthologist. Many harsh things have been said of these creatures, the parasites of the literary world, who with no more equipment than a pair of scissors and good eyes earn money from the hardly achieved work of others. Yet all the objections that may be made seem to me to be outweighed by the one great service that they perform: they get people to read good work that would not otherwise be read. Everything of course depends on the critical judgement of the anthologist, the originality of his mind and the breadth of his reading. Given a high score in all these he must rank amongst the minor benefactors of the modern world.

CANADIAN poetry is lucky in having an anthologist of high calibre in A. J. M. Smith. His "Book of Canadian Poetry" has just been reissued, incorporating the development of the last five years in this field. These years may rank in Canadian literary history with the 80's of the last century, when that cluster of poets born between 1860-2, (Duncan Campbell Scott, Bliss Carman, Wilfred Campbell, Frederick George Scott, Sir Charles Roberts, Archibald Lampman) were coming to song. Here is what Alan Crawley, the editor of British Columbia's poetry journal "Contemporary Verse", has to say on the matter: "The development and progress of English poetry in Canada in those five years have brought poetry, unhandicapped by the mediocrity of much of our prose, into the first rank of creative arts in this country, and this amazing achievement has done a great deal to widen interest and improve taste in poetry."

* * *

IT will, I imagine, be news to most Canadians that an "amazing achievement" has been going on under their noses. Yet it is so. It has been given dramatic concentration by the fact that a number of the best Canadian poets happen to have gathered solid quantities of their work together for publication in these years; among them are Patrick Anderson, E. J. Pratt (Collected Poems), P. K. Page, L. A. Mackay, Robert Finch, Louis Dudek, and most recently A. M. Klein. The ignorance about Canadian poetry is extraordinarily widespread and extends even to editors. There was one, for example, who spoke to a meeting of the Canadian Authors' Association and Canadian Women's Press Club in Ottawa a little time back who appeared to be quite unaware that anything unusual was going on. Complaining of the lack of characteristically Canadian poems he asked "We have Spring and we have Fall but is there one poem written on snow that every schoolboy knows? Is there one Canadian poem on the immortal themes of love and death that is familiar to everyone?" Now surely this is a very mistaken approach; for if the criterion of our poets is to be the poem that "every schoolboy knows" they had better set their aim somewhere between "I'm looking over a four-leafed clover" and "The boy stood on the burning deck".

IN actual fact Canadian poetry is full of snow poems, from Standish O'Grady (1842) onwards. I have even written one myself, to which the Winnipeg Poetry Society gave 2nd prize in their last Dominion Poetry contest. One good reason that this poem will be lost in total obscurity is that Canadian papers use verse only to fill up the odd three inches at the bottoms of columns when the editorials have run out too short. So that a poem of much more than a dozen lines has as little chance of publication as the whole truth in "Pravda". As this snow poem has 66 lines it will no doubt pass into oblivion with "les neiges d'antan".

Being one of those people who always think of the appropriate remark after the event, I failed to make all these points to the lady at the meeting. But as there may be others like her, I offer these observations as an encouragement to further endeavour. Reading them through I feel such a surge of encouragement myself that I am going to sit down right now and deal with "love and death"—in three inches.

Apples To Europe

Halifax Chronicle: When the Holland-Amerika liner Westerdam makes her next eastward voyage she will carry aboard 3,000 barrels of Nova Scotian apples destined for Antwerp, Belgium. Another similar order is in process of being filed.

This is the first instance of local apples being shipped to continental Europe since the war. It is not a tremendous shipment, but it is a healthy beginning.

Letters To The Editor

HE DID NOT VOTE

Sir: Mr. Clarence Neill's letter in your Saturday paper about the injustice of the Poll Tax is my sentiments exactly, only he didn't say them half strong enough. I have lived in Peterborough all my life. Since I have been 21 I have paid poll tax, having no wife. I also pay room rent and board, buy in our stores, and am fond of our fair city. Not exactly a fair city in one way, for they don't treat me fairly about voting.

I have never voted in a city election for the simple reason that they don't give me a vote. Not owning property, I don't expect to vote on property by-laws, but I should have the right to vote for Council etc. What do I have to pay a poll tax for if I can't go to the polls? What's fair about that in our fair city?

There are lots more men in the same fix. What about it Mr. New Aldermen? When are you going to give us a vote?

Yours for a democratic city,
S. B.

CITY-OWNED PROPERTY

Sir: The property owners have spoken, not out of plenty, but out of duty and responsibility.

The Board selected a superior situation for the hospital. The city saw to a great send-off for the objective, with the Governor-General and his gracious lady.

The people in providing the money elected a council to supervise not only that money (to go to the Board) but other properties that we own but may yet require. The present hospital will be so long required that it cannot be sold. We are now told the car barns sold recently could now be used by the city but if repurchased only at a large advance in price. The city has other properties we could use. Let us not sell them, but provide for the future, and decide now.

J. S. BELL.

WRECKER IN ARNDON

Sir: Your correspondent Mr. J. C. Smith, from his letter in Saturday's issue, appears to have made a nasty comment on your write-up "Council Frowns on Wrecker Locating In Arndon Area".

It was only suggested that the wrecking location be 'Somewhere in the swamp down on Erskine Ave.' The council did not say that the business had to be moved to that spot.

I wonder if writer Smith realizes that the Monaghan Road Wrecker has had nearly two months to find a suitable location for his business as at the time his buildings were being moved in October and understood he would not be given a city license to operate again on Monaghan Road. Both the party involved and Mr. Smith should know that a city business license does not permit transferring from one location to another without proper authority.

The council have acted rightly. I now hope that their action will bring results.

An agitator was addressing a crowd of workingmen, "Comes the era of the common man," he said, "and you will enjoy the pleasures of the rich. You will walk down Park Lane wearing a top hat...."

"Excuse me," interrupted a member of the audience, "but Hi'd rather 'ave a cloth cap."

"....or, if you prefer it, a cloth cap," went on the speaker. "You'll wear a cut-away coat and pinstripe trousers."

"Excuse me," interposed the interrupter again, "but Hi'm more confertabul in corduroys."

"Very well, corduroys if you insist," continued the annoyed orator. "And you'll ride to work in a Rolls Royce...."

"Excuse me," said the cockney, "but Hi'd rather use me bike."

The agitator left the platform, grabbed the man by the sleeve and shook him roughly. "Listen you," he said between his teeth, "comes the era of the common man, and you'll do what you are ordered to do!"

A Scotsman was strolling along the quay, when his dog stopped beside a basketful of live lobsters. Instantly one of the lobsters snapped its claws on the dog's tail, and the surprised collie dashed off, yelping with pain.

For a moment the fishmonger was speechless with indignation; then, turning to his prospective customer, he bawled: "Mon, mon, whustle your dog."

"Hoots, mon," returned the other, complacently: "Whustle your lobster."

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then he called his twelve disciples together, and gave them power and authority over all devils, and to cure diseases....

And they departed, and went through the towns, preaching the gospel, and healing every where....

And the apostles, when they were returned, told him all that they had done. And he took them, and went aside privately into a desert place belonging to the city called Bethsaida.

And the people, when they knew it, followed him: and he received them, and spake unto them of the kingdom of God, and healed them that had need of healing. (Luke 9: 1, 6, 10, 11.)

* * *

For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.

For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved. (John 3: 16, 17.)

Both individuals and local co-operatives owned shares under the old structure.

December Golf Novelty Here

Citizens of Victoria, B.C., can no longer boast of their winter golfing as being something unusual. There were several golfers out on the links of both Peterborough Clubs over the weekend and they pronounced conditions excellent.

At the Kawartha Club greens had been made ready for winter early in the fall. Top soil dressing was spread on the greens and during recent weeks it has sunk into the sod, the grass has pushed through and made a fine firm surface. Since there is still no frost in the ground the sod is not soggy and playing conditions were perfect. Neither was it cold on the players' hands.

Among the players on Saturday were Bob Hay, Fraser Dunfield, Norman Finnie, William Rundle, Arthur Lafevre and Jack Lewis. On Saturday, although the sky was overcast, Errol Hanbidge, Gordon Burns, Herbert Carroll and Al Clark took advantage of the continuing fine weather and enjoyed a good game under splendid conditions. It was remarkable considering it was only 20 days from Christmas.

Informed quarters here said Britain could take from 5,000,000 to 10,000,000 tons of grain from Russia within the next four years it is a satisfactory two-way trade agreement were concluded.

After defeating India 7-2, Dick Birch of Toronto, Canada's ranking player, feels they have a 50-50 chance with the U.S. entry. Back row: Ted Pollock of Toronto; Dr. Charles Godfrey of Toronto, trainer; and Gord Simpson of Montreal.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Nine teams so far have entered the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association, three bantams, four midgets and two juveniles. No word yet from the three Trojan teams, the juvenile Kinsmen or PCVS. Arnold Olmstead is convener to draw up the schedules, but there'll be another meeting early next week for further entries. Likely at least a dozen teams will go again this semester in the PMHA — affiliated with the OMHA—two nights a week at the Civic Arena. This is a real good loop for the boys to play in, as most will step directly from it to OHA and possibly pro ranks. It's a well-handled league with winners going into provincial playdowns.

* * * * * *

Officers have been named for the PMHA as follows: Honorary presidents, Max Swanston, Hugh Campbell and Harold Yelland; past president (and treasurer this year), Dick Ouimet; president, the Rev. J. Coughlin; first vice-president, Johnny Russelle; second vice-prexy, Ed Woodcock; secretary, Lindsay Brown; executive committee, the managers and coaches. This organization labored under difficulties—but did well—the past few seasons, playing games outdoors, in Lakefield, or wherever ice was available. Late trips, expensive ones, and so forth. A better season awaits this fine minor setup now.

* * * * * *

Bit Of A Bombshell

Frank Buckland of the OHA advised us yesterday that none of the Bobcaygeon players can play for Legionnaires this season. Nor can the Belleville puckists perform for the Petes. Nor can any local player go with Omemee in intermediate "B", without raising that team to a senior "B" rating. These sweeping statements—come from Frank, and not this corner. As a member of the OHA executive, he should know whereof he speaks. And clubs checking directly with the OHA prexy or secretary will likely find it is so.

* * * * * *

Being over 10,000 in population, Peterborough must go senior "B", as many such teams as clubs care to enter, but nothing below senior "B", except junior. And no local players can perform elsewhere except as senior "B" pucksters. If either Belleville or Kingston has an OHA team—and Kingston has a senior "B" entry—then no Quinte players can play for Peterborough. And, since 'Caygeon has entered an OHA intermediate "B" team, residents of that centre cannot play anywhere else. That's the dope Frank passes on. Omemee can draw from places like Bridgenorth and Lakefield—guys like Les Burton, Jack Jopling and Joe Blewett might be available, huh? —but not from this city, without going senior "B".

* * * * * *

It'll Hit 'Em Both

If these statements are true — and we've no reason to doubt 'em—both local senior "B" clubs will suffer. We'd say the Petes the most, except they've got a fine goalie, and Legion haven't. Though, rumor hath it that Legion have a good local netter in mind. He'll have to be good to fill Ross Nicholls' shoes! Legion would miss Percy Nicholls on defence—but they did without him last year—and also Ernie Nicholls up front. And Bill Hicks. But they've got several promising newcomers and, if they can fill the goalie's spot okay, shouldn't be too badly off. The Petes have a number of real stars, but hardly enough, we'd say. They were banking on the Goyers and Tim Williams of Bella Villa. If not, they'll have to bank on some youngsters to fill out their forward lines. Headaches, indeed.

* * * * * *

Trent Valley Loop puckists are preparing for another big season around the district. Schedule for the 10-team circuit, in tonight, shows all clubs swinging into action on Jan. 3. Whole works play Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays till the middle of February when playoffs commence. Those aboard are: Tweed, Stirling, Campbellford, Marmora, Norwood, Frankford, Madoc, Hastings, Lakefield and Warkworth. Three new rinks in the setup this semester and, with teams strengthening up, a lot of district hockey followers are sure to see plenty of ice action once more. Dit Clapper and Doug Brennan are but a couple of the ace players to come out of this oldtime league.

Metras Will Be Here

Coach Johnny Metras of Western Mustangs will be the main speaker tomorrow night at the PCVS grid championship banquet. It is being held in the Collegiate gym at 6.30, under auspices of the Home and School Association of the Collegiate in honor of the PCIers, who won COSSA titles this year in junior and senior ranks. And, by the way, Bob Gage of the Canadian High News, division of youth publications in Canada—offices in Toronto and Montreal—writes in asking for a picture of Wally Graham, senior PCVS star, apparently wanting to publish it. Nice going. Shouldn't be long now till the school gets into hockey and basketball again.

Fred Willison Rolls 821 Triple In YMCA League

Jay Bees continued their winning streak in the YMCA Men's League when they defeated B'nai B'rith 4-2. Last night's win put the Jay Bees in third spot, just two points behind the second-place Commercials who lost 4-2 to Canada Packers. Artists went well out in front defeating Aberdeens 6-0. In the other contest Quakers edged Tip Tops 4-2.

Jay Bees swept the board for individual scores, having high triple game of 3238 and high single of 1192. Fred Willison of this team had high three and high single game.

Willison cracked in a rattling 821 triple followed by Vic Coleman with 735, Irvin Moldaver 718, Bob Dyer 711 and Tom Curvin 708.

Belleville Diesels Trim Cobourg 7-4

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 8.—Belleville CNR Diesels chalked up their third win in as many starts Tuesday night, trimming Cobourg Pavilions, 7-4, in the first game of the Belleville and District Hockey League double-header in Belleville Memorial Arena. The loss marked the fifth in as many starts for Cobourg.

Jack Wardhaugh paced the attack for the winners with three goals and an assist, while right-winger Timmy Williams was credited with four assists. Tom Bulger was top marksman for the losers with two goals.

Shaughnessy Raps Majors' Promotion

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 8—(AP)—Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International Baseball League, will take a blast today at the Majors for their high-powered attendance-promoting in minor-league cities.

Keynoting the opening of the 47th annual convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues here, Shaughnessey, a member of the Association's executive committee, said in a prepared address:

"Last season every one of Cleveland's Sunday games drew at least 5,000 peopple away from Buffalo alone. The New York Yankees ran special buses from Newark and the rest of New Jersey. They went into minor-league territory for their customers, and they weren't the only ones."

He said he would press for some action here and a resolution would be taken to the Major-league meetings in Chicago next week.

Curling Notes

Here is a rule that is broken often:

"No player, other than the skip acting for the time being, may stand behind the six-foot circle while play is proceeding.

Judging by the scores handed in by the ladies yesterday afternoon, it looks as if they were playing in earnest, three of the five games being won on the last end.

Answering a query of the other day: Sorry, the rule book does not definitely define what a marred stone is. It looks to us as if it is left up to the sportsmanship of the two skips.

Tonight groups 5 and 1 play.

Force Boston Go All Out For 2-2 Tie With Rangers

By The Canadian Press

It almost looked like a repeat of the David and Goliath story Tuesday night as the league-leading Boston Bruins had to fight all the way to eke out a 2-2 tie with the cellar-dwelling New York Rangers.

Pentti Lund, Rangers' flying Finn, begged the first counter near the half-way mark in the second period after a scoreless first frame. Grant Warwick, league-leading scorer, started the scoring in the final stanza to tie it up. Rangers took the lead for the second time when Nick Mickoski celebrated his 21st birthday by driving a 30-footer past Frankie Brimsek in the Bruin net.

Little Kenny Smith put Boston back in the game at the 15:26 mark, however, and spoiled New York's chances of hanging up their first victory in their last six starts.

Tonight Bruins, who lead the pack by three points, take on the goal-hungry Black Hawks in Chicago and second-place Detroit Red Wings tangle with Maple Leafs at Toronto.

Montreal Canadiens Tuesday located their wandering boy — Roger Leger—to bolster an injury-riddled defence. Leger was paged over the public address system at the Forum last Saturday night but failed to appear, when Glen Harmon was injured in the game against Rangers. Leger had been with Dallas Texans in the United States Hockey League rounding into shape.

Leger will prove a welcome addition to the Hab's blueline staff, with Captain Emile (Butch) Bouchard and Harmon both sidelined. Bouchard is reported to be rapidly-getting back into condition and should join the club soon.

In New York Tuesday night, Buddy O'Connor, flashy Ranger forward, who only returned to action last week after a pre-season injury, was presented the Hart Trophy for the most valuable player in the 1947-48 season and the Lady Byng Trophy for sportsmanship. O'Connor last year was edged out of the scoring championship by Elmer Lach of Canadiens, in the final game of the schedule.

Saints Tie Tulsa 3-3 Texans Edge Omaha

By The Associated Press

St. Paul Saints and Kansas City Pla-mors are staging a two-team race for first place in the northern section of the United States Hockey League.

But they're battling for the top spot without winning any games.

Last week the Pla-mors, on top since the season opened, dropped one game and tied three.

Tuesday night the Saints played a 3-3 tie at Tulsa, the third straight time the Saints have had to be satisfied with a tie.

Tulsa got off to a 3-1 first-period lead Tuesday night, but Dutch Delmonte punched in two counters in the second period for the Saints and the teams battled scorelessly through the third.

Dick Butler got two of Tulsa's goals.

Dallas and Omaha played through a scoreless first period at Omaha before the Texans took a 2-1 lead in the second period and went on to win 4-2. Joe Bell scored the first Dallas goal and finished up the Texans' scoring in the final period with his second.

St. Louis Beats Hershey Bears

By The Canadian Press

St. Louis Flyers, American Hockey League western division leaders, chalked up their eighth straight home-ice victory Tuesday night in powerful fashion by downing Hershey Bears 6-2.

Paul Gladu paced the Flyers' attack with three goals while Billy McComb, Vic Grigg and Barry Sullivan shared the balance of the scoring.

Hershey goal-getters were Mark Marquess and Frank Mario.

In the other two encounters Tuesday night, Indianapolis Capitals came up with three goals in the final six minutes for a 9-6 verdict over Philadelphia Rockets and Washington Lions edged New Haven Ramblers 5-4.

Kroehlers Down Teepees 6-5; Windsor Wins

By The Canadian Press

The fourth-place Stratford Kroehlers appear to have the Indian sign on St. Catharines Teepees. The Kroehlers Tuesday night defeated Teepees 6-5 in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior "A" game for their third consecutive victory over the St. Catharines club.

St. Catharines' losses have dropped them from the leadership rung to third place.

In another junior game Tuesday night, Windsor Spitfires moved into first place with a 3-1 victory over the Toronto Marlboros. Windsor now is one point ahead of Barrie Flyers.

In the senior O.H.A., Owen Sound Mercury edged the cellar-dwelling Stratford Indians 4-3.

Stratford battled through a 2-2 first period, outscored St. Catharines 3-2 in the second and split two tallies in the final frame.

Deciding Factor

The top line of Pierre Cadieux, Doug Houston and Danny Lewicki was started by coach Dave Pinkey at the beginning of every session and the newly-made up trio proved a deciding factor in the win.

Lewicki paced Kroehlers with two goals. Others went to Bibber O'Hearn, Jack Leckie, Pierre Cadieux and Jimmy Pernfuss. Ron Switzer, Fred Hilderbrand, Gerry Toppazzini, Red Sullivan and Bud Evans counted for St. Catharines.

Windsor was aided by a sparkling performance by netminder Babe O'Meara in their victory over Marlies. The Spitfires grabbed the lead early in the first period when Francis O'Grady beat Lockhart on a close-in shot. O'Grady scored another tally of the game early in the middle period. Marlies retaliated minutes later and Larry Regan counted from a goal-mouth scramble. Doug McKay got Windsor's third goal before the midway mark of the final frame.

Shabaga Stars

An unassisted goal by Mike Shabaga with 54 seconds remaining in the third period brought Owen Sound victory. The win left the Mercurys one point behind Toronto Marlboros and Hamilton Tigers, tied in second-place with 21 points.

The Indians had fought an uphill battle to tie the score in the third period on a goal by Mickey Roth but Shabaga wrecked their chances. Stratford led 2-1 at the end of the first period with Owen Sound going in front 3-2 at the close of the second.

Jack Ingoldsby with two and Bun White were other Owen Sound marksmen. Bill Walsh, Ed. Rowett and Roth counted for Stratford.

Four teams go into action tonight. In the senior loop, Toronto Marlboors clash with Kitchener-Waterlo Flying Dutchmen. In the junior division, St. Catharines meets Stratford, Toronto Marlboros clash with Spitfires and Barrie plays Galt.

Here and There in Sport

Cleveland pitcher Don Black's condition was pronounced "satisfactory" Tuesday night after a four-hour operation at Cleveland. The purpose of the surgery was to remove a section of an artery supplying the head.

The pitcher collapsed while batting against St. Louis Browns Sept. 13, suffering an internal haemorrhage.

From Timmins comes word that Hans Gerschwiler, runner-up to Dick Button for the 1946 world and Olympic figure skating titles, hopes he may be able to mold Olympic contenders from the ranks of the Porcupine Skating Club. He was recently appointed as instructor at the club.

Gerschwiler, 27-year-old native of Switzerland, said he believed there were a number of Olympic prospects here, "providing they retain their keenness and are willing to go through the long hours of practice."

At London, Ont., halfback Jack Parry Tuesday night was chosen 1949 captain of the University of Western Ontario Football Club, succeeding 1948 co-captains Bill Jarvie and Fabe Curry, who will graduate this year. Parry has been chosen on the mythical inter-collegate all-star squad for the last three years and this fall led the intercollegiate scoring race.

Lightweight Jimmy Tarangelo, taken to hospital after he was knocked out at New York's St. Nicholas Arena Moiday night, was discharged Tuesday after several hours under observation. Tarangelo was floored by Jimmy Watkins in the second round of their scheduled eight-round fight.

At Miami, Fla., Imperator, owned by R. S. McLaughlin of Oshawa, stepped six furlongs in 1:10 2-5, just one second slower than the track record, to win the October purse Tuesday at Tropical Park. Imperator, with apprentice J. Spinale up, had crossed the finish line a half-length ahead of the heavily-backed favorite, Big and Better, but he had to survive a claim of foul before being awarded the major part of the purse.

At Portage la Prairie, Man., Howard Wood's Winnipeg foursome Tuesday scored its third successive victory in the $15,000 automobile bonspiel, defeating Frank Wolfe's Edmonton curlers 13-12. The loss shoved Wolfe's team into event No. 2, but still leaves them in the running for the major prize of four new model cars. Three defeats knocks a rink out of the car competition.

At London, Jeannette Altwegg of Liverpool retained her British amateur figure-skating championship Tuesday night by scoring 1,275.3 points in the national tournament at the Wembley rink.

Majors Planning Big Trade At Convention

By JOE REICHLER

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 8—(AP)—Today was the offical opening of the 47th annual Minor-league Baseball Convention, but as usual, it was the Majors who hogged the spotlight, as far as any important news was concerned.

Trade rumors flew thick, and out of all this potpourri emerged several deals that smacked of authenticity. One or two are almost certain of being completed before the magnates move on to Chicago for the big-league meetings next week.

A member of the official family of the New York Giants said he expected to announce a "big" trade" before today is over.

It is known that manager Leo Durocher is eager to palm off his big catcher, Walker Cooper, and his slugging first baseman, Johnny Mize. Bob Hannegan, president of St. Louis Cardinals, is openingly interested in Cooper. Pitchers Red Munger and Murry Dickson may figure prominently in such a deal.

Would Like Three

The Giants would like to get first baseman Eddie Waitkus, catcher Clyde McCullough and pitcher Cliff Chambers from Chicago Cubs.

General manager Frank Lane of the rebuilding Chicago White Sox said he was hopeful of closing a couple of deals for third baseman Bob Dillinger of St. Louis Browns and first baseman Eddie Robinson of Cleveland Indians.

Lane also disclosed that he had made overtures for third baseman Billy Johnson, first baseman Steve Souchock and pitcher Allie Reynolds of New York Yankees.

Lane revealed that Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics had offered pitcher Bob Savage for second baseman Don Kolloway, but that he was holding out for ptticher Phil Marchildon, Philadelphia star from Penetanguishene, Ont.

Rangy Gene Bearden Makes Good Film Appearance

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 8 (AP).—Rangy Gene Bearden glanced toward first base, then cocked his leg in the air and hurled a stinging ball toward home plate.

It was just like big league stuff —except that the grand stand of the Hollywood Baseball Park was empty and the batter was Jimmy Stewart, doing an imitation of one-legged Monty Stratton. Also, the camera was turning.

After the scene was shot, I buttonholed Bearden, the pride of Cleveland Indians. A tall, huskily built man, he has the rugged good looks of a Burt Lancaster. Like many sports figures, he is a laconic talker, but I found out a few facts by tossing questions at him.

Has he ever acted before? "Yes, I was in a few plays in High School. Nothing since then." First time around a movie lot? "Naw, I worked as a rigger at Fox back in '45. I was playing for Oakland then.'"

Any other film jobs in the wind? "Yeah, I am going to do 'And Baby Makes Three' with Donald O'Connor. I play a campus football hero or something.'" Would he like a movie career? "Sure. It looks like easy work. And you can't play baseball for ever."

I asked Director Sam Wood about Gene's acting.

"He looks very good on the screen," he answered. "He looks as good as Red Grange did. I directed Red in his first picture, and he could have been a star. But he found out he could make more money playing pro football."

Wood also directed Babe Ruth, Bill Dickey and others in "Pride of the Yankees," the Lou Gehrig biography, and he added that athletes make good actors.

"Anyone who has been before the public as athletes have," he explained, "can do well before a camera. I am using real ball players in this picture, because if I used actors they would just look like actors.'"

Maxim Outpoints Bivins

CLEVELAND, Dec. 8.—(AP).—Joe Maxim today joined the assorted flock of heavyweight title aspirants waiting in the reception room to do business with Joe Louis. A crowd of 11,164 didn't see anything spectacular, but the fancy-boxing Clevelander did turn in a workman-like performance Tuesday night in outpointing Jimmy Bivins in a 10-rounder. Maxim weighed 182½, Bivins 178.

Arthur Webster Appointed Police Chief

LINDSAY, Dec. 8—(ENS)—Four public appointments have been made at Lindsay. The new chief of police is to be Arthur Webster, 41; the town engineer will be R. C. Mitchell of Toronto; former Lindsay chief of police R. H. Lawler become a civilian parking meter supervisor and special constable Gordon Eberts has been transferred to the regular police force.

Inspector Webster, who was the only candidate interviewed for the chief of police post, was to have competed with Mr. Lawler, who has been seeking re-appointment. They had both been selected for interviews from a list of 23 candidates. Shortly before the council meeting, Mr. Lawler withdrew his application. Inspector Webster is at present with the Forest Hill police force.

A suggestion by Mayor Lamb for the council to purchase a half-ton truck for the Board of Works Department was left open for further consideration after Mr. Mitchell had been appointed at a salary of $4,000. The mayor remarked that Mr. Mitchell did not have a car and thought a truck would prove useful to the department.

It was Alderman Kingsborough who recommended offering the position of meter supervisor to Mr. Lawler at a salary of $1,700 and that special constable Eberts, at present doing this work, be transferred to the regular force. It was stipulated that Mr. Lawler would act strictly in a civilian capacity and that he would be responsible to the town clerk and town council.

Understanding Of Jews Asked

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 8.—(ENS).—The Chi Rho Society of Christ church was host on Monday night to the U. R. Welcome Club of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church and the Young Adults Club of St. John's United.

The guest speaker, Rev. Maurice Kaminsky, of Toronto, was introduced by Rev. W. J. Lennox. Rev. Kaminsky is a Christian Jew and speaking on the subject, "The Dilemma of the Jew," he asked for a better understanding between the Jews and Gentiles. He said the hardships the Jews had encountered, especially in Central Europe, were almost unbearable, but their survival was assured. The British Empire, he declared, had been good to the Jews and had taken a benevolent attitude towards them at all times. Benjamin Disraeli, a Jew, piloted the empire in the 19th century as prime minister.

The program numbers consisted of two solos by Mr. Sid Hopping, "Dear Little Irish Girl" and "The Ragged Vagabond"; Miss Phyllis Elmhirst played as a piano solo Ketelby's descriptive piece, "In a Monastery Garden," and Ernie Arched led in community singing with Geo. Nicholls at the piano. B. Robertson and Ray Smith were in charge of the devotional period.

Following a grand promenade and quiz with Franklin Linton in charge, a lunch was served by the Chic Rho members. Ray Smith thanked the guest speaker for his instructive address. Bruce Grills, speaking for the U. R. Welcome Club and Mel McKeown on behalf of St. John's Young Adults Club expressed their appreciation to the Chic Rho Society for the evening's entertainment. Jack Finlayson presided.

May Eliminate Sunday Work

TORONTO, Dec. 8—(CP).—Industry in Southern Ontario—biggest industrial belt in Canada—may be able to eliminate Sunday work within the next few days.

Most industries in the area have been on Sunday and night operation because of the power shortage. Working those hours takes a heavy load off Hydro plants at peak periods.

Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, said Tuesday he hopes to announce within the next 36 hours additional power for Southern Ontario which will enable industry to do away with Sunday work.

This followed strong hints from some labor groups they would insist on eliminating night and week-end production and get back to day operations.

Before Mr. Saunders' announcement, Hydro officials had warned a general swing back to week-day production would seriously affect present power - saving schedules.

They added that such a swing might mean reimposition of power cut-offs.

Mr. Saunders said further improvement in the power picture was due largely to the mild weather, allowing a heavy flow of water into water-power plants on the Ottawa, Madawaska, Trent and Gatineau Rivers.

Northern Ont. Drama Association Set Up

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 8.—(CP).—A Northern Ontario Drama Festival Association has been set up by five cities and a festival is to be held in Sudbury in February, Dr. Alan Skinner of London, Ont., honorary director of the Dominion Drama Festival, reported Tuesday.

Dr. Skinner said the Festival will be held in the new Legion Hall in Sudbury and an adjudicator is being sent by the Central Drama League. The winning play will be invited to compete in the Central Ontario Regional Festival taking place in Toronto in March.

Cities participating in the Northern Ontario Festival will probably be North Bay, Sudbury, Timmins, Kirkland Lake and Sault Ste. Marie.

Crown Seek Right To Appeal Dismissal

TORONTO, Dec. 8.—(CP).—The Crown is seeking the right to appeal against dismissal of charges prosecuted under the Canada Temperance Act.

At a hearing in Toronto Dec. 15, Judge A. B. Currey of Little Current, Ont., is to consider the Crown's argument that it has the right of appeal dismissal of a liquor charge against a Manitoulin resident.

For 70 years it has been generally assumed that there was no appeal in cases prosecuted under the C.T.A., which applies to Manitoulin Island and Huron and Peel counties. A conviction or a dismissal in Magistrate's Court usually has meant the end of a liquor case.

33 Cases Chickenpox

COBOURG, Dec. 8.—(ENS).—Thirty-three cases of chickenpox were recorded for the week ending Dec. 4, by the counties health unit. Cobourg and Port Hope has each twelve cases, Hamilton township has six, Percy township has two and Bowmanville has one case. One case of scarlet fever in Murray township brought the total of all cases to 34. Mild damp weather has contributed to a large number of colds in Cobourg.

Toronto Organist Gives Brilliant Church Recital

Colin Corbett, Toronto organist, was guest artist at a concert at Park St. Baptist Church on Tuesday. It was not the first time this prominent musician had visited Peterborough, and it came as no surprise, therefore, to hear outstanding interpretations of such pieces as the Adagio Cantabile movement from the Sonata Pathetique, Delibes' Pizzicato, Clair de Lune and other less known works. Mr. Corbett's performance was exalting, and it seemed a pity that such a master of the organ did not play in a larger building to allow more music-lovers to attend what can undoubtedly be described as a rare musical privilege for the people of Peterborough.

While there was no reason to deprecate Mr. Corbett's choice of items for the concert, his recital would have been even more satisfying had he included at least one or two works composed for the organ. All the items were organ arrangements of music written for the orchestra or other individual instruments. While this deflected nothing from the performance, the mind involuntarily remembered many of the excellent organ pieces. Or could there not have been just one work by Bach?

The most outstanding feature of the concert was the high standard of the vocal section. The choir had a difficult task to maintain the standard set by Mr. Corbett, and it was greatly to the singers' credit that there was no blatant falling off in the quality of performance.

Adam Hawley, who sang two groups of songs, has a rich bass voice, excellent control and an admirable sense of expression and timing. He displayed great versatility singing sacred songs, a negro folk song and the Scottish "Annie Laurie" equally well. He also conducted and accompanied the choir.

The choral music was notable for effective phrasing and clear diction. In such works as Haydn's "Great and Glorious" volume and tone are often attained only at the expense of the words. The choir experienced no difficulty in retaining the words and lost none of the force of the music. It was a little ragged in some passages of "The Ashgrove," but this was probably due to the fact that Mr. Hawley's attention was divided between conducting the choir and accompanying on the organ.

Three Outdoor Rinks Planned In Cobourg

COBOURG, Dec. 8.—(ENS).—Cobourg will have three outdoor rinks this winter, if and when cold weather ever comes. George Galbraith is chairman of the committee in charge of outdoor rinks and as soon as it freezes the town workmen will flood the rink on the high school campus, the one in the park and the one on the old covered rink site on University Ave. Meanwhile the recreational centre committee is still undecided on a site for the proposed artificial ice arena.

Hockey's Big Seven

Grant (Knobby) Warwick of Boston Bruins bounced back into undisputed lead in the National Hockey League scoring race Tuesday night when he pumped in one of the goals to give Boston a 2-2 tie with New York Rangers. Jumped $2,000 Bail Gets 6 Months In Jail

WHITBY, Dec. 8—Gordon Macdonald, who jumped bail of $2,000 rather than face two minor theft charges in 1946, was today sentenced to six months imprisonment by Judge D. B. Coleman. Macdonald pleaded guilty to stealing hardware supplies from an Uxbridge merchant, theft of a box of carpenters' tools and jumping bail.

Crown Attorney A. C. Hall informed the court that Macdonald had been arrested in Florida two months after he fled across the border and was sentenced to two years in Leavenworth Penitentiary for illegal entry. The bail, supplied by a Toronto woman, was forfeited to the Crown.

"You seem to be an intelligent man and I would advise you to leave liquor alone for the rest of your life," the bench warned. In a previous hearing, Macdonald had claimed he was drunk for two months prior to his arrest in Florida.

Re-elected are George Galbraith as deputy-reeve; Victor Climo, John Erskine, Harvey Brent to council; Roy Dodge, reeve by acclamation and Mayor Joe Smith, acclamation. Jolliffe Charges PC's Wrecks Hydro 3 Times

BURKS FALLS, Ont., Dec. 8—(CP).—E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario CCF leader, said Tuesday night that "the Tories have almost succeeded in wrecking Hydro" three times in 40 years.

Speaking in support of Roy Smith, CCF candidate in the Parry Sound Provincial by-election, Mr. Jolliffe said the result "is the most terrible shortage of electricity in history and it will probably be worse next winter."

He said a Conservative Government started "a costly scheme to construct radial lines instead of highways."

Later the Ferguson government purchased blocks of power cites in Ontario under public ownership."

After the 1943 election, he said, "George Drew again started Hydro on the road to ruin by stopping the great power development on the Upper Ottawa."

Seize 5,500 Capsules Used To Hold Drugs

VANCOUVER, Dec. 8.—(CP).—RCMP officers Tuesday told of the seizure of 5,500 empty gelatine capsules in their investigations of an alleged city-wide narcotic peddling ring.

The evidence was given in the trial of Edward C. Brash, 29. Brash faces narcotic conspiracy charges along with John and Walter Smokler, 27 and 23 respectively, and Jackie Allen, 23, all of Vancouver.

Police said they found a suitcase in Brash's room with five cartons containing 1,000 capsules each, which if filled with drugs and distributed to the underworld would bring $66,000.

Teachers Hold Conference In City School

Peterborough Teachers' Institute's Convention meeting at Queen Mary School on Tuesday was attended by 100 teachers from Peterborough Public Schools.

P. D. Windrim was elected president of the organization for the coming year, succeeding Miss Doris Burgess. R. K McKee, and Miss P. Moore were chosen vice-president and secretary-treasurer respectively.

"Verbalism has long been associated with education Pictures are connected with entertainment, said the Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite while addressing the teachers on the subject of "Audio-Visual Education." For generations the spoken and printed word had been the backbone of the educational system. It had monopolized education at all levels.

Mr. Kibblewhite went on to say, "we have five senses through which to gain experience of the world. Words are but signs and symbols and are not the real thing. A child's informal education is gained mainly through vision. He or she may hear every word even though the real meaning is lost. A picture gives up the meaning instantaneously. Pictures are concrete; words are but abstractions. Thus visual education is the process of keeping tied up closely to the concrete experience.

"Seeing is the first sense and hearing the second," he said. "When the two senses are combined into a single set of stimulae, it gives an experience that claims all the human consciousness."

During the past few years Audio-visual Education had been preoccupied with the acquisition of projectors and the search for suitable materials. For the next five years the important job would be the utilizing of the materials at hand and becoming acquainted with the technique of the utilization of these.

"Many feel that sound movie pictures have been a menace to our civilization. It is our job to take this aid to the educational system and put it to its proper use." Mr. Kibblewhite said.

No Short Cut

"Audio-visual aids do not present a short cut in our teaching. More time must be spent in presentation, as the results are in proportion to the effort," he said.

The Misses Marion Mutton and Olive Day presented a travelogue of a 56-day, 9,000 mile tour of Canada and the United States by a group of more than 90 Ontario teachers. The tour began at London, Ontario. They visited the northern states, Calgary stampede, British Columbia, California, Arizona, and some national parks in the United States. They left in July and returned in August.

In the afternoon the teachers held discussions for their respective grades when they discussed their common difficulties.

Book publishers had displays of their books for the grades from Kindergarten to Grade 10.

Rap Contract Cuts

LONDON, Dec. 8 —(CP)—The Daily Graphic in an editorial says today that Food Minister Strachey's slashing of Canadian food contracts for 1949 is "stupid cheeseparing." "The British government is being dollar-wise and empire-foolish," it says. "They are slashing Canadian food contracts for 1949 so that in the next 12 months everyone in Britain will get from Canada 21 ounces of bacon and six eggs less than this year."

Increase Soap Ration

LONDON, Dec. 8—(Reuters)—The British soap ration of three bars of toilet soap every four weeks is to be increased by a sixth next year. At present Britons draw three small packets of soap powder or 1½ large bars of washing soap as an alternative to the four-weekly toilet-soap ration. The increase means an extra bar of toilet soap every eight weeks or the equivalent in other types of soap.

Phillips Asks Permission Give Evidence

LONDON, Dec. 8.—(Reuters).—Morgan Phillips, secretary of the British Labor party, Tuesday night applied to give evidence before the tribunal inquiring into alleged corruption in Government departments.

He said he made the request to enable him to "refute allegations" made by Sidney Stanley, key figure in the inquiry, who told the tribunal Tuesday that he often went to bottle parties with Phillips.

"We went everywhere together," Stanley said.

George Gibson, a director of the Bank of England, testified he had been impressed by Stanley, thinking him to be a man of substance. The impression had been helped by his previous contact with Stanley's brother, Marvus Wulkan.

Wulkan had handed him a cheque for $30,000 when he was making an appeal in the United States. He did not at that time know Wulkan was secretary of some American organization for aid to Britain. He thought it was Wulkan's own money.

Sir Bartley Shawcross, attorney-general, said:

"I am bound to suggest that Marcus Wulkan is a notorious confidence trickster and fraudsman in America."

Gibson said he had never asked why Wulkan and Stanley, said to be brothers, had different names and he did not know Wulkan had been deported from Britain.

When Stanley left the witness box Tuesday afternoon he had given evidence lasting more than 14½ hours.

John Peterson Heads Polls

Municipal electors did well by two Peterborough officers of the Stormont and Glengarry Highlanders, Jas. E. Gillespie of this city and John F. Peterson of St. Thomas.

While Mr. Gillespie was running second here to Ald. H. Dodds, Monday, Mr. Peterson headed the St. Thomas polls in an elected field of seven, including four members of this year's council.

Mr. Peterson used to be a news photographer and reporter on the staff of the Examiner a few years ago. He went to St. Thomas, established a radio station, and, described by the St. Thomas Times-Journal as "one of the city's newer residents," defeated a strong company of candidates. Discussing his election, Mr. Peterson who won the DSO in the Holland campaign of the last war, said the local newspaper had been cautioning the candidates "to be sure we were doing the right thing for St. Thomas, that we were not acting for selfish motives."

"I suggest that chagrined editors and columnists might examine their consciences, particularly in view of these election results."

"We have proved that the privileged corner of newspaper writers do not count for anything in St. Thomas. The people want representation, not privilege. I promise that I will fight privilege; I shall fight people who take unfair advantage. No one will run this council, either by voice or by editorial or by pressure groups. This shall be the council of the people."

As they say in the prize ring, apparently Jack Peterson has come out fighting.

TO THE ELECTORS:—

Your splendid support was greatly appreciated. I shall endeavor to retain your confidence by serving as alderman.

Ottawa And Kitchener Groups Stage Robertson Davies' Play

OTTAWA, Dec. 8.—(CP). — Drama enthusiasts in two Canadian cities—Ottawa and Kitchener—staged this week the same full-length Canadian play. Robertson Davies' "Fortune My Foe" was presented here by the Ottawa Drama League and at Kitchener by the Kitchener-Waterloo Little Theatre. It was believed to be the first such simultaneous production of a Canadian play.

The Ottawa group has long been associated with Mr. Davies, who is editor of The Peterborough Examiner. The group won a Dominion award with his one-act "Eros At Breakfast" and a regional prize with his "Overlaid."

At Kitchener, Charles P. Tuck, president of the Little Theatre, said negotiations for the use of "Fortune My Foe" began before it was completed. The purpose was to add to the season's drama program a worth-while play by a Canadian author.

The play had its premiere at Kingston last August where it ran for two weeks. It has a Canadian theme — the loss of many of the Dominion's cleverest young persons to the United States.

At Kitchener, George Norman, formerly of Sault Ste. Marie, plays Nicholas Hayward, a Canadian writer who considers going to the United States. Paul Redhear takes this part here.

British Nations Retained Commonwealth Principles

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 8—(CP)—The Commonwealth underwent changes in structure and nomenclature in 1948, but showed no readiness to dissolve its historic association.

"Whatever outward forms our Commonwealth may assume in future, the principles which inspire it must prevail in the world," the King told prime ministers and their deputies who gathered for the most impressive Commonwealth conference since the war.

The meeting conducted with a harmony of viewpoint between the United Kingdom, seven Dominions and the self-governing colony of Southern Rhodesia on the essential questions of defence, foreign policy and economic planning.

But even as they met one break in the Commonwealth family was in prospect. Eire, associated only through the use of the King's name in her external relations, announced she would sever this last link and become an absolute republic. Without pause, Commonwealth countries began examining methods by which special relations could be maintained with Eire in the future.

The changing Commonwealth accepted the possibility that it must soon allow republics to participate in its association, although the method remained to be worked out. India, granted self-government 18 months ago, framed a constitution to make her an independent, sovereign relationship to the Commonwealth.

Retain Contacts

The United Kingdom, other Dominions and Southern Rhodesia remained content with their present association. South Africa, even with a new Nationalist government in office, made no move to sever its traditional comradeship, nor did the new Asiatic Dominions of Pakistan and Ceylon.

The older Dominions showed they were prepared to accept changes in terms and titles to satisfy those sensitive over the real or imaginary suggestion of domination from London.

Communiques from the prime ministers' meeting dropped the word "British" from the "British Commonwealth of Nations," a change approved earlier by United Kingdom and Canadian usage. The meeting agreed that Dominion's high commissioners in London should be equal to ambassadors of foreign countries in the table of precedence.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King, in London for his last important meeting as the King's first minister in Canada, was taken ill just before the sessions opened. From his sick-bed he kept in touch with the discussions and met representatives of all other Dominions, who sought his counsel as the elder statesman of the Commonwealth. His successor, acting Prime Minister St. Laurent, flew to London to attend the meetings when Mr. King was unable to be present.

Gandhi Missed

Death robbed the conference of the presence of men who had shaped the new Dominions of India and Pakistan. Mohandas Gandhi was killed Feb. 7 by an assassin as the free India for which he had labored shouldered full responsibility for its affairs, and M. A. Jinnah, creator and first governor-general of Pakistan, died Sept. 11.

India's representative was Prime Minister Nehru and Pakistan's was Prime Minister Liakunt Ali Ahan. Although quarrels between individual Dominions are not the business of a Commonwealth meeting, the older Dominions offered them good wishes for an early settlement of disputes which have led to fighting in Kashmir.

A former Dominion, Newfoundland, voted in 1948 in favor of confederation with Canada, a development given the blessing of the United Kingdom. The British government did not accept the argument of some Newfoundlanders that responsible government should be restored to conduct negotiations with Canada.

In colonial territories scattered about the seven seas and still known as the British Empire, United Kingdom policies hastened the development of self-government. One development was an African conference in London, attended by many native representatives from colonial governments, to discuss problems and programs.

Sore pressed by economic difficulties at home, the United Kingdom made large sums available for colonial development.

The Colonial Development Corporation was established with resources of up to £110,000,000 ($440,000,000) to further development projects and the Overseas Food Corporation, with resources up to £55,000,000, to promote food production in the colonies and elsewhere overseas. Major withdrawals from these funds began in 1948.

DUTCH IMMIGRANTS—Few of the 10,000 Netherlanders who have come to Canada this year find any difference between life here and life in the Netherlands. The country is bigger but agriculture is the basic industry of both nations. Even the food is similar. Here is a typical Dutch family now living in Canada, the Jan van Moorsels, who have settled in the Ottawa Valley. This Department of Mines and resources photo shows the van Moorsels and their 9 children saying grace before dinner.

DUTCH SCHOLARS — Migration of some 10,000 Netherlands farmers under a Canada-Netherlands farm settlement plan brought many Dutch children to Canadian rural schools. The family of Jan van Moorsel who lives in the Ottawa Valley includes nine children. This Department of Mines and Resources photo shows the classroom where they are learning their three R's. They make up 28 per cent of the total enrolment of this school.

Trudel was arrested Monday night in nearby St. Jerome as a material witness.

The manager of a Papineau avenue theatre told police Trudel had worked there until Nov. 29 when he left to work at another theatre.

STRANGE CROP—Although agriculture is the basic industry of both Canada and the Netherlands. Dutch immigrants find many things on Canadian farms strange to them. Corn is common to most Canadian farms but to Jan van Moorsel, typical of the many Dutch farmers entering the Dominion, it is a strange crop and he had never seen corn growing until this summer. This Department of Mines and Resources photo shows Jan atop a load of corn which he helped harvest on the Ottawa Valley farm where he now lives.

Applicant Says He Was Denied An Interview

Two applicants for the position of county assessor were heard Tuesday at the opening of the Fall Session of the County Council.

When Frank T. Mace, 451 Water Street, was allowed to address the Council he said that he had encountered difficulty in arranging for a hearing. He said that the advertisement in the press for an assessor permitted "personal interviews with Council arranged upon request."

He stated that he telephoned Mrs. Spurway, the county clerk, and asked for an interview, but "she told me that I wasn't qualified."

Later he told the Examiner that she had inform him also that he could not appear before Council.

When Mrs. Spurway hesitated several times while reading his letter of application, Mr. Mace rose from the spectator's bench, and said, "You are doing that deliberately." With permission of the Council he then read the letter himself.

"I think it is only fair that an applicant should get a hearing particularly when it has been advertised that way," he said.

After the morning session adjourned, Mrs. Spurway denied Mr. Mace's statements. She said that he had telephoned on Monday asking for an interview with Council and she had arranged one for Wednesday. Earlier to-day, according to her account, he had telephoned again and she had assured him the subject was not on the day's agenda, but when he insisted on a hearing he was told he could come if he wanted.

Reeve James Humphries outlined the procedure in picking an assessor. He said a committee under Ernest Leeson had been appointed, and after that committee had reviewed about 10 written applications, seven or eight of the most likely prospects were summoned before the committee for prsonal interviews.

"Every applicant got fair treatment from that committee," said Mr. Leeson. And he added that if it was the wish of the Council he would present every application to the Council.

Mr. Mace then asked that the advertisement be read, but Reeves Melville Johnston and James Gifford moved that the matter be closed. The motion passed without dissent.

Mr. Shields, a former Reeve of Cavan and ex-member of the County Council spoke briefly to the Council also.

The report of the committee assigned the task of picking a county assessor has not yet been read.

Reeve W. W. Dawson of Otonabee invited members to the first noon luncheon of the Federation of Agriculture being held at the Empress Hotel.
